BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

The greatest civic birthday party in American history begins this evening with prayer and ends on Saturday night with bombs bursting in air and rockets' red glare.

Our neighbors of Chicagoland from the Mississippi to the St. Lawrence are coming to help us celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of Chicago's incorporation as a village.

Happy days are here!

Seven of them.

Each day with its special program of commemoration — devotional, cultural, social, industrial, and just sheer fun.

Five states of the Union—our own, and our neighbors, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Iowa—will take active part and make specific contributions to the birthday festivities. A dozen more states will play around with us, their citizens coming by trainloads to gaze and shop and visit and sing.

Something You Will Never Forget.

The singing will be an unforgettable feature of the party, for on Saturday night 125,000 men, women, and children will bring the gala week to a close with a colossal concert on Soldiers' field.

When you have heard 7,790 members of choirs and bands and more than 100,000 citizens and children singing the national anthem you will have heard something to tell your little ones about until they are bored to distraction.

Such a thrill is peculiar to the Chicagoland Music Festival, and that festival, now for the fourth time to be given, will be at once the most majestic and the most spontaneous note of the birthday party.

A Party of Principalities.

Such a party!

Chicago will be host to principalities and their princely cities.

The statement sounds grandiose.

But examine it.

The five states intensively participating have an area of 263,212 square miles. That area is 50,000 square miles larger than France and more than five times the area of England.

They have a population of 21,124,000 —about the population of Spain.

They come from the geographical key points of a continent: from Cairo of the great confluence; from the shores of five inland seas, and from the banks of the Father of Waters that flows from Minnesota to the gulf; from high Denver and from the low lying crescent of New Orleans; from Marquette, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Omaha; from Dubuque, Davenport, Des Moines, and St. Louis; from Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, and Buffalo.

They come, they come!—pouring into the capital of Chicagoland.

Chicago Flaunts Her Banners.

A resplendent city awaits them.

Flags, music, throngs.

Salvos of cannon for governors of neighboring commonwealths.

RACKET KILLERS SENTENCED IN WAR ON CRIME

Get Life Terms for Slaying Guard.

Uncle Sam Strikes

U. S. invokes "Lindbergh kidnap law" in indicting Roger Touby, Chicago gangster, and three henchmen in St. Paul on charges of kidnaping William Ham Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer. Details on Page 10.

Survey by Chicago Crime commission shows that old offenders commit 35 cent of Chicago crimes. Details on Page 16.

John Rooney, secretary and treasurer of the Circular Distributors' union, classified as a racketeer organization; Henry [Hogan] Berry, business agent, and Miss Rosalie Rizzo, sweetheart of Rooney, were denied new trials yesterday by Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court.

The judge sentenced Rooney and Berry to life imprisonment terms in the penitentiary, and Miss Rizzo to 20 years in the women's penitentiary in accordance with the murder verdict returned against them one week ago by a jury.

The labor racketeers were among nine criminals upon whom maximum penitentiary sentences were imposed yesterday in the war against crime being waged in the Criminal court under the leadership of Chief Justice John Prystalski. This increases to 98 the total of penitentiary sentences imposed since the war on crime was started two weeks ago.

Three Judges on Job.

Despite the fact that Saturday is unusually more or less of a holiday in the courts, three judges were on the job yesterday. They were Judges Miller, Daniel P. Trude and Ross Hall, all volunteers for the campaign against criminals.

The speed with which Judge Miller disposed of the new trial motion for Rooney and his associates is in line with the new policy adopted by the judges of not allowing a case to drag through the courts. The judge refused to grant a continuance of the motion as requested by Defense Attorneys James M. Burke and William Scott Stewart.

"I want to dispose of this motion while the facts are still fresh in my memory," said Judge Miller. "We will have this matter over with today."

Convicted of Murder.

Rooney and Berry were convicted of murdering Stanley Gross, 21 years old, a watchman employed by Goldblatt Brothers' department store at 1615 West Chicago avenue, on the morning of May 23. Gross was shot down while he was trying to guard the store from the attacks of hoodlums, stench bombs, broken display windows and slugged employés.

Joseph Goldblatt, vice president of the Goldblatt organization, testified at the trial that he had paid Rooney $6,300 to stop the attacks on his stores. He refused to pay an additional $5,000 demanded by the racketeers and the attacks started again. They did not cease until the murder of Gross.

Woman's Auto Used.

Miss Rizzo, the evidence showed, let the two men use her automobile and gave Rooney a revolver to be used in the killing. Whether she actually accompanied the men to the scene of the murder was not proved.

Miss Rizzo, who is 24 years old, changed her costume for her court

A few months ago Britain voiced a protest at the disarmament conference. When the delegates thought of London being bombed they seethed with moral indignation.

Today British airplanes are bombing native villages along the northwest borders of India. Perhaps they think it less painful for natives to have their legs blown off.

The Kellogg pact was hailed as the knell of war by a war-weary world.

The recent ten year truce by the four great powers of Europe shows they had small reliance on the Kellogg pact.

Woman suffrage was supposed to inaugurate such a wholesome influence that we should be raised to the highest moral level of women.

The indications of late seem to show that the ladies are being dragged down to the level of the men.

BANDITS HOLD UP 75 COUPLES AT NIPPERSINK CLUB

Five masked bandits, with a flourish of the wild west, menaced 150 men and women last night in the ballroom of the Nippersink Hotel and Country club, 10 miles southeast of Lake Geneva, Wis., and escaped with $3,000. The club is at Genoa City in Walworth county.

The gunmen drove up with two other men in an expensive automobile. While the two remained in the car as lookouts, the five others walked into the clubhouse. They first met Sidney Piers, the manager, and took him prisoner.

Then one of the invaders fired two pistol shots into the floor as notice that a robbery was at hand. The orchestra stopped playing, and the seventy-five couples on the ballroom floor stopped dancing. The bandit leader ordered all to lie on the floor. The order was obeyed. Then while two of the robbers, one of them carrying a shotgun, guarded the recumbent victims, the three others went around systematically and searched all the men. The women were not robbed. Only cash was taken.

From the men $2,700 was taken and from the club $300. The robbery completed, the robbers fled. Witnesses obtained the license number of their car, but this did not help police, because the plates had been stolen. Most of the victims of the robbery were Chicagoans. Several were from New York, and a few from Cuba.

'WRONG MEDICINE TO GIVE BABY,' RADIO WARNING

New York, Aug. 12—(AP)—Services of two radio broadcasting stations were invoked by the state police today in an effort to find Mrs. Grace Crudeau, en route by automobile from her home in East Orange, N. J., to Lake George and warn her not to give her baby "the wrong medicine." Mrs. Crudeau's husband discovered an hour or so after her departure for the upstate resort that she had taken the wrong medicine for the baby who has been ill.

He at once notified the state police at Newburgh and word was flashed by teletype to all trooper stations along the road to be on the lookout for the Crudeau car.

Radio stations WGY at Schnectady and WOKO in Albany also flashed the warning in the form of a bulletin telling of the police search. Up to an advanced hour of the evening, however, Mrs. Crudeau had not been found.

Balbo's Flyers Return Home Italy's Heroes

ROME, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The greatest mass oceanic flight in the history of aviation ended tonight with the return of Air Minister Italo Balbo's trans-Atlantic sea lane squadron.

Just six weeks after starting its long aerial cruise to the Chicago World's Fair the big winged fleet completed the last leg of its homeward journey in a 1,300 mile flight from Lisbon, Portugal.

A series of noisy welcoming festivities began as the squadron alighted at Fiumicino airport, near Ostia, the capital's seaport.

Mussolini on Hand.

Premier Mussolini was on hand to start off the long round of celebrations, kissing both cheeks of each officer in the flying crews, beginning with the young bearded leader, Gen. Balbo.

With the cruiser Diaz firing booming salutes, Gen. Balbo alighted in the first plane at 6:32 p. m. [12:32 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time]. This was 11 hours 2 minutes after he rose in his lead plane from Lisbon's harbor. At 6:47 p. m. all the planes had taken their places at the airport.

There were many affecting scenes as the flyers hastened to embrace their wives, sweethearts, and children at the airport. Huge throngs blackened both sides of the Tiber. Hundreds of troops and a huge force of police, with reinforcements from Milan, were present to direct the crowds.

Revive Ancient Custom Today.

Mussolini and Balbo entered an automobile together and led the procession of flyers into Rome. Tomorrow, reviving an ancient custom of the emperors, Gen. Balbo and his flyers will ride triumphantly through the 1,600 year old arch of Emperor Constantine, near the Coliseum. All along the 15 mile route from Ostia the automobile cortége received the applause of thousands of persons.

Showers of flowers were thrown from beflagged balconies and roof tops. The crowds broke into Fascist songs between periods of thunderous applause.

Premier Mussolini, accompanied by Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party, arrived at Ostia at 5 p. m. Crown Princess Marie José; the inventor, Guglielmo Marconi; the king's Toledo, O., Aug. 12.—[U. P.]—Ignoring the protests of their "striking" husbands, 12 mothers went to work with picks and shovels on Swanton township roads today to obtain food for their children.

The 12 families had been denied charity because the husbands refused to accept relief work unless they were paid in cash instead of grocery orders.

The wives accepted the situation for a few days. But when food began to run low they left their striking husbands on the home doorsteps and asked permission to work for grocery orders.

CUBAN RIOTERS EXECUTE EX-RULER'S 'TERROR GANG'

Ousted Head Boards Plane as Mobs Run Wild.

HAVANA, Cuba., Aug. 12.—Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, war time minister to the United States, became provisional president of this island republic at noon today with the deposed president, Gerardo Machado, and his cabinet in full flight.

The first act of De Cespedes was to depose the Cuban congress, composed of 128 representatives and 36 senators, as part of the "new deal" for the island. The congress, which had been an important part of the Machado machine, had agreed to meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon and proclaim De Cespedes president. He already had taken the oath of office and had been given the presidential salute three times, but the forces opposed to Machado demanded that congress be deposed instead.

Congressmen in Hiding.

This was ordered and the date for electing a new parliament will be set within 60 days. The aim is to choose a legislative body in full accord with the new administration. Most of the congressmen are in hiding. With their families they faded from the scene, fearful of being shot to death.

As if this were not sufficient, the provisional president deposed the Supreme court of 14 judges and its chief justice. Its duties were taken over by military tribunals for the time being.

Cabinet Reported Chosen.

It was said unofficially that the following have been chosen by De Cespedes for cabinet posts:

Public works, Enrique Montelieu, who was a college classmate of President Roosevelt; sanitation, Jose Presno; war and navy, Demetrio Castillo Pokorny, who is a West Point graduate; treasury, Daniel Compte; presidential secretary, Raul de Cardenas, president of the Havana Yacht club; interior, reported offered to Juan Gutierrez Quiros, former chief justice, and Antonio Gonzalez Mendoza, mediator, but both refused.

The day's revolution seemed like a page from history of the old Roman emperors. Machado, once Cuba's idol, decamped for his ranch, 16 miles away, attended by faithful palace guards early in the morning. At the farm is an airport. There a Pan-American plane descended this afternoon and carried Machado, his wife, two daughters, and son-in-law away. They are reported to have fled to Santo Domingo or Nassau in the Bahamas.

Hunt Down "La Corra."

Wild scenes and killings in Havana sped Machado on his way. Slaughter and pillage ran riot, but along well defined channels, Cubans who have had friends or relatives slain in the recent years of political terrorism had the killers marked with crosses in their books.

A man hunt was directed against members of "La Porra" (the cudgel), Machado's hell raising adjunct to the police department. This is, or was, Machado's dreaded secret police. They were the toughest men on the island. Many were convicts enlisted from the prisons.

Up until 8 o'clock tonight the tally was 35 "La Porra" gangsters killed and 62 wounded, most of them mortally.

They were killed in their homes, public parks, the streets; in fact, wherever they were found. One attempted to hide in a coffin in an undertaking establishment. He was dragged out and killed. Shots were fired into the bodies of slain men. Some bodies were left on the streets for hours. Mobs jeered them. Some were soaked with gasoline and burned. Some were roped to automobiles and dragged along the streets, but soldiers stopped this. Some were kicked.

Sack Luxurious Palace.

Mobs sacked the lower floor of Machado's luxurious palace and governmental department buildings. The homes of ten cabinet members were dismantled and wrecked. Furniture was thrown into the streets and burned.

Orestes Ferrara, the secretary of state and superman of the Machado regime, who returned from the London economic conference three days ago, beat the machine guns to Miami. He and his wife stowed away in a plane at the dock when three automobiles filled with Cuban rioters drove up. The pilot saw trouble ahead and started the plane, which zoomed off in sprays of machine gun bullets.

Fire Into Automobiles.

At nightfall the hunting of "La Porra" members was redoubled when six machines loaded with the hated gangsters began running around firing at autos containing members of the ABC organization opposed to Machado. Col. Erasmo Delgado, who di

LATE BULLETINS

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 12.—(U. P.)—A close watch was kept tonight for the plane bearing the deposed President Gerardo Machado from Cuba, but up to a late hour there had been no word of the craft. It was pointed out that Machado might easily direct the plane to land at any of the scores of Bahamas islands, from which communication with the outside world would be difficult.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Aug. 12.—Diego Franchi, general treasurer of Cuba, was arrested tonight. He is charged with attempting to steal $300,000 in public funds in addition to attempting to pay $50,000 to the New York National City bank on a check issued by the Mestre and Machado Contracting company. The company is controlled by the deposed president.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Aug. 12.—Members of the ABC while looting the home of the mistress of former Secretary of Interior Octavio Zubizarreta late tonight, found a complete list of members of La Porra, Machado's strong arm organization. This roster, giving the names, addresses and telephone numbers, was used in the man hunt and slaughter of Porra gangsters.

Former Secretary of State Ferrara, when he bolted for the airplane which took him to the United States, left his luggage on the dock. A bank book showing $50,000 deposits in the New York National City bank was confiscated and the luggage was tossed into the bay.

SANTIAGO, Aug. 12.—(U. P.)—Many houses were sacked, automobiles burned and one person was killed here as celebrations spread throughout the city celebrating the downfall of the Machado regime.

rected the military coup d'etat which made Machado a fugitive, ordered troops to stop and search all automobiles. Two soldiers were stationed at each street corner to halt and search machines.

"Kill Porristas on sight," seems to be the word. The death list is growing hourly. Maj. Jose Leon Carillo, aide to Chief of Police Antonio Anciart, was hacked to pieces with hatchets. His body was burned. Capt. Hidalgo, who persecuted Spanish merchants, barricaded himself at the police station near Almendares bridge. He was killed after a 20 minute gun fight.

Mobs tonight ransacked the home of Representative Aquilino Lombard, a Negro and close friend of Machado. Five members of his family were killed. Lombard himself had fled. In Thursday night's session of congress Lombard introduced a resolution branding American mediation negotiations as "Yankee imperialism."

Loot Senator's Home.

The home of Senator Lorenzo Fernandez Hermo also was ransacked. He was among the strongest defenders of Machado's policy for the three party fusion [Liberals, Conservatives, and Populares] under which Machado was reëlected without opposition in 1928.

Two hundred persons were wounded during the day as hysterical thousands milled through the streets seeking to wreak their vengeance upon everybody who was known to have been a Machado supporter.

A heavy rain, accompanied by lightning, drove thousands from the streets early in the evening. The storm subsided and the rioting was renewed with greater fury. A 30 mile drive through the city showed that no stores or shops were broken into, although the people were hungry as a result of the 10 day general strike.

Carnival Spirit Reigns.

Despite the ferocity of the thousands, strange as it may seem, a carnival spirit reigned, punctuated by killings and demolition of homes.

Mobs even paraded in the downpour with palms and lilies uprooted from the palace gardens yelling "Viva ABC." Emotional Latin-Americans, white and black, made the city resound like Armistice day in 1918.

As part of the understanding making De Cespedes president to fill the unexpired term of Machado reports are that Col. Carlos Mendieta will be a candidate for the presidency in the next election in November, 1934, and Miguel Mariano Gomez for vice president. Mendieta is president of the Nationalist party. Gomez is the son of a former president. Both are refugees in New York.

Machado Flees Palace.

The revolt of the republic's military forces—army, navy, and flying corps—yesterday, led by Col. Delgado, second in command at Fort Cabañas, was followed at midnight by a ultimatum delivered at the palace that Machado must leave by noon today or army planes would bomb the palace. By breakfast time the police force joined the rebellion and Machado had fled.

The latest account is that Machado signed his resignation at midnight after the visit of Col. Delgado, Col. Cruz Bustillo, commandant at Camp Columbia, and Col. Julio Sanguily, chief of the army aviation corps. They are the leaders of the military's coup.

Machado sought to pass the government on to Gen. Alberto Herrera, secretary of war and navy, his political protégé.

Threaten to Kill General.

After Machado had fled, Brig. Gen. Eduardo Lores, chief of the army general staff, visited Ambassador Welles and asked that Herrara be allowed to be president for 24 hours. Welles is reported to have said this was impossible. Mobs threatened to kill Lores as he left the embassy.

The whole city got the news of Machado's resignation shortly after midnight. Immediately mobs swarmed into the streets with exultant shrieks. Col. Delgado and his associates in the rebellion called on Ambassador Welles and reported developments.

Shortly after midnight the military began frisking "La Porra" members for weapons. Later mobs in reprisals for last Monday's violence, when machine guns were turned on the crowds celebrating the fake report of Machado's resignation with a large list of dead and wounded, went on the trail of "La Porra."

Kill "La Porra's" Chief.

Among the first the mob killed was Col. Antonio Jimenez, chief of "La Porra.' Jimenez was walking down Zulueta street heading for the palace. Crowds surrounded him and he took refuge in a drug store on the Prado and Virtudes street.

Jimenez opened fire, killing three unarmed citizens. Soldiers rushed up to him and shot him with rifles, riddling his body with bullets. Jimenez's body lay in the Prado while mobs surged around. They screamed with laughter, slapped shoulders and embraced each other, shrieking "vivas."

The cheering mob kicked the body of the slain police chief and trampled upon it.

"Let's get Machado!" the throng cried.

On Monte street, Carlos de Lorrenze of the Porra gang was captured by the mob and killed. His body was soaked with gasoline and burned. Down on the waterfront, the properties of Mestre and Machado, the contracting firm which the exiled president controlled, having properties in all parts of the island, were ransacked and demolished.

March On to Palace.

Col. Perdomo, former chief of the army forces in Matanzas province, assumed command of the police after Anciart fled. It was on Col. Perdomo's orders that the police joined the military in the revolt while the mobs paraded to police headquarters and after shaking hands, marched on to the palace with police following in trucks and cars, laughing and waving flags.

The sacking of the first floor of the palace formed a spectacular picture. Hardly had Machado fled when a sign appeared over the doorway in crude lettering, "For rent. Find key at the American embassy!" It was similar to the signs which business men had hung on the doors of their stores during the week of the general strike.

A mob, shouting and laughing, swarmed through the iron grille into the palace courtyard. They danced out, bearing loot of all kinds. A fat Negress waddled out with an armful of fine bath towels. Behind her came a huge Negro draped in a tablecloth, a brass spittoon on his head, a policeman's club in one hand and a lily in the other.

Pelt Machado's Portrait.

Bottles of table water and wine were carried by some. Others had baskets containing fruit and bread. Food was the first thing they grabbed In the great hall of the mansion laughing Cubans pelted the portrait of Machado with mangoes and coconuts.

Some dug up lilies from the front of the palace and bore them home for their private gardens. Two men came out with armfuls of policemen's clubs left behind by the palace guard.

One swaybacked mulatto bore off a suckling pig in a crate squealing. Another looter shoved his way through the throng pushing one of Machado's trunks before him. Desks and chairs were carried off with shouts of joy. Others with literary tastes emerged from the palace with arms filled with books in choice bindings. The library was completely sacked.

One looter picked up a typewriter and practiced on it in front of the statue of Alfredo de Zayas, former president, who put up his own monument in front of the palace, all togged out in cutaway coat, with hand upraised. All was laughter and gayety and the vandals were having a happy, happy time.

Outside the gates a policeman had abandoned his motorcycle. A looter took it home. It had the flavor of the French revolution blended with the pillage of Rome and the end of a Roman emperor's career, save that the departing president left with a whole skin.

The enthusiastic looting of the palace in Cuban sunshine was at its height when a couple of truckloads of police appeared in the square. The police were grinning and bowing to the crowds on which they fired last Monday. They seemed to bestow their blessing on the scene.

On top of one automobile sat a policeman "plastered to the gills" waving a rhumba dance gourd and yelling "viva."

The police mixed with the crowd in the palace with an appearance of gayety and managed eventually to wash the looters out of the gates on waves of laughter. Some one discovered sacks of rice and showered the mobs.

On the balcony appeared Gen. Loynaz del Castillo, an extreme anti-American, former Cuban minister to a Latin-American country. He waved his hands, his lips moved, but any sound was drowned in the tumult.

For a moment the mood of the crowd changed. A husky man grabbed a policeman and wrested his club from him, shouting "Assassin!" The policeman took a sock on the jaw as a huge joke and laughed so hard the mob laughed too. The day was saved for the police, who for hours appeared to be walking on eggshells.

Try to Dig Up Palace Tree.

Up drove trucks with soldiers. Roses were in their rifle barrels as they leaned down and shook hands with the looters. At length everything portable had been lugged off and the crowds swept toward the American embassy and the Prado.

Three men were trying to dig up parts of the great oleander tree at the corner of the palace, the loveliest thing in the grounds. The last comers trundled off empty gasoline barrels then abandoned them in the street.

On balconies and in gateways Havana housewives looked on at the show from ringside seats. A few doors from the embassy some one left a gasoline barrel in the street. As a slant on the outlook, one housewife said:

"Let's take it, for it would be convenient to store water."

"No," replied her companion. "Leave it alone, I am not desirous of getting into politics."

Welles Pleads for Order.

Ambassador Welles drove up to the embassy and from the doorway made a short speech in Spanish, its theme being "Señores, observen tranquilidad!" which translated means, "Gents, be calm!" As he left, the mobs gave a noisy ovation, showered him with bouquets looted from the palace gardens, picked him up on their shoulders and carried him into his automobile.

In ecstasies Cubans hugged each other and kissed each other's cheeks. On Gen. Machado avenue, connecting the famous Malecon driveway with Machado's farm, Villa Nenita, the street signs "Avenue Machado" were torn down. This avenue, a monument to the retired president, was dedicated in February with great ceremony.

Two newspaper offices were mobbed. Mobs with police and soldiers entered Heraldo de Cuba, the only government controlled newspaper. They ransacked the furniture and machinery. The Heraldo is owned by Machado and Orestes Ferrara, former secretary of state, and former ambassador to Washington, and as mouthpiece of the government it had carried on an intense campaign against the opposition. El Mundo, owned by Rafael Govin, was also ransacked.

A military guard was thrown around the treasury. At 9 o'clock this morning an armored car of the National City bank of New York called at the treasury to cash a $50,000 check issued yesterday by Machado's contracting firm.

Maj. Bofill entered the treasury, drew his gun on the general treasurer of Cuba, Diego Franchi, and demanded that the money be kept in the treasury. The order was obeyed. The treasury is now under the custody of soldiers to prevent any withdrawals of funds by the defunct government.

In the midst of the afternoon rioting, a shrieking crowd killed José Magrinat, a government agent. ABC groups charged that Machado sent Magrinat to Mexico City to kill Julio Antonio Mella, leader of the students at the University of Havana, in June, 1931.

Mella was first to organize the students against the Machado régime. He was killed in Mexico by Magrinat. Today the students killed Magrinat with shouts of vivas.

Delirious oppositionists swarmed into the office of the Havana American News and cheered its publisher, John T. Wilford. His newspaper had kept up an unremitting campaign to oust Machado. After the August, 1931, revolution failed, Wilford was ordered deported and his plant destroyed by the secret police under Machado's orders.

Editor Receives Ovation.

Wilford's son, Heriberto, a director of the ABC, the young radical oppositionists, was court martialed and charged with placing a bomb in the residence of Stanislao Mansip, chief of police of Marianao. Wilford returned to Cuba after the expulsion decree was revoked at the urge of former United States Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim. Today he was given ovations as fervent as was Ambassador Welles.

For the first time the ABC was able to display its green banners in public and the streets were filled with automobiles dashing about the city with students wearing the green.

Some palace looters started a lively trade in souvenirs. Mosquito netting from Machado's bed brought half a dollar. In the early afternoon the newspapers, which all had been suspended for ten days during the general strike, came out with street editions and the voices of newsboys again were heard in the land.

As the day wore on the mob spirit grew and more public men became victims. Crowds rushed the palatial home of Secretary of the Treasury Octavio Averhoff in Vedado. Furniture and windows were destroyed. Averhoff has been Machado's financial adviser. The opposition has charged him with responsibility for the heavy taxation burdens which were levied to pay for the great public works program which was part of Machado's "new deal."

Attack Official's Home.

Averhoff was rector of the National University of Havana when the first clash between students and police happened in September, 1930. Machado closed the university. Students organized their sector of the opposition and Averhoff was made secretary of the treasury.

The home of José Izquierdo, chief of the central district of Havana, was ransacked. It was he who cancelled the operating permits of Havana omnibus companies on July 25, and was charged by the opposition with seeking a bonus of $17 a day for each omnibus line in the city. The omnibus strike began the "passive resistance" movement against Machado. It was reported that he was killed.

The mob then vented its spleen at the home of Octavio Zubizaretta, Machado's minister of the interior. The house was looted and set afire.

Machado Aid Flees Cuba in Plane Amid Hail of Bullets

Miami, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Orestes Ferrara, secretary of state of the fallen Machado government, flew here late today from Havana. He was fired upon when he left his native capital and booed when he arrived here.

The former secretary said that Machado had not been deserted by the Cuban army, but that officers, learning he would resign, took matters into their own hands.

Ferrara said tonight before he boarded a train for New York that the destiny of Cuba now lies in the "hands of Sumner Welles," American ambassador to the island republic. But in the next breath he said:

"Mob government—as it reigned in Havana today—is still preferable to intervention of a foreign power."

"People who are not independent are restless," he said, placing blame for Cuba's difficulties "solely and entirely on the Platt amendment permitting intervention."

Plane Hit Several Times.

The Cuban and his wife escaped Cuba in a shower of bullets. Their plane was hit several times. A mob seized their baggage as they prepared to leave. Their pilot—an American—shoved the couple into the ship and took off "like a shot."

When they arrived here a crowd of Cubans hissed Ferrara. One man challenged him to a duel. The Cuban stepped forward quickly to answer the insult, but police interfered. Ferrara has fought 11 duels.

The former secretary told a story of riot and danger which he encountered in obtaining and delivering the papers making the change of government in Cuba today.

"This morning I visited the palace," he said, "arranging the necessary papers for the change of government. I noticed that a state of intense fear gripped the employés and servants.

Servants Smash Furniture.

"When the news became known that the president had abdicated, the servants quit their work and ran madly about the palace, smashing furniture and other movable goods.

"I was talking with an undersecretary in the entrance of a hallway. A servant opened the front door. Immediately there were shots from the streets, a bullet striking the servant in the chest and killing him."

From the palace Ferrara said he drove through the streets, taking the papers to Ambassador Welles. The latter at that time offered Ferrara a refuge in the United States, he said, as did the Spanish ambassador in Spain, and representatives of other countries.

Ferrara then went to the house of a friend for luncheon.

Mobs "Howl" in Streets.

"About 2 p. m.," he said, "it was getting hot. Mobs were howling in the streets outside."

Ferrara said that as he and his wife drove through Havana to the Pan-American airport some persons bowed, others booed and shouted threats.

While Ferrara and his wife were examining their baggage alongside the plane, a mob ran up shouting and cursing. Members of the mob seized the baggage, ripped it open, tore up clothing and scattered the contents.

A machine gun opened fire. Bullets went overhead, some striking the wings of the plane.

Leo Terletsky, Pan-American pilot, according to Ferrara, shoved him and his wife into the plane and took off.

MENOCAL, MACHADO'S ENEMY AND AN EXILE, SEES PEACE FOR CUBA

Miami, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Expressing appreciation of the part played by American Ambassador Sumner Welles in the resignation of President Gerardo Machado, Gen. Mario G. Menocal declared today "all other problems are easily settled."

Gen. Menocal, former president of Cuba and leader of the Machado opposition, asserted "the general strike was the voice of the people of Cuba and precipitated the downfall of Machado."

"With Machado gone, all other differences are easily settled," he said. "I have every confidence in the final judgment of the people."

Mendieta Center of Attention.

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Carlos Mendieta, Nationalist party leader of Cuba, was the center of attention among Cubans in New York today. The stern old soldier, now in exile, maintained a military calm in all the suppressed excitement around him as news dispatches told of the fall of President Machado.

Bitter foe of Machado, his erstwhile political ally, Col. Mendieta kept his own council until he could hear of back-scene developments and definite selection of a provisional president to act until the general elections in 1935. It was well understood that the colonel would return to Havana as soon as the situation permits.

CHANGE IN CUBAN RULE IS CALLED VICTORY FOR ROOSEVELT DIPLOMACY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt returned to Washington tonight full of confidence that Cuba is progressing toward stability but determined to search out all possible ways of relieving the island republic's economic distress.

Some observers in the capital tonight were quick to term the change in government on the island a victory for Roosevelt diplomacy, as the administration's official representative on the scene, Ambassador Sumner Welles, had presented the request of island factions that President Machado withdraw.

The President's general satisfaction with the history making events in Havana was made known by Mr. Roosevelt himself as he hurried back to the capital by motor through the Virginia mountains. His expression was based on bare reports relayed by telephone from the state department, but on arriving at the White House the President was quick to avail himself of fuller information.

The choice of Carlos Manuel De Cespedes as provisional president to succeed Machado was well received in Washington, where he is well known, having represented his country here from 1914 to 1922.

Carlos Manuel de Cespedes of Cuba was 62 years old yesterday. His birthday present was the provisional presidency of Cuba.

The man who was chosen to assume the reins of the island republic is the son of the patriot, Gen. Carlos Manuel Cespedes y Quesada, who is known as the "first president of Cuba." The new executive and his twin sister were born in the United States while their father, whom they never saw, was fighting in the unsuccessful "Ten Years' War" against Spain [1868-1878]. The pact of Zanjon, which was signed in 1878, ended the flimsy republic which had existed only in the ranks of the rebels.

Betrayed by a Negro.

Gen. de Cespedes, betrayed by a Negro, was killed by Spanish bullets Feb. 27, 1874. His grave and that of José Marti, who is known as Cuba's "George Washington," stand near one another at Santiago.

Following what he realized were his father's wishes, Carlos de Cespedes served as a colonel on the staff of Gen. Calixto Garcia in the rebellion which began Feb. 23, 1895, and ended with Cuba's liberation from Spain by the treaty of Paris signed on Dec. 20, 1898. De Cespedes served with distinction in the war. Later he represented Cuba at many foreign posts, rose high in government service at home, and managed well his heritage as a wealthy sugar cane planter.

The talented and aristocratic Señora Cespedes, mother of the provisional president, was the sister of a rebel general who fought in the "Ten Years' War." She often accompanied her husband during his campaigns and was held a prisoner by the Spaniards.

After her husband's death she lived in New York and Paris. Carlos de Cespedes attended Charlier's institute in New York, continuing his studies in France and Germany.

Lawyer and Author.

He was graduated from the National University of Havana. He is a doctor of international and civil law and author of several books. He speaks English, Spanish, Portuguese, German and Italian.

When Spanish authority in Cuba ceased in Cuba Jan. 1, 1899, Señora de Cespedes returned to Havana to open a salon in the old world manner, where entrée was considered a great honor. She was the most prominent figure in native society. She was brilliant, witty, and wielded political influence.

Young Cespedes was devoted to his mother and quickly became acquainted with the most prominent Cubans who were guests at the Cespedes salons. It was freely accepted that she was rearing her son to be the chief magistrate of Cuba.

Carlos de Cespedes served for six years as a deputy in the lower house of the Cuban congress. He was once governor of Santiago province. He served in the Cuban state department, and represented his country at Rome, Athens, Paris and Mexico City. He was minister to Washington during the world war.

While serving in Washington De Cespedes was married at the city hall in New York to Laura Bertini. The late John Purroy Mitchel, one of the few successful candidates for mayor against that city's Tammany Hall, performed the ceremony.

De Cespedes' interest in international relations was responsible, in 1928, for his representation of Cuba at the council of the league of nations in Geneva.

SPANISH TROOPS FIRE ON ANTI-MACHADO RIOTERS IN MADRID

MADRID, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A large demonstration against the Machado Cuban administration was broken up today by the police, who fired several shots. The demonstration took place in the Plaza Callao in the heart of the city.

Participants shouted, "Down with dictatorship" and "Down with Cuban tyranny!"

Guards prevented the demonstrators from going to the Cuban embassy. Fifty persons were arrested and several received minor injuries.

SHOT BY BOYS; MAY DIE.

Mishawaka, Ind., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Fred Hallaert, 58, was probably fatally shot today by unidentified boys.

CUBA'S SCORE IS 4 REVOLUTIONS, 4 PRESIDENTS

Revolutions seem to be a usual companion of government in Cuba. The island has had four presidents and four revolutions. When Don Tomás Estrada Palma, the first president, 1902-'06, sought reëlection there was an uprising led by Gen. José Miguel Gomez, then governor of Santa Clara province, who later became president.

Palma asked American intervention. A conciliation commission headed by Elihu Root sought to arbitrate and the upshot was American intervention lasting until 1909 under which Gen. Charles E. Magoon served as governor-general. The first American intervention was in 1899. This was ordered to take possession of the island after the Spanish war.

The second president, Gen. Gomez, was elected in 1909 and did not seek reëlection in 1913. There was no revolution. Mario Garcia Menocal, the third president, who served two terms and is now a political refugee in Miami, had a revolution on his hands in February, 1917. It was started by Gen. Gomez and was quashed by Menocal without intervention.

Dr. Alfredo Zayas, fourth president, had a rebellion, which lasted one day when, in 1924, he said he would seek reëlection. It was halted when Zayas said he would not run. He threw his power to Machado who was elected as fifth president in 1925.

Economic conditions were the greatest basis for the general strike, which swept out Machado. The revolution in Cuba was equivalent to the Roosevelt landslide in the United States last November, being in a measure an expression of sentiment growing out of the business depression.

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Close students of financial relations between the United States and Cuba today estimate this country's "stake" in the island at between $1,250,000,000 and $1,500,000,000.

The figures represent holdings of American and foreign power corporation investments. Much of the money is in Cuban sugar interests, calculated at about $375,000,000.

Next to this industry, the major investment of Americans was reported as being in Cuban bonds, and totaling about $200,000,000, of which $100,000,000 was lent under President Machado's highway building program and $20,000,000 for his new capitol building.

American power interests were said to have poured about $125,000,000 into the island republic, a large part of which is represented by properties of Americans in institutions and corporation.

International Telephone and Telegraph, American Telephone and Telegraph and other American communication companies are estimated to have about $15,000,000 in properties there.

U. S. WAR FLYER SERIOUSLY HURT IN 3 STORY FALL

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Alan Winslow, author and United States world war flyer, was injured seriously today when he fell from a third story window of a hotel. Several hours later he was still unconscious in a hospital and slight hope was held for his recovery.

Winslow came here two days ago on business. Apparently he was seized with a fainting spell in his hotel room and hurried to a window. He fell 50 feet to soft ground. Both his ankles and a thigh bone were broken.

Winslow, 37 years old, served in France with the Lafayette escadrille and lost an arm in action.

BACKS AUTO OVER HIS SON.

Mishawaka, Ind., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—William Gunett, 3 years old, was run over by his father today while he was backing a car into a garage. Two wheels ran over his back but the boy still is alive.

HERE IS WHAT A B C MEANS IN THE LIFE OF POLITICS IN CUBA

The letters ABC stand for the three groups of students and college professors comprising the organization opposed to the Machado administration. The A group consists of the organization's directors. Their names are not known to the two groups below. Furthermore, the identity of the members of the B group are not known to those in the C group, which has the largest membership in the organization.

The directors devise plans of action and transmit their orders to the B group, which is charged with the task of seeing that these orders are carried out by the rank and file of the C group. The organization conceived the idea that by keeping the names of members of a higher group secret from those in the lower groups it would lessen the danger of detection of the leaders in the event members of lower groups are captured and ordered to expose their superiors.

If one of the directors in the A group is captured, the remaining directors at once select new directors from the B group. Consequently, the arrested director is unable to reveal the names of his chiefs.

U. S. LAUNCHES ITS HOME LOAN RACKET INQUIRY

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The federal government opened an inquiry today to determine whether racketeers are attempting to intimidate small home owners into paying high fees for loans through corporations.

The investigation was requested by Leo P. Dorsey, counsel for the Home Owners' Loan corporation, the organization designed by President Roosevelt to save small real estate owners from loss through foreclosure.

Dorsey conferred today with United States Attorney George Z. Medalie and Jacob J. Rosenblum, assistant assigned to the inquiry, and after the conference was over five subpœnas were put in the hands of United States Marshal Raymond J. Mulligan for service.

Medalie said the names of those subpœnaed would be withheld until their stories have been heard.

Dorsey said the home owners loan act provides that any person, partnership, association or corporation, who shall make any charge for obtaining loans, except as authorized by the corporation, shall be punished by not more than five years' imprisonment, or not more than $10,000 fine or both.

'Give Me Baseball Scores!' Cuban Asks as Wire Opens

HAVANA, Aug. 12.—(AP)—When the Associated Press news wire to Havana, in the frenzy of a revolutionary celebration, opened this afternoon the first message was a request from the newspaper El Mundo for "all the baseball scores of the past week." Havana newspapers had been closed, as a result of the political disturbances, since last Saturday.

GIRL HELD AFTER HOLDUP STORY.

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Florence Wagner, 15, and Jane Harris, 16, were held here today while officials investigated their story that the automobile they were driving was taken in a holdup by a gunman who was their traveling companion. The girls said they are orphans.

SINGERS OF HILLS CHEER VISIT OF MRS. ROOSEVELT

She Attends Fete Her Father Described.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

White Top, Mountain, Va., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—This is a swell assignment, but so hard on the knees.

If you had sat all day and heard famous fiddlers put all they had into "Cluck, Old Hen," "The Flop-Eared Mule," and other tantalizing tunes, you'd know what I mean when I say that every muscle in my body is twitching with the rythm that vibrates all over this musical mountain today.

Even Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who came to hear the festival of folk song and lore in this wooded spot where her father, Elliott Roosevelt, used to ride his horse over the range, is waving her hand to beat out the time as Nancy Baldwin, tall, spare mountaineer, sings about "pretty Sally" whose "riches were more than the king he possessed," and whose "beauty was more than her wealth at the best."

Friendly Yell Greets Her.

When Mrs. Roosevelt walked into the big pavilion on the top of the mountain, a yell went up that could, we believe, be heard in the four states which we could see from out cloudless plateau in the clouds.

"I am so glad to be here. The place I have always wanted to see since my father wrote me about it," the wife of the President said.

And the men in overalls, the ladies in rompers, screamed an "Amen."

Mrs. Baldwin really has 16 children, but capered around, gay as a girl as she sang the winning ballad, "Pretty Sally."

Here's the verse I liked best:

There was a rich lady, from London she came;
She called herself Sally, pretty Sally by name.
Her riches were more than the king he possessed, and her beauty was more than her wealth at the best.

Dramatist Is Thrilled.

Percy Mackaye, the dramatist, grows so enthusiastic over Nancy that he draws out of his pocket his cherished four leaf clover, pastes it on a card, rushes over to get Mrs. Roosevelt's autograph on it, and presents it to the hard working woman who hasn't had many streaks of luck in her life.

John Powell, composer-violinist, sways and swings in his chair as Horton Barker, the blind balladist, tells about the "Two Sisters." One, you remember, pushed the other into the well, and the miller, gallant brother, "took the rap," as we say in Chicago. The concluding verse shows that virtue is not always its own reward, for says the ballad:

"The miller was hung at his own mill gate,
Bow and balance to me:
The miller was hung at his own mill gate,
For drowning his little sister Kate.
And I'll be true to my love if my love'll be true to me.

Music Hath Charms.

This festival, which drew a record 10,000 musical minded mountaineers to White Top mountain today, was such a gala occasion that even the law smiled. It was this way. The Cruise brothers, the "Fiddlin' Fools" of these parts, were scheduled to take part in the program. But one of the lads—his name is Council—was in the village jail. I believe it had something to do with an alleged bootlegging charge.

But the "High Sheriff" Mr. K. S. Boardwine loves music. So Council Cruise was released from jail and fiddled his way to first prize.

The Blevins boys, also fiddlers, squatted on the grass at Mrs. Roosevelt's feet as she ate her luncheon.

In the blue jeans, with their turkey red kerchiefs, they syncopated a riotous tune which we were sure must have come down from merrie England centuries ago.

Happy Days Here Again.

So we hurried over with our pencils out to learn the name of this famous old melody. The Blevins boys looked a little surprised as Eddie explained: "Why, lady, that's 'Happy Days Are Here Again.'"

Little Murrel Dockery is only 6 years old. But he's been playing the fiddle for 7 months. To the question, "Who taught you?" he replied casually:

"Nobody taught me; just picked it up."

There was the oldest fiddler and the youngest; there was an old, old man who sang ballads and the old, old man who strummed the three cornered dulcimer.

"How old's that man?" I asked the man next to me.

"About 150," he replied proudly.

"What?" I gasped.

"O, I mean the dulcimer is that old. The fellow's kinda young. Can't be more than 96," my neighbor said.

Greetings Start at Dawn.

Mrs. Roosevelt's day began early when, at dawn, the crowds began to gather at the crossroads, cheering her and begging her to "raise the shade just a tiny bit." Always she did.

At one wayside station she spoke from the platform.

She interrupted her speech to exclaim. "Please, somebody, take that puppy dog, or it'll get run over."

Nobody seems to have taught any of these mountain folk who came in from Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, and the Carolinas. Even the little babies, and there were hundreds of them atop this mountain, seemed to cry in rhythm. Most of the women toted a baby. Many a man carried a fiddle.

Many had gifts for Mrs. Roosevelt. Old John Smith, colored servant for Mrs. Roosevelt's father, hobbled over on the arm of his daughter to give a cracked china cup which Eleanor Roosevelt's father had drunk from 40 years ago. Others brought bedspreads and rugs and bits of weaving.

But Mrs. Ryland Hallsee gave the most permanent gift. To her little daughter, born in the early morning of this eventful day, she gave the name Eleanor Roosevelt.

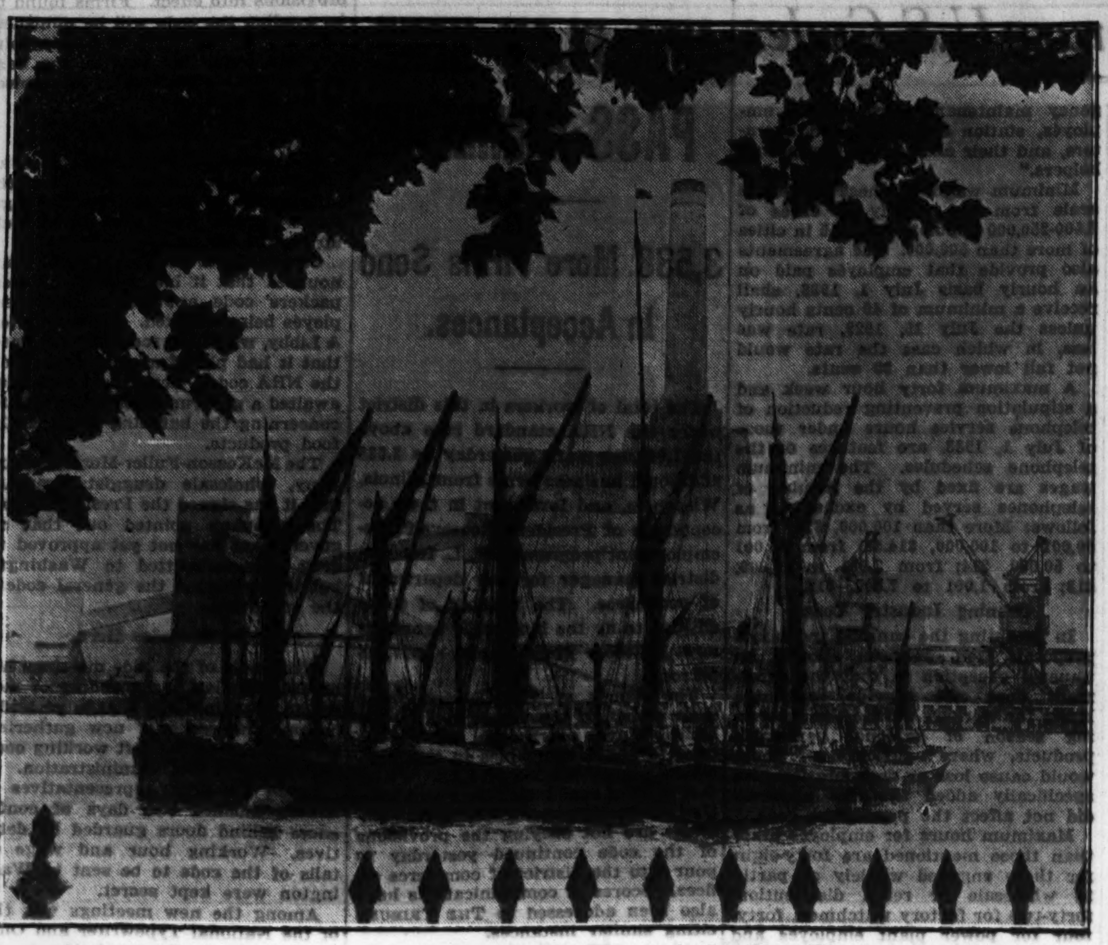
Mrs. Roosevelt loved it all, from the moment she was welcomed as the "Daughter of Elliott Roosevelt, a loyal churchman, splendid American and prince of good fellows," until the moment she was waved good-by as the wife of the President of the United States.

And the mountain folk, late this evening, were still locked in the biggest traffic jam this isolated country, 39 miles from a railroad, has ever known. But the twang of the fiddlers sounded way above the throb of the engines.

And as we swirled perilously around the worst curves in the world, we all clamped down our feet on the brakes in "Turkey in the Straw" rhythm.

I repeat: It was a swell assignment But hard on the knees.

SAILING BARGES ON THE THAMES ARE DOOMED



A contrast between the ancient and modern on the Thames in London. The barges, which are now doomed because of ruling by unions, are seen anchored near the new Battersea power station, one of the new improvements of London.

Rules of Labor Unions Doom Sailing Barges on Thames

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Sailing barges on the Thames are doomed. The picturesque vessels with their huge red sails which have plied the river with the tides for decades will eventually be seen only in the unnatural guise of yachts or houseboats.

Great fleets of barges which once navigated far up the Thames, or put to sea on voyages to the continent, have been rapidly eliminated during the last five years. The reason is not that these craft are inefficient, or in themselves costly to operate. Wind and tide are among the cheapest forms of power.

The cause for the disappearance of the sailing barge and its replacement by tugs drawing lighters is the imposition of rules upon the river by labor unions. These have stepped in, arbitrarily fixed the recompense paid the barge master and his mate, and thereby left the employers with insufficient returns to operate the vessels. Only in rare case, where tight corners in locks and narrow docks make towing impossible, will barges be used in the future.

Barges Seaworthy.

These corners are in the pools of the lower Thames. Even now a barge in full sail is almost never seen above London bridge, and within a few years river traffic above that point, and for a considerable distance below, will be entirely propelled by machine.

The sailing barge is no craft to be despised, for in seaworthiness, navigability and even appearance, these vessels look like anything but an unwieldly hulk. Many of them were used in the coastal trade, sailing all around the British Isles. Barges used on the Thames easily cruise around the heel of England, running from London to the Isle of Wight and Southampton. Cross channel voyages are common.

Although manned only with a crew of two, the master and his mate, the barges are capable of dealing with almost any kind of weather, and in full sail make an impressive sight. Only a few have auxiliary power, for a sailing barge is able to make its own way. There is a main mast in the bow carrying many yards of sail, and a small mast in the port with a smaller sail. In the choked traffic of the lower Thames they can be maneuvered with the ease of any other ship.

Fleet of 200 Broken Up.

One of the largest fleets of barges to be taken off the river during the last few years was that operated by the Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers, Ltd. Until a short time ago this company had 200 sailing barges in the river. Water naturally constitutes a greater danger to a cargo of cement than almost any other kind of freight. But the barges were used as a trustworthy means of transport until labor difficulties made them uneconomical to operate.

Under union rules the barge crew receive one-half of the freight charges for each voyage. By negotiation with the employers union leaders established a fixed rate of freight charges. These vary from 24 cents to 56 cents per ton, depending on the distance. Half of this charge the cement association is compelled to pay to its barge crew, even though the company owns both vessel and cargo.

The usual load of cement is 100 tons, so that the average charge per trip amounts to about $25. Of this the master and mate get $12.50. The cost of maintaining the barge in the absolutely watertight condition necessary for carrying cement makes it cheaper to move cement by tug and lighter than by sail.

Many Barges For Sale.

For this reason the company now has only 38 sailing barges in operation. Thirty more are laid up for sale. Other concerns have taken the same step, and many barges have been put on the market during the last five years.

A barge sold for conversion into a yacht or houseboat brings anything from $750 to $1,250. This price does not cover the cost of the vessel but merely frees the former owner of the heavy cost of keeping the vessel shipshape. The repair bill for an average barge is $750 annually. As houseboats, moored near a bridge and fitted with electricity, barges make excellent places to live. They average somewhere between 75 and 100 feet in length, with a breadth anywhere from 13 to 20 feet. They draw five to six feet of water.

In full sail, during their heyday, the barges were a magnificent sight. Each year they sail a race in the Thames estuary. The huge flotilla of barges moving before a good wind made an impressive spectacle. The number of entries has fallen steadily during the last few years, and rivermen say the time is coming when the race will be abandoned.

CANADIAN MAYOR SAYS BLUE EAGLE IS 'BIRD OF PREY'

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Mayor David A. Croll declared in a speech last night that, so far as Canadians are concerned, the American NRA blue eagle in some of its aspects "is not a bird of hope or national recovery but a bird of prey."

Addressing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the mayor said the Ontario government is not enforcing a statute calling for a minimum wage of $2 a day for women.

"Most of the concerns that have cut wages to a point of starvation are subsidiaries of United States companies," he said. "While the parent company is displaying the NRA blue eagle the Canadian branches are cutting wages and making profits."

He wanted to know "What the Ontario and federal governments are going to do about it?"

R. G. TUGWELL, WALLACE'S AID, WILL TOUR WEST

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—After six months in Washington Dr. R. G. Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, believes that public officials spend too much time in the capital.

"They ought to get out more," he told newspaper men today, preparatory to putting his theory into effect Monday when he will begin a journey of from three to four weeks through western states.

He intends to visit agencies of the department of agriculture in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Arizona ,and New Mexico.

Dr. Tugwell said he would talk to producers in agricultural areas to obtain their viewpoint on plans which might help agriculture.

PRESIDENT SEES FORESTRY CAMPS IN BLUE RIDGE

Returns to White House After Vacation.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Eight hundred boys who have gained an average of twelve pounds apiece since they began to work for Uncle Sam told President Roosevelt today that civilian conservation camps for the unemployed were a swell idea.

Their cheers and their waving brown arms welcomed their commander in chief back from his Hyde Park holiday via a roundabout route to Washington which took him through Virginia's Shenandoah valley and Blue Ridge to see for the first time the realization of his pet plan of work camps for jobless young Americans.

Finds Mountain of Mail.

The President reached Washington late today following his day's 200 mile automobile ride. Awaiting him he found a mountain of mail and a stack of appointments.

But it was the rehabilitation of the 300,000 men and boys in the camps throughout the country that occupied his chief attention during the day, as he inspected the five Virginia camps that had to serve as examples of them all.

"All you have to do is to look at you boys to know that the camps are a success," said the President, as he sat at an outdoor luncheon table at the Big Meadows camp, located on the new Skyland drive running along the crest of the Blue Ridge.

Parade of Automobiles.

"I'd like to spend a coupe of months with you," he went on. "I know I'd get as healthy as you are. The only trouble is, you've put on an average of twelve pounds apiece and I'm trying to lose twelve pounds."

And the President cast a surfeited gaze at the remains of a Saturday luncheon which consisted of steak, mashed potatoes, string beans and carrots, fresh tomato salad, apple cobbler, and iced tea. The boys who had just finished cleaning up their mess kits in the big mess hall had dined on the same fare.

The special train which took the President and his party aboard at Hyde Park last night, arrived at Harrisburg, Va., early today. At Harrisburg the change was made to a parade of automobiles. Waiting to accompany the President were Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Tugwell, Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work; Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commanding the Third corps area; Louis M. Howe, secretary to the President; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and A. B. Cammerrer, new head of the national park service.

Costs 35 Cents to Feed Youths.

Camp 67, near Grottoes, was the first camp visited. Its 190 young men, averaging 19 years of age, had been there only since July 17, building truck trails and putting up telephone lines as an aid to forest fire prevention. The President learned that 35 cents a day is the average cost of feeding the members of the camps.

Base pay is $30 a month. Leaders receive more. Eight per cent of the total enrollment receive $36 and 5 per cent $45. The cost of running the camps is 15 millions a month in addition to the 25 millions initially spent for equipment. Each month 2½ per cent of the members are released so they may take steady jobs, and from 3 to 4 per cent are dishonorably discharged for disciplinary reasons.

Camp Nira Is Visited.

Camp Nira, on Bald Face mountain, was the second camp visited. Its 196 men were lined up like veterans. Two of them suddenly ran out, bearing lighted torches. They ran toward a mysterious screen of blankets, labeled, "Fear," and thereon a scaffold was Fear, himself, done in straw.

The torches were applied and when Fear fell, amid cheers and jeers, revealed the letters N. I. R. A., standing for the national industrial recovery act, and the bugler played "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Then came the Big Meadows camp, which the boys have named Camp Fechner in honor of their director in chief; then Skyland camp, where a "hill billy orchestra" came out to salute the President with old mountain music. The Bald Face, Big Meadows, and Skyland camps are all in the new Shenandoah National park.

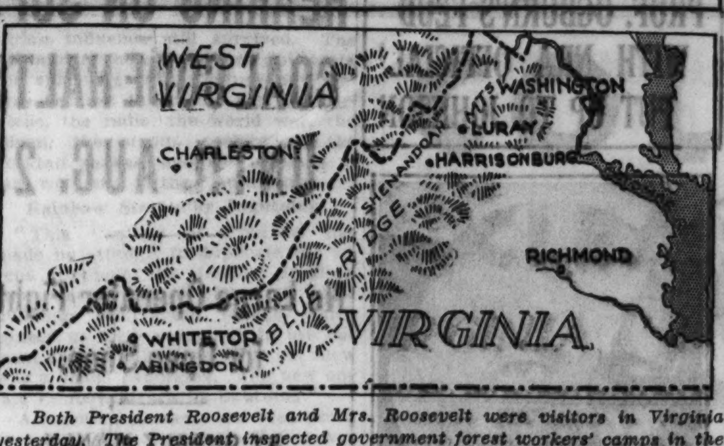
Keep Men Busy for 5 Years.

There is enough work making trails, building roads, clearing the forest of undergrowth, Gen. Malone told the President, to keep the camps in the Shenandoah National park busy for the next five years, and the President agreed.

Last camp on the list was Camp 68, at Sperryville. Then the President turned toward Washington and the White House.

According to present plans President Roosevelt will remain in Washington until next Saturday, then leave once more for Hyde Park and the family estate on the Hudson. He will stay there until Aug. 31, then go aboard Vincent Astor's yacht, Nourmahal, the same on which he took the cruise last winter off the Florida coast. That trip ended in the assassination attempt by Zangara and the fatal shooting of Mayor Cermak of Chicago. The Nourmahal will carry the President back to the capital, getting him to Washington about Labor day.

OLD DOMINION HAS VISITORS



Both President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt were visitors in Virginia yesterday. The President inspected government forest workers' camps in the Shenandoah in the northwest section. Mrs. Roosevelt was guest at a "sing" on a high mountain near Abingdon in the southwest corner of the state.

WYOMING GOVERNOR ASKS NRA ECONOMY ON ITS TELEGRAMS

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Gov. L. A. Miller, a Democrat, wants the NRA to economize.

Miller doesn't think the recovery administration needed to send him a 644 word telegram about a hearing on the New Orleans milk code, or another of 1,388 words concerning the Knoxville, Tenn., milk situation.

Nearly every day, the governor said, his office has received telegraphic notice of code hearings on cotton textiles or similar matters in which Wyoming has only remote interest.

While in Washington this week in connection with a hearing on the Casper-Alcova project, Miller protested to government officials. The governor said J. C. O'Mahoney, first assistant to postmaster general, promised to convey the protest to a cabinet meeting.

STOCK BROKERS PLAN TO SUBMIT CODE THIS WEEK

A code for the stock brokerage business will be submitted this week to the industrial recovery administration. A committee of nine named by the Association of Stock Exchange Firms, New York, drafted the code.

T. R. Benson, president of the Chicago Association of Stock Exchange Firms, and Sidney L. Parry, secretary of the association, attended a meeting in New York last week at which the proposed code was discussed.

Stock exchanges and exchange members' associations in the leading cities have indicated their readiness to cooperate under the code.

CHURCHILL LAUDS ROOSEVELT FOR 'MENTAL ENERGY'

THEYDON BOIS, Essex, England, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Great Britain is watching with sympathy and earnest attention "the heroic experiment President Roosevelt is making," Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer and conservative member of parliament, said here today at a political gathering.

"For myself I put far more hope in the resolute mental energy of Mr. Roosevelt than in the venerable and chilling orthodoxy of Montagu Norman" [governor of the Bank of England], Churchill asserted.

"I mention these two famous men because they represent opposite thoughts and moods upon economic problems. I should like to see our national government and the chancellor of the exchequer, who bears such a heavy burden, find some path between the two that would bring us nearer to the realities of production, distribution, and exchange."

INDIANA HOTELS TO SELL BEER ON DRAUGHT SOON

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Fortified by a favorable opinion from Attorney General Philip Lutz Jr., Gov. Paul V. McNutt today authorized the sale of draught beer in hotels, restaurants, dining cars and boat dining rooms. The order becomes effective at 9 a. m. Tuesday, Aug. 15. Immediately, on receipt of the opinion a set of regulations to govern the sale of keg beer was issued by Paul Fry, state excise director. The law originally was interpreted as permitting sale of beer in bottles only.

North Dakota Will Vote on 3.2 Per Cent Beer Sept. 22

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Gov. William Langer tonight called a special election for Sept. 22 to vote on several issues, including the legalization of 3.2 per cent beer, and a sales tax. Gov. Langer said the election was imperative because of poor crop conditions and subsequent delinquent taxes.

DOLLAR'S STATUS STIRS UP DEBATE IN WASHINGTON

President's Advisers Are Divided on Plans.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—While Americans strive dazedly to guess whether they ought to invest in silver or currency, real estate, stocks or bonds, livestock or general commodities the Roosevelt administration is striving to decide on a permanent monetary policy.

One day Wall street hears rumors of inflation. Stocks go up. The next day, the rumors are scotched. Stocks go down. Grains react sensitive to the same rumors. Shrewd operators, and those who forget the rumors, make money by speculating on them.

Millions of Americans, however, are wondering about the effects of inflation, wondering how it will affect their purchases of food and clothing, wondering what it will do to incomes, wages or salaries, and to their debts, wondering also, what it is all about.

The President, who will return to Washington tonight after spending considerable of his holiday at Hyde Park in a study of money, prices and inflation, is represented by his close advisers as appreciative of the need for an early arrival at a permanent policy.

He is also declared to be of the opinion that until his program of the new deal is further advanced, he cannot make the vitally important decisions which are involved.

And while the investing nation waits, a struggle is being waged within the Roosevelt councils, with one group of economists, in the treasury department, urging the President to declare for a fixed gold standard, and another group, the professoriat of the brain trust, pressing him toward adoption of the commodity, or "rubber" dollar.

Reports of Views Conflict.

The President has been represented in some quarters as for the "rubber" dollar idea, but from equally reliable sources he is declared to be open minded on the whole question, unwilling to take any drastic step until he is convinced it is in the right direction.

He is known to realize that the nation's commerce abroad is at stake, and that he must weigh a policy of near economic isolation against one of trading with the world.

His whole purpose, as he has disclosed it on several occasions, is to permit American people to enjoy a stable existence; to be able always to buy with their incomes the same amounts of necessities and comforts of life. Although the President's definitions have been taken in support of the commodity dollar, contrary interpretations are being made in Washington these days, to the effect that his purpose can be carried out by other methods.

The urge of the professors, toward the rubber currency, is to have the President exert his powers granted under the inflation bill to alter every month, if necessary, the value of the dollar.

Fisher for "Rubber Dollar."

The chief exponent of this system, Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university, who was one of the experts consulting with the President at Hyde Park this last week, proposes that the dollar shall be given changing valuations in strict accordance with the changes noted in the prices of commodities.

The Yale professor long ago devised a commodity index, weighted according to the economic importance of the commodities included in his calculations, the purpose being to achieve an average price representing all commodities.

Prof. Fisher has argued that the value of the American dollar should be bounced up or down so that it shall always be level with the commodity index and thus have a permanent degree of purchasing power.

The method of varying the value of the dollar would be to change the gold content of the dollar, by executive decree. At the present time the purchasing power of the dollar is about 75 cents, compared to its value before the United States abandoned the gold standard.

The President, under the authority given him by congress, could formally declare the gold content of the dollar to be at any point down to 50 per cent of its former gold value.

Thus, according to the Fisher rule, if prices required a dollar worth 75 cent, 70 cents, or even 50 cents, the President would establish such a value by executive order, and then change it from time to time as prices fluctuated.

Approved by Treasury.

The treasury advisors of the President, opposing the commodity index dollar, have advanced as their objections, first, that the fluctuations would make impossible any stabilized trade with foreign countries. Before shipments could be completed in foreign commerce the dollar would have jumped up or down in relationship to foreign moneys.

If the point is made by the Fisher dollarites that an international commodity dollar may be adopted, the experts opposed to tinkering with money values retort that conditions in all the nations of the world never are changing along the same courses, nor ever in the same degrees, so that one nation's index might be up and another's down.

Another objection to Prof. Fisher's dollar is that speculators could obtain easy access to figures which would convince them whether the commodity index was going up or down during a month, and could demoralize foreign exchange by buying or selling dollars in the money markets, against the future fluctuations ordered by the President.

Another Rubber Dollar.

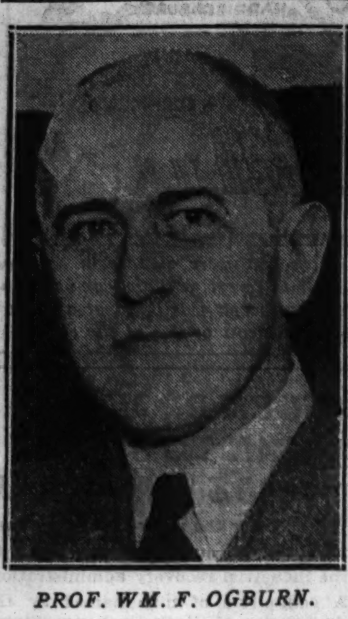
A different form of rubber dollar is proposed by a noted English economist, John Maynard Keynes. Mr. Keynes, whose expressed views are followed with considerable admiration by President Roosevelt, contends that the dollar must be manipulated, but he rejects the commodity index as the yardstick for the President's action.

Mr. Keynes' view is that the commodity index comes too late; that by the time economic conditions are reflected in the price index the basic changes are already so far under way as to make the dollar alteration too late to be of value.

So Mr. Keynes, whose proposal is international in scope, would have the central banks in the various countries, which means the federal reserve board in the United States, meet every week and by whatever information they have in their possession to fix the gold content of their currencies.

The information would include figures on employment, on prices, on production, conditions of credit, governmental budgets, and the like, and upon this material the central bank heads would guess on the economic future of their countries and set money values accordingly.

PROF. OGBURN'S FEUD WITH NRA OFFICIAL PUT UP TO JOHNSON



PROF. WM. F. OGBURN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—In the rôle of peacemaker, Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial chieftain, tonight attempted to settle differences between two prominent members of the NRA organization and bring to an end the first open feud in his official family.

The participants are Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, wealthy chairman of the consumers advisory board of the NRA, and Prof. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago.

Johnson said today he would try to end their dispute.

Mrs. Rumsey is out of the city recovering from a nervous collapse.

The weeks of controversy between the economist and the socially prominent Mrs. Rumsey culminated recently in a telegram to Ogburn from Secretary Roper, chairman of the NRA cabinet advisory board advising him that he was being transferred to the central statistical board created by President Roosevelt to check the economic course of the nation.

The action, officials said, was taken at the behest of Mrs. Rumsey and with the approval of Johnson. The professor rushed back to the capital from Chicago and found out there was no vacancy on the statistical board.

4 LARGE CHAIN GROCERIES MAY LOSE BLUE EAGLE

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Four large chain grocers and a chewing gum company are threatened with cancellation of their Blue Eagle insignia if they persist in violating the terms of the President's reëmployment agreement, Henry F. Wolff, chairman of the NRA complaint committee, said today. One of the grocery houses has been under investigation for the last week.

The complaints—which have threatened the invocation of the punitive clauses of the national recovery act, on perhaps the largest scale up to now—charge that one of the grocery concerns has resorted to various schemes to dodge the NRA terms.

It is specifically charged, according to Mr. Wolff, that one of the chains has discharged employés to offset the increased wages given to others, and that an enforced midday recess was resorted to, so as to bring the employés within the maximum eight hour day.

In the case of the chewing gum company it was charged that it was printing NRA insignia in its own plant, which is in violation of the NRA plan, Mr. Wolff said.

FARLEY WARNS AGAINST CODE EVASION EFFORT

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley today expressed the opinion that employers who sign an NRA code and fail to live up to it can be prosecuted under the mail fraud statutes.

"I understand," Farley said at NRA headquarters here, "there is a disposition in some quarters to evade the terms of the President's agreement and I frequently have been asked how these situations can be handled.

"It seems to me that a man who signs the President's reëmployment agreement, follows it up signing a certificate of compliance and then deliberately goes back on his pledge comes within the classification of those who use the mails for fraudulent purposes."

HEARING ON SOFT COAL CODE HALTS UNTIL AUG. 22

No Large Operator Fights for Open Shop.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The national recovery administration's hearings to formulate a code of fair practices for the bituminius coal industry were adjourned today subject to call by Administrator Hugh S. Johnson. The session ended with a final rallying of support to the general code, adopted by operators in conference with the United Mine Workers, and without a single large producer coming to the defense of the open shop code presented on behalf of the eastern coal barons.

Deputy Administrator Kenneth M. Simpson closed the hearings, which lasted four days, with a statement that the "great complexity" of the subject, indicated by the submission of 27 separate codes, would necessitate extensive study by the administration. He asked the proponents of codes to be available on Aug. 22, and took their names and telephone numbers. This was regarded as an indication that the administration, after deciding upon its policy, will request dissenters to submit in the interests of the common welfare.

Expected to Settle Labor Question.

The coal code as finally approved is expected by industrialists who attended the hearings to settle once and for all the administration's position on the labor question, not only in this but in other large industries, including steel, automobiles, oil and lumber. The steel magnates were forced to withdraw the company union clause from their code, but it still is awaiting approval. Donald R. Richberg, counsel for the NRA, requested Charles O'Neill, who submitted the north and south coal code, to strike out a similar clause, but O'Neill refused. Forney Johnson, who presented the Alabama code, even threatened to defy the administration unless their open shop demands were retained.

Administrator Johnson has insisted that labor must have the right to organize and bargain collectively, through representatives of its own choosing, in accordance with section 7 of the recovery act, and for this reason President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and operators supporting their demands are confident that no provisions for company union bargaining will be tolerated.

Big Operators Are Silent.

Several of the operators in the Appalachian territory covered by the code submitted by O'Neill, which contained wage scales lower by $1 a day than the Lewis code, in addition to the open shop clause, have expressed unofficial approval of the general code presented by George B. Harrington of Chicago. This differs from the Lewis code in working hours only, providing a 36 instead of a 30 hour week.

It also was regarded as significant that big operators who were scheduled to speak in behalf of the O'Neill code passed up their opportunity. Among these were J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, a Mellon interest, and J. D. Francis, president of Appalachian Coals, Inc.

It is reported that O'Neill and the other die-hards of the eastern and southern nonunion fields are waivering between resignation to what appears to be the inevitable and defiance of the administration's power to impose drastic regulations upon them.

Coal Baroness Satisfies Union.

The general code presented by Mr. Harrington, who is president of the powerful Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal company and also operates in the east, has been approved by Frank Taplin of Cleveland, another large producer, and today it received a fervent indorsement from a coal baroness of the west, Miss Josephine Roche of Denver.

Miss Roche is president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company and one of the largest operators west of the Mississippi. Her mining camps are considered models by the United Mine Workers and her attitude toward labor is revolutionary as compared to that of her father, the late John J. Roche of the Ludlow massacre days in 1913, which precipitated a federal inquiry headed by William Howard Taft.

The basic wage scale in the five mines of Miss Roche, a Vassar graduate and former referee of the Denver Juvenile court, is $5.25, which is 25 cents a day above the demands of the U. M. W. code. Efficient management and the loyal coöperation of her employés enable her to compete with other operators paying lower wages, she declared.

Reason Replaces Violence.

Urging the substitution of "reason for violence, good faith for dishonest practices, and a union of effort for the chaos of the present economic welfare," Miss Roche asked the adoption of the general code for the entire nation.

"Our experience of five years under a contract stating these purposes," said Miss Roche, "has been such that we feel the general code represents not only the interests of labor and management but the interests and desires of the public and this recovery administration."

Two Million Persons Affected by New, Temporary U.S. Codes

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—More than 2,000,000 workers were enlisted in the NRA army today. Gen. Hugh Johnson approved modifications of the President's agreement under which the electric light and power, natural and manufactured gas, telephone, canning, and construction industries may operate.

The application of the agreement will mean at least 150,000 new jobs and an increase of many millions of dollars in pay rolls and purchasing power.

Added to the foregoing were manufacturers of paper and pulp, fruit and flavoring syrups, garters, suspenders and belts, marking devices, umbrellas, corn products, and refractories.

Electric Code's Scope.

The agreement accepted for the electric light and power industry, presented by the Edison Electric institute, affects 236,000 employés of more than 3,000 companies, and will result in employment of 30,000 new workers. The telephone code, offered by the Bell system, will mean the hiring of 6,000 new employés and a pay roll increase of $15,000,000 to $18,000,000.

Pay rolls of the manufactured gas industry will jump $15,680,000, and and those of the natural gas industry $9,950,000, a total of $25,630,000.

Get Temporary Codes.

Admittance of these industries under the modified President's agreement is permitted, as in all other codes, pending hearings on permanent codes. The Bell Telephone system, which is credited with adding 42,000 workers since it started shortening hours three years ago, embodied in its agreement the provisions of a permanent code, which it presented and which will be considered at a hearing. Thousands of small independent telephone companies contend that they cannot meet the terms of the Bell program. The Bell system controls twenty-three companies out of 6,800 in the nation, but does 80 per cent of the business.

The Edison Electric institute and the American Gas association, which covers manufactured gas, also used the heart of permanent programs as temporary substitutions for the President's agreement and submitted codes for their industries. The gas code was not released for publication.

Same Hours of Work.

The electric light and power and gas industries used identically the same maximum hours and minimum wages in their modified agreements and permanent codes. A maximum forty hour week is fixed, except when only two persons work in towns of less than 2,500 population, but there is allowance for a forty-eight hour week for "load dispatchers, emergency maintenance, and repair employés, station and substation operators, and their attendants, crews, and helpers."

Minimum wages in these industries scale from $14 weekly in cities of 2,500-250,000 population to $15 in cities of more than 500,000. The agreements also provide that employés paid on an hourly basis July 1, 1933, shall receive a minimum of 40 cents hourly unless the July 15, 1929, rate was less, in which case the rate would not fall lower than 30 cents.

A maximum forty hour week and a stipulation preventing reduction of telephone service hours under those of July 1, 1933, are features of the telephone schedules. The minimum wages are fixed by the number of telephones served by exchanges as follows: More than 100,000, $15; from 50,001 to 100,000, $14.50; from 25,001 to 50,000, $14; from 7,501 to 25,000, $13; from 1,001 to 7,500, $12.

Canning Industry Code.

In accepting the canning industry's proposals Gen. Johnson allowed an unusual exception in that the agreement does not provide maximum hours for workers during the processing season of seasonal perishable products, where restriction of hours would cause loss or deterioration. He specifically added that his approval did not affect the permanent code.

Maximum hours for employés other than those mentioned are forty-eight for those engaged wholely or partly in wholesale or retail distribution, forty-two for factory watchmen, forty-four for power plant employés and repair men, and forty-eight for chauffeurs.

The construction industry agreed on a maximum average of thirty-five hours for all employés, except professional, executive, and supervisory, for a six months' calendar period, and minimum wages of 40 cents an hour for unskilled labor unless the rate on July 15, 1929, was less, in which case the minimum rate will be 30 cents an hour.

For Other Industries.

For the paper and pulp industry a forty hour maximum week and minimum wages of 35 cents an hour for men is established, with 30 cents for women in the north and south.

The fruit and flavoring syrup industry adopted a forty hour maximum week and the minimum wage rates in the President's agreement.

The garter, suspender, and belt industry fixed a forty hour maximum week, with minimum wages of 40 cents an hour or $16 per week for men and 32½ cents an hour or $13 a week for women and boys between 16 and 18 years of age.

WORKERS UNDER NRA PLAN HERE PASS A MILLION

3,538 More Firms Send In Acceptances.

The total of workers in this district under the NRA standard rose above the 1,000,000 mark yesterday as 3,535 additional business firms from Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa sent in their acceptances of President Roosevelt's reëmployment program to F. L. Roberts, district manager for the department of commerce. The number of firms entitled to fly the blue eagle banner is now 117,655. They employ 1,027,248 persons.

The names of 779 Chicago firms were added to the honor roll in the United States courthouse, raising the total to 16,517 companies in this city, which employ 589,224 persons.

A flood of complaints from employés that firms displaying the NRA emblems are not obeying the provisions of the code continued yesterday to pour into the district of commerce offices. Scores of communications have also been addressed to THE TRIBUNE citing similar instances.

Will Stop Evasion.

Mr. Roberts declared he could only repeat what he has stated previously in regard to these complaints. He said:

"The public may be assured that employers who have pledged themselves to the recovery code will not be allowed to evade its provisions. Some patience must be displayed, however, by employés. The reorganization of business houses caused by the adoption of a maximum working hour and minimum wage scale is often extremely complicated and takes some time.

"A definite deadline is soon to be set by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the national administrator, when firms must have adopted the code and put its provisions into effect. Firms found to be evading the code will be punished, not only by the force of public opinion and publicity, but, in the case of persistent offenders, by the power of the U. S. courts."

All Being Filed.

In the meanwhile, it was stated, all complaints are being filed for the information of government investigators when the time comes for a checkup on the workings of the code.

Oscar Mayer & Co. yesterday announced that it had signed the meat packers' code, approximately 875 employés being affected. Libby, McNeill & Libby, wholesale food dealers, stated that it had placed all employés under the NRA code. Action had previously awaited a governmental interpretation concerning the handling of perishable food products.

The McKesson-Fuller-Morrisson company, wholesale druggists, revealed that it has signed the President's code. The company pointed out that the government has not yet approved the drug code submitted to Washington but it has signed the general code in the meantime.

Draft Codes Here.

With most of the code meetings held here during last week ending or moving to Washington, Chicago yesterday became the scene of new gatherings which will seek to draft working codes acceptable to the administration.

Seven hundred representatives of bakers finished two days of conferences behind doors guarded by detectives. Working hour and wage details of the code to be sent to Washington were kept secret.

Among the new meetings was that of the National Typewriter and Office Machine Dealers' association in the Congress hotel which will discuss a code for 20,000 retailers in the business.

PRESS VETERANS OF '93 BRIDGE A GAP OF 40 YEARS

Reminisce of Old Fair and View the New.

A gap of forty years in Chicago's history was bridged yesterday and last night when the press veterans of 1893 held a reunion at A Century of Progress to renew glamorous memories of the old World's Fair amid the splendors of the new.

One hundred and eighty men and women were found who had written or edited newspaper stories of the Columbian exposition. Of these, 110 were present and 55 sent regrets, leaving only 15 not heard from.

Among those who signed the registration book were some who quit the newspaper field to win success in other lines and others—a majority it seemed—who are still active in their own profession. There were George Ade of the old Chicago Record, Opie Read of fiction writing fame, John Fay of the now extinct New York World, Charles H. Dennis of the Chicago Daily News, William K. McKay of the old Chicago Journal, and McCutcheon, Beck, and Bennett of THE TRIBUNE.

They Meet and Reminisce.

They met at the Fair around 10 a. m. to present credentials and only a few were late for the assignment. Malcolm McDowell, who covered the Columbian exposition for the Record and is back at A Century of Progress for the News, was at hand to bar gate crashers.

After an hour or two of reminiscing, the group gathered for lunch at the Blue Ribbon casino. James Keeley, once of THE TRIBUNE and now of the Pullman company, was host. To enliven the proceedings there was a flavor of sherry in the soup and cointreau on the coffee, while the apples for the apple pie dessert had been steeped for forty-eight hours in brandy.

The veterans spent the afternoon surveying the Fair with experienced and critical eyes. After lunch there was little reminiscing. A Chicago editor, casting his glance over the spruce, straight shouldered and clear eyed crowd, remarked that if an earthquake were to strike Chicago at the moment the country couldn't have produced a more alert and competent staff to cover the story.

Sally vs. Little Egypt.

The big moments were reserved, however, for the evening dinner in the federal building and a post-prandial survey of the Streets of Paris. The veterans were determined to decide for themselves just how Sally Rand might stand up against Little Egypt from the standpoint of news interest.

VETERANS WHO MADE HISTORY

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Rufus Dawes, president of the 1933 Exposition, Maj. Lenox Lohr, the general manager, and Charles G. Dawes, financier of the enterprise, came in to the meal in hopes their critics would speak well of A Century of Progress.

To prove that their memories and reportorial talents were as keen as ever, each veteran contributed a remembrance of the old fair.

These were printed in a miniature newspaper, copies of which were distributed to the guests.

Mr. McCutcheon recalled the first cartoon he ever drew in Chicago—a sketch for the morning edition of the News, representing various cities scrambling to pluck the fruits from a tree labeled "World's Fair."

A Custom of the Old Fair.

Mr. Fay contributed an item concerning the method of swapping news and opinions during the old exposition. Mr. Beck supplied a vivid description of the fire that wrecked the Columbian buildings a little over two months after that exposition closed.

"A feature that lingers in memory was located in the Agricultural building," wrote Mr. Fay. "It was a pyramid of quart bottles six feet square at the base and extending upwards fifteen feet. These bottles were filled with Scotch whiskies, the first mass invasion of the Scotch. Every working reporter at the fair was presented a card with twenty-five stars around the border, each good for a high ball without cost. Great newspaper conferences were held every day about 4 p. m. It was the only bar I ever encountered at which no money passed across."

Other Memories Recalled.

There were other than Columbian exposition memories to recall. There were stories of wars, political conflicts and disasters, which had made American history. Mr. McCutcheon, for example, was sitting beside Edward W. Harden, now a New York broker, who was assistant manager of THE TRIBUNE bureau at the fair of '93, and who afterwards scooped the world for THE TRIBUNE and the New York World on the battle of Manila bay. He and Mr. McCutcheon may have talked of that event, for the cartoonist was with him at Manila.

Bernard J. Mullaney, once of the Record and of the Inter-Ocean, was toastmaster. A Century of Progress buglers sounded a fanfare as Mr. Mullaney rose to read a message from an absent "veteran of '93"—the President of the United States.

"I too can count myself a veteran of '93," Mr. Roosevelt telegraphed, "for I well remember visiting as a boy of 11 Chicago's first world's fair. I congratulate you on this reunion and wish I could be with you. Greetings to all of you."

Harriet Monroe Reads Ode.

A poetic high light of the evening was provided by Miss Harriet Monroe. It was she who had written and delivered the 300 line ode for the dedication of the Columbian Exposition. With forty years of memories, she had written another ode for A Century of Progress. Mr. Mullaney called on her to read it, assuring her that John Fay would not break the deadline now as he had in 1893 by filing the poem forty-eight hours in advance for the World.

Miss Monroe complied, reading the verses in a clear, firm voice with moving inflections. The poem, entitled "Chicago 1933," is as follows:

Once more through all your open ways—
Through water gates, by land, by air—
Those ancient reckoners of days,
The nations, come to speak you fair.
Down the long avenues of change
The spoil of centuries they bring
Into a palace brave and strange
Where the new era's dreamers sing.
Keen be our ears to hear that song
Through the loud crash of toppling years—
Faint is the sound that will be strong
When the armed world forgets its fears.
Now while the hero-mind of man
Is venturing through the dark unknown,
You light the paces of his plan
Where the towers gather for his throne.
My city, keep the faith you found
When huts rose on the marshy bar!
Lift up your banners from the ground
Whence Lincoln marched, led by his star!
Hear the new song of man's desire
The wireless winds of dream shall bring
When bold Arcturus lights your fire
And the bright towers leap up to sing.

George Ade Sums It Up.

It remained for George Ade to sum up the veterans' impressions of A Century of Progress after some humorously tart remarks from Rufus Dawes concerning the "manifest self esteem of the gentlemen of the press."

"When people ask, 'how does this exposition compare with the old one,' we must keep our fingers crossed," reflected Mr. Ade. "How would the puffed sleeve and long skirt compare with the present bathing suit? Answer: The bathing suit is not as formally correct, but a good deal more of a show."

"The big fair that we knew belonged to the nineties and the Victorian influence still survived. The Columbian show could not anticipate the splendors of A Century of Progress because the motor car, the airplane, the radio, the world war, the slipon, the stepin, prohibition, the cocktail shaker, and the wailings of jazz were still in the future tense.

Rainbow Struck by Lightning.

"This Century of Progress has made no attempt to duplicate the serene grandeur, the classical architecture, or the broad vistas of white buildings and green foliage which caused us forty years ago to use our most excited adjectives. The old show was a placid panorama. The new one is a rainbow struck by lightning."

After other speakers had been heard in similar vein, Charles G. Dawes was called upon. In a short crisp speech and with unexpected vehemence, he declared that "this exposition is one institution in the United States which for the four years of its development and execution gave full expression to American ideals."

The press veterans gave token of their agreement in a round of applause.

CHICAGOLAND'S FESTIVAL WEEK OPENS TONIGHT

Seven Days of Pageantry, Parades and Song.

Regattas, dances, luncheons, teas, banquets, pageants, parades, religious services, conventions, reunions.

The first of the birthday reunions was held last night and was still going gayly on the Fair grounds at an early hour this morning.

It brought together 150 journalists—men and women—who reported the World's Columbian Exposition of forty years ago this summer. Some of them had not met since then. They came from many parts of the republic. The President of the United States sent them a message at once courtly and intimate, and said he was sorry he could not be there to be young with them.

Flags swaying in the sun. Flags streaming from a thousand towers. Flags of every color and significance, from the flags of remote nations to the blood red banners of the Salvation Army. Flags everywhere.

Palaces of art and palaces of science thronged with wondering people.

Anybody who cannot rouse himself to participate in such a party is dead to an interesting world and a thrilling time. Why cumbreth he the ground?

Vesper Services Tonight.

This evening brings devotions.

Arrangements have been made for seating 100,000 worshipers in the stadium on Soldiers' field.

This open air vesper service will be an hour of thanksgiving and consecration, beginning at 5:30 o'clock.

Down Go the Barriers.

Chicago Protestantism has obliterated all denominational lines for this occasion. From the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America to the ritualistic Episcopalians, all Protestant bodies will be represented in the civic thanksgiving which commemorates not only the municipality's one hundredth anniversary but also the one hundredth anniversary of the organization of the first Presbyterian, Baptist, and Episcopalian churches in Chicago.

Choirs numbering 10,000 members will sing. They have been assembled from the young people's societies of various churches, and some of them come from communities seventy-five miles away. Harry Saulier, director of the Young People's division of A Century of Progress Evangelistic council, has rallied them.

Luther's Grand Old Hymn.

They will sing Luther's "A Fortress Strong Is the Lord Our God," the old "Faith of Our Fathers"—sometimes called "the Portuguese hymn"—and the latter day "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and "Tell Me the Old, Old Story."

Forty voices from the Swedish Choral Oratorio club will be heard in two excerpts from Mendelssohn's "Elijah"—"He That Shall Endure" and "He Is Watching Over Israel"—under the direction of Harry T. Carlson.

Prysgol's great Welsh anthem, "Bryn Calfaria" ["Hill of Calvary"] will be sung by seventy members of the Welsh male choir under the leadership of Dr. Daniel Prothero, and George L. Tenney will conduct the choir of the New First Congregational church in the offertory.

The Man of "Apt Brevity."

The centennial preacher is the Rev. Dr. John Evans, rector of St. Luke's church, Chicago.

"Dr. John's charm and power," a lay critic once said of this preacher, "lie in his apt brevity." His subject tonight is "More Power to You."

Service and sermon will be simple and forthright. Both will be powerfully amplified.

Every Protestant coöperating agency in Chicagoland will be represented by the clergy and laity on the platform.

Five hundred ushers, recruited from all Protestant churches and wearing badges of red ribbon, will look after the congregation, and Dr. Evans says, "Your face is your ticket"—which would seem to be a fair specimen of his celebrated "apt brevity."

"Free parking space," he adds, "at Monroe street and the lake front."

The offertory will be devoted to charity.

Thus endeth the evening of the first day of the fourth city in Christendom's one hundredth anniversary.

Now the Women Take Charge.

Tomorrow will bring on the scene such notable figures as Miss Jane Addams and Mrs. Hannah Solomon, prominent in women's activities at the fair of '93 and founder of the National Council of Jewish Women.

It will be Woman's day.

The place of assembly is the German-American building on the World's Fair grounds, which seats 5,000.

Mrs. Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, will address this birthday party by radio from Washington.

Participating in the day's program will be Mrs. John Cornwall, representing the Gold Star Mothers; Miss Pauline Frederick, representing the stage; Miss Margery Maxwell, representing the opera; Mrs. Carter Harrison and Mrs. Lydia Thomas Railey, representing the state of Illinois; Mrs. Henry W. Herdy, president of the Chicago and Cook County federation of 70,000 clubwomen; Mrs. Bertha Baur and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, one a Republican national committeewoman, the other one a Democratic, but still speaking.

Hitler Take Notice!

Jewish women leaders said they gladly would come to this party if assured that no Nazi flags were displayed. They said it flatly. They won.

Tuesday—Fort Dearborn day, will bring pageants, illuminations, and commemorative addresses at the reproduction of the fort on the Fair grounds. The programs will be given under the auspices of the Junior Association of Commerce.

Wednesday—State street day, under the auspices of the State Street council. Shows in the stores for children. Special displays of styles for women. Rich decorations indoors and and out.

Thursday—Lake Michigan day, and a truly brilliant program at night on the Fair grounds. All will be emblematic of Chicago's gratitude to the great body of water that makes it the finest metropolitan summer resort in North America.

Three hundred yachts—owned by members of the Lake Michigan Yachting association—will sail the illuminated waters of the north and south lagoons of the Exposition.

Decorated barges bearing dancing girls from the Fair's foreign villages will follow the yachts.

Gondoliers will ply their craft, singing as they go.

Bands will play from barges anchored in the lagoons.

Neptune, his courtiers and his minstrels will welcome foreign groups which will offer homage to Lake Michigan in songs and tableaux.

Then drills and maneuvers on the water, and—charming ceremony—the awarding by foreign governments and concessions at the Fair of beautiful prizes which they will present to those who bring the most artistically decorated craft into the water parade.

The Friendly Foreigners.

Among the donors of prizes are Costa Rica, Egypt, Hungary, Morocco, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Japan, China, Spain, and Belgium, and among their gifts are four silver medals commemorating the visit of Gen. Balbo's armada of the air to the Exposition.

In addition the Exposition authorities will present silver cups to the international groups participating in the water fêtes.

Friday—Automobile day, all the dealers in Chicago exhibiting in Grant park, south of the Art institute, all the famous makes of cars in a setting of flags and palms, and to the accompaniment of band concerts. There will be evening displays under brilliant illumination.

Nothing of the kind has ever been attempted before in the loop.

A Singing City.

Saturday Night—The grand finale of the birthday festivities.

And it will be grand.

A singing city!

What the annual Chicagoland Music festival has been for three years past the nearly 400,000 people who heard the concerts know.

The fourth will enlarge the noble festival tradition.

Soldiers' field and its environing stadium will resound with music classical and music popular.

The great masters—Händel, Wagner, Liszt, Tschaikowsky, Brahms—will be heard, and heard, too, the masters who touch and stir the hearts of the multitude—Stephen Foster, Sousa, Rosamond Johnson, Harry Armstrong, and the unknown weavers of those haunting melodies with which the Negro race solaced its grieving soul in days of bondage and voiced its spiritual yearnings and gropings in strains that make Caucasian listeners lend a sympathetic ear.

This festival's mere figures are dazzling.

In the drum and bugle corps that will begin marching on to the field at 6:30 o'clock in the evening, 1,300 musicians.

In the bands that will make their entry at 7:35 o'clock, 1,450 musicians.

In the choruses competing for prizes, 840 singers.

In the gypsy dances, performed to the accompaniment of Liszt's Hungarian rhapsody No. 2 and Brahms' Hungarian dance No. 5, 1,300 children and girls garbed in silken draperies of crimson, blue, green, rose and purple, and each dancer carrying a beribboned tambourine.

A total of 7,890 artists.

Apotheosis of Händel.

In the rendition of the Hallelujah chorus from Händel's "Messiah," which in years past has brought Festival audiences cheering to their feet, 4,640 singers will be heard, of whom 600 are colored people who display a special genius in the rendition of oratorio.

A thousand Negro singers directed by the celebrated James A. Mundy, "the Black Creatore," will give the grand old spiritual, "On the Great Gittin' Up Mornin'."

The Mundy choristers and the Quinn chapel choir will be heard in "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho."

J. Wesley Jones, another Festival favorite, will lead his people in Rosamond Johnson's "Old Southland," and, also under Mr. Jones' direction, the Metropolitan Church choir will sing "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

The tremendous "Hallelujah Chorus" will be conducted by Noble Cain, who handles huge masses with amazing precision.

Grand Old Victor.

In their lovely dances the 1,300 children and young women—they range in age from 7 to 20—will have the accompaniment of a 100-piece band directed by Victor Grabel, who, both as artist and adviser, has been a tower of strength to THE TRIBUNE in its development of the Festival idea. The dances will be a symphony of light as well as of music, for the performers will move under parti-colored rays from anti-aircraft searchlights.

The numbers for this year's community sing will be "Suwanee River," "Sweet Adeline," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and "America." Freshen up on them, neighbors, freshen up.

From Far Vancouver.

Canada will be represented in Saturday night's program. Generous Rotarians and others in Vancouver, B. C., gave $5,000 to send the Kitsilano Boys' band of that city to our festival. It will be something to hear, for these 30 lads were the Canadian champions of 1931 in a dominion-wide contest held at Toronto.

Another newcomer will be a band of 230 boys and girls from the National Band camp at Interlachen, Mich. They represent thirty-eight states of the Union and will be led by Joseph Maddy.

Fifty cities of Chicagoland will be represented by their choral societies, choirs and individual vocalists. Newspapers in five states coöperated with THE TRIBUNE in bringing them here. The prize-winning bands, choirs and soloists will be heard in the concert.

A Broadcast to Twenty Millions.

The entire program will be broadcast to twenty million listeners by W-G-N and the Columbia system.

Its three closing numbers—coming between 9:30 and 10:15 o'clock—will be of sensational magnificence:

The Hallelujah Chorus by 4,640 singers.

Tschaikowsky's "1812" overture by 150 bandsmen, cannoneers and pyrotechnicians, and 1,600 singers who will be heard in an adaptation of an ancient Slavic hymn prepared by Mr. Grabel.

And a patriotic fantasia of music and fireworks culminating in the national anthem.

This finale will depict, in music and fire, episodes of Fort Dearborn and the civil war. Pictures in fire of Lincoln, Grant, Lee, Dewey, and Theodore Roosevelt will appear far above the multitude. Niagara falls in a cascade of pyrotechnics will flood the whole stadium with white light.

Then the President of the United States in a portrait of flame flanked by Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty and the American flag, and, amid the glare of rockets and bursting bombs, all rising to sing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Taps at 10:30 o'clock, and the end of the birthday week.

LARGEST PROTESTANT CHORUS ASSEMBLED EXPECTED TONIGHT

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

When Dr. Daniel Protheroe, Chicago's world known Welsh choral director, steps on the great stage in Soldiers' field this afternoon it is believed by many that he will direct the singing of the largest number of Protestant Christians ever assembled in a single service.

With such a prospect in mind, the committee in charge of the vespers gave careful thought to the selection of hymns for the occasion. But in spite of the care, the task of hymn selection was refreshingly easy. This was true because, although doctrines are uttered by hymns, the doctrines affirmed by all the greater hymns are agreeable to all groups and divisions of Protestant Christendom. No church leader would think of looking up the author of a great hymn to learn whether the author was a Baptist, a modernist or a Roman Catholic. It is interesting to note, however, that a preacher might find himself in difficulty should he interpret in his own words the doctrine of some great hymn in which a great representative throng might heartily join.

Brother Meets Sister for First Time in 26 Years

Harry J. Miller, city commissioner at Ottawa, Ill., and his sister, Miss Mathilda Miller of Brighton, England, met for the first time in 26 years yesterday at the Pennsylvania railroad station. They had been separated since the death of their parents. Miss Miller came here to visit the Fair and be reunited with her brother.

What's in a NAME?

Still young among nations, America is yet mature enough to have her household names for excellence in special arts and crafts.

These are the names of families in whose tradition runs lifelong devotion to one field of work, the transmitting of skill and experience from fathers to sons.

So the name of McCormick means reapers and the tools of the field; Harper, Scribner's and Putnam are books; Morgan and Drexel call up visions of the counting house; Hoe, presses; Roebling, bridges, and Fisher is

by
FISHER

HAS IT ever occurred to you that the only motor car body universally known by name is Fisher Body?

That is something worth remembering and weighing when you buy an automobile.

The fine and time-honored craft of coach building is as natural a part of Fisher as is the name itself.

The Fisher organization was born with it. Grew up with it. And with the oncoming of the automobile swept the practical knowledge of it forward to the eminence which Fisher occupies today.

For more than twenty-five years the growth of the Fisher organization has depended upon its alertness to the public's desire for style and safety and comfort.

And because Fisher has known and studied and anticipated the wants of the public, the public has grown to know the Fisher name.

WHAT, specifically, does the name "Body by Fisher" mean to the buyers of cars today?

It means that the body which bears this name enjoys the benefits of manufacturing and financial resources greater than those of all other bodymakers combined—and therefore receives the advantage of every opportunity which large scale manufacture presents.

It means that the organization which bears this name is the world's largest user of steel, of glass, of fine hardwoods, of hardware, of upholstery in body construction—and therefore is best enabled to use them skilfully and wisely for your safety and comfort and pride.

It means that Fisher has the greatest experience—and the finest reputation to maintain.

IT IS a point of pride with us that Fisher is free to build any type of body that it may choose, from any materials.

It is a matter of common sense that Fisher should and does employ these vast resources to build the very best body for the purpose intended, without and within.

A review of Fisher contributions even to the closed car body alone must include such visible improvements as the easy-rolling regulators for windows, the seats easily adjustable for pitch and depth, the form-fitting seats and backs, the slanting and visored full-vision non-glare windshield.

And now, crowning all these, is the latest and most important contribution to motoring health, comfort, and safety made in the last twenty years: Fisher No Draft Ventilation.

When you consider that the body is the most costly single unit of any automobile, you will see the wisdom of making sure that you get the finest body on the next car you buy.

What's in a name? It all depends on the name. In the name Fisher is assurance of all that a man or woman needs to know to choose the strongest, safest, smartest motor car body in the world today.

Consider all this when you are buying a car, and you will surely look for the name:

RISE OF NEGRO DRAMATIZED IN PAGEANT AT FAIR

Negro day, commemorating the part the members of that race have played in the last century of cultural and industrial progress, was observed at the Fair yesterday. The chief feature of the day was a pageant, "The Epic of a Race," presented in Soldiers' field before a large audience drawn from all parts of the United States.

Delegations from New York, New Orleans, Memphis, and other Negro centers came to Chicago by special trains to join with the colony here in the presentation of the program. A parade from 61st street and Wabash avenue to the Fair grounds opened the festivities of the day.

Stage Athletic Program.

During the afternoon an athletic program was staged in Soldiers' field, but a majority of the visitors seemed to prefer the Fair itself as an attraction. The day was distinguished not only for the participation at the Fair but because it marked the beginning of a week during which many Negro conventions will be held in Chicago. Among the conventions scheduled are those of the National Negro Medical association, the Royal Circle of Friends, the Alpha fraternity, and the A. K. A. sorority.

The evening program, given under the general direction of Chandler Owen, detailed the rise of the Negro. The period of slavery was depicted by Negro spirituals and other mournful musical numbers.

Following this period of lamentation came the abolition agitation, the Lincoln-Douglas debates, John Brown's raid on Harper's Ferry, the underground railway which played an important part in the escape of the Negro from slave owners and finally the civil war.

Give Emancipation Proclamation.

Rising on a note of exultation one of the stirring moments of the pageant was the proclamation of emancipation and the beginning of the educational campaign of northern philanthropists. The pageant then moved into the modern era, in which the cultural aspects of Negro life culminated in Booker T. Washington, and the development of modern Negro artists.

The attendance yesterday fell nearly 100,000 below that of Friday. At 11:30 o'clock last night 136,994 paid admissions had been recorded.

MIDDLE WEST WINS HONORS IN GLADIOLUS SHOW

Gliadolus growers of the middle west won the principal awards yesterday as the seven day exhibit of the Illinois Gladiolus society opened in the south wing of the Horticultural building at A Century of Progress. Approximately 75,000 flowers in more than 200 classes were exhibited.

The principal awards included: Championship basket and best professional display, Heberling's Gladiolus gardens, Easton, Ill.; tallest spike, six feet in height, H. E. Smith, Danville, Ill.; champion spike grown by an amateur, John Broun, Lake Villa; championship professional vase display, Wentworth Gardens, Battle Creek, Mich., and championship single spike in the semi-professional class, the Rev. H. W. Shull, Lewiston, Ill.

Miss Betty Quinn, 20 years old, formerly of Hollywood, who is visiting this summer at Crystal Lake, Ill., was selected late yesterday as "The Gladiolus Girl."

HYMNS FOR TONIGHT'S VESPER SERVICE

The following hymns will be sung tonight at the Chicagoland Church Night Vespers in Soldiers' field. It is suggested that these hymns be clipped out for use at the great service. The vespers open at 5:30. Admission is free.

A MIGHTY FORTRESS IS OUR GOD.

[Martin Luther.]

A mighty fortress is our God,
A Bulwark never failing;
Our Helper He amid the flood
Of mortal ills prevailing;
For still our ancient foe
Doth seek to work us woe;
His craft and power are great,
And, armed with cruel hate,
On earth is not his equal.

Did we in our own strength confide,
Our striving would be losing;
Were not the right man on our side,
The man of God's own choosing:
Dost ask who that may be?
Christ Jesus, it is He;
Lord Sabaoth His Name,
From age to age the same,
And He must win the battle.

And though this world, with devils filled,
Should threaten to undo us;
We will not fear, for God hath willed
His truth to triumph through us;
The prince of darkness grim—
We tremble not for him;
His rage we can endure,
For lo! his doom is sure,
One little word shall fell him.

That word above all earthly powers,
No thanks to them, abideth;
The Spirit and the gifts are ours
Through Him who with us sideth:
Let goods and kindred go,
This mortal life also;
This body they may kill;
God's truth abideth still,
His kingdom is forever.

ONWARD, CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS.

[Sabine Baring-Gould.]

Onward, Christian soldiers,
Marching as to war,
With the cross of Jesus
Going on before.
Christ the royal Master
Leads against the foe;
Forward into battle,
See, His banners go.

At the sign of triumph
Satan's host doth flee;
On then, Christian soldiers,
On to victory.
Hell's foundations quiver
At the shout of praise;
Brothers, lift your voices,
Loud your anthems raise.

Like a mighty army
Moves the Church of God;
Brothers, we are treading
Where the saints have trod.
We are not divided,
All one body we;
One in hope and doctrine,
One in charity.

Crowns and thrones may perish,
Kingdoms rise and wane,
But the Church of Jesus
Constant shall remain;
Gates of hell can never
'Gainst that Church prevail;
We have Christ's own promise,
And that cannot fail.

Onward, then, ye people,
Join our happy throng,
Blend with ours your voices
In the triumph song.
Glory, laud, and honor
Unto Christ the King;
This through countless ages
Men and angels sing.

FAITH OF OUR FATHERS.

[Frederick W. Faber.]

Faith of our fathers! living still
In spite of dungeon, fire, and sword;
O, how our hearts beat high with joy
Whene'er we hear that glorious word;
Faith of our fathers, holy faith!
We will be true to thee till death.

Our fathers, chained in prison dark,
Were still in heart and conscience free;
And blest would be their children's fate
If they, like them, should die for thee:
Faith of our fathers, holy faith!
We will be true to thee till death.

Faith of our fathers! God's great power
Shall win all nations unto thee;
And through the truth that comes from God
Mankind shall then indeed be free;
Faith of our fathers, holy faith!
We will be true to thee till death.

Faith of our fathers! we will love
Both friend and foe in all our strife;
And preach thee, too, as love knows how
By kindly words and virtuous life;
Faith of our fathers, holy faith!
We will be true to thee till death.

TELL ME THE OLD, OLD STORY.

[Katherine Hankey.]

Tell me the old, old story
Of unseen things above,
Of Jesus and His glory,
Of Jesus and His love.
Tell me the story simply,
As to a little child,
For I am weak and weary,
And helpless and defiled.

REFRAIN.

Tell me the old, old story,
Tell me the old, old story,
Tell me the old, old story
Of Jesus and His love.

Tell me the story softly,
With earnest tones and grave;
Remember I'm the sinner
Whom Jesus came to save.
Tell me the story always,
If you would really be,
In any time of trouble,
A comforter to me.

Tell me the same old story
When you have cause to fear
That this world's empty glory
Is costing me too dear.
Yes, and when that world's glory
Is dawning on my soul
Tell me the old, old story,
"Christ Jesus makes thee whole."

JESUS CALLS O'ER THE TUMULT.

[Mrs. Cecil F. Alexander.]

Jesus calls us; o'er the tumult
Of our life's wild, restless sea,
Day by day His sweet voice soundeth,
Saying, "Christian, follow Me."

Jesus calls us from the worship
Of the vain world's golden store,
From each idol that would keep us,
Saying, "Christian, love Me more."

DAY IS DYING IN THE WEST.

[Mary A. Lathbury.]

Day is dying in the west;
Heaven is touching earth with rest;
Wait and worship while the night
Sets her evening lamps alight
Through all the sky.

Holy, Holy, Holy
Lord God of Hosts!
Heaven and earth are full of Thee!
Heaven and earth are praising Thee,
O Lord Most High.

Lord of Life, beneath the dome
Of the universe, Thy home,
Gather us who seek Thy face
To the fold of Thy embrace,
For Thou art nigh.—Holy, etc.

While the deepening shadows fall,
Heart of Love, enfolding all,
Through the glory and the grace
Of the stars that veil Thy face,
Our hearts ascend.—Holy, etc.

When forever from our sight
Pass the stars, the day, the night,
Lord of angels, on our eyes
Let eternal morning rise
And shadows end.—Holy, etc.

Negro Festival Chorus Holds Rehearsal Today

The Negro chorus which will sing on Saturday night at the Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' Field, will hold a rehearsal this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Quin chapel, 24th street and Wabash avenue. The music festival is sponsored by THE TRIBUNE. James A. Mundy and J. Wesley Jones, choral directors, will be in charge. The chorus will give four numbers Saturday night.

WOMEN PREPARE FOR THEIR DAY AT WORLD'S FAIR

More than 300 advance reservations for tables at the woman's day luncheon tomorrow at A Century of Progress were reported yesterday by Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, general chairman of the event. In order to handle the additional reservations of clubs and individuals today, she said, the headquarters will be opened at 10 this morning in the office of President Rossetter of the association of commerce, and tickets will be available all day.

B. J. Mullaney, vice president of the People's Gas company and general chairman of Chicago week at A Century of Progress, will welcome the women at the luncheon. R. I. Randolph will represent Rufus C. Dawes, president of the exposition.

175,000 VETS TO START PARADE AT TRIBUNE TOWER

The 175,000 marchers in the American Legion's ten hour parade on Oct. 3 will start from the Tribune tower, it was announced yesterday by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the Sixth corps area. The approval of the route was given by Gen. Parker after a survey from the Tribune tower with Mrs. W. G. Suthers, executive chairman of the Legion auxiliary convention committee, and Lieut. Col. J. N. T. Schultz, assistant chief of staff at the corps headquarters.

"From Tribune tower, where the shadow of John Kinzie's first home in Chicago once fell," Gen. Parker said, "the parade route will travel south, most of its length on sacred and historic ground. For along this very route marched the soldiers and civilian men and women on that August day in 1812 when they met the massacre at 18th street, known as the Fort Dearborn massacre.

"Symbolic of Chicago's progress, it is fitting that this great demonstration of America's substantial citizenship should begin here."

HANGS SELF IN YARD.

Peter Scharf, 49 years old, 2843 Fletcher street, an employé of a baking company, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself from a tree in the backyard of his home. His wife, Mrs. Anna Scharf, who found the body, said he had been despondent over inability to find a better job.

FAIR CEREMONY MARKS CHICAGO'S FIRST CENTURY

Descendants of Pioneers Take Part.

Against a brilliant panorama of lake and sky, before an audience too meager for the significance of the event, a minor portion of Chicago yesterday commemorated the actual date of the centennial of which A Century of Progress is so expansive a celebration.

Really the climax of the entire World's Fair program, the exercises under auspices of the Chicago Historical society and World's Fair executives, marking the span of a century since that August day when the settlement of Fort Dearborn achieved the status of a town, somehow evolved into one of the lesser pageants of the Exposition calendar. Fewer than 500 persons participated in the program on the natural stage opposite the Transportation building on the lake shore.

Descendants of Pioneers.

For those who came, many of them the third and fourth generation descendants of the men who gathered that evening at Mark Beaubien's house for the incorporation meeting, there was the thrill of living history in the colorful contrast of the tableau on the Wings of a Century stage. The blanketed and feather-decked Indians massed against the white pylon to the north, and the sun glittered on sabers and helmets in the ranks of the troops from Camp Whistler, drawn up opposite, against the south pylon.

Ancestors of those Sioux and Winnebagos mingled with the ancestors of the "first family" Chicagoans, occupying rows of chairs that flanked the speakers in the central foreground. In the days before the white men came, this was the home territory of the Winnebagos, and the Sioux camped on the western prairies.

Reviews First 100 Years.

"The curtain rises on a swamp beside a little stream. It will not drop while our civilization endures," declaimed Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, in his brief résumé of the city's first hundred years. Swiftly he sketched the high lights of that century, beginning with the solemn conclave in the Beaubien home, where the struggling little outpost of 150 persons emerged a prideful town, with 29 legal voters—of whom 13 were candidates for office.

Col. Thomas J. V. Owens was made president of the town council, comprising George Dole, Madore Beaubien, Dr. Edmund Kimberly, and John Miller, all of whom were impersonated in the festivities of yesterday by Historical society trustees. Lester Luther, in the character of Col. Owens, the first mayor, congratulated Mayor Kelly on the growth of the city.

"I bring congratulations across the bridge of a hundred years," Mr. Luther said. "I was mayor of Chicago when its population was only 150, and its area but a few miles. One thing we share in common, the confidence in Chicago's greatness in the days that are and are to come."

Mayor Kelly's Response.

"I came here today with a set speech," Mayor Kelly confessed in response. "But I find myself so thrilled with the spirit of this celebration that I am going to throw it away and speak out from the heart. As you know, I am a native of Chicago. You, Mr. Owen, did your duty for the town as your conscience dictated. Today I can do no more. You have started what we believe will be the greatest city in the world. Little did you realize when you were mayor, what the future held—that one day this would be a city of more than three million souls.

"In the half century I have lived in Chicago, I have seen marvelous changes—the growth of the railroads, the development of the telephone and telegraph, the coming of radio, and yes, even bathtubs, along with the use of the X-Ray to save lives, and such inventions as airplanes, lift bridges and many another. I, as a citizen of Chicago, am thrilled this morning when I look over at the Indians who helped make this city, and wish them Godspeed, as I do you all, descendants of the men who builded here."

Dancer Wears Full Costume at Fair

BEG YOUR PARDON

In an item Friday it was stated that Patricia Murphy, 20 months old, who died Thursday, had swallowed the contents of a medicine bottle in her home at 4101 North Western avenue. The child's brother, Joseph Murphy, said yesterday that she had swallowed the medicine at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Cora La Duc, 2246 Irving Park boulevard.

Negress Saws Way Out of Police Station Cell

Queenie Taylor, 22 years old, colored, escaped from the women's annex of the North Racine avenue police station last night. She sawed off a lock on the window bars, which enabled her to swing open the bars, and then dropped 20 feet to the ground. She was arrested Friday on complaint of Andrew Diamond of the Morrison hotel that she and another Negress threatened him with a knife in a robbery attempt.

DANCER JULIA PREFERS HER ART FULLY CLOTHED

And She Has Enthusiastic Public, Too.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Maybe, after all, Sally Rand was right when she batted her lashes at the judge and gushed, "It's my art!" Nobody believed that Sally thought it really was her dancing that packed 'em in at the Streets of Paris. In contrast to Sally is Julia Taweel, who rates a place in the history of A Century of Progress as the only solo dancer on the grounds who hasn't dropped her veils nor shaken a single shimmy. Who doesn't even think that clothes hamper her technique.

Across the Midway from Sally's stamping ground in the French quarter rise the high white walls of Morocco, where Julia gaily prances daily on the raised platform in the center of the coffee shop. Her schedule is as full as the fan dancer's, her costume much, much fuller.

She Has Her Public, Too.

In proportion to the size of the concession the crowds which gather in the oriental atmosphere to watch Julia perform are as large—and enthusiastic—as those who go to the Parisian square opposite to see Sally, even without the pull of the publicity or the magnet of the weaving fans. Maybe it's true, as Julia artlessly suggests, that everybody likes dancing.

It needs but a glance at her dark eyes, with their incredibly long lashes heavy with kohl, to prove that she is genuine oriental. Born in Lebanon, Syria, she came to this country with her family at the age of 6, and still chatters Arabic as freely as English. Both the gestures of her dances—without a suggestive movement—and the detail of her costumes, she contends, a authentic and traditional.

On her scant 4 feet 10 inches Julia wears more than an army of fan dancers like Sally, whose idea of a costume is a whisk with the powder puff. Julia wears the "shirwal," billowy thin silk trousers, caught at the ankles with the belled ornaments called "khil-khal." Then she has on the "mintan," or upper part, consisting of a brassiere over which falls the long, diaphanous tunic. Also she wears the draped headdress, the "aba." And on her feet are the "kibkab," intricately worked wooden sandals inlaid with mother-of-pearl in diamond patterns, discarded when she dances.

Expression of Emotion.

"It's as natural for the oriental to dance as to express emotion in music or singing—and this type of dance means something," explains Julia earnestly. "Dancing without clothes doesn't mean a thing, and I'm willing to let the others do it all. Pauline Frederick clapped a lot for me the other day when she had luncheon here and told me I had the only respectable dance she'd seen on the grounds, and lots of people tell me they like it, too. So I'm satisfied.

"I don't do the shimmy or muscle dancing, because they're not oriental. One came from Honolulu and the other from Egypt, and that isn't the orient to me."

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

More than 100,000 jars of canned foods will be distributed to charitable organizations this winter as a result of the International Canning contest at the Fair, sponsored by Ball Brothers of Muncie, Ind., manufacturers of fruit jars, who have an exhibit of canned goods in the Agricultural building. Jars may be obtained free by people desiring to enter the contest by writing to Miss Grace Viall Gray, 79 W. Madison street, Chicago. Contestants may send in their own jars if their canning has already been done. The contest is to be held from Oct. 1 to Nov. 1. Contestants must agree that their entries may be given to charity at the close of the contest.

Fur jackets and heavy sweaters are among the articles most often turned in to the lost and found bureau in the General Exhibits building at the Fair, indicating that Chicago summers are cool. One full length sealskin coat was found and returned to its owner through this bureau. More than 3,000 articles have been found and many are still awaiting their owners.

A replica of the human heart, which "beats" as the organ does in a living body, is attracting considerable attention in the Hall of Science. It is in the exhibit of G. D. Searless & Co. of a Chicago pharmaceutical house. Booklets describing the actions of the heart and symptoms of heart disease are being given to Fair visitors at the exhibit.

Visitors to the Fair from outside of Chicago are generally amazed at the small cost of seeing the Fair and the parking facilities and excellent road marking for tourists, according to the answers received by reporters in numerous tours of the grounds recently, interviewing people picked at random from the crowds. The interviews revealed that a very large percentage of the visitors drive to Chicago in their own cars.

An exhibit, dramatizing A Century of Progress, will soon be installed in the Osaka Commercial museum for the benefit of residents of Japan who are unable to come to Chicago for the Fair, according to Yaroku Katayama, secretary of the Japanese foreign trade bureau. He spent two months at the Fair gathering material for the museum and making plans for a Japanese exposition which he is planning for 1935.

International Fellowship day will be celebrated next Sunday, Aug. 27, the fifth anniversary of the signing of the Kellogg peace pact. Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state who negotiated the pact, has accepted an invitation to attend the Fair that day, and it is expected that Cordell Hull, present secretary, will be present.

The Gertrude L. Thebaud, prize fishing schooner of Gloucester, Mass., will arrive in Chicago waters today—officially. Actually, she arrived yesterday, but her arrival was not expected so soon and caused some consternation among those who had planned to give her a real nautical welcome. So when she hove into sight off the Fair grounds a delegation headed by Coast Guard Captain John Anderson met her and induced Skipper Ben Pine to turn back and put up for the night in Waukegan and come to Chicago today. The welcome will include a challenge to race from Capt. Angus Walters of the champion Bluenose, Canadian fishing schooner, already here for the Fair.

Boy Scout day will be observed Friday, Aug. 25. The Scouts will assemble in Soldiers' field and parade in the Avenue of Flags, across the 16th street bridge to the court of the Hall of Science, where the day's ceremonies will be staged.

A three inch anti-aircraft gun with a vertical range of 10,000 yards and a horizontal range of 15,000 yards, is the center of attraction at Camp Whistler at the Fair. It is drawn by a 10 ton truck capable of a speed of 50 miles per hour. Visiting hours at the army camp are from 10 to 11 a. m. and from 7 to 8:30 p. m.

George Goebel, 13 year old Chicago boy soprano, will be on the ballad night program on the Floating theater Tuesday night. Frederic Jencks, baritone, will be the other soloist. The program, lasting an hour, is free to the public.

W. J. B. Macaulay, chargé d'affaires of the Irish Free State, made a special trip from Washington to visit the Fair yesterday. He made a tour of the grounds accompanied by J. F. Gilmartin, vice consul of the Irish Free State in Chicago. He will return to Washington today.

World war heroes of Villa Park will be honored today in a memorial program at the Pantheon De La Guerre on the Midway. The drum and bugle corps of the Villa Park post of the American Legion will make its first appearance in uniform in a concert which will be part of the ceremonies.

Harvey S. Firestone Jr. arrived in Chicago yesterday and visited the Firestone exhibit for the first time. He has just returned from Spain, where he opened a new factory.

BALDWIN—OFFICIAL PIANO OF A CENTURY OF PROGRESS

A De Soto salesman asked one question. Read what the owner said.

"How do you like your De Soto, Dr. Wolffson?"

"Fine . . . it's as good as it looks!"

DR. S. M. WOLFFSON
Oak Park, Ill.
414 So. Cuyler Ave.

We hope some of you Know this Man… he Means just what he Says

SURE, De Soto is smart. But it has more than mere style. It's a real automobile. It's finely built . . . brainily engineered.

That's what this man means when he says, "It's as good as it looks." He owns a De Soto. He's driven one. He knows it's a real car. Talk to any of our owners. They'll tell you about it.

Ask them about that 82-horsepower engine. They'll tell you about its speed and power . . . its smoothness! How quietly it runs. They know it's a well-cooled engine . . . long trips won't overheat it. It gives good gas mileage. And it's easy on oil.

Talk to them about patented Floating Power. Ask them if they feel any vibration. Many have said our "De Soto engine is smoother than any I have ever driven."

The De Soto Six has hydraulic 4-wheel brakes. They're always equalized . . . and you can stop on a dime. The De Soto body, like all Chrysler-built cars, is safety-steel. Wood is used only for floor-boards and as the foundation for upholstery. Why don't we use a wood body reinforced with steel? For a good reason. Wooden frames deteriorate. The joints loosen. That means body rattles. It stands to reason—an all-steel body is stronger, more durable. And safer. You need this protection!

Honestly, there are 22 points where De Soto beats competition. But don't take our word for these things. Ask some of your neighbors who own De Sotos. Check up . . . and we believe you'll find that this smart car has plenty of old-fashioned, honest-to-goodness value in it.

Just one more thing. Maybe you think you can't afford a De Soto. But it's not expensive. Actually . . . it costs only $4 a week more than the lowest priced cars. You get a lot of extra comfort and real luxury for that $4. Come in . . . and let's just talk it over.

IT'S FUN TO DRIVE A SMART CAR! And it's satisfying to own one that has such built-in quality features as Floating Power engine mountings . . . co-incidental starting . . . silent low and reverse . . . hydraulic brakes . . . airwheels . . . oilite springs . . . carbon resistant valve inserts . . . safety-steel body! De Soto has 22 worthwhile features you won't find in certain cars that cost even more!

CROWDS ARRIVING FOR GERMAN DAY AT FAIR TODAY

Farm Week Ceremonies Also an Attraction.

Friday, Aug. 11, 1933	238,046
Friday, Aug. 11, 1893	93,019
Total, including Aug. 11, 1933, [77 days]	8,633,252
Total, including Aug. 11, 1893, [103 days]	7,457,426

The Columbian exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

German Americans and farmers, flocking to Chicago from all sections of the United States by auto, train, and airplane, will share honors at the Fair today. The German day program and the opening ceremonies of Farm week are expected to attract a record breaking Sunday throng.

Railroad representatives last night said that all records for passenger traffic were being broken over the weekend. The German day celebration particularly is reaching out over the country to attract visitors, the result of more than a month of preparation on the part of the Fair national committee.

Hope to Set Record.

At the 1893 Fair, the German day ceremonies drew the second largest crowd of the exposition, exceeded only by Chicago day. The German day committee last night predicted that this record would be equalled at the present Exposition. The objective of the committee is to break the present attendance record of 244,472, established on Jewish day, July 3.

The German day program promises to be one of the greatest of the national series. Differing from a majority of those presented by national groups, the German program is not based solely on participation in the Fair. Each year Chicagoans of German extraction present a German day program. The effect of this celebration has been not only to remember ancestry but to foster the ideals which have made this group such an integral part of cultured American life. In the main, the program looks forward rather than to the past for inspiration.

Ceremonies in Soldiers' Field.

For the ceremonies, Soldiers' field is placed inside the Fair grounds up until 5 p. m., when a church day vesper service will start, which will be free to all. For the afternoon German day program each entrance to the stadium will be an entry way to the Fair. Visitors to the nationals program may pass into the Fair and vice versa without trouble.

The program will open at 12:15 p. m. with a parade of the German-American societies. Forming in the Court of Honor, the line of march will be across the 12th street bridge to the island, south to the 16th street bridge, across to the mainland and to the south end of the stadium. Forty floats, singing groups, athletic units and nationals in costume will be in the parade.

Two songs will open the ceremonies in the field, the Star Spangled Banner and Deutschland uber Alles, with the entire assembly joining in the singing. A detachment of American soldiers and the United Organization of German War Veterans' societies will stand at attention while the American flag is raised.

The speech of welcome will be made by Bernard Devry, president of the day, an address will be made by President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair. From then until 5 p. m. the stadium will be the scene of athletic events, music, pageantry and other events.

Fencing Matches and Football.

Among the athletic features of the day will be a Turner demonstration and fencing matches, a football game, foot races and massed drills. An informal reception in the German-American building with Maj. Udet, German war ace, as the guest of honor will conclude the day's ceremonies.

The first event of the Farm week program will be staged in the Court of Honor this morning, opening the program of Farm Youth day. Several hundred members of the 4-H clubs will parade through the grounds to signalize the part played in the future of agriculture by the youths.

Highlight of the day will be the candle lighting ceremony which is staged whenever the farm youth meetings are held. Gathering in the court of the Hall of Science, the light from the star Arcturus, which opened the Exposition, will light the candles of the assembly. The candle lighting signifies the carrying of the light of progress to the rural districts represented. The ceremony will be staged following a concert and community sing at 6:30 p. m. Ray A. Turner will act as master of ceremonies during the program.

Serious Side of Week.

On Monday, the serious side of Farm week opens and during the rest of the week programs of vital interest to the visitors from the agricultural areas will be given.

Railroads reported last night that passenger traffic to the Fair would probably set a record this week-end. The Milwaukee railroad is running special trains bringing groups from Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, South and North Dakota, and other farming communities. A number of the visitors came to the Fair for Farm week and the German day celebration.

The Rock Island road was ready for the greatest week-end traffic in its history. The Chicago and North Western had advance sales for a passenger traffic between 25,000 and 30,000 persons.

The New York Central lines likewise broke all records with more than fifty special trains bringing visitors for German day, Negro day, and Farm week.

1,500 Milwaukeean's to Attend.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—More than 1,500 Milwaukeeans of German decent have made arrangements to attend German day tomorrow at A Century of Progress in Chicago.

Included will be the Milwaukee World's Fair chorus, consisting of 250 mile voices and representing the various German singing soceities of the city. The chorus will be under direction of Hans Marlow. Its members will leave the North Shore station here in a special train at 7:15 a. m.

A second special train will leave the North Shore station here at 7:25 a. m.

The Milwaukee visitors will have dinnner and supper at the German American house on the Fair grounds.

CITY TO PUT 200 MEN BACK TO WORK ON TUNNEL

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that tomorrow 200 men will be put back to work on the Chicago avenue water tunnel, which is to supply seven hundred million gallons of water daily to west side residents when it is completed.

For the past six months only 200 men have been employed on the job, but by doubling the force Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt hopes to complete the tunnel within a year. There are now about 1½ miles of tunnel to mine, and eight miles of the 16 foot bore to line with concrete.

The cost of the remaining work has been estimated at $3,000,000, making the total cost approximately $14,000,000, including the construction of a new crib. This cost is not met from property taxes, but from the revenue from the sale of water.

The tunnel will run to Central Park avenue and thence north to the Springfield avenue pumping station at Bloomingdale avenue. Another branch will run south to the Central Park pumping station. Eventually, the main tunnel may be extended west to the city limits at Austin avenue.

WOMAN VISITS FAIR AFTER CANOE TRIP FROM N. Y.

Olivia Ortmayer, New York high school teacher who traveled from New York to Chicago alone in a canoe, was visiting the Fair yesterday. She arrived here Thursday night and is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Highton at 5461 Kimbark avenue. Miss Ortmayer left New York on July 1 and canoed up the Hudson river, through the barge and Oswego canals, across Lake Ontario, and passed through the locks at Bobcaygeon, Ont., arriving in Chicago by way of Georgian bay and Lake Michigan. The canoe is a 17 footer with an outboard motor. Miss Ortmayer carried a complete camping equipment. She plans to ship the canoe back to New York and remain here two weeks.

2 CHILDREN DIE AS HOUSE BURNS.

Great Falls, Mont., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Two children were burned to death in a fire that trapped them on the first floor of the Gus Ekert farm home.

HOLD UP PAY ROLL MESSENGER AND FLEE WITH $5,000

Four men yesterday drove their automobile abreast of Frank Lestina, 6523 West 23d street, Berwyn, a messenger for the Fulton Packing company, 820 Fulton street, as he was passing 221 North Green street with the company's $5,000 pay roll in his pockets. Menacing Lestina with revolvers, they seized the money and fled.

Lestina had just drawn the pay roll fromo the Mid City National bank at Madison and Halsted streets. The bank official told the Desplaines street police that $3,500 of the pay roll was in new $20 bills and furnished them with the serial numbers.

KILLED IN PLANT LIFT.

Otto Kraus, 50 years old, 4305 South Spaulding avenue, was killed yesterday when a hand truck loaded with meat fell into the shaft of the open lift on which he was riding at the Mickleberry sausage plant, 801 West 49th place.

TOUHY AND THREE INDICTED BY U. S. IN HAMM CASE

Bonds $100,000 Each in War on Kidnapers.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The federal government today took determined steps to bring Roger Touhy, Chicago gangster, and three of his confederates to trial for the kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer. It is charged they took him into Wisconsin, thus giving the case an interstate character.

After hearing Hamm and fourteen other witnesses, the federal grand jury voted two indictments, the first ever returned under the so-called Lindbergh law, making kidnaping an offense against the United States, against the four men.

Then, after Federal Judge Robert C. Bell had increased the bail of the accused to $100,000 each, District Attorney Louis L. Drill sent assistants with certified copies of the indictments to Milwaukee. There the Touhy gangsters are being held. There will be a removal hearing Monday in that city, where the men have been held in bonds of $50,000 each since they were seized at Elkhorn, Wis., July 19.

Others Accused with Touhy.

Besides Touhy, those indicted are Edward McFadden, William Sharkey, and Gustav Schlacter, alias Gloomy Gus Schafer.

District Attorney Drill would not reveal the names of the witnesses other than Hamm, nor would he divulge any of the evidence placed before the grand jury on the ground that nothing would be done that might injure the chances of conviction. It is his intention to make the Touhy mob face a jury in the federal court here during the September term. He also wishes to have the four men brought here for safekeeping at once.

One indictment, charging kidnaping, related that after Hamm had been kidnaped in St. Paul on June 15 he was "transported in an automobile in interstate commerce" across the Wisconsin line and there held for a $100,000 ransom. The second, charging conspiracy to transport a kidnaped person held for ransom, went into the specific acts of the Touhy mob, alleging five overt acts in the planning and carrying out of the abduction.

These overt acts, as listed, were: [1] McFadden and Sharkey went to a street corner near the Hamm brewery; [2] they waited there for Hamm; [3] McFadden accosted Hamm and asked him his identity; [4] with the aid of his companions McFadden forced the brewer into the kidnapers' automobile; [5] Sharkey drove out of Minnesota with Hamm a captive, and to the vicinity of Janesville, Wis., where he was held.

Guards the Evidence.

It was said that the district attorney placed before the grand jury only as much of the evidence as was necessary to convince the jurors that indictments were justified. Admittedly the indictments were drawn in a manner to conceal rather than reveal the case. It is believed the indictments alone will be enough to convince the court in Milwaukee that the removal of the men should be allowed. Also, it was made plain that the witnesses would all be carefully guarded to prevent intimidation. Hamm, who was released only after payment of ransom, already had identified the gangsters as his captors and has pledged himself to aid the authorities to the limit in the prosecution.

The special grand jury which was summoned to hear the case started questioning the witnesses on Friday. Unofficially it was reported that these witnesses included St. Paul and Elkhorn policemen and persons who were able to aid in the identification of the Touhy gangsters.

The law under which the prosecution will be carried out was passed by congress after the infant son of Col. Charles Lindbergh had been seized in New Jersey and murdered. It is based on the authority of congress to regulate interstate commerce as were the Mann, Harrison, and Dwyer acts. Assistants of the district attorney prepared the indictments carefully, as there was no federal precedent for the wording.

Heart Sewed; Lives

ELIHU GARMISA.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Elihu Garmisa, 16 years old, 1326 North Maplewood avenue, whose heart was sewn a week ago after he had been stabbed, was reported much improved yesterday at the Lutheran Deaconess hospital. Dr. J. D. Koucky, who stitched the boy's heart, said that he is in a "fair condition" and has a good chance to recover. He had been near death earlier in the week. His assailant, Casimir Moleski, 36 years old, 1224 North Rockwell street, is awaiting trial in the Felony court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

PLAN TO BRING CAPONE BACK IN BIG LABOR PLOT

United States Attorney Green and State's Attorney Courtney conferred yesterday on the procedure of returning Al Capone from Atlanta penitentiary to stand trial on the indictment charging him with complicity in a large labor conspiracy for which 24 men were indicted about two weeks ago.

Inasmuch as Capone is in a federal prison serving an eleven year sentence for income tax evasion, Mr. Courtney must obtain permission from Attorney General Cummings to effect his return. Mr. Green has been given to understand that no objection would be made at Washington providing adequate means were taken to safeguard the notorious prisoner while here.

The state's attorney must first obtain an order from a Criminal court judge calling for Capone's appearance at the trial. This will be transmitted to the warden of the Atlanta prison who will refer it to Mr. Cummings. Mr. Green then must approve the plans for safeguarding Capone and once given, this approval probably will be sufficient to bring a release from Washington, D. C., of the return order.

Find Man's Body in River; Tattoo Marks Are Clews

The body of an unidentified man about 40 years old was taken from the river at 22d street yesterday by the Deering street police. On the left arm of the man was tatooed a woman's head, and on the right arm an eagle and the letters, U. S. N. The body of a man taken from the Fox river at Aurora yesterday was identified as that of John Kieger, a former Chicagoan, who had recently been employed in a lumber yard at Wheaton.

TERROR KILLERS SENTENCED IN WAR ON CRIME

Pair Get Life Terms as Judge Speeds Drive.

appearance yesterday. Instead of wearing light colors as she did during the trial she appeared in a black chiffon dress trimmed with white. She dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief as the judge indicated that he was going to impose sentence immediately. However, she said nothing in reply to the judge's query as to whether she had anything to say before sentence was imposed.

Rooney's estranged wife, the mother of his two children, was also in court. She was stylishly dressed in a black velveteen gown, also trimmed with white. She wore a summer fur piece.

Rejects Leniency Pleas.

The other six sentences imposed during the day were all in Judge Trude's courtroom. He rejected pleas for leniency for a group of four youthful gunmen, characterizing them as "mad dogs."

Frank Baccaso, 18 years old; Albert Pontrelli, 18; John Fricano, 22; and Sam Mantone, 18, were the defendants in question. They were quickly convicted by a jury of the daylight robbery of the Fargo-Hallowell Shoe company, 1701 North Damen avenue. The robbery occurred on May 24. Edward A. Fargo Jr., an official of the company, was threatened by the bandits, who told him they would blow his head off. Miss Lydia Kalke, pay roll clerk, and other girl employés were terrorized and threatened with death.

All the defendants except Baccaso had previous offenses charged against them. Pontrelli was charged under the habitual criminal law. The jury signed both the straight gun robbery verdict and the habitual criminal verdict in his case. The habitual criminal verdict carries a life sentence. Judge Trude said he would decide next week on which verdict in order to avoid error. In the meantime he promptly overruled new trial motions and imposed the one year to life sentence for each defendant.

Pontrelli was convicted of robbery in January and placed on probation by Judge Francis Allegretti. The year before a larceny charge against him was dismissed. Fricano served two Bridewell terms and in January shot at a policeman. Mantone served a nine months' Bridewell sentence last year.

"Danger of Anarchy."

"Unless the courts are stern we will have anarchy in this community," remarked Judge Trude in reply to an appeal for more time to argue new trial motions.

"These defendants, except one, have been in trouble with the police before. They are like mad dogs, they take one bite and then think they can take a few more and get away with it. They have had all they are entitled to in this court. They have had a reasonable time to prepare for trial and that is all they are entitled to."

Theodore Arlt, 47 years old, and Walter Newman, 23, were the other defendants sentenced to the penitentiary by Judge Trude. They, too, received the maximum terms of one year to life. They were convicted of robbing the Aetna Finance company, 4554 Broadway, on Feb. 24. They obtained $300 and a diamond ring from J. M. McKerman, 5839 Kilbourn avenue.

Arlt was charged under the habitual criminal act, but the jury refused to invoke the statute, because his former conviction was in 1915. At that time he was sentenced for robbery and later paroled.

Newman also had a record of previous offenses, none of which, however, permitted the application of the habitual criminal act. He was placed on probation in 1927, served a six months' Bridewell sentence in 1928, and in 1931 was sentenced to one year in Pontiac reformatory.

MAY CALL TRUCE IN WAR TO SAVE EIGHT AMERICANS

HANKOW, China, Aug. 13 [Sunday].—(AP)—United States consular authorities sought today to effect the rescue of eight American missionaries, including six women, who were believed safe in the battle torn city of Yuanchow.

Belief was expressed that a truce would be arranged between the two military forces seeking control of Yuanchow, allowing the missionaries, of the Passionist order, to leave.

Members of the order in Hankow, however, fearful of the consequences of cholera and other epidemics rampant in Yuanchow.

Gen. Chen Yao, a rebel chieftain who is laying siege to Yuanchow, according to word received here, is friendly to the American missionaries and no bodily harm to them is expected.

ROBBED IN "L" STATION.

The Central police yesterday were searching for a robber who held up Joseph Pignataro, 4924 North Rockwell street, in the washroom of the Madison and Wabash elevated station and took $100.

A GIRL BRAVES BANDITS' THREAT AND SAVES $600

Two men yesterday held up the office of Hesser and Soden, automobile dealers at 1236 Morse avenue, and took $120, but the courage of a girl cashier prevented their finding another $600 in the company vaults. The cashier, Ruth Krushopf, 20 years old, 1319 Ardmore avenue, was alone in the office when the bandits entered.

At first, Miss Krushopf told them that all the money was in a cash drawer and that she could not open it. One of the men struck her with his pistol, and she was forced to open the drawer, from which the men took the cash. They then asked her where other funds were kept, but Miss Krushopf insisted there was no more money in the office and the bandits left.

TWO GUNMEN HOLD UP VISITOR.

The Summerdale police yesterday were searching for two bandits who held up George Totton, a visitor to the Fair from New York City, and took $7 at Rosemont and Kenmore avenues.

STOLEN BONDS FOUND; ARREST 2 BUSINESS MEN

Securities Are Used as Loan Collateral.

Two Chicago business men were arrested last night after it had been discovered that bonds with a face value of $7,000, which had been left by one of them with a north side bank as loan collateral, were part of the loot in the $48,000 burglary of the Credit Service, Inc., Baltimore, Md., in July, 1932.

Those held are Ernest C. Henning, 47 years old, 1451 North Keystone avenue, River Forest, who had represented himself at the bank as owner of the securities, and William Handel, 50 years old, money lender at 109 North Dearborn street and formerly a professional bondsman. Henning is in charge of the office of the International Onyx and Marble company, 111 West Washington street.

Clip Interest Coupons.

The status of the bonds as stolen property was established when the bank clipped coupons for interest due and sent them through for collection. The issuing company, long since notified of the theft, put operatives of the Burns International Detective agency to work and on their complaint the arrest of Henning was made.

At the detective bureau Henning declared that he had merely "borrowed" the securities from Handel.

"I owed him a considerable sum and was unable to pay when it came due," Henning said. "Instead I wanted to borrow more. He suggested to me that, while he had no more cash, he would arrange to transfer this $7,000 worth of bonds to me and that I could get a loan on them from the bank. That was done."

Files Suit Against Lender.

He added that he had been charged exorbitant interest by the money lender and that he had finally filed a suit against Handel as a violator of the small loans law.

Handel's story was that Henning had first brought the bonds to him as security for a loan and that he [Handel] had suggested that it would be better to take them to the bank, borrow on them and pay off his liabilities to the Handel firm. He denied that he had ever owned the securities.

No formal charges were placed against either man, but both were held pending information from the Baltimore authorities.

HOLD GANGSTER AND UNION AGENT IN MURDER CASE

Sam Battaglia, "42" gang leader, and Ted Virgilio, business agent for the Wardrobe Check, Washroom Attendants' and Doormen's union, were recommended held to the grand jury yesterday by a coroner's jury for the murder of John Perillo, 26 years old, 820 Miller street.

Perillo, a city street sweeper, was shot to death by a machine gunner in sight of his father, Louis Perillo as he sat in front of a store at Polk and Miller streets on Friday afternoon. The father identified Battaglia and Virgilio as the killers. Both men have police records. Battaglia held of passerbys while Virgilio, the father charged, fired the machine gun at John. The two men were arrested Friday night by Sergt. Anthony de Grazio.

Another west side slaying was declared solved by police yesterday. It is that of Emil Onesta, 40 years old 940 Polk street, who was shot and killed accidentally by assassins in their effort to kill Frank Laino. The shooting occurred in front of 1129 Taylor street on July 22. According to Capt. John Norton of the Maxwell street station, Willie Madden and Mike De Stefano have been identified in the slaying. Madden is in custody De Stefano is still a fugitive.

U. S. to Quiz Woman on Touhy Gang Activities

Mrs. Stella Wilkie, 39 years old 7719 North Paulina street, was turned over by the police to the United States bureau of investigation yesterday for questioning in connection with the kidnaping activities of the Touhy gang. Her husband, George, 39 years old, who has been held several days by Melvin H. Purvis, agent in charge of the bureau, has admitted acquaintance with Roger Touhy, leader of the gang, according to reports. Touhy and three of his henchmen are accused of kidnaping William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer.

Questioned in Kansas Treasury Scandal

Miss Vivian Tracey, 20, former employe of the Kansas state treasure's office, who was questioned concerning fake bonds found there, and Leland C. Caldwell, who is under arrest charged with uttering forged bonds. Caldwell was office manager for Ronald Finney, who conducted the negotiations through which the fake bonds got into the state vaults.

2 KANSAS CITY GANGSTERS ARE SLAIN BY SHERIFF

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—A sheriff who carries his riot gun to lawn parties chanced upon a gang murder today in time to visit swift death on two of the executioners and capture a member of the group.

The victim of the underworld death sentence, slain as the sharpshooting Sheriff Thomas B. Bash went into action was Ferris J. Anthon, a fugitive from a Chicago indictment naming him as a member of a liquor syndicate.

The men who died in the assassin's automobile, from which burst the bullets that killed Anthon, were Sam Scola and Gus Fasone. They had been identified as operators of night clubs here, and as henchmen of John Lazia, north side political leader under indictment for income tax evasion.

Fired from Automatic Pistol.

A ballistics expert who examined the bullet that killed Anthon said it was fired from a .45 calibre automatic pistol. That also was the description of a gun dropped by Charles Gargotta, captured by Bash when the gunman pleaded for his life after emptying his weapon at the battling sheriff. A companion of Gargotta escaped.

T. A. J. Mastin, prosecutor, said he probably would file a first degree murder charge against Gargotta in Anthon's death.

The staccato bark of firearms along Armour boulevard, in the midtown apartment hotel district, and the screams of a terror stricken woman arrested the attention of Sheriff Bash as he was returning with Mrs. Bash 14 year old Melva Taylor, and a deputy, Lawrence Hodges, from a lawn party.

Blazes Away with Riot Gun.

Stopping his automobile not far from that of the assassins, Bash seized his riot gun and alighted to investigate. To keep the killers from escaping the deputy swung the automobile containing Mrs. Bash and the 14 year old child into the path of their departing car. Meanwhile, the sheriff blazed away with his riot gun. The gunmen's car, its driver dying, crashed into the sheriff's automobile.

"I noticed Gargotta crossing the street and shooting as he came," the sheriff said. "I pulled down on him, but didn't shoot."

"Don't shoot me, don't shoot me," he sobbed, dropping a pistol at his feet. As Gargotta was taken to jail another fully loaded gun was found in his pocket.

One explanation of the fatal attack on Anthon offered by police was that a north side gang feared he might be the means, through his Chicago connections, of importing gunmen to resist large vice payments which have been exacted from rival racketeers in other parts of the city. Anthon was arrested dozens of times in Kansas City, Kas., for liquor activities, and once turned state's evidence which led to the resignation of several city officials.

His 24 year old blonde wife, who witnessed his death at the conclusion of an automobile ride about the city, was taken to the prosecutor's office for questioning.

Congratulations were heaped upon the sheriff. One message, which came from State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago, said, "Heartiest congratulations on your courageous act. It is an inspiration to all law enforcing officials."

OFFICIALS FACE ARREST IN BOND DEALS IN KANSAS

Governor Says There Will Be No Whitewash.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 12.—[UP]—With fake bonds totaling nearly $1,500,000 uncovered by state and federal investigators, Gov. Alf M. Landon today promised there would be no "white wash" applied in the Kansas forgery scandal. He said there would be several additional arrests early next week and that one or more high state officials would be prosecuted.

The governor's assertion followed a severe grilling by federal and state officials of Austin Logan, assistant state treasurer, who wrote the check by which Ronald Finney's bank got $150,000 in state deposits in return for a like amount of forged bonds as security. Other employés of the treasurer's office also were grilled.

Spends Holiday on Finney Ranch.

Investigators disclosed that Logan spent his vacation on the Colorado ranch owned by Finney. Other state officials and bankers also are said to have taken similar trips at Finney's expense. They will tell the federal agents all about it later.

Less than a week has passed since the financial skyrocket of Finney, Emporia's favorite son, plunged to earth.

With it plunged the immediate hopes of a red haired capital stenographer for a Hollywood career. Political and financial reprecussions rocked the state.

Three banks were closed when it was revealed more than a half million dollars of forged bonds were in the state treasurer's vaults.

At the governor's order, Treasurer Tom Boyd virtually was superceded in his own office by investigators and militia who were ordered to guard the treasury night and day.

Names Two More Prosecutors.

Today when Gov. Landon named two additional special prosecutors to aid in the investigation he pledged that "every one connected with the scandal will be brought to justice and sent to the penitentiary."

So far only Finney and his Topeka office manager, Leland Caldwell, have been charged with issuing forged documents.

Don C. Little, Kansas City, a former assistant U. S. district attorney, and Hugo T. Weddell, Chanute, were named to aid State Senator Fred M. Harris, the governor's personal representative in the investigation.

Predict More Disclosures.

Investigators also revealed that they were occupied with "new leads" to startling disclosures. They said a search of Finney's hotel suite revealed he had posted $400,000 in forged bonds as collateral with a Chicago brokerage house. Margin accounts in five other Chicago financial firms were reported. Investigators declined to name the firms involved.

The situation was complicated further by demands of legislators and heads of farm organizations for Boyd's impeachment, and charges that the legislature had failed last spring to adopt a resolution demanding an investigation of alleged irregularities in the treasurer's office.

Miss Vivian Tracey, stenographer, who was preparing to invade Hollywood movie lots until the bonds scandal forced her to abandon her plans, refused to comment other than to say Dan Cowie, assistant United States attorney, knew all "there was to know."

GOV. POLLARD ASKED TO ABSOLVE DOG OF SHEEP KILLING CHARGE

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Virginia's Gov. Pollard and his bride, on their honeymoon here, have before them a petition for pardon in the case of:

"The commonwealth of Virginia vs. one black and white setter dog, the property of Mrs. Marian J. Belk."

The dog, Don, was charged with killing sheep, and after a justice court hearing, convicted in the Albemarle count Circuit court and condemned to expatriation, under the pain of death if found again within Virginia.

Mrs. Belk, who was given the dog when he was a puppy, denies the charges and says:

"Should your excellency see fit to grant the petitioner's poor prayer meaning so little to the indifferent and unthinking many, but so much to your petitioner, she will gladly enter into any bond or assurance that your excellancy may prescribe to keep said dog safely and guarantee that he will never attack or molest live stock of any kind.

The governor called for more information if possible from the justice who heard Don's case.

Most of Denver Firms Sign New Trade Codes

Denver, Colo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The NRA "saturation point" has virtually been reached in Denver, federal officials report. Postmaster Frank L. Dodge reported that 6,599 firms employing 42,373 persons have signed the President's blanket code agreement. He said his statistics indicated it was "nearly a 100 per cent representation of Denver industry."

Hold Up Evansville Cigar Store; Flee with $3,000

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Four men held up and robbed a cigar store here today and escaped with between $3,000 and $5,000. They also compelled 20 customers and employés to give up their money and valuables. Among the customers was J. F. Brown, a former Arizona sheriff, who is with the Rodeo show at the Boonville fair this week.

BURNS 95% AIR AND ONLY 5% OIL!

We know it's hard to believe . . . but it's true, every word of it! And you'll understand as soon as you see the "Delco Heat Fuel Control."

This is a dollar-saving feature resulting from General Motors' years of experience in carburetion development. It accurately meters the oil so that only 5% oil is used to 95% air, positively and at all times. You get every single bit of heat out of every single drop of oil.

No guesswork. No waste. No soot.

But there's more to Delco Heat than economy. It's built like a battleship . . . husky, rugged, dependable. It's simple . . . has only one moving part! It's completely automatic . . . all you have to do is—set the thermostat and forget it all winter long. Delco Heat is installed only by factory-trained mechanics.

Come in and check up on all we claim for Delco Heat. See why Delco Heat is the oil burner "buy" of all time. We'll install one in your present furnace, whether your heating system is steam, hot water, or warm air.

And, if you've already laid in your fuel supply—we'll take it out of your cellar and exchange it for fuel oil!

But let's not lose any time. Come in and see Delco Heat do its job of giving more heat for less money. Or use the coupon. Delco Heat is a typical General Motors Value.

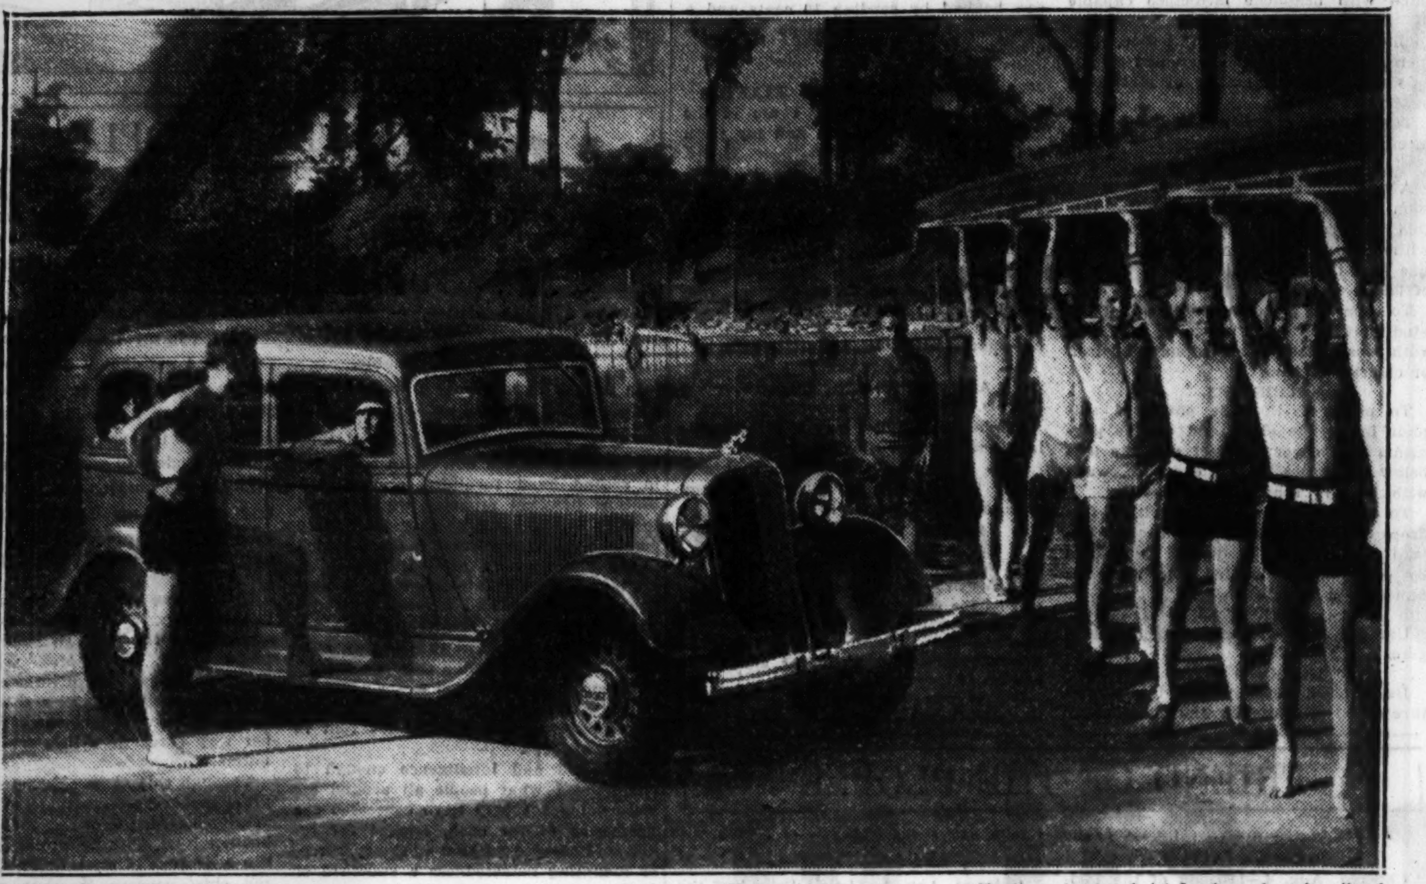
NO WONDER THE BIG SWING THIS YEAR IS TO DODGE!



BEST LOOKING CAR IN TOWN—That's what proud owners of this new Dodge say. You can see here for yourself what a beauty it is! Look at the trim tilt of that radiator. See those graceful lines. That's style for you! The 4-door Sedan pictured above—$675 f. o. b. factory, Detroit. (special equipment extra)

"Show-Down" Plan Proves the 21 Points of Outstanding Value in the New Dodge Six!

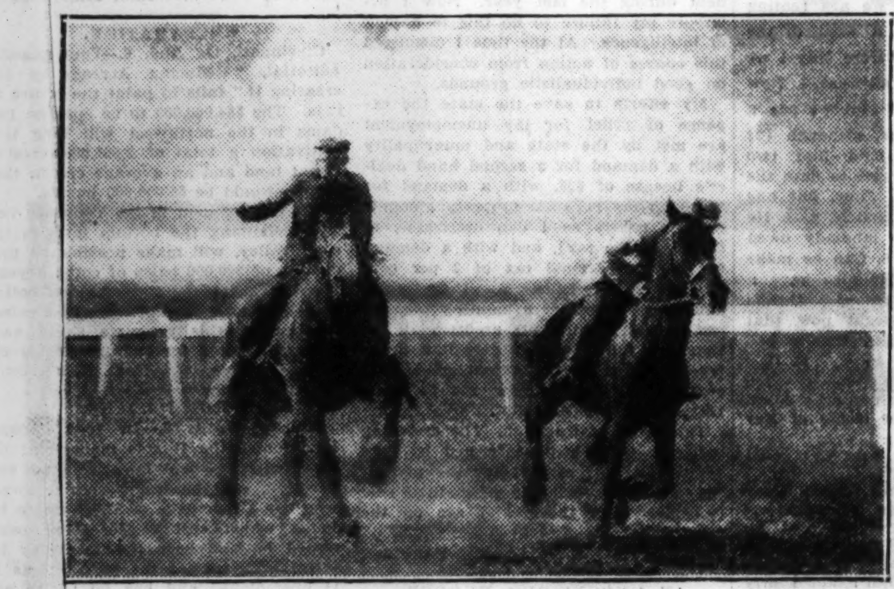
Wherever you go the big news of 1933 is the way this new Dodge Six is breaking sales records! Doubling in some towns; tripling in others. And in Detroit, home town of the motor car industry, sales during June this year actually totaled more than sales for the whole 12 months of 1932.

But it's no wonder that the big swing to Dodge keeps up! For Dodge has stolen a march on competitors with the revolutionary "Show-Down" Plan. It's a simple, easy way to compare automobile values. The first time any manufacturer has put all his cards on the table and let you check his car against others on sheer merit alone!

Dodge offers you 21 points of extra value. These are points of quality seldom found in any but the higher priced cars. 12 features of performance that give the new Dodge Six dashing pickup and getaway . . . smooth, easy riding . . . new comfort and luxury. And 7 direct economy points that save you as much as $150 in actual cash!. All this, mind you, for just a few dollars more than the lowest priced cars!

Ask About the "Show-Down" Plan!

And best of all, you don't have to take our word for it! The "Show-Down" Plan lets you see the facts for yourself. You are the sole judge and jury in considering the many things this big new Dodge Six can do to win out against competition. Do now as thousands all over America are doing. Go to your Dodge dealer and learn about the "Show-Down" Plan. See how fair-and-square it is. No obligation!



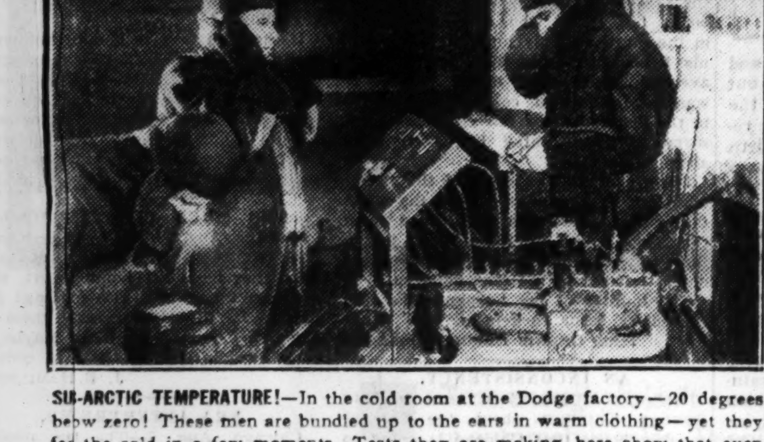
WEIGHT vs. SPEED! That huge percheron hasn't a chance against the speedy thoroughbred. Weight defeats him at the start. Excess pounds are trained out of the thoroughbred—just as they are engineered out of the new Dodge. Without surplus weight, you get more speed, more flashing performance. Remember, every extra pound means extra gas!

LOOK! HOW CAN A CAR TAKE SUCH PUNISHMENT?
AND STILL GOING STRONG AFTER 600 HOURS!

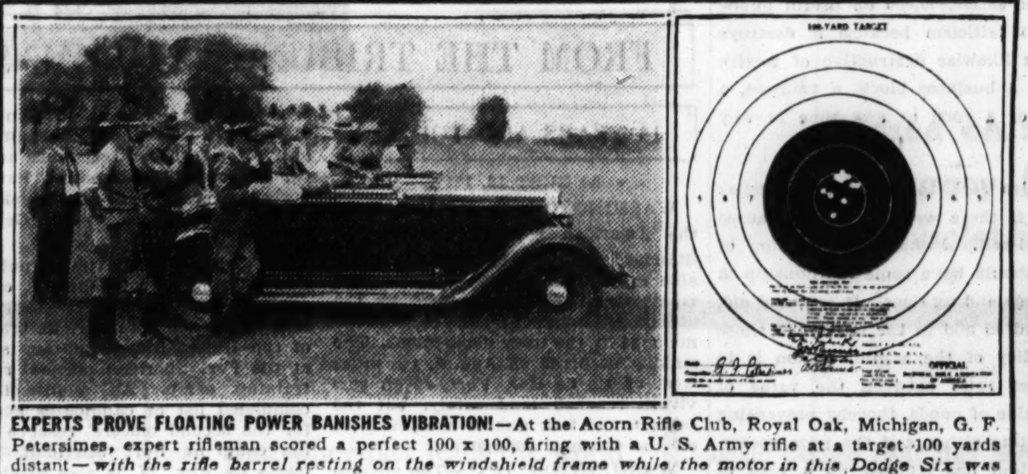
OVER THE TOP IN TEST PIT!—Out comes the rugged big new Dodge after 600-hour test in "Punishment Pit". The Dodge Six is tested in dozens of ways—in sand and mud; in exciting laboratory tests; in drastic extremes of temperature; over terrific bumps; rolled down hills—all to assure that this Dodge Six can "take it"—can stand the wear-and-tear of years of driving, with little expense for repairs and upkeep.

(1) A DANGER SIGNAL!—When a car tips going round a corner it's top-heavy Its so-called "center of gravity" is higher than it should be. So . . . it keels to one side—and you keel with it. There may be danger in a car that tilts too much!

(2) THE SAFE WAY!—You can take sharp curves with safety in the new Dodge Six. For Dodge has a double-drop frame which gives it a safe low center of gravity. And remember it is an X bridge-type frame, too—ten times stronger than ordinary frames.



SUB-ARCTIC TEMPERATURE!—In the cold room at the Dodge factory—20 degrees below zero! These men are bundled up to the ears in warm clothing—yet they feel the cold in a few moments. Tests they are making here show that even sub-zero temperatures mean nothing to the dependable Dodge engine. Whatever the weather, you'll get smooth performance from the Dodge engine!



EXPERTS PROVE FLOATING POWER BANISHES VIBRATION!—At the Acorn Rifle Club, Royal Oak, Michigan, G. F. Petersimes, expert rifleman scored a perfect 100 x 100, firing with a U. S. Army rifle at a target 100 yards distant—with the rifle barrel resting on the windshield frame while the motor in this Dodge Six was running! Imagine such flawless shooting in a car that didn't have the patented Floating Power engine mountings that smother engine vibration and make this new Dodge run as smooth as silk. This test was made in the presence of Army officers and shooting experts affiliated with the National Rifle Association of America.

THE BELGIAN ROLL!—Here's a fiendish contrivance of Dodge engineers that literally shakes cars to pieces! Hour after hour, day and night, the Dodge Six goes through terrific punishment that has sent lesser cars to the repair shop in as little as 11 minutes!

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE ERA OF INTERNATIONAL BAD FAITH.

This era of pacts must be heavily charged with insincerity. The treaties are even more readily ignored than signed. Whether the agreement be specific or general, the exceptions to it appear at the first strain to which it is subjected. Offhand any one would be perplexed to name one of the treaties, new style, binding many or several nations to moral responsibilities or obligations, which has been respected when the occasion for honoring it arose.

Any confidence which might have been inspired by such an agreement is destroyed as soon as there is a test of the principles or commitments contained in the document. If confidence be, as it must, the first essential in such international arrangements then the consequences of them are damaging to the foundations of peace.

Not so long ago Mussolini proposed as an insurance against trouble, pending an agreement from the arms conference, that Italy Great Britain, France and Germany should take it upon themselves to confer if anything arose to disturb the peace of Europe. There was an agreement on that and the usual congratulations that the triumphal arch of peace was on firmer ground. Germany's attempts to bring Austria into the Nazi fold are disturbing France and Great Britain, which have remonstrated with the German government, but Mussolini, the proposer of the treaty, apparently has reasons for withdrawing from his own concert and seems to have done so.

The nine power Asiatic treaty of consultation in time of difficulty in the Pacific, a supplementary product of the Washington naval conference, went to pieces when Japan became involved in an undeclared war with China. This treaty was ratified as a guaranty of peace, but when the peace was invaded the treaty was nonoperative. The nations which had signed it did not make a move under it. It was ignored. When the event materialized which it had contemplated it did not exist.

Japan's attention was called to obligations under the Kellogg treaty and under the covenant of the league, with the only consequence that the United States made itself suspected of designs it did not have and the league lost another member. The Kellogg peace treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy has been observed only to the extent that some signatories now make war without declaring it.

The first of the new era treaties was the Washington naval agreement, with modifications permitted at the second conference in London. There is no evidence that this treaty has been violated, but some evidence that it is leading to misunderstanding and is being distorted to create ill feeling for which there is no excuse. The United States, characteristically, did not make use of the ratio granted it and from year to year fell behind in building. This established a precedent and is alleged to put a new face on the treaty itself.

There is no official or authoritative objection to the American program. There could not be, and no government could protest, but, nevertheless, use has been made of the announced American intent to strengthen its fleet to give this the appearance of a threat. Regarding the wisdom of naval construction at this time there may be opposing opinions, based on various and dissimilar reasons, but regarding the treaty rights of the United States to fill out its quotas there is no question. It is strange, then, to note mischievous criticism abroad and at home when America returns to the shipyards for an odd lot of miscellaneous vessels, after its building lapse, along with charges that not only its judgment but its faith is bad and that its action is provocative. Moreover, there is growing in Japan a feeling that its subordinate position in the ratio is an imposition upon its dignity and security.

Friends of the navy in America feel that the country will get as much good from money spent on country roads, cotton land rentals and swamp clearance. That's another point. In international relations it becomes apparent that the navy treaty did not remove American building within the ratio from suspicion and distrust. In other words, the agreement fails when the United States assumes to act under it. It does not put American intentions in the clear but gives them an evil import.

Agreements which continually lead to the breach and not the observance are destroying the credibility, honesty and dependability which must be written into the treaties of nations if solemn documents signed and ratified are not to become discredited and dangerous processes in the dealings of one nation with another. As they are now written and interpreted they set forth what a nation will pretend to do until its interests cause it to do otherwise. The good faith of national signature, the requisite of civilization, is being destroyed and with it all dependence upon the given word, the international contract and the bond.

THE CRIME OF BUYING SCENERY.

Another senatorial inquisition is about to begin. The gist of the matter, as we see it, is whether Mr. John D. Rockefeller Jr. and associate enthusiasts for national parks shall somehow be prevented from buying scenery they admire in Jackson's Hole with the intention of later presenting it to the federal government for the use of the people as a national park.

To Americans not residents of Wyoming or other regions imperiled by similar impulses of altruism this will seem a proceeding toward which the United States senate might well be at least indifferent, if not warmly approving. But the committee, selected most judiciously by that indefatigable searcher out and stern monitor of other people's errors, Senator Nye of North Dakota, has other enthusiasms. It is composed of Senator Norbeck of South Dakota, Senator Ashurst of Arizona, Senator Adams of Colorado, and Senator Carey of Wyoming. To this impartial tribunal are to be submitted charges that homesteaders and ranchers have been subjected to some sort of outrageous coercion to sell their homes and lands. The Sinister Forces of great wealth are to be haled forth and castigated in Senator Nye's best style. They seem in this instance to be the national park service in collusion with certain land purchasing companies financed by Mr. Rockefeller.

But the familiar demonology of Senator Nye and his associate friends of the people does not furnish all of their case. There seems to be a question of public policy and even public right which arises. The purchase of the lands for eventual donation to the nation will remove them from state taxation and thus reduce the revenues available to the commonwealth of Wyoming. The better part of one county, says the most impassioned of the proponents of the investigation, Senator Carey, has already been withdrawn, and more, he declares, will be added to "the nonproducing, non-taxpaying list." He predicts "another nation-rocking scandal."

Until it transpires the general public outside of Wyoming and the mountain west is not likely to sit up o' nights waiting for it. The district withdrawn from the taxing zeal of the Wyoming politicians is one of the most beautiful in the world. It was originally part of the national domain, purchased by President Jefferson from Napoleon. Incorporated in the territory subsequently organized and admitted to the Union as the state of Wyoming, its restoration to the people of the nation as a playground and for the preservation of its remarkable beauty will not seem to most Americans an outrage or scandal even though accomplished in some part at the expense of a private citizen. The charge that the commonwealth of Wyoming is suffering a cruel injustice in this proceeding will open up issues it would be wiser perhaps for Wyoming not to raise. Once presented for national examination, even by a packed senatorial jury, the nation-rocking scandal may turn out very unlike Senator Carey's forecast.

GOLD AND BRASS.

New York bankers have found an explanation of the somewhat mysterious shipment recently of $347,000 in gold from this country to Europe. It appears that the gold was sent by our state department and is to be used to pay the salaries of the men in our diplomatic and consular services. Their salaries are fixed in dollars and the purchasing power of the dollar in foreign countries has declined as a result of the action of our government in going off the gold standard.

A great many American business houses have foreign representatives and foreign staffs, but they have been given no parallel consideration by the treasury. Either the foreign representatives have suffered or the American firms have had to pay a premium to prevent their men from taking what would amount to a substantial wage reduction. If our gold reserve can be drained to maintain our diplomats in their accustomed style it would seem that the treasury should permit other Americans who have business to transact abroad to enjoy the same advantage. And if the state department can buy gold at the old rate for its foreign pay roll it would seem only just that other Americans should be granted a similar privilege.

It is putting the cart before the horse to maintain that the state department's employés are performing a more vital and more useful service to the American people than is performed by American business and professional men abroad. The consular service exists primarily to serve our foreign traders, and if our diplomats were less interested in social prestige and more concerned to defend our business interests they might be more useful to their country. To pretend that the government's representatives abroad are deserving of special consideration above other Americans is to say that the servant is a more important figure than his master.

The attorney general would send American citizens to jail for doing what the state department has done. The bureaucracy, as this incident plainly reveals, can always be counted upon to harbor a fancy estimate of its own worth. It can also be counted upon to look out for itself.

ST. LOUIS, SUMMER RESORT.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

The official thermometer, hung in the shade, recorded 100 and more degrees of heat in New York last week and a thermometer on a tower in Central park exposed to the sunlight recorded 141 degrees. More than fifty persons were overcome in the high temperatures.

Civic leaders and others deplore the emphasis placed by its press on this phase of New York meteorology and the results. The impression produced outside of the city is a misleading one, they say. Prospective tourists, in their view, may get the idea that New York, with its ocean breezes, its many water resorts, its parks, is not about as comfortable a place to visit in summer as any other spot in America.

St. Louis can sympathize with New York. Is there a meteorological differential of a degree or two here, as compared with a few other places, when general attention is centered on a heat wave and the whole country is sweltering? Ribald remarks are made about it in papers elsewhere. The New York press has often printed sportive comments on it. Does the mercury flow up into the nineties on one or two days only when one of the large national gatherings is in session, of which so many find it advantageous to assemble here? The peak points in hotness may be, and generally are, followed by many days of most salubrious, cooling weather, but some convention attendants invariably go home to even hotter places to tell then, and perhaps for years afterward, about their sufferings in the St. Louis atmosphere.

The truth, being mighty, is prevailing notwithstanding. St. Louis' repute as a summer resort is steadily growing. With its river, its zoo, its summer opera, its refreshing breezes from rugged country topography, more thousands every year find the city an agreeable place in which to pass vacation leisure.

THE PRESIDENT'S AIMS

BY HAROLD L. ICKES.

[Secretary of the Interior, Administrator of Public Works.]

The American people are pressing forward under the inspiration of a new vision. Confidently in times of prosperity and resolutely in times of depression, they have always marched with eyes to the front. We have never turned back as a people. Nor will we turn back now. We face a future which, while it appears strangely different from the accustomed past, is nevertheless the logical growth and development of that past.

Up to the present we have been living on our capital. We have recklessly exploited the rich resources that nature planted on this continent. Since prudence is the offspring of profligate waste, it is both inevitable and logical that we now begin to conserve our remaining resources; to husband them and use them for the common good. We are entering an era in which a strong government under the constitution will no longer permit the powerful to despoil the weak; in which he who has more than he can reasonably use may not add to his hoardings by exploiting the helpless; in which the labor of women and children for long hours at pitiful wages will not be permitted; in which it will be impossible for the farmer with bulging granaries to be unable to sell his produce for enough to pay his taxes and the interest on his mortgage while the hungry reach out their hands for bread.

We are on the same road that we have traveled from our first beginnings, but our road is leading us into an era of greater understanding and tolerance. We at last realize that as a nation we will either all go forward together or fail together.

Fortunately we have forceful, decisive and far-seeing leadership as we step forward on our high adventure. It moves toward that future, confidently finding and blazing the path for the rest of us to follow. If instrumentalities of government are lacking or inadequate, it forges new legislative tools for our needs and for the public good—the agricultural adjustment act, the industrial recovery law, and the bank act.

Men who are afraid to move because they dread any movement, or who tremble at the possibility of collision or falling, or who are in terror of unexplored pathways, shudder at the bold course President Roosevelt has charted. From this fearful type, frequently partisan and followers of the leadership repudiated by the country last November, come the gloomy forecasts, the shaking of heads, the whisperings of the timid. Crises are not met by those hesitant souls who, heads in hands, darkly ponder how others in earlier ages met—or failed to meet—their particular crises.

A favorite declaration of this group is that the administration's policies "represent a radical departure from fundamental American policies" which they fear may be "unconstitutional" although there is no court opinion to this effect.

Lacking the right to ask the court for an advisory opinion, congress has no recourse except to legislate as wisely as possible when emergencies present themselves. After all, the greatness of our constitutional system does not lie in the rigid construction of words written by men who could not possibly have foreseen our present complicated social and mechanical civilization. Our constitution is great because it is a living, breathing instrument in the hands of wise men who realize that after all life is an evolutionary growth.

Objectors criticize as a "dubious subterfuge" the creation of an extraordinary budget in which extraordinary expenditures are placed while the regular budget is brought to the total of current revenues. That this so-called "subterfuge" is done openly and without attempt of concealment they prefer to overlook. What is accomplished is the separation of capital expenditures from current expenditures—a separation in keeping with the time honored practice of every sound business. If the spending of $3,300,000,000 on useful public works is open to criticism because it destroys wealth, then it is likewise destructive of wealth to build a house, a business block, a railroad, a canal, a bridge, or a road at any time or any place.

The dolorous also seek to enshrine the dollar on a pedestal as if there were something sacred about money of itself. Money is a medium of exchange which should have some relationship in value to other goods and services. It can, and did, get out of line and so add to the burden of those in debt. The policy of the administration is to maintain a proper ratio between the value of money and the value of goods, thereby preventing the rich from getting richer and the poor poorer.

The administration has stepped up a plan of economic recovery adopted after careful consideration. Cheerfully it is going forward to make the situation better. It does not conceive it to be the part of statesmanship to sit in sackcloth and ashes and weep over America's "vanishing liberties." It is the policy of the administration, by putting men back to work and by creating more buying power, to make it possible for millions of men now unemployed and their dependents to have the necessities and the comforts of life.

President Roosevelt is extremely concerned about the welfare of his country and the life, liberty and well-being of every citizen. He might have waited for the disastrous storm that so nearly broke on the fourth of March last to overwhelm him and his country. That might have been statesmanship. He and the rest of us might have gone down in the flood threatening to engulf us, glorying in the immutability of our institutions and the fact that we alone, in physical nature, were resolutely static. But I suspect that if he had done that instead of courageously challenging depression, despair, and misery, the voices of those carping critics who now attack him for venturing in the behalf of the people would have assailed him even more unjustly and venomously as they were swept down stream along with the rest of the wreckage of "rugged individualism."

We have a policy and we have a program. Best of all, we have leadership. In time of peace no nation has ever undertaken such a daring program. It is a heroic measure for a heroic end, made necessary by an inherited emergency. President Roosevelt wants to move men from relief rolls to pay rolls, and so lead us out of economic depression. In such an adventure who would choose to stand on the sidelines gloomily insisting that it is dangerous and unsafe to adapt our institutions to meet new and unprecedented conditions?

VACATION NEEDS.

A CERTAIN preparedness is advisable for a vacationist. Even though he does not venture far from home base he will be in surroundings where he does not know the ropes. He should take with him a laxative, a diarrhea mixture, a headache remedy, and something with which to sterilize wounds.

Simple laxative pills meet the medical needs and can be carried readily. In most mild diarrheas all that need be done is to stop eating for a day. If the trouble continues longer than a day it is permissible to drink fruit juice and perhaps a little boiled milk.

If there is considerable griping and other discomfort an aromatic diarrhea mixture may add much to comfort. Camphor pills will answer if the trouble is mild. So-called cholera mixtures, especially those that contain a little paregoric, are more efficient. The stores are filled with headache medicines capable of giving temporary ease. Alcoholic iodine, called tincture of iodine, and mercurochrome are the standard chemicals when it is a matter of sterilizing superficial wounds.

The following are some methods of meeting vacation emergencies:

POISON IVY OR POISON OAK.

After exposure: Wash the skin as soon as possible after the exposure. For this purpose use a strong lather made with laundry soap. Or wash with gasoline [not the kind that contains a trace of lead].

To cure: Wash with gasoline [not the kind that contains a trace of lead] or with a solution of subsulphate of iron or chloride of iron.

CHIGGERS.

To prevent: Sprinkle powdered sulphur inside the shoes and on the garments that cover the feet and the legs below the knees. After exposure, wash with laundry soap. Lather freely.

To cure: Kill the parasite with a few drops of chloroform, applied locally. Retard the evaporation of the chloroform by covering the treated bite with the hand for a minute or so.

TICK BITES.

Use the same procedures as for chiggers.

MOSQUITO BITES.

Repel mosquitoes by applying a mixture of oil of citronella and oil of cedar and spirits of camphor. Some gum camphor in a handkerchief or other cloth bound around the head and wrists at night acts as a repellent. Treat mosquito bites by local application of spirits of camphor or of cold water.

TO REMOVE A FISH HOOK STUCK IN THE FLESH.

Push through. Break off the barb, then withdraw the hook. Sterilize well. Fish hooks are liable to carry infection and there is sometimes the added danger of fish or frog poison. The skin of many frogs and of some fish is poisonous.

SUNBURN.

Most persons can prevent sunburn by a process of gradual tanning. Light shining on the water is especially prone to cause sunburn.

To alleviate, the use of milk locally applied is reasonably efficient.

We have a booklet entitled "Some First Aid Procedures." It is No. 14 in the "How to Live With" series. It can be had by sending 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope with request.

HAVE YOUR TEETH FIXED.

Mrs. F. L. W. writes: I am in the fifth month of pregnancy and my teeth are bad.

1. Will dental work harm me?

2. My gums bleed and my teeth have a brownish coat on them. What does this mean?

REPLY.

1. No. Have your teeth attended to. You probably need phosphate of lime and vitamin D.

2. You seem to be somewhat scurvied. Eat more tomato juice and fruit juices.

APPLY COOLING LOTION.

C. D. writes:

1. What is the best way to treat swellings and blisters?

2. Is there any preparation that will either keep mosquitoes away or at any rate render the effects less severe?

3. My chief trouble is bites through my stockings.

REPLY.

1. Apply any cooling lotion. There are several on the market.

2. If you will send a stamped and addressed envelope we will send you a recipe for a mosquito repellent. There are many such and all of them are of service.

3. Fold some gum camphor in gauze. Bind this around your ankles under your stockings.

POSTAL STATION.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—What was the reason for moving our subpostal station from Diversey avenue to Western avenue? West of Western avenue on Diversey is our business section and a thickly settled residential district. There is no reason for us to cross Western avenue, but now we will have to do so if we wish to buy stamps, etc. J. B. J.

A station was maintained continuously on North Western avenue near Diversey avenue from May, 1909, to April, 1929, the last address being 2751 North Western avenue, at which latter time the proprietor sold his store, and the station was not transferred to his successor. In May, 1931, a station was again established on North Western avenue near Diversey avenue in another store, which store was in December of the same year moved by the proprietor to 2419 Diversey avenue, and the station was moved to the new address at the same time. When competitive bids for the maintenance of a contract station in this vicinity were posted for the contract period beginning July 1, 1933, two proposals were received, one from the proprietor of the store in which the station was then operating and a second proposal at a lower rate from the proprietor of the store at 2751 North Western avenue, who in the meantime has repurchased the store which he sold in 1929 The lower bid was accepted and the station was accordingly transferred on July 1, 1933, to its previous location on Western avenue, where it had been maintained for many years without complaint or criticism from the neighborhood as to the convenience and availability of the location.

RENT PAYMENTS.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On May 1 of this year the owner of the house which we are renting had to give it up and it went to the first mortgage holder. Before May 1 we had not paid our rent in advance. 1. Now the new owner demands that we pay a month's rent in advance, although [2] since May 1 we have paid him two months' rent. 3. He refuses to date the receipts as of May and June, but has them made out for April and May. 4. He claims that the former landlady owed him money on a loan. 5. Can he make us pay that money? We also have a lease signed for the years of 1932 and 1933. 6. Is this lease legal now that the property has changed hands? F. R.

1. Payment in advance is customary. You do not state what you were previously doing.

2. Do you mean for the month of May and the month of June?

3. Your letter does not make clear what his contention is.

4. If you mean that he is trying to charge the loan against you, this is simply preposterous.

5. No.

6. If the new owner received a present deed from the old owner, then it would carry your previous lease. If the new owner is in by virtue of foreclosure of a previous trust deed, then the lease could have been terminated, but it seems probable that the parties have confirmed it.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 13, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Sinking of the American steamer Campana, a Standard Oil tanker, with the probable capture of its captain and four members of the naval guard by the attacking German submarine, was announced by the navy department. The sinking occurred on Aug. 6, 143 miles west of Ile de Re. Forty-seven survivors reached land safely, but the captain and four guards are prisoners on the German submarine.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The government, through Herbert Hoover, food administrator, announced sweeping plans to stabilize the price of wheat, prevent speculation and hoarding, and to supplant "broken down marketing machinery" with government purchasing agencies for handling the whole harvest. Beginning Sept. 1 the government will assume practical control of the wheat business of the United States through the food administrator's office.

WAR SUMMARY.—Twenty German airplanes raided the southeast coast of England, killing twenty-three, most of them women and children, and injuring fifty. Berlin claims capture of 6,700 Russo-Rumanians and much loot in the Fokshani region. Petrograd admits a retreat to Ocna and Marasechti, north of Fokshani, but only after stubborn resistance and the capture of 1,200 Germans. Paris reports the recapture of all ground north of St. Quentin lost to the Germans on Aug. 9-10.

CHICAGO.—THE TRIBUNE publishes this morning a complete list of Chicagoans and other Illinoisans who won commissions in various branches of the United States military service at the Fort Sheridan officers' reserve training camp. An additional and completed list of candidates accepted for the second officers' reserve training camp at Fort Sheridan, which opens on Aug. 27, is also printed, as is a list of men who have passed physical examinations for the new national army and who have not claimed exemption. In addition photographs of nine new majors and seventy captains from Chicago and vicinity, who have just received their commissions at the first officers' reserve camp at Fort Sheridan, will be found on page 5.

CHICAGO.—Edward W. Pardridge, son of Charles W. Pardridge, millionaire State street merchant and Board of Trade operator and also brother of the Princess Engalitcheff, died yesterday in his country home in Lake Geneva, Wis. He is survived by his widow, his daughter, Mrs. Alfred H. Schoelkopf of Buffalo, N. Y., and his nephew, Lee W. Pardridge of Chicago.

THE REWARD OF SELF-HELP.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The first sales tax bill was a badly written, unintelligent piece of legislation. The second bill is just 1 per cent less objectionable.

In August of last year I was laid off by the company for which I had worked the preceding three years. At that time my assets consisted of $195 in cash, $50 in second hand furniture, and miscellaneous personal property which would total in utility value another $60. These assets were approximately those which I had possessed on April 1, 1932.

I invested the $195 in second hand merchandise, moved into a store with living quarters in the rear, and have for the last year managed to live on a subsistence level by running this "business" fourteen or fifteen hours a day. An indulgent landlord has permitted me to accumulate an indebtedness for rent in excess of $200.

If I had had intelligence enough to comprehend what people all around me were doing I should have concealed the possession of the cash, applied for relief, and enjoyed without working, worry, or mounting indebtedness a standard of living in no way inferior to that for which I worried, worked, and went in debt during the last year. Now I attribute my failure to do this to a lack of intelligence. At the time I dismissed this course of action from consideration on good individualistic grounds.

My efforts to save the state the expense of relief for my unemployment are met by the state and municipality with a demand for a second hand dealer's license of $25, with a demand for taxes on my personal property amounting, as nearly as I can determine, to $21 [i. e., the tax], and with a demand for an occupational tax of 2 per cent on my retail sales. As these sales amount to about $60 a month gross, the tax annually represents an item of $15. In short, the state considers it a privilege, taxable to the extent of 31 per cent of my capital, for me to work rather than accept relief.

This is all bad enough. The crowning indignity is in being informed by prospective employers that for the present they are endeavoring to select their new employés from those who are on the relief rolls.

A RETAIL MERCHANT PRINCE.

AN UNPUNISHED MURDER.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—The best news I have read for a long time was in your paper this beautiful Sunday morning. I am referring to the verdict the grand and glorious jury brought in on the Rooney-Gross murder.

It seems they are really hunting down the racketeer. If only they would prosecute the three who were implicated in the murder of my husband, Mr. Dennis Bruce Zeigler of 3716 North Tripp avenue, Feb. 24, 1933, at 6:22 p. m. It was the most cruel, coldblooded murder in the history of our fair city, and I am sorry to say nothing has been done about it as yet.

I live through the terror of that night many, many times, as I hear the shots that entered his brain as I heard them that night. You see it happened just a few doors away from home. Those murderers left me with eleven children.

The murder of my husband was also caused by labor racketeers.

MRS. DENNIS BRUCE ZEIGLER.

AN INCONSISTENCY.

Moline, Ill., Aug. 7.—I read in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE about the $200,000 monkey house that Chicago is going to build. This will be a fine thing for the monkeys. Have all of your school teachers received their pay for last year? Are Chicago taxes all paid? Is Chicago out of debt? FRANK M. BYERS.

FROM MRS. MARCUSSON.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—If the lady who signs herself "Mrs. Adeline Marcusson" was interested in my TRIBUNE article, let me say that I am doubly interested in hers. In the first place, she has no right to that signature, as she has remarried, and now bears the name of Nydick. Why did she neglect to state this fact? Naturally, I am anxious to be able to properly care for my daughter, but at no time did I ask, nor did I receive, aid for her from either the city or THE TRIBUNE.

I, too, have the boy's interest at heart and sincerely trust that he benefits from any and all funds which may be due or forthcoming, but "Mrs. Marcusson" seems to forget that divorce severs any connection between man and wife. I am sorry to have to say these things, but her very sarcastic article forces the situation.

Through this same channel may I express my deepest gratitude to the police pension board, the city council, and last, but not least, THE TRIBUNE, for all that has been done in my behalf? At present my chief concern is what punishment will be given the killers of my beloved husband. MRS. WILMA MARCUSSON.

RECLAMATION.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 6.—Your splendid editorial, "Reducing Acreage by Increasing It" fails to paint the picture as it is. The $84,000,000 to be spent on two dams in the northwest will bring into cultivation a total of 2,066,000 acres of wheat land and an average crop in that section would be 55,000,000 bushels.

The development in the Tennessee valley, reclaiming the bottom lands in the river valley, will make possible the production of 300,000 bales of cotton a year. We are raising too many bales of cotton now; if not a pound of cotton was raised in America this year we should have plenty of cotton for our use and for export. F. G. R. GORDON.

HOME LOANS.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—In today's paper Mr. Donne, the Illinois manager of the new federal Home Owners' Loan corporation, said he would help an owner who has a mortgage of $3,000 due on his home which cost $8,250. This owner stated he had been unable to pay interest or taxes for the past year as he is unemployed and has no income and will be unable to provide a roof for his family if he fails to obtain help.

If this man has no way of obtaining money how does the Home Owners' Loan corporation expect to receive interest and payments due them? Or are they going to let him occupy the home without paying—another way to help the unemployed?

If the man fails to obtain employment will a costly foreclosure be necessary to dispossess him? I believe if many such cases receive help, Uncle Sam will eventually own quite a number of homes.

I am a home owner myself but would not expect to be kept in my home under the above circumstances. M. K.

TOO MUCH RICE PUDDING.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Have you ever asked your waitress after a very nice meal what they include in your dessert, when she hasn't answered rice pudding? Now please, Mr. President, make them cut out giving us so much R. P. Maybe you could include that in the NRA code.

J. B. HAMILTON.

NRA INTERPRETED.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—The true meaning of NRA is still to be found. Democratic friends say "No Republicans Admitted" and my Republican friends say we're "Not Responsible Afterwards."

F. J. ABBOTT.

CHEVROLET leads the field by the widest margin in its history

*Based on the latest retail registration figures from R. L. Polk & Company (all states for five full months). Since January first Chevrolet has sold in excess of 370,000 passenger cars and trucks.

True enough, it isn't news any more to say that Chevrolet leads the world in automobile sales. People have come to take that for granted. It happened in four of the past six years. It's happening in 1933. But this year there is an important difference. In the face of the keenest "show-me" market the industry has ever known, Chevrolet has increased its margin of leadership. In fact, according to the latest available figures, Chevrolet alone has sold almost as many cars this year as all the rest of the low-price field combined!

When a car looms above its field like that, there can't be any argument about it. It must be an all-round better buy. There can't be any weak spots. There can't be anything lacking. It must be the kind of automobile that all types of buyers take to on sight. And that's exactly what Chevrolet offers you—a car with everything you want, and need, and are entitled to get when you buy a low-priced car.

The bodies are Fisher bodies, and that's the most famous name in its field. Famous for styling and luxury. Famous for pioneering such revolutionary advancements as the new ventilation system that lets you make your own weather. Famous for using the strongest and quietest body construction of the day—solid steel over a sturdy hardwood frame.* The engine is a valve-in-head six, and that's the same basic design that has been breaking economy and dependability records for year after year. It's Cushion-Balanced to blot out vibration. It's full of snap and vigor. In fact, it has been called the most efficient engine in the low-price field.

Then there's Syncro-Mesh with Silent Second—everybody knows it is standard on the highest priced cars. There's the Starterator—a hit from its introduction. There's Simplified Free Wheeling, the Octane Selector, long, parallel-mounted springs—more advancements than we have space to describe, but all of proven value. And there are prices that will open your eyes to the fact that it is useless to wait longer before buying a car. Chevrolet prices start at $445, and no Chevrolet is listed above $565!

Already this year, hundreds of thousands of buyers of low-priced cars have looked the field over, and settled on Chevrolet. They have put this car through every kind of test, driven it millions of miles, and they are more enthusiastic about it than ever! No other car in the world bears such a recommendation. Don't guess—buy from the leader.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

OLD OFFENDERS COMMIT 35% OF CHICAGO CRIMES

Paroled Convict Problem Also, Survey Shows.

"Hall McMahon, 28 years old, an ex-convict on parole from Pontiac reformatory, who attempted early Thursday to assault a nursing instructor at the Ridge avenue station of the Rapid Transit lines, was arraigned on charges of assault and attempted robbery yesterday before Municipal Judge Harry H. Porter in Evanston. Thomas E. Fitzgerald, state parole officer, was present to arrest McMahon as a parole violator in the event he was acquitted of the assault charges, but the defendant obtained a week's continuance."

This item, quoted from yesterday's report of the City News bureau, is typical of a dozen items of the kind sent out by Chicago news agencies each month. Another paroled convict is in trouble again and the courts and criminologists have one more bit of evidence that the Illinois parole system has its flaws.

The annual report of the Chicago police department lists 70,658 felonies committed in the city limits in 1932. No statistician has yet studied that report to determine what percentage of Chicago crime may be charged to crime repeaters and paroled convicts, but the state parole board and various organizations for crime suppression are now manifesting interest in the question.

Study Court Docket.

For example, Henry Barrett Chamberlin, director of the Chicago Crime commission, recently had a study made of the Criminal court docket for an average month to discover how many of the individuals indicted had criminal records and how extensive their records were. The month selected for the study was April, 1933.

The docket showed that the grand jury had returned 350 indictments naming 370 persons during the month. The crime commission's records showed that sixty of the 370 had been previously indicted on an average of three times each on the average. Sixteen of the sixty were classified as habitual criminals, eligible for life imprisonment if convicted on the April indictments.

Subject to various corrective factors, the conclusion drawn was that between 35 and 40 per cent of all Chicago crime may be charged to old offenders, not necessarily parolees, but repeaters who may never have come under jurisdiction of the parole board. The board itself has prepared an exhaustive study of the post-penal records of 3,000 convicts paroled from Joliet, Menard and Pontiac, from which it has concluded that 25 per cent of all parolees violate their parole, 10 per cent by minor infractions and 15 per cent by committing new crimes.

Only 25 Parole Officers.

However, Clark Tibbitts, statistician of the board, conceded that the board's study did not justify the conclusion that only 15 per cent of the state's crime could be attributed to paroled convicts. With 4,500 such persons now on parole in Illinois and with only 25 parole officers to supervise them, he pointed out that the parolees might commit hundreds of crimes of which the board would not become aware unless and until the police caught them.

Moreover, Mr. Tibbitts explained, a wide fluctuation of percentages was noted when the violators were classified by offenses. Among 1,000 parolees from Pontiac, he said, only 11 per cent of those convicted for sex crimes broke parole, while the record for larceny offenders, including auto thieves, rose to 23 per cent.

Most of Chicago's convicted auto thieves, he said, are sent to Pontiac. How often this type becomes a repeater after parole, the board's statistics do not show, but an indication was provided in the annual report of the police department. Out of the 70,658 felonies reported for 1932, the report showed, 33,282 were auto thefts, most of them obviously committed by professional criminals. Here the parole board's statistics tied in, for they showed that only 16 per cent of first offenders break parole, while the percentage among professional criminals is 45 per cent.

Recent Progress Made.

For his part, Col. Chamberlin said, he is not disposed to blame the parole board for the present crime wave. Much progress has been made there, he believes, since the scandalous administration under former Gov. Len Small. He regards the present chairman of the board, W. C. Jones of Streator, as one of the outstanding parole executives of the country, and regards with equal favor another member, John Landesco, head of the American Institute of Criminal Law.

The trouble, as Col. Chamberlin views it, is in the archaic administration of the criminal code by the courts. Notwithstanding occasional periods of swift and severe justice, he finds an underlying disposition to compromise with criminals and give defendants the benefit of every technicality, no matter how absurd.

"Such practices are relics of early England when debtors were jailed for years and petty thieves were hanged under the common law," said Col. Chamberlin. "The judges of that day mercifully gave defendants the benefit of every technicality and would even quash indictments over a misplaced comma, but there is no excuse for those policies now. One might conclude that the criminal law today is more for the benefit of the criminal than for protection of the community."

Cites Compromises by State.

Col. Chamberlin cited the record of compromises on the April docket. That record showed that in exchange for guilty pleas prosecutors had waived 101 felony counts, thirty-four gun counts, seventeen robbery counts, ten burglary counts, and two murder counts. Waiver of the felony counts permitted the judges to grant probation or impose brief jail sentences. Waiver of other counts permitted them to substitute lesser prison sentences, such as manslaughter for murder, larceny for burglary, and simple robbery for robbery with a gun.

To illustrate the workings of this system Col. Chamberlin cited the court experiences of a few of those indicted. There was Casimir Botulinski, 17 years old, the youngest habitual criminal on the list. The record showed this boy was indicted a year ago on two charges of robbery with a gun and one of auto theft, was tried and convicted on the robbery and auto theft charges, and was granted probation by Judge Allegretti.

Six months later, the record showed, he was again indicted for auto theft as an habitual criminal and tried before Judge Prystalski, who found him guilty of petty larceny, with the robbery and habitual criminal counts waived. He is now serving a year in the county jail.

A more remarkable case was that of Jacob Kacic, professional burglar. Kacic was first indicted in May, 1922, on two burglary counts, but on a compromise at his trial pleaded guilty to the larceny of $32 and was to be sentenced to serve from one to ten years in Pontiac. On the day for sentence, however, Kacic was not in court, whereupon a capias was issued for his arrest.

Law Overtakes Him.

The law did not overtake Kacic again until February, 1924, when the record shows he was again indicted for burglary. The new case was stricken off, however, so the state could send him to Pontiac on the original charge. There he served a year and was out on probation in January, 1927, when once more he was caught and brought to trial on a burglary charge. A jury convicted him before Judge William B. Brothers in February, 1927, but in March the judge granted a new trial, at which Kacic was permitted to plead guilty to "an attempt to commit a crime," and drew eight months in the House of Correction. Kacic is now listed as an habitual criminal and trial of his latest case is pending.

However friendly Col. Chamberlin may feel towards the parole board, the parole system has its critics. Under that system all sentences are indeterminate except for murder and rape, and the parole board alone holds the decision as to what term a felon must serve. Among the indeterminate sentences the system provides are: larceny, 1 to 10 years; auto larceny, 1 to 20 years; robbery, 1 to 20 years; robbery with a gun, 1 year to life; burglary, 1 year to life; and manslaughter, 1 to 14 years.

In rape and murder cases the judge or jury fixes the penalty, the theory being that they, having observed the demeanor of the defendant and the witnesses at the trial, are better able to judge the nature of the crime and the character of the perpetrator than an impersonal parole board. Critics of the parole system maintain that the same theory might well apply to all offenses.

Mr. Tibbitts disputes that theory. "The judge only knows what happens at a defendant's trial," said Mr. Tibbitts. "He hasn't the time to investigate a prison's social background nor to observe his conduct in prison. The parole board can do this and thus is able to form some judgment as to whether a prisoner is a good risk for parole."

"It is questionable whether a criminal can be reformed by keeping him in idleness among others of his own kind. In times past the prisoners could be kept busy at useful work, but since the depression no prison made goods are allowed to be manufactured and sold in competition with private industry. To provide the prisoners the materials for 'made' work would be pretty expensive.

"It's risky to parole men in these times," he continued. "On getting out they can't find work and, unable to make a living honestly, they are tempted to return to old habits."

ACCARDO WINS DISMISSAL.

Judge Joseph H. McGarry in the South State Street court yesterday dismissed a disorderly conduct charge against Tony Accardo, public enemy and Capone henchman, when the police admitted they had no evidence against him.

Man, put a stop to this-this is the twentieth century

To prove that every home can afford to heat with gas . . . we will install it at our expense and remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

THIS back-breaking toil is only part of the job of tending fires! There are those extra cold days when she toils up and down the basement stairs. Nursing the fire. Worrying that it might go out. Trying vainly to keep even heat. Cleaning, endlessly cleaning dusty grime and soot from walls, curtains, furniture.

And you do your part too. You shovel coal. Drag out ashes. Split kindling. End this old-fashioned heating method by installing gas heat in your home at once.

Get the pleasure of living in modern times with the invisible servant, gas heat, to take over all your furnace troubles.

Every home can afford it

All homes—even the most modest, can now afford clean, automatic gas heat. Rates are less than one-half those of 1930-31. You've always wanted gas heat. Now you can have it. We make it possible for you to try it in your own home without making an investment of one cent in equipment. We're that sure you'll want it forever when you know from experience its reasonable cost—its great advantages.

Just tell us that you want to try gas heat. At our own risk we will install the equipment in your present furnace or boiler. During the nine heating months of the first year you pay $3.00 a month rental for the equipment in the average home. This charge will be included with your monthly gas bill. You pay nothing during the three summer months.

If at any time during the first year you decide that you don't want gas heat you order it out. And out it comes. We replace your former equipment in the same or better condition than we found it. If you decide you want to keep gas heat, the rental you paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

SCHOOL CHANGES ABOLISH TUITION FEES FOR PUPILS

Outlying Areas to Get High School Benefits.

Boys and girls who have had to pay tuition for high school instruction outside the city because of inadequate facilities within the city limits will go to school in Chicago this fall through the operation of the school board's economy and better housing program. Details of the plan as it affects children living in the vicinity of the airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue were announced yesterday by James B. McCahey, president of the board.

In the past families residing near the airport sent their children to the Argo Township High school at a cost of $108 annual tuition per pupil since there was no senior high school in their section of the city. Some children went without a high school education because their mothers and fathers could not bear the burden of paying the tuition.

High School Made Available.

When the schools open in the fall the former Kelly Junior High school will have been transformed into a senior high school plant. The youngsters from the outlying district will be able to travel down Archer avenue to the door of the new high school at California avenue and 42d street.

The survey of the new facilities announced by Mr. McCahey embraces the 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th wards, but similar conditions will apply to nearly the entire city.

In the four wards fifteen portables will be eliminated; seats will be placed in thirty-three rooms heretofore used for manual training and household arts, and eleven vacant rooms will be brought back into use. Hundreds of children formerly cooped up in portables and getting only a part time schooling will now be afforded a full day's classwork.

Portables to Be Abandoned.

Workmen removing seats from the portables have reported the shoddy condition of these ramshackle schoolhouses. Many of them have been infested with rats and other germ bearing vermin.

School children in Chicago years ago nicknamed the portables "dog houses." A preliminary survey reveals that 336 portables will be abandoned under the board's economy program and thousands of children will henceforth be taught in comfortable classrooms.

Mr. McCahey declared that a definite reaction in favor of the school board's program had set in not only among parents but within the teaching force itself. He called attention to a letter from a school teacher. The teacher's name was withheld.

"Is there no relief from the teachers and principals who are fomenting rebellion and inviting revolt throughout the school system?" asked the teacher. "As you probably know very well, there never has been any central supervision of the Chicago schools. For the most part, each principal, aided by a clique of teachers, has dominated and run his school just as he pleased irrespective of the right of parents."

Bulletin from Economy Foes.

The teacher enclosed a bulletin from the "Save Our Schools" committee, addressed to teachers and principals. The committee has been organizing a protest against the economy plans. The conclusion of the communication is quoted verbatim as follows:

"All our workers are donating their services, but even with the utmost economy the money expense is large. Please send in your five dollars at once.

"How you can help:

"1. Send your money and offer of services to the Save Our Schools committee, Room 1107, at 185 N. Wabash.

"2. Attend meetings called, whether these meetings be teacher meetings downtown, in your own local communities, or citizens' massmeetings.

"3. Distribute literature for the Citizens' Save Our Schools committee. If this material is not reaching your block or precinct, phone your teacher ward chairman. Do you know who he is? If you don't, 'phone the Save Our Schools committee to find out.

"4. Continue to have petitions signed and returned to the office of the Save Our Schools committee."

Despite the organized protest against their program and personal attacks, the ten school trustees who voted for the economy resolutions on July 12 have continued their course without deviation.

CONFESS THEFT OF TYPEWRITERS IN CITY SCHOOLS

Police of the Gresham station are holding two men alleged to be members of a gang which has been looting high schools of typewriters and other equipment. Two other members of the band are being sought. Since Jan. 1 typewriters valued at $22,000 have been taken from school buildings.

Those held are Arthur Nielson, 25 years old, 207 West Oak street, and Steve Manos, 29 years old, 118 Center street. Nielson has admitted stealing six typewriters from schools. Yesterday he amplified his confession by directing the police to an automobile which he and Manos stole on Tuesday. In this car were found three pistols.

Nielson's wife, Irena, also was taken into custody. The trio will be taken to a showup before robbery victims today at the detective bureau.

STATE SALES TAX IS HELD VALID BY CIRCUIT COURT

Springfield Merchant to Appeal Case.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Constitutionality of Illinois' 2 per cent sales tax law was upheld today in a decision by Circuit Judge L. E. Stone in Sangamon county Circuit court. Judge Stone dismissed for want of equity a bill for an injunction to restrain collection of the tax filed by Gus Reif, Springfield furniture merchant, and sustained the state's demurrer. The case will be appealed to the Supreme court by Jesse R. Brown, attorney for the Council of Illinois merchants.

Three important points passed upon by Judge Stone were that an occupational tax cannot be considered an income tax as the Supreme court in its opinion held it was an occupation tax. He also ruled the law was uniform because it applies to the only one class created by the legislature—retailers of tangible personal property.

Rules Vote Is Legal.

Judge Stone also held the vote for the sales tax bill by Representative Grizsby, Blandinville Democrat, who owed gasoline taxes to the state, did not make the law invalid, because the house of representatives is the sole judge of its members.

Judge Stone's decision quotes the Supreme court opinion as follows:

"We hold that the tax is not a property tax and is not a tax on purchasers of property, but is a tax on persons engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail—an occupational tax."

Continuing Judge Stone said:

"From the standpoint of a circuit judge the question admits of no further argument. This very definite holding cannot be explained away on the ground of dicta.

Must Be Applied to Act.

"It was a serious contention of the appellees in that case that the tax in question was an income tax. This matter was seriously considered by the Supreme court, which devoted two full pages to its decision. It was as solemn a pronouncement of the court's interpretation of that statute as any other part of the opinion. It must be applied to the act under consideration.

"Applying it, there is but one conclusion: The tax provided for under the act under consideration is an occupational tax."

Treating the subject of uniformities, Judge Stone said:

"It is contended that the tax provided in this act is not uniform as to the classes upon which it operates. There are no classes to differentiate among, created by this law. It embraces one great class—those engaged in the business of selling personal tangible property."

The first payment of the tax from retailers is due next Tuesday. It is requested they pay to the state 2 per cent, on the 15th of each month, of their gross income for the previous calendar month. The first payment is due Aug. 15.

The law provides that all receipts from the tax, other than the cost of administration, will be used for unemployment relief until Jan. 1, 1934. For the remaining 18 months that the law is in force receipts are to be used in abatement of real estate taxes.

READY TO COLLECT.

The Chicago office of the state department of finance announced yesterday, following the upholding of the validity of the sales tax, that it will be ready to handle collections and answer inquiries tomorrow morning in its offices on the bank floor at 30 North La Salle street.

Joseph J. Rice, state director of finance, said that all payments of the tax for the month of July are due by midnight Tuesday. He urged merchants to file their returns Monday to avoid a last minute rush.

WAUKEGAN G. A. R. VETERAN'S WIFE IS DEAD OF BURNS

Mrs. Susan Jenkinson, 86 years old, died yesterday at St. Therese's hospital, Waukegan, of injuries incurred Friday when she was burned in the kitchen of her home at 204 North Butrick street, Waukegan. Mrs. Stevens was the wife of Homer F. Stevens, 90 years old, the oldest G. A. R. veteran in Waukegan.

Stevens and Mrs. Andrew Heberger, 13 Philippa avenue, Waukegan, were in the kitchen when a towel which Mrs. Stevens had wrapped around a hot kettle caught fire. Mrs. Heberger and Stevens suffered burns in trying to rescue Mrs. Stevens, whose clothing burst into flame.

Funeral services for Mrs. Stevens will be held at the Methodist church in Waukegan tomorrow. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery at Antioch. Besides her husband, Mrs. Stevens is survived by two sons, John Stevens of Waukegan and Jesse Stevens of Milwaukee.

CAMP ALGONQUIN PUTS NEW LIFE INTO CHILDREN

Miraculous Gains Cited by Superintendent.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A record has been broken within the last few days at Camp Algonquin, and convincing proof made that the sunlight, wholesome food, the fun and freedom of the Fox river valley camp has rehabilitated a group of youngsters who entered July 1, classified by physicians as "undernourished." Also, TRIBUNE readers will know from this record that every cent they have contributed was well spent.

In a telephone conversation with Mrs. Astrid Save, camp superintendent, yesterday, it was learned that these youngsters have made such rapid gains in weight that the chart recording their gains had to be abandoned and a new one started. Mrs. Save said she could not remember when a change in charts had been imperative before.

Tanned and Happy.

"They all look splendid," Mrs. Save reported with enthusiasm. "You wouldn't know them now. They're so brown you'd think they had spent all their days on the seashore. Their eyes are alive and full of fun. Their dispositions have improved. How I wish I could see every mother's face when her child comes back the last of this month after the summer here."

The counselors, the nurse, the physicians, in fact, every one who has watched the miracle happening would given almost anything for a glimpse into the different homes when the all-summer vacationers greet their families.

This all summer group has a separate section of the camp known as Harlowarden. It is by the river's edge and the camp routine is planned to build up physically and mentally every undernourished child before he returns to school. The others who are given vacations at Algonquin go for two week periods with their mothers.

Campers Give Play.

Last night every one in camp enjoyed theater night. In the recreation hall of the Harlowarden section a troupe of youthful players dramatized "The Doll Shop." The members of the cast made their own costumes. They were directed by Miss Mary Gilmore, who is in charge of camp dramatics.

The camp fund received $58 yesterday. The list of contributions was led by a $25 gift from Mrs. Levy Mayer in memory of the late Levy Mayer. A check for the same amount was given the free ice fund. The camp gifts follow:

N. Y. HEAT DEATH RATE HIGH AMONG YOUNG AND OLD

500 Persons Over 65 Die in One Week.

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—An unusually large number of deaths was caused in New York City by the recent hot weather, Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, health commissioner, announced today. Mortality was high particularly among infants and in the older age groups.

During the week ended Aug. 5 there were 115 deaths among infants less than 1 year old. This was twenty-nine more than the eighty-six recorded for the corresponding week last year. Among persons of 65 or more there were 500 deaths during the week. This was 189 more than during the corresponding period of 1932.

Increase Over Last Year.

In the age group of 45 to 64 years there were 534 deaths in the same period this year, an increase of 108 over the corresponding week last year.

Deaths from sunstrokes have been numerous this year. During the week ended Aug. 5 forty-nine persons died from this cause. No deaths were attributed to sunstroke during the corresponding week in 1932. The total of fatalities caused by sunstroke so far this year is ninety-seven, compared with seven recorded in the corresponding period of last year.

Precautions Are Urged.

The high mortality during the heat wave caused the death rate of the city to rise noticeably, Dr. Wynne said. To aid in minimizing the effects of any additional hot weather that may arrive this year he urged precautions against the effects of heat and humidity.

"Quiet for babies and the older folk is essential during hot wave periods," he said. "They should be kept out of the sun and should be permitted to rest and sleep in cool, shady sections of the home. When the sun is high the babies and older people should not leave the home, and they should wear as little clothing as possible."

Mexico Denies Navy Base Pact.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The foreign office today denied that there was any negotiation between Mexico and the United States for establishment of an American naval base at Magdalena bay, Lower California, as suggested in recent dispatches from Japan. A statement signed by Foreign Minister Puig said:

"The press for the past two days has carried rumors, said to have originated from Japanese sources in Tokio, to the effect that there were supposed to be negotiations between the governments of the United States and Mexico for establishment of a naval station in Magdalena bay. These newspaper stories are wholly without foundation in fact."

POLICE OFFICER'S COURTESY WINS HIM $25 AWARD

Weekly Award Goes to Ralph W. Ripley.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Ralph W. Riley, west parks policeman, No. 39, who has received a total of two months' pay in the 14 months he has been employed in the department, was picked yesterday for the weekly $25 courtesy award offered by THE TRIBUNE. His beat is along the eastern end of Garfield park, from Lake to Madison streets on Homan avenue.

The weekly award is being made in recognition of courtesy displayed by members of the city police department or policemen of any of the three major park systems, in order to encourage courtesy in treatment of World's Fair visitors.

Men Keep Morale.

A reporter visited the west parks, where policemen's salaries are 22 months in arrears, in an effort to learn whether any courtesy could be in evidence under such circumstances. In several hours spent in and around Garfield and Humboldt parks, all the policemen encountered were models of courtesy, civility and kindness. When Capt. Michael Trant, whose headquarters are in the Administration building in Garfield park, was asked to explain the situation later, he said that despite the almost desperate plight of some of the men, they had managed to keep their morale.

Policeman Riley, his blue uniform trousers neatly creased, his white shirt meticulously clean, was standing at Madison street and Homan avenue when approached by a woman who said she was a visitor. She proceeded to propound the following questions, to which Riley made the following answers:

Q.—Is this what is called the west side? A.—Yes, ma'am, it is.

Q.—What kind of a neighborhood is it? A.—A nice neighborhood, particularly west of Crawford avenue.

Wonderful Police System.

Q.—I may stay in Chicago. Now what about this park? Is it well policed? A.—O, we have a wonderful police system, madam.

Q.—What if I let my little boy come here to play and he falls in that lagoon, though? A.—The police don't allow the children in the lagoon.

Q.—But could I be sure they would keep Junior out? A.—I think so, madam.

Q.—How deep is the lagoon? A.—It's different depths—some parts are fairly deep.

Then Policeman Riley volunteered information on his own account. He told of the fine schools—Catholic or Protestant or public—in the neighborhood, he spoke appreciatively of the flower beds and the landscaping of the park. He spoke not a word about the fact that the police pay days were few and far apart.

Later, when a photographer asked Policeman Riley to pose and told him his name had been submitted for the courtesy award because he "was polite when a woman asked a lot of dumb question," he laughingly told a few incidents of visiting women tourists.

A One Way Street.

He stopped one of them driving a car from Minnesota one day, saying, "Lady, you can't drive that way. That's a one way street."

She replied, "But I'm just driving one way," and proceeded on her journey.

Policeman Riley is 36 years old, lives at 1644 North Albany avenue, and has a wife, Marie, and son, Ralph W. Jr., 7 years old. They live in a home owned by his father, William F., a retired railroad employé, who sees that they are supplied with groceries. Some of his fellow policemen have lost their homes, Riley said.

Riley goes on vacation Aug. 16, and the $25 will be particularly welcome in the Riley home. Riley was a first sergeant in Battery B in the 333d field artillery, the Blackhawk division, and served in France.

COURTESY WINNER

TOWN IN TEXAS VOTES 5-1 WET; ITS FIRST TEST

Richmond, Tex., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Texas' first recent test on the prohibition question was provided here today when precinct No. 1, Fort Bend county, voted five to one against continuing dry under local option.

The precinct includes the county seat of Richmond and the nearby town of Rosenberg, the two largest communities in the county. Richmond voted 176 wet to 13 dry and Rosenberg 326 wet to 92 dry.

The wet victory means 3.2 beer can be legally sold in Richmond and Rosenberg after Sept. 15 if the brew is legalized in the Aug. 26 election.

A REJECTED SUITOR KILLS WOMAN AND ENDS HIS OWN LIFE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12.—[U. P.]—Mrs. Harriet Allen, 25, former University of Southern California art student, was shot to death by Bruce T. Moore, 42, a rejected suitor, today, as she slept beside her husband of eight days. Moore then turned the gun on himself inflicting a fatal wound.

Mrs. Allen's husband said Moore, a pharmacist clerk, crept into their bedroom while they slept. He was awakened by a shot and his wife's screams, he said. A second later Moore shot himself and fell beside the bed.

Allen said his wife and Moore were sweethearts when he met her. The three were on friendly terms after Moore learned she was going to marry Allen.

"He took the news like a gentleman," Allen said. "He was terribly hurt, of course, but finally told me to 'go ahead, and I wish you lots of happiness.'"

The young couple eloped to Santa Ana eight days ago.

Allen operates a café. Mrs. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Fencil, are prominent in southern California.

Moore left a note saying, "I leave everything to my sister, Elsie, including my land in Arizona and my insurance."

BATTERED HULK OF "GHOST SHIP" AGAIN SIGHTED

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The battered hulk of the "ghost ship" Baychimo, for two years a plaything of the arctic ice near Point Barrow, again has been sighted by man.

Coast guard headquarters here received a message from the cutter Northland today saying it had found the fur trader about 10 miles off Wainwright apparently close to where the ice pack closed relentlessly in on her in September, 1931.

There was no mention as to how the sturdy steamship had withstood the grinding of the ice during the last two years, but mariners marveled that she still existed.

Late in September two years ago word came that the Hudson bay steamer was caught in the ice near Wainwright. An unusually short summer and early forming of ice trapped the Baychimo.

In October airplanes flown from Nome reached her and removed passengers, the crew, and part of the $600,000 fur cargo. On Christmas day a terrific storm burst. At noon the next day the Baychimo had vanished.

WIFE NO. 1 HALTS FAIR HONEYMOON FOR AN ICEMAN

Those persons who have ridden bicycles, rowed boats or mushed dog teams to the World's Fair overcame no more difficulties in carrying out their ambitions to travel than did George Lueck, an iceman from Kenosha.

On Wednesday the iceman was married to a second wife, Elizabeth, and it was announced the couple would leave for the Fair on Friday on their honeymoon trip. But on that day Mrs. Mary Lueck, former wife of George, had him jailed for failure to pay his alimony.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lueck appeared, weeping, before Judge Calvin Steward in Kenosha and called attention to the fact that she had been promised the Fair trip by her husband and also that she would see to it personally that he came back to attend a hearing on Aug. 26. On this pledge Judge Steward released the bridegroom. The couple expect to reach the Fair today.

GEM BANDITS HOLD UP MAN.

Eight men, believed to be the same band who took rings valued at $3,500 from Miss Sarah Mausby, the Countess Cavicchia, last week, yesterday held up L. B. Jones, 6704 Merrill avenue, at 72d street and Paxton avenue. They took his wrist watch, valued at $40.

HOBOS TO DRAFT THEIR OWN CODE UNDER NRA RULES

Open Silver Jubilee Here Tonight.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A code for hobos will be worked out at the silver anniversary convention of the Hobos of America, which opens tonight at the Waiters' hall, 180 West Randolph street. The meeting will continue for four days.

Jeff Davis, 50 years old, "King of the Hobos," who has retained his title for 25 years because of his superior mileage—he claims to have hoboed 850,000 miles—will preside. He explained to reporters that while the hobos, a well organized fraternity of the road distinct from "bums" and "tramps," have had their jungle code and secret jungle law enforcement system many years, they intend to show their patriotism by adopting a code strictly in accordance with the national recovery act.

"We're all for Roosevelt," said Jeff. "He's got the right idea. Funny thing—we 'bos have had the same idea for a long time. 'Bos don't live to work; they just work enough to live. O, we'll make a 'bo out of Roosevelt yet."

100 Delegates Expected.

The delegates to the convention probably will number 100, and are duly appointed by various "jungles" throughout the country. One is from Germany. He is Jack Bauer of Nurnberg, who explained that in the "Organization of Workers" in Germany hobos have to have a trade.

One provision sure of adoption as part of the hobos' code, according to Davis, is that no hobo will wash dishes in a restaurant nor scrub a restaurant floor for a meal.

"No real hobo ever took a job away from a man with a wife and children," said Davis. "A hobo will work; a tramp won't work under any conditions because he thinks the world owes him a living, and a bum couldn't work if he wanted to because he's an old derelict."

Many hobos have conventional domestic connections, Davis revealed. He himself is a husband, father, and grandfather, his family living in Cincinnati, the international headquarters of the association. Davis gets no salary for his job as king of the hobos, he said. There are no dues in the organization. The convention here will cost all of $50, which is contributed voluntarily by delegates.

While the convention is in progress jungles all over the country will hold celebrations of the silver jubilee.

Hard to Ride Trains Now.

"Conditions are so modernized that it's hard for hobos to ride the trains now," Davis said. "They're built with single rods and trucks that are too high. But if a man's a real 'bo he's always got a smile on his kisser. You never found a hobo downhearted and you never heard of a 'bo committing suicide. They've got nothing to lose.

"The hobo's motto is: Scatter crumbs on the waters and chicken sandwiches will come back. If a man's a jungle buzzard, if he steals a 'bo's shoes, he never gets any peace from then on. The jungle bulls report it to the track walker, who's Gasoline Bill Baker, and word is passed along the grapevine. That fellow stays a jungle buzzard and can't share in a mulligan stew in any jungle in the country.

"But if he's a real hobo he gets paid back for living decently. Once I shared my last dollar with a 'bo in Battle Creek and years later I flopped in his mansion on 5th avenue. He'd come into the bucks, wore rocks and all, and entertained me royally."

SIX ARRESTED ON CHARGES OF COUNTERFEITING

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12.—[U. P.]—More arrests were expected tonight in the secret service's drive against a counterfeiting ring blamed for more than $8,000 worth of almost perfect federal reserve notes circulated throughout the country.

Six persons, including a woman, already have been arrested as the agents began the round-up for which it has laid ground work for 18 months. Two presses, dismantled and buried in greased rags, have been recovered, as well as ten plates and more than $2,000 worth of the fake bills.

The six prisoners were jailed in default of bonds ranging from $3,000 to $5,000 for a hearing next Wednesday on charges of conspiracy and making and passing counterfeit money.

Wisconsin Democrats Will Launch Senate Drive Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Wisconsin Democrats, buoyant over last year's victory, are launching this coming week a program to make sure that their gains will stick.

Otto A. La Budde, chairman of the state central committee, an organizer whose fourteen years at the helm of his party in the state have taught him the value of closely knit units, is generalissimo of the drive that begins tomorrow.

Mr. La Budde knows his organizing business so well that, though he also holds the office of collector of internal revenue, a job that takes up the greater portion of his time, the party powers that be hesitate to permit him to relinquish his job as state chairman. In fact, though it was said at the time of his appointment to the federal position that he would retire as state chairman, it becomes more and more certain that he will not do so.

Friend of Farley.

Party allies who have reason to know declare that no less a person than James A. Farley has insisted that Mr. La Budde remain at the head of the party in Wisconsin. Mr. La Budde declined to comment, other than to say: "I still am chairman, and, we have plenty of work to do."

Just now, the plan is not the complete reorganization of the party—rather the strengthening of the present organization. In 60 of the 71 counties units of the state central committee have been formed. The next move is to be establishing of units in every congressional district. Then the senatorial district units are to be formed. The 100 assembly districts also are to have a separate unit.

When this has been accomplished—and work begins tomorrow on every angle of it—all committee units, for the first time in party history in Wisconsin, will form a central group to merge the work of all. Under this plan, Mr. La Budde contemplates the completion of a strong working unit.

Gird for Senate Race.

The first big objective is the senate race next year, and the selection of the Democrat who will face Senator Robert M. La Follette. On this leaders differ.

Mr. La Budde's view is put this way:

"I would like to see a primary in which many men and women as can qualify, and who want to make the race, are entered. This is democratic and wholesome. And then, I don't believe anyone who enters should do so unless he is willing to go down the line for the successful candidate when nominated."

There are those here in Milwaukee who feel that a vast field of candidates will destroy the harmony that now exists and possibly split the unity that now prevails.

Mrs. Bowler to Run.

One candidate is certain—Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, national committeewoman of Sheboygan. Mrs. Bowler is going up and down the state, speaking almost daily and nightly. She reflects on her many years' work with the suffrage movement; her work with the national prohibition reform movement, which had 50,000 members in this state, and she looks back to her recent race in the repeal election here, in which she led the ticket, receiving by far the greatest number of votes among the delegates to the repeal convention.

There are four or five others who are slated as "likely" entrants for the senate drive. But everyone knows that Mrs. Bowler is going to be in the field. Asked if she will enter, her comment is:

"Well, several hundred members of the party have signed an appeal asking me to. But that must all go through the regular party machinery and come up at the proper time. Meantime, I'm speaking every day and night, almost, and will be for some time ahead. Do you know of any better campaigning than that?"

Officer of Teachers' Group Is Named to Federal Post

Mrs. Florence Curtis Hanson, 5200 Harper avenue, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Teachers, has been appointed a member of the Federal Advisory council of the United States Employment service. This was announced at the federation offices yesterday. Mrs. Hanson will go to Washington tomorrow to participate in the preparation of a code for public education.

Ford Motor Company,

The reasons are worth knowing

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

Last week we told you how the 8-cylinder motor made its entry into the low-price field.

But an "8" is not the whole story. There are two varieties of the "8".

We have chosen the V-8 —a motor with two banks of cylinders set at an angle opposite each other, instead of all eight cylinders in a line. There are good reasons for this.

When we take 8 cylinders and set them four on a side, the length of the motor is reduced about half; it becomes a sturdy and compact power plant. The V-8 motor is 4 cylinders long; if the cylinders were set in line the motor would be 8 cylinders long. This would sacrifice compactness.

One simple advantage of the V-type is that it gives more room in the body of your car. In the medium-size car that is built for economical operation this is important. And it accounts for the generous interior body room of the new Ford V-8.

Another advantage concerns the motor itself. The V-8 type of motor, with its two short banks of cylinders, cuts in half the distance which the gas mixture must travel to the end cylinders. This gives a more uniform distribution to each cylinder and makes a smoother running motor. Also, two water pumps and two streams of water cool the cylinders instead of one stream. This means more uniform cooling.

Other points of advantage I reserve for another letter. To mention one:—When we seemed to be slow in introducing the new Ford V-8 the delay was caused by our doing a very important thing in the interest of strength, long service and efficiency.

We were perfecting the V-8 cylinder block as a one-piece casting.

As a result our cylinder block is not made of two or three castings bolted together. It is one compact whole, which permanently keeps the operating parts in perfect alignment. We cannot expect the general reader to appreciate the difficulties we had to overcome before this could be done. But if you ever have a chance to see our cylinder block casting before it goes into an engine, you will marvel that it could be done at all.

We are the only manufacturers now doing it this more expensive way.

Our new car is making its way so rapidly, on its own merits, that it is worth knowing some of the reasons for its success.

NEW NAZI LAW TO TAX WOMEN WITHOUT A CHILD

"Hitlerizing" of Germany Goes On.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—The Nazification of Germany went on apace today as the reich and local governments ground out new decrees.

Federal authorities ordered all German judges to be greeted in court hereafter with the Nazi salute.

In Hanover the district leader of the Labor Front announced that a law would be issued soon to compel women without children—whether through their own fault or not—to pay a special tax to support women who have "given children to the state." He also asserted that a list of those who fail to do their full social duty for the fatherland would be published.

Blacklist Weapon to Be Used.

Another blacklist weapon was brandished by Oswald Freisler, writing in the Hitlerite organ, Hessiche Volkswacht. Indignant about Germans who still seek the advice of Jewish lawyers, he issued a severe warning against them. This paper also announced it will publish the names and addresses of gentile girls who are seen in the company of Jews by storm troopers or Hitler guards.

Although the government has prohibited private attacks on business enterprises, the Frankfurter Zeitung reported today that one price shops and department stores in small towns remain the butt of attacks by local radical Nazis. It urged the government to take measures to prevent destruction of property such as has occurred, it asserted, in Neumenster and Heilbronn.

Aldermen in Munich today voted unanimously to forbid Jews to attend auctions held at pawn shops.

Allow Jewish Theater to Open.

Hans Hinkel, a state commissar and specialist in cultural problems, granted the Cultural Association of German Jews permission to open a Jewish theater and give opera concerts in Berlin employing only Jews. Only members of the association will be allowed to attend the performances, however, and no tickets will be sold to the public. It is feared that because of threats of blacklists the membership of the association will be too small for the theater to succeed.

U. S. Sailor Imprisoned.

STETTIN, Germany, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Charged with remarking to drinking companions that Chancellor Hitler was a Czech Jew, Thoursten Johnson, an American sailor, was sentenced today to six months' imprisonment by an emergency court. The American consul is investigating the case. Johnson claimed he was misunderstood.

American Student Deported.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The secret police today informed George S. Messersmith, American consul general, that Walter Orloff, Brooklyn, N. Y., medical student, was deported on the steamship Hamburg last Thursday. The deportation was ordered because the police held that Orloff had been engaged in political activity at Griefswald university.

Originally charges of high treason were to have been pressed. The American authorities intervened, asking that the young man be deported instead of tried.

Another Border Incident.

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The official Austrian agency today reported a new border incident from Klobenstein on the Austro-Bavarian frontier.

Austrian Fascist auxiliary police on border patrol, resting near a guardhouse, the agency said, suddenly were fired upon from the Bavarian side. The Austrians returned the fire.

At the same time a patrol guarding a munition depot between Klobenstein and Koessen also was fired on. No one was injured on the Austrian side.

Flays German Arms Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 12.—A stern warning against rearmament by Germany as a menace to European peace was uttered by Winston Churchill, prominent conservative M. P., in a speech at Theydon Bois, Essex, tonight.

"There is grave reason to believe that Germany is arming herself or seeking to arm herself contrary to the solemn treaties exacted from her in the hour of defeat," Churchill declared. "Already her smaller neighbors, Austria, Switzerland, Belgium and Denmark feel deep disquietude."

Churchill said he had criticized in the house of commons all "foolish talk" of placing Germany on some kind of equality with France.

"The French most prudently refused to harken to such hazardous advice and the fact that they refused is the main foundation of peace in Europe today," he asserted.

Anti-Semitic Riot in Poland.

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Anti-Semitic demonstrations in eastern Galicia resulted today in the smashing of windows of Jewish homes. Several Ukranians were arrested.

TEACHERS EXPEL GERMANS FROM WORLD PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTANDER, Spain, Aug. 12.—Before beginning work on the fourth international congress of teachers' associations meeting here voted to exclude the German delegates who were already present in the hall when the subject of their admission was brought up.

French and Austrian delegates were the chief speakers against admission of the Germans. They argued that since the advent of Hitlerism the status of German teachers' associations is dubious. Chancellor Hitler's anti-Dollfuss campaign in Austria was also brought up.

"Even the dynamite used for crimes in Austria is German," said Herr Binden, an Austrian. "Propaganda by terror and by airplanes is assuming gigantic proportions." Herr Binden declared that the peace of his country is menaced by the Germans, adding that he could not return to his own country after having collaborated with German delegates who are representatives of Hitler.

'BLUE SHIRTS' IN DUBLIN TODAY; CLASH FEARED

Parade Called Off but Situation Still Tense.

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 12.—Although Gen. Owen O'Duffy postponed the parade of his blue shirted Irish "National Guard" scheduled for tomorrow following President Eamon de Valera's formal prohibition of the demonstration early today, the situation here tonight is still tense.

Thousands of the "blue shirts" are expected to arrive here tomorrow on special trains and in some quarters it is felt the danger of conflict is far from past. Disorders are looked for, particularly should Gen. O'Duffy's men insist on marching around the city in their uniforms.

Police Activity Greater.

Police activity is greater than usual. It was reported, too, that a party of 200 men, presumably of the Irish republican army, with arms and machine guns, had assembled in the Dublin mountains, five miles from the city.

The "blue shirt" parade, which has now been set for a week from Sunday, was to have been part of the annual observance in Dublin of the anniversaries of the deaths of three Irish patriots—Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins, and Kevin O'Higgins. Government officials are going ahead with plans of their own for the occasion, but have announced that visitors to the cenotaph in honor of the three men will be limited to relatives of the three leaders and selected members of the Dail Eireann.

As a consequence of De Valera's action regarding the cenotaph, former President William T. Cosgrave announced that his party would participate in no way in the government's memorial program.

Guard Public Buildings.

The government appears to be taking no risks regarding possible raids by mobs on public buildings. Gen. O'Duffy declared today that a garrison of 300 policemen is on guard duty with machine guns, three armored cars and one "hooded terror" in readiness.

In a statement today Gen. O'Duffy outlined the aims of his "National Guard."

"We are determined to raise the whole Irish nation from the ignominy of party politics," he said. "The blue shirt is our symbol and our ideal is service and discipline to the country. We heed no ban. No coercion can break us. The National Guard goes ahead. We will thrive on suppression as all great national movements have been invigorated by it."

July Suburban Building Increases 31% Over Same Month of 1932

FIGURES SHOW NORMAL SUMMER SLUMP AVOIDED

Gain Is Second Reported in Present Year.

BY AL CHASE.

[Real Estate Editor.]

PETER DI FRANCESCA

For the second time this year building figures in Chicago's suburbs climbed above the total for the same month of last year. According to the monthly survey of building in the suburban area compiled by the Straus Securities corporation, the July total was $352,575 as compared with $268,130 for July of 1932, or a gain of 31 per cent. The only other month this year that had a total larger than the same month of last year was May. In January, February, March, April and June the 1933 figures were less than those of the same months in 1932.

While a comparison with the preceding month's figures shows a decrease, even this is rather encouraging in that it is only 19 per cent, as compared with a slump of 50 per cent in the July, 1932, figures, compared with those of June, 1932. In other words, the falling off of the July, 1933, total of $352,575 from the $435,250 total of June, 1933, is much less than might reasonably have been expected in normal summer inactivity.

Uncle Sam Generous in '32.

Another comforting thought in connection with the comparison of 1933 figures with the same months of 1932 is that last year's suburban building was bolstered up tremendously by the unusual activity of Uncle Sam in presenting Oak Park, Maywood, Waukegan and Harvey with new post offices.

This year the figures thus far represent home industry and home town money, not federal spending. In brief, the survey compiled by Frederick Doyle points out, whether this year's trend be analyzed or one compares this season with the same period of last year, a definite improvement in suburban building is evident.

This month Melrose Park steps into the spotlight by reporting a volume of new construction exceeding that of any other community in this survey of the Chicago region. The buildings are municipal in character and approaching completion. Peter di Francesca, building commissioner, who also is vice president of the Veterans' Park district of Cook county, explains the $47,195 in new construction listed.

Has Park Development.

"Melrose Park has for some time engaged in a park development," he said, "costing approximately $125,000. This is the work of the Veterans' Park district which at present directs three parks in Melrose Park and one in River Grove.

"The newest development is that of the ten acre Veterans' field, at 16th and Hirsch streets, Melrose Park, where a field building costing $40,000 is now being completed. It will contain an auditorium seating 450, a well equipped stage, showers, etc. The finished project will comprise two baseball diamonds, two tennis courts, a wading pool and two modern playgrounds for children.

"The Veterans' Park district was organized in 1928. It acquired its first park and built its first community center in 1930. Its latest development in north Melrose Park, accessible from all sections, will add greatly to the recreational facilities of the community."

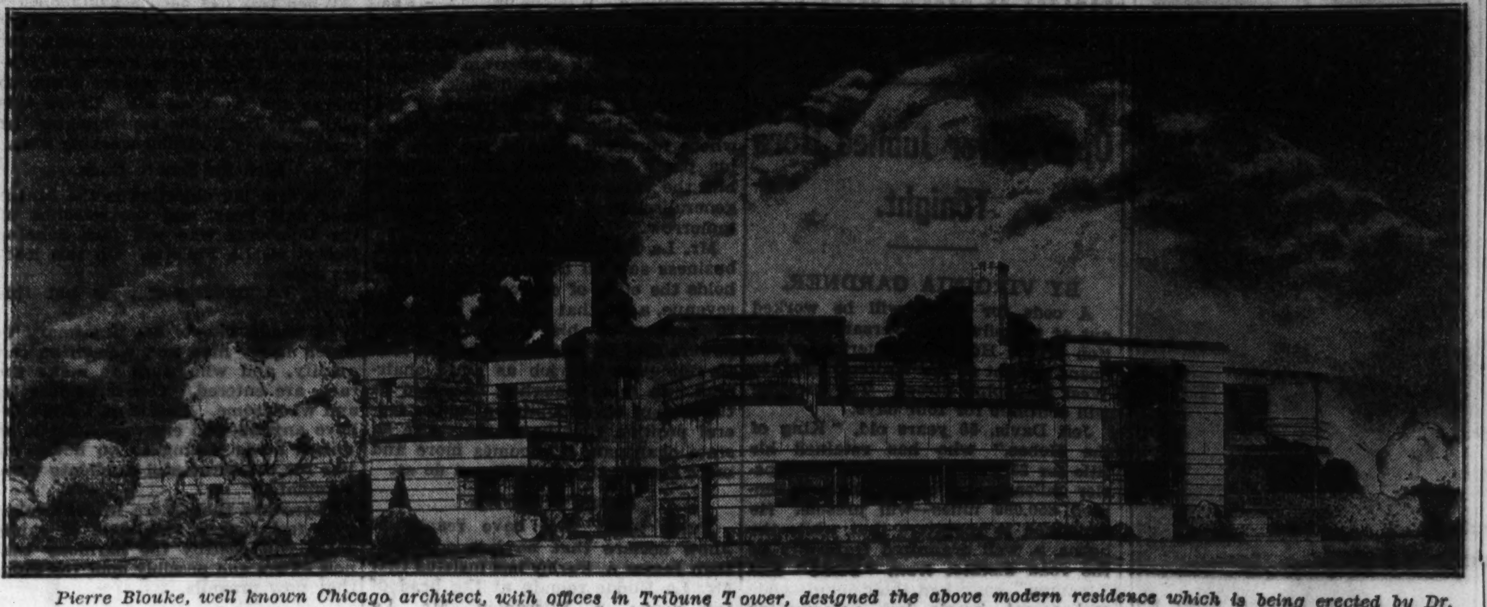
Addition to Town Hall.

Mr. Francesca also reports an addition to the Melrose Park town hall costing $6,000, which includes a police garage and an enlargement of the reading room of the public library."

Comments of the other building commissioners in the Chicago suburban region refer to the repair, remodeling and enlarging jobs which, with the construction of garages, have for several years made most of the work for the building industry.

"There's plenty of work," said A. J. Nichol, building inspector of Elgin, "but it's all repair work, no new homes." Franklin D. Barber of Flossmoor reports some sales of vacant property.

CHICAGOAN DESIGNS AMERICA'S FIRST COPPER HOUSE



Pierre Blouke, well known Chicago architect, with offices in Tribune Tower, designed the above modern residence which is being erected by Dr. and Mrs. George C. Reid, near Rome, N. Y. All of the exterior walls are of copper, on steel frame construction. Part of the copper walls will be lead coated. The uncoated balance, Mr. Blouke states, gradually will turn a patina green. This is the first copper house erected in America, according to the Copper and Brass Research association. L. Morgan Yost made this perspective. More is told in another column of this page.

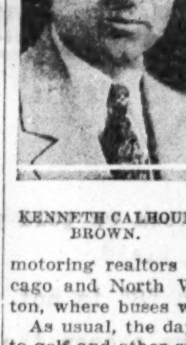
HIGHEST RENT IN 25 YEARS IS PAID FOR UPTOWN STORE

What is claimed will be the highest rental received since the building was erected twenty-five years ago, is to be paid for the corner store at 2870 Broadway, according to Edwin M. Gresham & Sons, who negotiated the deal. Victor Caruso has leased the premises from the estate of Morris Griesheimer for a term of years. The National Tea company had a lease until May 1, 1934, and was given the right to sublease to Mr. Caruso until that date. Then a new lease was made for the estate for five years from May 1, 1934, at an advance of $600 a year.

"This is the largest rental ever received by the estate for this particular store, since the building was erected twenty-five years ago," said Edwin M. Gresham. "It shows that there's a trend toward good locations in the outlying districts and that tenants are willing to pay substantial rentals for good locations such as this happens to be. Mr. Caruso is opening a restaurant and will spend about $10,000 in alterations."

REALTY BOARD OUTING TO BE AT BILTMORE CLUB

The Chicago Real Estate board will hold its annual all day outing on Wednesday, Sept. 13, at the Biltmore Country club, about three miles north of Barrington. It adjoins Honey lake and is about a mile and a half west of Lake Zurich. According to Kenneth Calhoun Brown, chairman of the outing committee, the outing cost will be the lowest in the history of the board and will include both luncheon and dinner at the club. Nonmotoring realtors should use the Chicago and North Western to Barrington, where buses will meet all trains.



KENNETH CALHOUN BROWN.

As usual, the day will be given over to golf and other sports with the usual imposing list of prizes for the winners. Mr. Brown's committee is made up of James W. Belanger, Raymond C. Burdick, Ronald J. Chinnock, Alben T. Myren, Richard H. Peel, Louis B. Reitman, Stanley Roe, Edward J. Scott and Jacob O. Trautwein.

SELZ & SOUTHMAN REPORT STEADY GAINS IN RENTING

Steady improvement in renting conditions is reported by Selz & Southman, south side realtors. According to Paul Hobscheid of that firm, its south side office, for the period July 1, 1932, to July 1, 1933, reduced the number of vacant apartments from 117 to 70 over its entire listing.

"During the first six months of 1933 our collections have increased 10 per cent over what we considered a very satisfactory figure," he said. "Collections in south shore have increased 35 per cent, denoting a very decided movement towards stabilization.

"Our vacancies for our South Park office show an amazing decrease from 184 vacant apartments in July, 1929, to 158 in July, 1933, despite a 45 per cent increase in the number of units handled from this office."

H.O.L.C. Breaks All Records in High Speed Mind Changing

The local office of the Home Owners' Loan corporation has broken all federal records both for cutting red tape and rapidity in changing its mind. As a rule any governmental body makes a change in operation only when forced to and then with the gears in low and the brakes on.

When the H. O. L. C. office at 134 North La Salle street was about ready to open for business, newspaper men were told that two application blanks must be filled out by all home owners. When the office opened they were told only one was necessary. Later this was again changed to two and it was added that an application blank must be filled out by the mortgagee.

Still later the press was told that the blank need not be signed by the mortgagee at this time. About the same time another lightening change in blank proceedure was announced and it was stated that only one blank need be filled out by the mortgagor. The explanation was that when one was sent to Washington and the other kept in Chicago, it caused too much confusion in the filing system.

Yesterday another high speed change of mind took place and William G. Donne, state manager, announced that they had gone back to the two blank system and in addition two photographs of the property must be sent in, one on each application.

"But, what about the thousands of applicants who got their application blanks at THE TRIBUNE Public Service offices and were given only one?" was asked.

"O, we'll take care of that when they bring in the one blank" was the reply.

D. F. Quinlan, Woodstock realty man, sends in this query: "How's this, for a time when every one's talking taxes, refinancing, etc? The report from the county treasurer's office of Woodstock, McHenry county, shows that 90 per cent of the taxes due in 1932 were paid; more than half of the remaining 10 per cent unpaid are on subdivision lots along the river belonging to non-residents. McHenry county has no bonded indebtedness and none of the seventeen townships in the county has a bonded indebtedness and the tax rate is among the lowest, if not the lowest, in the state."

Grain Broker Buys 307 Acre Aurora Farm

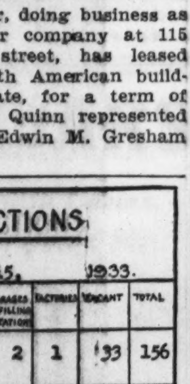
Barnett Faroll of the brokerage house of Faroll Brothers, Board of Trade building, has purchased the 307 acre stock and grain farm of John P. Ellsworth of Oak Park, located on Galena boulevard [route 71] a mile outside of the western city limits of Aurora.

It is understood that approximately $190 an acre was paid by Mr. Faroll, or close to $60,000 for the entire property. It is said that Mr. Ellsworth had invested in the neighborhood of $134,000 in the land and improvements. It was considered one of the show places in the Aurora district.

Mr. Faroll, who lives at 741 Prospect avenue, Winnetka, will continue to operate the property as a stock and grain farm.

U. OF I. GRADUATE JOINS STAFF OF BILLS REALTY

Robert M. Young, business manager of the 1933 "Illio," annual student publication of the University of Illinois, said to be the largest of its kind, is now associated with Bills Realty, Inc., in its north shore brokerage offices in No Man's land between Kenilworth and Wilmette. According to C. E. Drayer, vice president, in charge of the north shore area, Mr. Young will specialize in properties in Hubbard Woods, Glencoe and Ravinia.



ROBERT M. YOUNG.

Mr. Young was graduated last June with the degree of B. S. in mechanical engineering. He was awarded a university scholarship key. He lives at 5736 East Circle avenue, Normal Park.

Fur Dealer Rents Space in North American Building

Joseph Krammer, doing business as the Krammer Fur company at 115 South Dearborn street, has leased space in the North American building, 36 South State, for a term of years. George R. Quinn represented the building and Edwin M. Gresham & Sons the lessee.

Brokers' Notes

E. W. Stansbury, for eight years cashier of the Englewood State bank, has joined the fifty year old real estate organization of John M. McClun, at 207 West 63d street. Mr. Stansbury was comptroller of the Chicago board of education for two years after he left the banking field.

Jack R. Schloesser and George C. Wagner announce the opening of a real estate office at 1512 East 53d street under the name of Schloesser & Wagner. They will do a general real estate, insurance, and property management business. Both young men have been active in the real estate business for the last four years.

SYNDICATE TO MARKET ACRES ON PETITE LAKE

A syndicate, composed mostly of well known Democratic politicians, which several years ago purchased several hundred acres of land on state highway 59, between Antioch and Fox Lake, with considerable frontage on Petite lake, yesterday commissioned Roger P. Winwegen, realtor, to dispose of it all.

Mr. Winwegen stated last night that if the property isn't purchased in its entirety by Aug. 27, the syndicate will subdivide it. The 18 hole golf course of the Cedar Crest Country club on the property will not be included, however.

The late Mayor Cermak was a member of the syndicate. Others are: Alderman Oscar Nelson, State Senator George Maypole, City Physician Dr. D. J. Jones; Judge Harry B. Miller, Fred Lundin, and George Halas. The property was purchased from the J. K. Dering estate.

Pruitt, Inc., Enlarges Personnel and Quarters

Due to increased business the Pruitt corporation has leased the five story building at 170-178 North La Salle street, which will give it approximately three times its present floor area, according to O. E. Pruitt, president. The company, which claims to be the world's largest rebuilders of office machinery, will occupy its new quarters this week. It recently increased its personnel. For the last five years it has occupied the first floor at 190 North La Salle street.

Telephone Company Plans $50,000 Exchange Annex

The Illinois Bell Telephone company is having plans drawn for a two story addition to be erected on the south side of the four story Telephone Exchange building at 2211 South Wabash avenue. It will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. Construction probably will start in the fall. Holabird & Root are architects.

Contracts Awarded

Contracts awarded in Chicago the week of Aug. 4 to 10, according to figures supplied by the F. W. Dodge corporation, totaled 39, with a combined cost of $1,038,683.

PIERRE BLOUKE IS ARCHITECT OF HOME WITH COPPER WALLS

We have had porcelain houses, steel houses, homes of stucco, wood, cement, brick, terra cotta, stone, composition, and what have you, but it remained for Pierre Blouke, widely known Chicago architect, to design and build a copper house, the first to be erected in America. This extremely modern domicile of Dr. and Mrs. George C. Reid is nearing completion on a site overlooking Lake Delta, near Rome, N. Y.

It has a steel frame and the exterior walls and ceilings are all of copper, with brass used for all exterior railings; all doors and trim are of hollow metal, all plumbing will be of copper.

The original Reid residence was frame and was destroyed by fire. Dr. and Mrs. Reid decided to build a fireproof and also rustproof house. The new residence will have 75 per cent of the exterior copper walls lead coated. The remainder being plain will weather into a patina green, according to Mr. Blouke.

BUILDING IN 65 ILLINOIS CITIES SHOWS DECLINE

For the first time since February building projects authorized by permits issued in sixty-five Illinois cities during July show a decline. There were 1,010 building projects, estimated to cost $1,155,518, which represents a decline of 13.5 per cent in the number of projects and 35 per cent in the total estimated expenditure from the June, 1933 totals. This 35 per cent decline was considerably larger than the expected seasonal loss, according to the review of building activity by Howard B. Myers, chief of the division of statistics and research of the Illinois department of labor.

Comparison of the July, 1933 figures with those of the same month of last year were not particularly cheering for the total expenditure of $1,155,518 represented a gain of less than one-tenth of one per cent.

Losses in proposed expenditures authorized by permits in July were reported by Chicago. The decrease in estimated expenditures for Chicago projects was 56.8 per cent.

During the first seven months of 1933, a total of 5,991 building projects, estimated to cost $6,691,284, was authorized by permits in the sixty-five reporting cities in the state. This represents a loss of 34 per cent compared with the same period of 1932. In Chicago the total estimated cost of all building projects for the first seven months of 1933 was 29 per cent below 1932.

REALTORS PLAN CODE DISCUSSION AT UNION LEAGUE

A special meeting of the board of directors of the National Association of Real Estate Boards has been called to consider a projected code for real estate under the national recovery act. Local member boards have been invited to send special representatives to the meeting which will be held at the Union League club next Saturday, Aug. 19.

The call follows conferences recently held with the national recovery administration in Washington, with respect to application of the NRA to the real estate business. A special code for real estate is being developed as rapidly as possible. A tentative outline of the proposed code is to be submitted to the member boards of the association in advance of the coming meeting of the directors.

It is expected to take some weeks before any national code for the real estate business can be drafted, submitted, given the necessary public hearings and receive final official action. Meantime, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, as the trade association in the field, has been designated by the NRA administration to pass temporarily on petitions for exemptions to provisions of the blanket code on the part of such real estate firms as find the blanket agreement entails unavoidable hardships.

Kroger-Consumers Lease Store on Wilson Avenue

The Kroger-Consumers company has leased from Francis J. Cuneo the 30x75 store at 1151-53 Wilson avenue, for five years on a minimum guarantee and percentage basis, and will open one of its new type combination market and grocery. Landau & Perlman were brokers.

Premier-Pabst Leases La Salle-Wacker Space

The Premier-Pabst corporation, of which Harris Perlstein is president, has leased approximately 19,000 square feet in the La Salle-Wacker building for a term of years. Dibblee & Manierre and Louis Kanne were brokers.

WORLD'S FAIR CROWDS HELP IN REORGANIZATION

5510 Sheridan Road Has Cash on Hand.

How the World's Fair is indirectly aiding the reorganization of one of Chicago's big apartment buildings by filling vacant suites to a point where the property is making money is told in the refinancing plan just made public for the 17 story 5510 Sheridan Road cooperative apartments. It was announced yesterday that a reorganization may be effected without the negotiation of a new loan, according to a plan formulated by the Garard Trust company bondholders' protective committee.

ALDIS J. BROWNE.

The success of this plan, which provides for the reorganization to be financed from the earnings of the property, hinges upon the assent to the plan by all bondholders with the deposit of all outstanding bonds, which total $583,000, it was stated.

Has Cash on Hand.

For the last several months the property has been exceptionally well rented, owing primarily to the influx of A Century of Progress visitors, and the cash on hand, as of June 30, 1933, totaled $31,247, it is reported.

"Title to this property has been acquired by the committee on behalf of the bondholders, making it possible for the committee to dismiss the foreclosure suit if the bondholders accord the committee a 100 per cent deposit," said William C. Cook, chairman of the committee.

"If the expense of completing foreclosure can be thus eliminated, cash on hand and the net income of the property for the period ending April 30, 1934, are estimated to be sufficient to cover reorganization expenses, including $29,800 in 1930, 1931 and 1932 taxes."

Acquire Stock Control.

Controlling interest in the 5510 Sheridan Road Building corporation, the stock of which was held by tenant owners of this coöperative project, was acquired for the depositing bondholders on Nov. 1, 1931. A total of $12,500 was expended by the committee for the acquisition of this stock and substantial payments on 1930 and 1931 taxes. The balance of the stock is being acquired in return for four year leases given to six tenant owners for their interest in the property.

Title to the holding is to be vested in the Chicago Title and Trust company, as trustee, which will issue certificates of beneficial interest in the trust to the depositing bondholders. The trust is to be administered by three trust managers.

Cromwell Apartments.

The committee also has submitted a reorganization plan for the Cromwell apartments at 5716-18 Winthrop avenue. There are $231,500 bonds outstanding against this eight story building. Foreclosure proceedings have been completed and title is to be vested in the Chicago Title and Trust company, as trustee.

Foreclosure and reorganization expenses and taxes for 1931, 1932 and 1933, totaling approximately $14,125, are to be paid out of a loan of $80,000 in the form of an open mortgage securing notes for ten years at 5 per cent.

OLD HYDE PARK PLAYHOUSE TO BE REMODELED

One of Hyde Park's oldtime cinemas is to come to life. George and Harold Gollos, owners and operators of the Ray theater, at 75th and Exchange, yesterday leased the Hyde Park Theater building at 5312-14 Lake Park avenue for ten years at a reported term rental of $40,800, and, after spending a reported $10,000 in alterations and new equipment, will open the playhouse about Oct. 15. Gerald P. Hanlon of Charles E. Fox & Co. was the only broker. The lease was negotiated with the Chicago Title and Trust company as trustee.

The theater was built in 1913 and was operated for about fifteen years. In 1928 it served as temporary quarters for the Hyde Park-Kenwood National bank while the bank building was under construction. Since 1929 it has been used as a workshop by the Museum of Science and Industry.

ITALY WELCOMES BALBO'S FLYERS HOME AS HEROES

Epochal Mass Ocean Trip to Chicago Ends.

aviator cousin, the duke of Aosta; former King Amanullah of Afghanistan, and United States Ambassador Breckenridge Long were also at the beach landing to greet the flying force.

Long Welcomes Flyers for U. S.

"I congratulate you on the success of the most magnificent flights in the history of the world," said Long in one of the addresses of welcome.

Mussolini, whose ambitions for the aviation wing of his government were realized in the great 12,000 mile round trip, paid the highest personal tributes to Balbo and his men.

The squadron is to be greeted at the royal palace tomorrow by King Victor Emmanuel.

Twenty-five planes set out on the long overseas journey. Two were wrecked in accidents which took two lives, one in Amsterdam harbor in the outward journey, and another at the Azores on the homeward flight. The longest leg of the journey and possibly the most hazardous was a 1,500 mile flight from Iceland to the coast of Labrador. Two long ocean jumps were made in returning, with a stop midway at the Azores.

Chief of Staff Injured.

Gen. Giuseppe Valle, chief of staff of Balbo's aviation ministry, was injured when a plane fell in the sea near Nazaret, Spain, after it had carried him to Lisbon to greet his chief. Valle, who participated in Balbo's 1930 mass flight to South America, speeded back to Rome, however, for the welcoming ceremonies which he was arranging.

The commander of the Fascist air armada, on his heroic return to Rome, was elevated to the rank of air marshal by Il Duce in a decree published tonight. All of the trans-Atlantic flyers were raised one grade in rank, while gold medals of valor were conferred on all officers and silver medals on members of the crew.

Crown Prince Humbert flew down from Naples for the reception of Balbo and his comrades. In the front row of the thousands upon thousands who greeted the airmen in the triumphal line of march from Ostia to Rome were Balbo's wife and his three children, who rushed into his arms as the black bearded aviator crawled from the first plane to land.

Mussolini Bareheaded.

Mussolini was bareheaded and wore the black shirt of the Fascisti. To him, Balbo reported that his plans successfully carried out the first two way ocean mass flight in history.

The first to the vantage points in the Rome reception were the many thousands who stayed at home, on roof tops and in the squares, expecting that the armada would fly over the ancient city before landing at Fiumicino airport.

As the procession of splendor and triumph wound into Rome, fireworks burst into the sky from Palatine hill. "Dux"—the Latin for Il Duce—blazed in electric letters from the hilltop. There was only a brief address from the man who commanded the flight to Chicago—that to the crowd at the Piazza Colonna.

Observing the Fascist rule that Il Duce should do the speaking and get the praise for achievements, Gen. Balbo tersely thanked the crowds for the ovation, and declared:

"We are only modest soliders of a great leader in whose name it is easy and pleasant to achieve victory."

The celebration bade well to continue throughout the night and until the hour tomorrow when King Victor Emmanuel receives the flyers.

PLAN FLIGHT TO STRATOSPHERE IN ABOUT A MONTH

Commander T. G. W. Settle will make a second attempt to reach the stratosphere by balloon flight, probably some time in September, according to officials of The Century of Progress Exposition who are among the sponsors of the flight. The first attempt failed due to a leaky valve.

The gas bag and the gondola, slightly damaged in the descent, are now being repaired. It is believed that such damage as there was will prove to be of a minor nature. Companies aiding in the flight by furnishing materials have announced that they will coöperate fully in the second attempt.

One of the sponsoring companies, the Union Carbide and Carbon corporation, yesterday informed officials of the Fair that they would furnish the necessary hydrogen, together with the liquid oxygen, air, flashlights and batteries. A definite announcement will be made at the conclusion of the tests made on the bag and car.

NAME CHICAGOAN AS ENGINEER FOR PUBLIC WORKS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Wilfred W. De Berard of Chicago, was today named Illinois state engineer for the federal public works administration, completing the state organization which will supervise the spending of federal public works funds in Illinois.

Mr. De Berard, a sanitary, hydraulic and municipal engineer, was recently a member of the regional planning association of Chicago. His appointment was announced by President Roosevelt, through Secretary of Interior Ickes, along with state engineers for each of the other 47 states.

Mr. De Berard will act as executive officer of the state federal public works board recently named for Illinois. It will be his duty to organize state offices, direct personnel, and examine all applications for federal public works financing. The results of his investigation into proposed projects will be submitted to the state advisory board, which, after consideration, will recommend action regarding the projects to Secretary Ickes.

In addition Mr. De Berard is to begin at once to plan a state public works program which will include state projects which can be started immediately.

Engineers appointed for other north central states were as follows:

Indiana, Albert H. Hinkle of Indianapolis, highway engineer.

Michigan, Mortimer E. Cooley, Ann Arbor, former chief engineer U. S. navy.

Wisconsin, James L. Ferebee, Milwaukee, former chief engineer Milwaukee Sewage commission.

WHY PILOTS FLY AS SOON AS THEY CAN AFTER CRASH

Aviators who crash and, if they are able to do so, immediately hop off again in another plane, do so in an effort to avoid mental fears which might develop into psychological handicaps, Dr. George Neuhaus, Omaha, neurologist for the Chicago and North Western railroad, said yesterday in an address before the Congress of Railway Surgeons at the Hotel Sherman.

These handicaps, of various forms, were described by Dr. Neuhaus as "wish illnesses," and are based on unconscious desires to gain some personal advantage or compensation. Some people develop a neurosis or "wish illness," he said, merely to gain sympathy, although the development is purely unconscious. For these reasons, he declared, airplane pilots, especially those in military service, fly again as soon as possible after an accident. They wish to avoid any mental hazards arising from the crash.

Another speaker was Dr. W. P. Wherry, eye specialist for the North Western. Eye cataracts are becoming more common, he said, due probably to high power electric lights. Engineers are frequently subject to cataracts, he said.

BELGIANS PROBE STRATOSPHERE BALLOON BLAST

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BRUSSELS, Aug. 12.—Police began today an investigation in the laboratories of the Solbosch university, where an explosion last evening wrecked a gondola built for the proposed stratosphere flight by Prof. Max Cosyns, who flew to the stratosphere with Prof. Auguste Piccard last year. Experts examined the gondola and instruments to determine the causes of the accident, which resulted in the death of one workman and injuries to two other persons.

Cosyns himself was unhurt, although he was present at the time of the explosion. The pressure tests which resulted in the accident were made at the request of M. L'Hoir, engineer, who constructed the gondola. Prof. Cosyns had noticed that the manhole did not fit perfectly and refused to make the flight.

L'Hoir, who felt that his professional honor was at stake, ordered the tests. Pressure of sixty tons was put on the gondola, a workman hammered the side, and the explosion ensued.

HELD UP ON STREET.

Four men in an automobile yesterday held up Jerome Spicuzza, 3711 West Grand avenue, a commission merchant, at Racine avenue and Harrison street and took $58 in cash and 94 in checks.

NEW PLANES WILL REDUCE AIR TIME TO SOUTHWEST

Air travel time between Chicago and the southwest will be reduced by several hours, effective Tuesday morning, when a fleet of new Boeing air liners is placed in service on that division of United Air Lines. The new schedules will regain for Chicago its position as the gateway to the southwest, since they will provide the most rapid transportation facilities for passengers, air mail, and express between eastern cities and the southwest.

Flying time will be reduced between Chicago and Kansas City from 4 hours to 2½ hours; between Chicago and Wichita, from 6¼ hours to 4¾ hours; between Chicago and Oklahoma City, from 7¾ hours to 6 hours, and between Chicago and Fort Worth, from 9½ to 7½ hours. Passengers leaving Chicago at midnight will be able to reach Oklahoma City and Fort Worth in time for breakfast. The line plans to maintain its two round trips daily on this division.

W. A. Patterson, vice president of the line, said yesterday that the new fast schedules will go far toward strengthening Chicago's trade relations with the southwest. He pointed out that Texas, where the division terminates, is Chicago's third largest purchaser.

SEES REPEAL VICTORY AUG. 19 IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Joseph T. Davis, chairman of the united repeal council of Missouri, predicted tonight that the vote cast in the state's repeal election next Saturday would not exceed 450,000.

He said he and outstate leaders based this number on a 40 per cent ratio compiled on the off year election vote of November, 1930.

The organization's chairman expressed the opinion if the wets are not too optimistic and fail to go to the polls Missouri would give at least a 4 to 1 majority for repeal.

Missouri will be the 22d state to act upon the question.

19 Marine Planes Will Take Part in Races Here

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Nineteen fast marine planes, manned by veteran airmen, will represent the naval services in the international air races at Chicago Sept. 1 to 4. The navy department, in announcing this today, said the navy proper would not enter any heavier than air craft because of scheduled training exercises on the west coast, but that Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle, 1932 winner of the Gordon Bennett balloon race, will represent the bluejackets in the international balloon races.

LINDY AND WIFE END FIRST LEG OF HOP TO ICELAND

Fly Around Southern Tip of Greenland.

ANGMAGSSALIK, Greenland, Aug. 12.—[U. P.]—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here late today after a flight from Julianehaab. They are en route to Reykjavik, Iceland.

The famous flyers made today's flight in good weather. After taking off from Julianehaab, which is on the southwestern coast of Greenland, they flew around the southern tip of the island and up the east coast to Angmagssalik.

Discover New Mountain.

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has reported the discovery in Greenland of a mountain not recorded on maps, and considerably higher than any other previously known to be there. This was announced by officials of the Pan-American Airways, Inc., here today.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh are in Greenland making a survey for a commercial air route to Europe in the interests of the airways company.

Col. Lindbergh also reported finding a fjord, possibly navigable, which did not appear on his charts. The Lindberghs followed the waterway from the coast to its end, more than 100 miles inland.

Discoveries on East Coast.

It is believed that the two discoveries will noticeably alter the appearance of present maps of Greenland.

The mountain, which the report said is higher than either Mount Evans or Mount Forel, both in Greenland, and the fjord, were found on the eastern coast of the island. The mountain is west and slightly north of Scoresby sound, midway along the coast.

The fjord, located in the Blosserville section between Angmagsalik and Scoresby sound, never has been sailed or explored, probably because of ice conditions.

Ousted Chicago Heights Clerk Explains Shortage

Wilbur J. Sadler, who resigned under fire Friday after serving as city clerk of Chicago Heights for 13 years, yesterday explained the shortage of $24,016 in his accounts. Sadler said that the money had been taken from the special assessment fund to cash tax warrants for needy city employés who have not been paid for a year. The warrants cover the entire shortage, Sadler said, but his friends have already made good the money.

Two Killed, Five Injured When Train Leaves Tracks

Salisbury, Md., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Two men were killed and five injured, one probably fatally, in the derailment of a passenger express train of the Pennsylvania railroad near here early today.

Aviation Notes

A new three day record for air travel in and out of Chicago was claimed yesterday by Thomas Wolfe, district traffic manager of United Air Lines, who said that the system has sold space to 970 passengers arriving and departing at Chicago airport this week-end. The heavy air travel being experienced over the entire system is accentuated here because of the Fair, he said, and many requests for space have had to be turned down.

Restrictions on the landing speeds of new fast types of transport planes have been placed in effect by the department of commerce, which is conducting a series of tests at Roosevelt field, New York, to determine the space required by the planes to land. Aviation authorities are looking toward the development of efficient air braking devices to reduce the landing speeds of commercial planes considerably. Some types of such devices are being tested at present.

RUPTURE
Don't submit to avoidable operations or the use of antiquated trusses, as they all set where the lump is and not where the opening is. The opening is seldom larger than a dime, no matter the size of the rupture, and all cases can be retained with the end of a lead pencil. The Spermatic Shield-Complex (Patent No 747247, No. 1237709 and other patents pending), is a scientific achievement in a highly specialized art. It will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Infinitely superior to any instrument method or operation and produces results in no other way obtainable. All cases are secure a lifetime as against any further trouble or expense. Large or difficult cases or incisional rupture (following operations) specifically solicited. This instrument received the only award at the International Medical Congress held in London, England, producing results without surgery, harmful injections, medical treatment or prescriptions. Has been supplied to U. S. Surgeon General's Bureau, U. S. Naval Hospital, Penn. R. R., etc. See booklet on "The Fallacy of Surgical Procedure."

SOX HAMMER TIGERS, 11-2; CUBS LOSE TWO

KRESS KNOCKS 7TH HOME RUN; SIMMONS NO. 13

Rhyne's String of Hits Reaches 6.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The revived White Sox put on a batting spree at Comiskey park yesterday, their work with the wood giving them a 11 to 2 victory over the Detroit Tigers and their third straight in the series which ends this afternoon. The socking included Red Kress' No. 7 homer with one on in the seventh and Al Simmons' No. 13 with two on in the eighth.

Until Cleveland rallied to beat the Browns in the tenth, it appeared the Sox would rise to a virtual tie for a first division berth. As things turned out, however, they remained in the second division, the Indians replacing the Tigers in the first division, a half game ahead of the Sox and Tigers. The extended percentage figures show the Tigers at .47706 and the Sox at .47663.

Rhyne Runs String to Six.

While the Kress and Simmons homers were spectacular, they were superfluous. The hitting of Hal Rhyne, for instance, was much more interesting. The frail utility second baseman made four hits in a row to play a part in three scoring innings. Since Hal had two straight hits after relieving Jack Hayes in Friday's game, he now has an unfinished string of six straight safeties.

Another hitter who socked 'em consistently was Jimmy Dykes. Dykes singled to figure in the two runs in the fourth, he doubled and scored in the sixth, and he doubled again and scored again in the big seventh. Two hit gents in the cast were Haas and Appling.

Sox Like Home Life.

By making it three in a row from the Tigers the Sox blossomed forth as home lovers in their own right. It was their fifth straight win at home since they ended their nine game losing streak, their eighth victory in twelve starts since the losing streak was broken, and their fifth in six played with the Tigers since the first of the month. The Chicagoans now lead the Detroiters, 10 to 9, in the season series.

The Tigers were pretty tame pussy cats even before yesterday's licking. A misinterpretation of the rules by Umpire Dinneen in the fourth inning was not enough to bring Manager Bucky Harris out of the dugout with a formal protest, so low in spirit have the Tigers become.

Well, Well, Umpire's Wrong!

The play probably will be cited in a concerted criticism of lackadaisical umpiring which, it is said, will be made at the next American league meeting, even though it brought no protest yesterday.

In the fourth Dykes was on second and Rhyne was on first with one run in and none down. Dykes tried to steal third and was tagged by Owens after a bouncing throw from Pasek. Umpire Koll called Dykes out, but Umpire in Chief Dinneen sent Dykes back to second and called Berry out for interference, apparently in variance with rule 44, section 5, which reads as follows:

"A batsman is out if he attempt to hinder the catcher from fielding or throwing the ball by stepping outside the lines of the batsman's position, or in any way obstruct or interfere with that player, except that if a base runner attempting to steal is put out the batsman shall not be out."

Dykes afterwards scored on a balk.

Sox Score Without Hit.

After retiring the Tigers in order in the first inning the Sox in their half of the session scored a run without the aid of a hit or error. Swanson pushed off with a walk, went to second on Haas' bunt, stole third, and tallied on Kress' long fly to White. Simmons fouled to Pasek.

The Sox's noble experiment anent operating without an experienced first baseman threw things into something of a jam in the Tiger third. Pasek walked, after which Frasier fanned. Berry's throw to Kress had Pasek trapped off first. Kress, however, turned his back and leaned over first, waiting patiently for Pasek to

Polo's Greatest Teams Play Today in East-West Series

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The first intersectional series in the history of American polo will begin today. At 4:30 p. m. Tommy Hitchcock's eastern team will gallop onto the Onwentsia field to meet a western quartet led by Cecil Smith in the opening match of a three game series.

Riding with Hitchcock, who is America's premier poloist, will be Winston Guest, another veteran of international play. Winston's brother Raymond, and the spectacular Michael Phipps will complete the team upon which the prestige of the east depends.

Roark on Western Team.

Against this powerful squad, Smith will lead the greatest team ever assembled by the west. It will include Aidan Roark, who first rode horses in the green hills of County Carlow, Ireland; Rube Williams, who broke many a broncho on the Texas ranges, and Elmer Boeseke, the only westerner to be picked on the American team which campaigned successfully in Argentina last fall.

According to the ratings of the United States Polo association the teams are almost equal in strength, the east totaling 32 goals and the west 30. But technical ratings will be forgotten when the battle begins.

Chicago Is Polo City.

Matches of the past have brought out the fact that Chicago has a liking for first class polo. Capacity crowds watched the national indoor tournament last April and a large attendance was attracted by the matches between Old Aiken and Argentina which were held at Onwentsia in 1931.

INDIAN RUNNER WINS BATTLE OF ILLINOIS HORSES

At Top Second, Just a Whisker Away.

BY FRENCH LANE.

From down in the turbulent coal mining country of southern Illinois came Indian Runner, a four year old thoroughbred son of Dis Donc-Indian Maiden owned by D. A. Wood of Benton, to win the Illinois Owners' handicap at Hawthorne yesterday afternoon.

By the narrow margin of an inch and with 17,000 spectators thrilled by the spectacular finish, he captured the title of "Champion of Illinois" from At Top, chestnut colored granddaughter of the mighty Man o' War which races for Richard and Patrick Nash's Shandon Farm stable. Polydorus, owned by Abraham Bartelstein and backed by all of Bartelstein's west side neighbors, finished third.

Worth $5,900 to Winner.

Trailing the three leaders home in the race which had a gross value of $9,025 and was worth $5,900 to Owner Wood, were Alderman Coughlin's Camp Douglas and Karl Eitel, the Nash brothers' Evergold, a running companion of At Top; the Strathmore stable's Cathop, Mrs. W. E. Schmidt's Fair Image, and Marmion, owned by the Coldsteam Stud.

The finish was so close half the spectators did not know which horse got the decision until the official numbers dropped into the slots on the big green and white board on the infield. There were boos and jeers for the judges, because the folks who had backed the entry of At Top and Evergold thought they should be allowed to collect.

Third Stake Victory.

It was the third stake victory Indian Runner had scored in Chicago this season. He won the Inaugural handicap at Arlington Park and came back a few days later to beat most of the great handicap stars in the country in the Stars and Stripes handicap. His start yesterday was his second at Hawthorne. In his earlier engagement he wasn't able to finish in the money. It was a sort of disgraceful performance.

While Indian Runner today can shrug his shoulders, pat himself on the chest, and say "look at the champion," he isn't a native of the state. Indian Runner was bred down in old Kentucky on Hal Price Headley's farm near Lexington. It was an accident that he came into the possession of the Benton turf man. Great things were expected of him early in his 3 year old career. He failed many times when the greatest deeds were expected from him. His failures disgusted Mr. Headley, who dropped him into a selling race out of which he was claimed by Wood.

Right from the beginning Indian Runner ran kindly for his new owner. He has picked up about $25,000 for him this season in stakes and purses.

Indian Runner Away in Front.

After a delay of nearly two minutes at the post, Indian Runner was away first when Morrisey gave the field the word. At the clubhouse bend Evergold snatched the lead away from him and raced out into an advantage of two lengths. Indian Runner, well rated by Jockey Tipton, was always second with At Top running third and threatening all the while to take up the issue if Evergold weakened.

It was on the turn into the stretch that Evergold began to slip back. Indian Runner flew on past him and rushed into a lead of two lengths. At the same time At Top began to move

BUT THERE'S NO PAYOFF ON A GOOD START

Folks in the Hawthorne crowd of 17,000 with tickets on Gaillardia to win the third race yesterday cheered when Jockey Eddie Arcaro got the horse away in front and took a good lead as they passed the clubhouse for the first time in a mile and furlong event. That was all the fun Gaillardia's backers had, for Twisted Threads won, White Legs was second, and Sergeant D. third. Twisted Threads completed the daily double, first ball of which was won by Outbound, and which paid $44.22. Photograph shows Gaillardia in front, Sergeant D. second, and Black Fool (No. 5) third. Mayor Kelly (center) presents cup to D. A. Wood of Benton after Wood's horse, Indian Runner, wins Illinois Owners' handicap, and Jockey A. Tipton also comes in for his share of congratulations.

SARAZEN, GOGGIN MEET TODAY FOR PRO GOLF CROWN

BY CHARLES NEVADA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 12—Gene Sarazen will meet Willie Goggin for the Professional Golf association championship over the Blue Mound Country club course tomorrow.

Sarazen, registered from Miami, Fla., entered the title round today by eliminating Johnny Farrell of Mamaroneck, N. Y., 5 and 4, in a 36 hole semi-final match. Goggin, hailing from Selada Beach, Cal., earned the right to oppose Sarazen when he beat Jimmy Hines of Great River, L. I., 1 up.

Sarazen, who won the P. G. A. title in 1922 and 1923, won today because of his superior driving and approaching, departments in which Farrell proved surprisingly ineffective, especially after his brilliant comeback this morning. Sarazen held a 1 up lead at the halfway point and stretched it to 5 up at the end of 27 holes. Farrell never was in the lead.

Putting Beats Hines.

The former United States and British open champion reached the semi-final by eliminating Ed Dudley, Harry Cooper and Vincent Eldred. It was the first time Sarazen and Farrell had met in tournament match play in four years.

Hines' chief trouble was putting. The easterner, who tied Mortie Dutra of Detroit, Mich., for the medal on Tuesday, lost three chances for victory and two opportunities to score halves after the 31st hole. Goggin and Hines were all square on the first 18. Goggin was 2 up at the 27th, only to have Hines square the match and remain on even terms until the 35th. Goggin won this hole with a birdie.

Sarazen Gets Breaks.

Sarazen went 1 up on the 440 yard third this morning, scoring a par four against Farrell's five when Johnny's second found a trap and his first putt stopped short. Sarazen's margin became 2 up on the fourth, where he got a birdie two when he dropped in a 25 foot putt. Both took par fours on the fifth and Sarazen won the sixth when Farrell missed a three foot putt.

Farrell lost the seventh when Sarazen outdrove him and laid a partial stymie.

Farrell began decreasing Sarazen's lead on the 10th hole, where he got

Frankie Refuses to Quit Ball Game; Dies of Fracture

Cleveland, O., Aug. 12.—[U. P.]—The Comrades won the ball game but 12 year old Frankie Palasz, star catcher, lay dead tonight because he refused to stop playing when his skull was fractured.

Frankie was a great catcher, players on the Comrades and their bitter rivals, the Athletics, agreed. They said he was one of the nerviest of the lot.

When Frankie, pressing close to the batter intent on keeping his winning team ahead, was felled by the swinging bat and slumped half conscious to the ground, he got up and took his place again. He laughed when his comrades told him he ought to rest.

It was only after supper last night when Frankie's father, Stanley, began cutting the boy's hair that the fracture at the base of the skull was discovered. Frankie died before a hastily summoned doctor could remove him to a hospital.

BROWNS ACQUIRE HEMSLEY FROM REDS IN TRADE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Acquisition on waivers of Rollie Hemsley, catcher, from the Cincinnati Reds was announced tonight from the St. Louis American league club headquarters here as Manager Rogers Hornsby's first move in strengthening the Browns for next year.

At the same time, Catcher Jack Crouch of the Browns goes to the Reds on waivers. The trade is effective immediately.

Hemsley played under Hornsby while with the Chicago Cubs, and the new pilot of the Browns, in commenting on the trade, said "Rollie is a whale of a catcher." With Cincinnati, he [illegible] year.

PAINE SAILS TO CHALLENGE WOOD FOR SPEED TITLE

(AP)—Telling his well wishers that "the odds are against me but I will bring the trophy back to England," Hubert Scott Paine today sailed on the Empress of Britain with his speed boat, Miss Britain, to challenge Gar Wood for the Harmsworth trophy.

"When I return from Detroit, I will make extensive alterations on the design of the hull of Miss Britain and then attack the world's speed record," said Scott Paine. "For the present I've sought only for sea worthiness to meet the conditions of the international competition."

The deadlock between Heinie Manush and Joe Cronin of Washington for last place in the Big Six and third among the American league batsmen was broken yesterday as Cronin failed to get a hit against Boston and dropped back, while Manush managed to hold his .338 average with one hit in three times up.

Jimmie Foxx set the pace for the sextet but didn't change his .356 second place average as he made four hits in eleven times up. Al Simmons fell back a point to .353, while Chuck Klein and Bill Terry lost four apiece as neither could get a hit in four tries. The standing:

PIRATES DROP BRUINS TO FIVE GAMES BEHIND

Hal Smith's Magic Arm Works Again.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12.—The road complex engulfed the Cubs again today and for the time being their pennant ambitions are rudely crushed. They folded up twice in their double header with the Pirates and dropped back into third place, where they are removed from the pace making Giants by five games. The scores were 5 to 2 and 3 to 2. And the figures show 10 defeats in the Cubs' last 11 starts away from Wrigley field.

The Chicagoans can blame the big portion of their day's misfortunes on their own jittery conduct afield. Mechanical errors in the first game by Pat Malone, the starting pitcher, and Ki Cuyler gave the Pirates the opening through which they rushed the four runs that decided the tussle. And blunders in judgment by young Billy Campbell and Charley Root served the same purpose for the Pirates in the second fight. These mistakes led to a pair of enemy runs and cost Root a victory in a well pitched game.

Smith Fools 'Em Again.

The Cubs couldn't transact much business in the first game because of the presence of Hal Smith, their newly created nemesis. He whipped them for the third straight time in a period of two weeks and had them blanked on four hits today until the eighth, when they dodged the added humiliation of a shutout.

The big fellow was particularly painful to Ki Cuyler and the illustrious Babe Herman, who had thought he was in the midst of a big hitting revival. The Babe was blanked in four attempts and Cuyler failed to connect until his last appearance, when he singled. Smith also fanned each of them once, but in this particular, Gabby Hartnett was the chief victim. He fanned twice, not to mention hitting into a double play.

Waste Hits in Second.

There was no scarcity of Cub hits in the second battle and this made the proceedings all the more painful to Root, who kept the Pirate attack down to a minimum. The Chicagoans carried on in the first half of the game as if they would surely eliminate Heinie Meine as a participant. They showered him with eight hits in the first four innings and out of this mess could extract only one run. Then they didn't produce any more hits until the last two innings, when they raised their total to 12.

FIRST GAME

Malone's second inning, in which one scored, could easily have been worse. The Pirates filled the bases with none out. Vaughan started the rumpus with a pass. Traynor tapped in front of the plate and beat it for a hit because neither Hartnett nor Malone was speedy enough to handle the fielding of the ball. The bags became populated on a walk to Suhr. Cuyler grabbed Piet's wicked liner and Vaughan scored after the catch. Further embarrassment was avoided for Malone temporarily when Finney bounced to Jurges for a double play.

Malone showed the Pirates something real in the way of pitching for the next three innings, but when P. Waner led off in the sixth with a single to center the storm broke. Lindstrom bunted and was safe at first when Malone threw wide. Vaughan bounced into a force out [illegible] one more ball before retiring, but it certainly precipitated a lot of action.

Cuyler Makes Throwing Error.

Traynor smacked this one pitch for a single to center to score P. Waner. Lindstrom raced to third on the hit and Cuyler threw there to get him. The ball was thrown away from English and rolled to the stand. Lindstrom [illegible] to the plate and Traynor took third on the error. Henshaw stepped into the Fitzsimmons Ends Losing Streak; Hits Double.

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Big Fred Fitzsimmons broke his losing streak that had lasted since July 1 by whitewashing the Phillies to give the Giants a 2 to 0 victory today. Fitzsimmons yielded only five hits. It was the 19th shutout recorded by the Giant pitching staff this season. Fitzsimmons' batting helped win his own game. He clouted a double in the second after Blondy Ryan had singled. The runner reached third and scored on Hughey Critz's base hit. Frank O'Doul's eleventh homer of the season accounted for the other run in the third. Score:

Tigers Play Last Chicago Game Today with Sox

The Detroit Tigers will say farewell to Chicago for 1933 after this afternoon's single game at Comiskey park. Vic Sorrell is slated to pitch for the visitors. Manager Fonseca will chose between Durham and Heving.

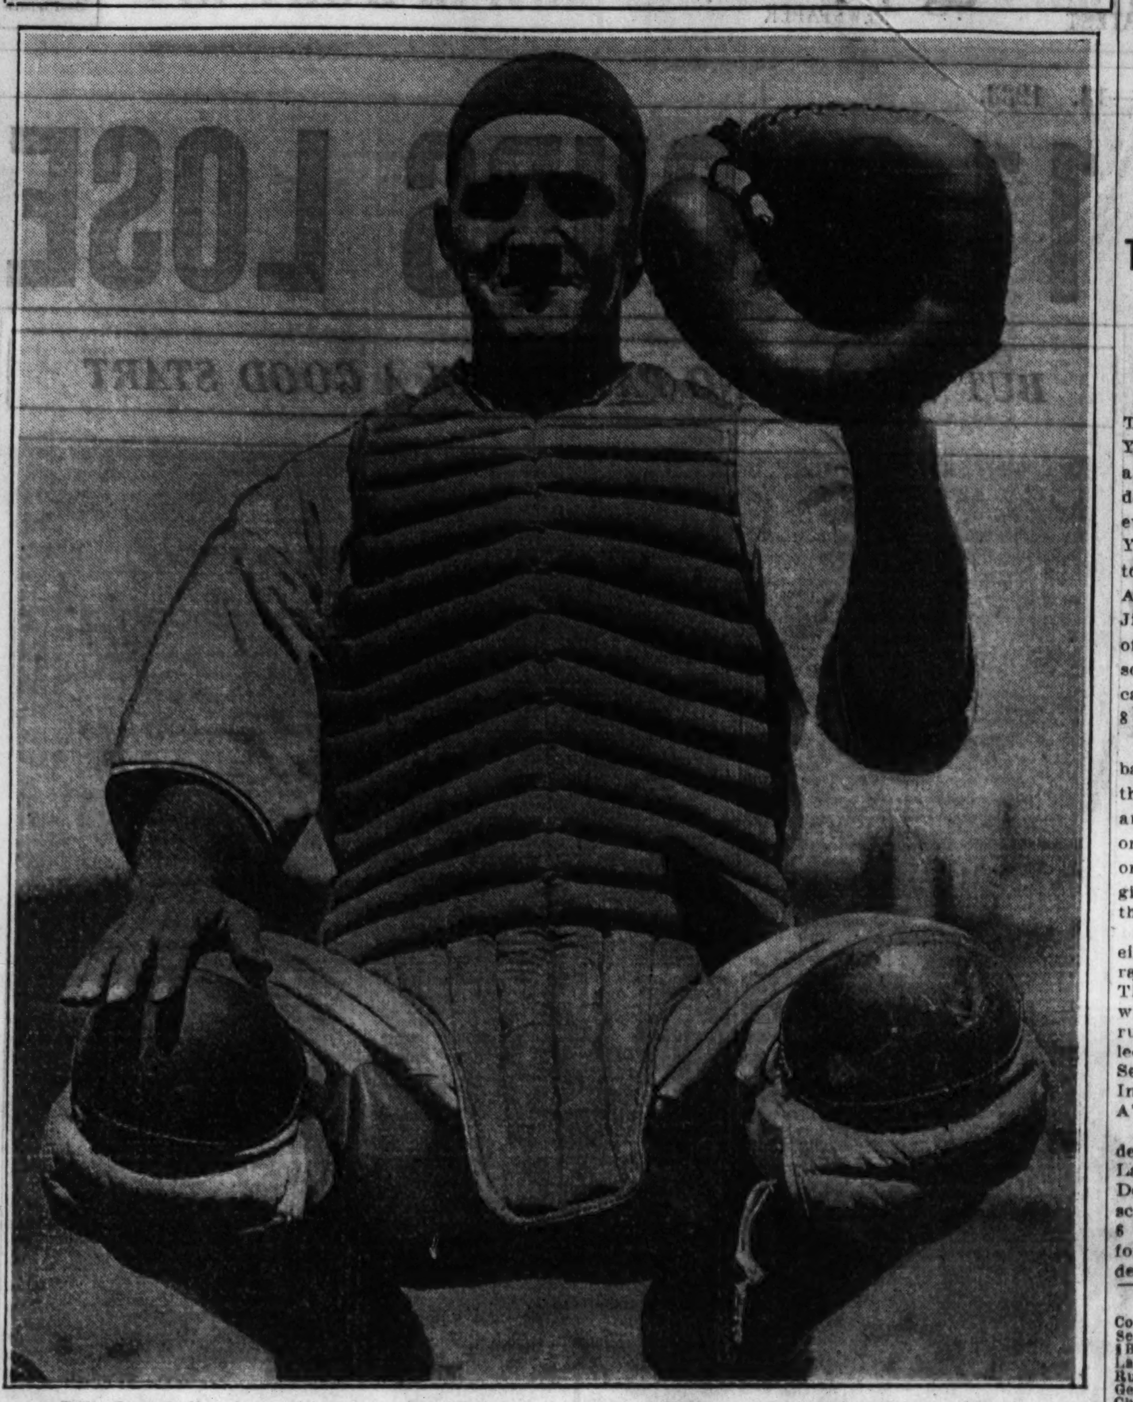
After today the Sox will see no more of the Tigers until Labor day, when they stop off on the way to Washington to wind up the season's card with a pair of games.

When Hal Rhyne relieved Jack Hayes in Friday's game he had a total of nine hits for the season. And now he has joined the select group of hitters batting .375 with an unfinished string of six straight singles since he came back to work.

Umpire Bill Dinneen, when he's bearing down, is one of the best umpires in the majors. Man and boy, umps and player, Bill has been in the American league almost as long as there has been an American league. You can't expect an old timer to pick up a rule book for his light reading.

The Sox tomorrow will enjoy their last day off in quite a spell. On Tuesday the league leading Senators will come to town, determined to get even for three out of four the Sox socked them on the last eastern trip.

"C'MON, BOY, THROW IT ACROSS!"



Bill Campbell, of the Louisiana Campbells, suh, is understudying Gabby Hartnett in the Cubs' catching department and is doing a good job of it. The experts predict a great future for Bill.

Warneke Picked to Stop Pirates at Wrigley Field

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12.—The Cubs and Pirates rode back to Chicago tonight to play one game at Wrigley field tomorrow. Lon Warneke will start for the Cubs and Steve Swetonic for the Pirates, although the latter selection is subject to change.

Babe Herman let a third strike go past when he made his first appearance against Smith in the second inning of the first game. He yelled to Umpire McGrew about the decision and the crowd immediately "got on" the Babe. They booed him through the remainder of the afternoon.

The Cubs will leave Chicago immediately after tomorrow's game and reach Boston Monday evening. Their eastern tour opens at Braves' field Tuesday afternoon.

slide into the ball. Pasek was more alert than Red, however, and started pedaling for second. Kress waited and waited for Pasek to return and be tagged, but after a while began to get suspicious. It was then that he discovered that Pasek was on second, with credit for a stolen base. Rogell caromed a shot off Gaston's glove for the first Tiger hit, Pasek stopping at third. Owen then hit into a double play.

Tigers Tie It Up.

The Tigers tied the score in the fourth. Stone tripled to center with one down. Gaston struck out White and got two strikes on Doljack. Then Frank used the big one for a single to center, scoring Stone. Greenberg flied to Haas.

The Sox resumed the lead in their end of the fourth. Appling opened with a single to center and stopped at second on Dykes' single back of second. Rhyne followed with a single to center, Appling scoring and Dykes stopping at second. Dykes attempted to steal third and was tagged by Owen on Pasek's bouncing throw. Umpire Dinneen, however, waved Dykes back to second and called Berry out for interference. Gaston walked, filling the bases.

The Sox protested that Frasier was using a balk motion, but Umpire Dinneen did not allow the claim at the time. Swanson fanned. While Frasier was pitching to Haas he tried the motion again and this time Dineen called it a balk, Dykes walking home and the other two runners advancing. Haas flied to White.

Pasek led off the fifth with the first of his doubles and stopped at third on Frasier's single to center. He scored while Rogell was forcing Frasier. Rogell was caught stealing. Owen walked and went to third on Gehringer's single to right. Stone ended it with a fly to Haas.

On Ice in Seventh.

Dykes led off the sixth with his first double and stopped at third on Rhyne's single. He scored while Berry was hitting into a double play. Frasier threw out Gaston.

It ceased to be a contest in the Sox seventh, a single by Haas, Kress' homer, a walk to Simmons, a single by Appling, Dykes' second double, and Rhyne's fourth hit of the game, accounting for four runs. Hogsett relieved Frasier and Berry flied to Doljack.

The Sox added three runs in the eighth on singles by Swanson and Haas and Simmons' homer into the left field stand.

the uprising and Suhr whistled a drive to right center for three bases, Traynor scoring. Piet bounced one back at the tiny southpaw, who deflected the ball through short for a double, Suhr scoring. Piet was out trying to steal third and Finney flied to Cuyler.

English, who doubled with one out in the third and went to third on an infield out, was the only Cub able to pass second against Smith's pitching until the eighth when the Chicagoans kicked up their belated fuss. After two were out Mosolf batted for Henshaw and dropped a Texas league single in short center. English survived on a pass. Billy Herman lined a single to left to send Mosolf home. Cuyler's drive took an unexpected hop in front of Vaughan and bounced into left for a single, English scoring and Billy Herman taking third. Then Babe Herman flied to Baby Waner.

SECOND GAME

Only one hit was gleaned from Root's delivery in the first inning of the second game, but it was of sufficient length to produce a run. Paul Waner banged a three bagger past Cuyler with one out. Lindstrom flied to Babe Herman and the Babe whipped the ball to the plate, but not in time to prevent Waner from scoring.

The series of mishaps in the Pirates' second, when two scored, started on Traynor's hit which Jurges grabbed back of second. Suhr bunted in front of the plate and Campbell tried to catch Traynor at second, but the throw was late. Piet also bunted and this time Root tried to force Traynor at third. Umpire McGrew ruled the runner safe, and there was much heated oratory from Manager Grimm. That filled the bases with none out. Two runners counted on Grace's single to right. Root set down the next three men.

Hits Don't Mean a Thing.

The Cubs devoted their first three innings to a demonstration of how to waste hits. Cuyler singled in the first with two out and Babe Herman hoisted to right. Stephenson and Campbell led off with singles in the second and nothing happened. In the third English singled for a starter, and with one out Cuyler doubled to left, English stopping at third. The best Babe Herman could do in this situation was pop to Suhr. Stephenson hit one well enough, but Suhr made a snappy pickup and threw to Meine to end the inning.

It took three hits in the fourth to get the Cubs their first run. Campbell opened with a single. Grimm was thrown out at first. Jurges singled to left to send Campbell home. Root then doubled down the left field line, Jurges stopping at third. English was thrown out by Vaughan and while this was going on Jurges thought he could sneak home from third. Suhr whipped the ball to Grace and Jurges' scheme fell flat.

Visions of Tie Fade.

After the Cubs had suffered through three hitless innings, Billy Herman opened the eighth with a single to left. Cuyler singled to center and for a few moments the Cubs had visions of a tie score, but they were deceived. Babe Herman followed instructions by sacrificing. Vaughan threw out Stephenson and Billy Herman scored. Cuyler expired on third when Campbell hoisted to Floyd Waner.

The Cubs let loose another peep in the ninth, but it wasn't enough. Jurges singled after Grimm had been set down on a fly to left. Hendrick swung for Root and flied to right. Then English poked a single past first, sending Jurges to third, but Billy Herman ended it with a fly to center.

YANKEES DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH ATHLETICS

Take Second 8-6 After Losing Opener, 11-9.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Athletics and the New York Yankees battered each other all around Shibe park in both games of a doubleheader today, winding up in an even break which left the second place Yanks 4½ games behind the Washington Senators, who won one game. The A's won the opener, 11 to 9, when Jimmie Foxx clouted his second homer of the game and his 34th of the season in the tenth inning. The Yanks came back to take the second game, 8 to 6.

The first contest was a home run battle all the way. Frank Crosetti of the Yanks also clouted two homers and Bob Johnson and Sam Byrd hit one apiece. Tony Lazzeri cracked the only home run of the second game to give the Yanks an early lead, which they promptly tossed away.

Foxx smacked his first homer in the eighth, when the A's staged a six run rally that all but won the first game. The Yanks came back in the ninth when Crosetti lifted his second home run into the stands, Earl Combs tripled and Byrd, pinch hitting for Joie Sewell came through with a homer. In all, Foxx knocked in five of the A's runs.

In the second clash Danny MacFayden failed to hold the three run lead Lazzeri's homer gave him, but Charley Devens came in after the A's had scored twice in the sixth to take a 6 to 4 lead and pitched two hit ball for the last 3 2-3 innings to get the decision over George Earnshaw. Score:

SENATORS, 2; RED SOX, 1.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The slugging of Ossie Bluege and Buddy Myer today enabled the Washington Senators to beat the Red Sox, 2 to 1, and make a clean sweep of their three game series with Boston. The victory gave Earl Whitehill his fifteenth victory in twenty-one starts.

Whitehill and Bob Weiland engaged in an exciting duel until the eighth inning, when Myer started the Senators' winning rally with a long triple down the left field foul line. He broke the 1 to 1 deadlock by scoring after the catch on Manager Joe Cronin's long fly to right. Bluege's homer over the left field fence with one out and none on tied the score in the fifth. NATIONAL LEAGUE HOPES SENATORS WILL TAKE FLAG

Giants, Pirates, et Al, Out to Dodge Yankees.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12.—If moral support from the rival major means anything, the Washington Senators shouldn't have any trouble beating the field to the wire in the American league race.

The National league isn't pulling for the Senators because of any particular friendship. There's a selfish motive back of it and you can hardly blame the boys in the older circuit. They don't want the New York Yankees in the world series. Recall what the Y^nks have done to the Cards, Cubs, and Pirates in recent years and you have the answer. They would probably do it again, despite the infirmities that have overcome them.

Of the present National league contenders the Giants comprise the only club that has no reason to be particularly fearful of the Yanks. The Giants beat them in 1921 and '22, but were beaten in '23. And the funny part of it is that the team the Yanks want to win is the Giants. They want to find out for themselves whether the Giant pitchers are as good as they ha'e appeared in the current National league race.

Yanks Win 12 in Row.

The Pirates had their fill of the Yankee prowess in 1927, when the American league maulers dusted off the National league champions in four straight games. The fall before that the Yanks had lost to Rogers Hornsby's St. Louis Cardinals in seven games. And after taking the four in a row from the Pirates the Yanks followed up with four equally decisive games in the 1928 series with the Cardinals.

Last fall the Babe Ruth crowd, after being out of the series for three years, came back and did another four day act at the expense of the Cubs. That gave the Yanks a record of 12 consecutive world series victories. Little wonder that the National league is concentrating its rooting on the Senators.

Senators Have Less Power.

The Senators would be a more suitable opponent for the National league for the simple reason that it is a team of less power. It's a team that doesn't cause much concern by its home run skill. That's where the Yankees specialize. A pitcher is never safe with them. Four or five men in that lineup a.. likely to crack a ball out of the park without warning. A pitcher has to think of this all the time. After keeping it in mind for about five innings he has about worn himself threadbare. And the Yanks immediately begin to knock him right from under his own cap.

The Senators, not having the power of the Yanks, can't afford to make many mistakes. They do not, as a rule, have sufficient lead to be protected against the damage done by fielding blunders. And they do make their share of mistakes. There have been many days this season when they appeared the worst team in the league. The Yanks can have those off days, and frequently win in spite of their faults. They simply smash the ball and drive in more runs than they give away.

Cubs Weakest of Four.

There is a wide difference of opinion as to which of the four contending clubs in the National would be the best to assume responsibility in the next world series. The Cubs probably would prove the weakest of the four, especially if they had to play the Yanks. There would be a psychological factor operating against the Cubs, and they'll probably be the same lost sheep they were last fall. Against the Senators the Cubs would have a good chance because of their pitching.

For a Yankee foe the Cardinals probably would be the best selection. It is a team with a lot of spunk, has been through the mill, and can collect more runs than its usually efficient pitching requires. The Pirates hardly have enough pitching to combat the Yankee long ball hitters. The Pirates also are inclined to go haywire at intervals. Both these teams should be able to give the Senators a battle, if not beat them.

Logans, Mills Renew Rivalry in Two Today

When the Logan Squares and the Mills team clash this afternoon in a double header at Mills stadium it will be a meeting of old time rivals of Chicago's semi-pro circle.

The Mills team is now leading in the pennant race of the Wisconsin-Illinois league. The Logans are in fourth place and hardly expect to fight their way to the top, but they are in shape now to make a lot of trouble for the leaders.

Aside from the old time rivalry of the teams, the games have an added attraction in that two old timers and two young fellows, all with major league experience, will do the pitching. For the Logans in one game will be Big Jim Vaughan, the one time left-hander of the Cubs. He is to be opposed by Lefty Sullivan. Years ago Sullivan was with the White Sox.

In the other game Malcolm Moss of the Logans, formerly with the Cubs and Los Angeles, is to pitch against Gordon McNaughton, recently with the Red Sox.

The Madison Blues will be battling the Duffy Florals at Shewbridge field for second place. The Duffys have been going at a rapid pace for six weeks. Madison can take the lead by winning two games if the Mills lose two.

WISE DAUGHTER TAKES SARATOGA $8,000 SPECIAL

Beats Singing Wood by Three Lengths.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—For the third year in succession, a filly proved better than the smartest colts when Wise Daughter was a decisive winner today of the Saratoga Special, the sporting sweep in which the victor takes all. Breaking fast, the daughter of Wise Counsellor and Wise Mother carried the F. A. Burton silks swiftly to the front and never thereafter left the result in doubt. The largest crowd of the meeting, about 10,000 persons, saw the 31st running of the event.

At the end of the six furlongs she was three lengths in front of Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Singing Wood, with Warren Wright's Hadagal a length farther back in third place. The winner was the only filly in the race. Back of the placed horses the other colts were Kawacoe, Peace Chance, Black Buddy, Sir Thomas, and Sainted, which finished as named.

Wins $8,000 and Gold Cup.

The prize was $8,000 and a gold cup presented by the Saratoga association. This brings Wise Daughter's winnings to $21,540 in 15 starts, nine of which she has won. Four other times she finished in the money. The time today over a fast track was 1:12 3-5 with the filly carrying the scale weight of 119 pounds. She was the 11 to 5 favorite.

In the Merchants and Citizens handicap there was a surprise when Dark Secret from the Whitley stable won at 7 to 1. Dark Secret was an easy winner by three lengths over Joseph E. Widener's 3 year old Golden Way. A length farther back, Mrs. John D. Hertz's Watch Him landed the show.

Winner Gets $2,750.

The purse to the winner was $2,750 and it gave Trainer James Fitzsimmons a double on the day. William Woodward's Revere, saddled by Fitzsimmons, won the first race. Hank Mills had the leg up on both horses.

The New Deal: Race Horse Is Sold for $25

Horses sold at very low prices in an auction in the paddock at Hawthorne at noon yesterday. The Audley Farm stable disposed of seven, but the new low mark was reached when Honorine, from L. M. Severson's stable, brought only $25. H. Wittmark was the buyer.

Vin Noir, a 2 year old which never has started, went to L. Decarlo for $500. C. S. Bancroft paid $300 for Urchin and the same horseman took Seven Up for $250. Charles Yates bought Centennial for $430. Sally Forth was knocked down to Dave Nugent for $410. O. Waskow took American Queen for $420 and Lazy Lad for $70.

Outbound and Twisted Threads won the second and third races at Hawthorne yesterday. They completed a daily double which paid off at $44.22. Westrope rode Outbound and Kacala was in the saddle on Twisted Threads.

Mr. Severson, whose Honorine brought only $25 in the paddock auction, found something to smile about later on in the afternoon when his fleet mare Volta Maid beat Mrs. Emil Denemark's Burning Up and the Nash brothers' Grand Prince in the fourth race at 6½ furlongs.

The favorite players in the big crowd made a fine start when Postscript and Outbound won the first two races for them.

A big shout went up when the result of the Saratoga Special was announced by Pat Horgan. The cheering came because Wise Daughter, owned by Fred A. Burton of Chicago, won it, with Hadagal, from Warren Wright's stable of Chicago, third. Apparently these Chicago owned juveniles are going places this year.

LeRoy Cunningham, who has steered home many winners on Chicago tracks in the last couple of racing seasons, has packed up his tack and gone home to Paul, Idaho. He was forced to retire by his failure to make weight. Cunningham can't get below 115 pounds and is still growing.

Charley Bidwill's Will Cress fell during the morning workouts, broke a shoulder, and had to be destroyed. M. Wimmer, the exercise boy, was not seriously injured in the spill.

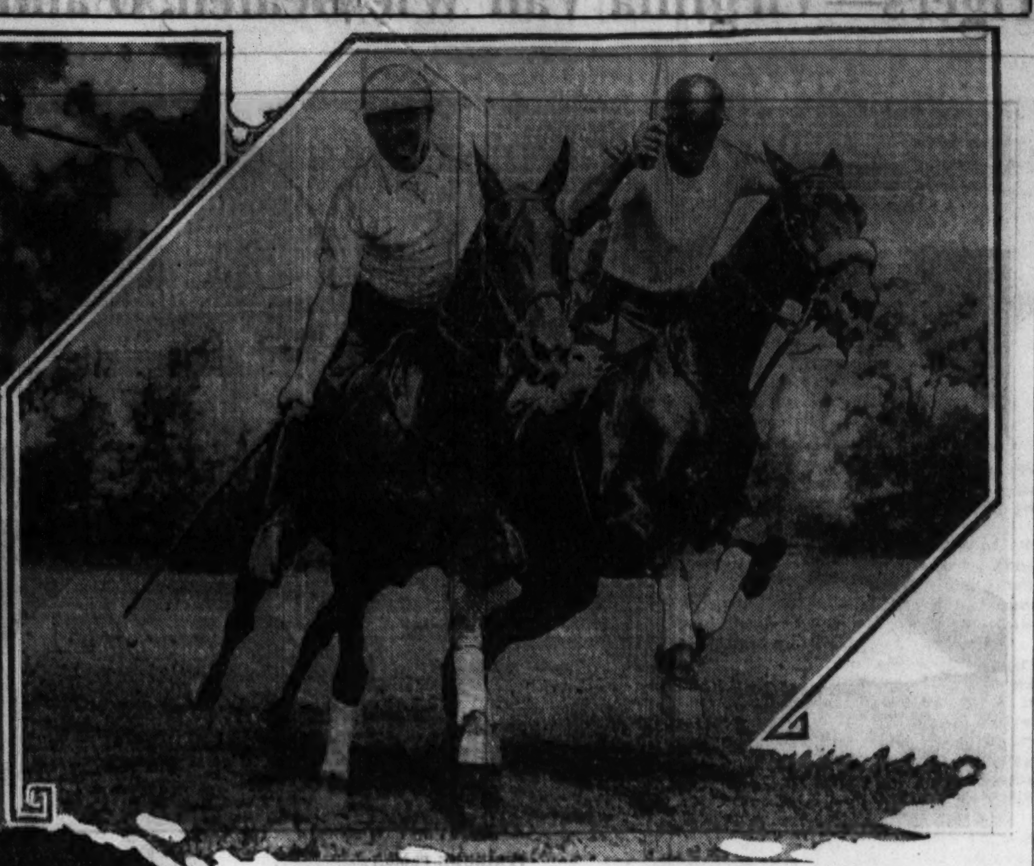
IN POLO'S WORLD SERIES

Elmer Boeseke of Santa Barbara, Cal., and his Argentine pony, Chapo, warm up for east-west polo series which starts this afternoon at the Onwentsia club in Lake Forest. Boeseke will play with the western team.



Cecil Smith (left) and Rube Williams, Texas cowboy stars of western team, battle for ball.

Tommy Hitchcock, the world's greatest polo player, who is rated at 10 goals, tries spectacular shot in practice for the east-west series. Hitchcock is captain of the easterners and is expected to be their brightest star. Today's game will mark Hitchcock's first appearance on a Chicago polo field.

man of the managing committee of the series, has pointed out that polo authorities rate the eastern and western teams which will play today as the two greatest in the world. Close followers of the game say that England, India or Argentina would be unable to muster a quartet which could cope with either one. These matches, therefore, have been called polo's world's sereis.

Smith Rated at 9 Goals.

Smith and Williams are typical products of the western school of polo. Both were raised in the cattle country near Llano, Tex. Together they improved their skill at polo until Smith is now the only nine goal man in the country, ranking just below Hitchcock. Williams is rated at seven goals.

One of the greatest attractions of the tournament will be Hitchcock himself, who has a record such as few sportsmen of any kind can duplicate. He was rated at ten goals in 1922 and has remained at the top without interruption since that time. Even William T. Tilden could not match that record. Babe Ruth approximates it in the opinion of some sport followers and outstrips it in the estimation of others.

It was thought at first that the westerners would be at a great disadvantage due to inferior mounts. But many of the leading breeders of that section have loaned their best horses to their team, so that many critics now rate the ponies of the westerners practically equal to those of the easterners.

Chicago will have a horse on the field—Texas Beauty, a 9 year old mare which Jim Hannah of Oak Brook has loaned to Cecil Smith. Jose Reynal, a member of the Argentina team, which played at Onwentsia in 1931, pronounced this pony one of the best he had ever seen in an international match.

Alternates Are Ready.

Each team will be backed up with capable alternates, Neil McCarthy being held in reserve by the West and Earle A. S. Hopping and William Post by the East.

Wesley J. White, who has officiated at many international matches, will be one of the umpires and E. W. Hopping, father of the eastern alternate player, will be the other. F. Skiddy von Stade will be the referee.

The western team will be directed by Carleton F. Burke, who has been described as a "20 goal manager" by Louis E. Stoddard, chairman of the United States Polo association. Hitchcock will be in full charge of the eastern team.

Room for 15,000.

Stands with a seating capacity of 15,000 await the crowds which will assemble at Onwentsia. The entire eastern side of the field has been set aside for general admission seats. Free parking space for 8,000 automobiles will be provided on the grounds. Railroads are offering special rates to Lake Forest for the occasion.

The lineups follow:

Thomas Hitchcock	No. 2	Elmer Boeseke
Winston Guest	No. 3	Cecil Smith
Raymond Guest	Back	R. W. Williams

Alternates—East: E. A. S. Hopping, William Post; West: Neil McCarthy.

Indian Runner Wins Illinois Owners' Race

up, and was going so stoutly at the end it appeared she might have won in a couple of more strides. Polydorus, which had been far back and was weakly ridden by Jockey George Woolf, began to run when it was too late, but he did manage to get up in time to beat Camp Douglas out of third money.

The others were badly strung out along the home stretch. Indian Runner packed 126 pounds, the top weight of the party, and ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:46, which was good time from the standing start.

Indian Runner ruled as a slight favorite over Polydorus and paid $6.22 to win, $4.62 to place, and $3.40 to show. At Top paid $5.36 to place and $3.12 to show. Polydorus' show price was $3.06.

After the race Owner Wood entertained the owners of the horses which his steed had beaten at a dinner in the Hawthorne clubhouse.

Miss Melody Wins.

In another spectacular finish, Miss Melody, from Stuyvesant Peabody's stable, won the Pickwick purse, a dash of six furlongs. Her margin of victory was not much more than an inch over the Nash brothers' Minton. Mr. Sponge, big sprinter from the east carrying 120 pounds, landed in third place.

Miss Melody had a lot of backers. In the mutuels she paid $6.08. Westrope rode her to the victory. The Peabody filly was in with the featherlike impost of 92 pounds.

MARIANNA WINS AT ROCKINGHAM AS MEET CLOSES

Salem, N. H., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The 3 year old bay filly Marianna, the $50,000 Hambletonian stake candidate of H. Stacey Smith of Newark, N. J., today gained her first Rockingham park victory during the closing program of the grand circuit's Salem meeting.

Marianna turned in a 2:06 mile to capture the opening heat of a classified trot, but was nosed out in the six furlong dash when Harry Brusie drove Calumet Derby up from seventh place.

Three double victories were turned in during the last day of light harness racing.

The roan mare, Calumet Anne, owned by I. W. Gleason of Williamsport, Pa., repeated in another classified trotting event and the bay gelding, Mat D., carrying the colors of P. J. Downey of Worcester, gave an impressive performance in the handicap trot. This son of Joe Wilson, driven by Vic Fleming, was set back 90 feet on his first start and an additional 30 feet was added to his handicap as a result of his first heat victory. His second triumph was even easier than his first, for he was timed in 2:06 and 2:08¼. Summaries:

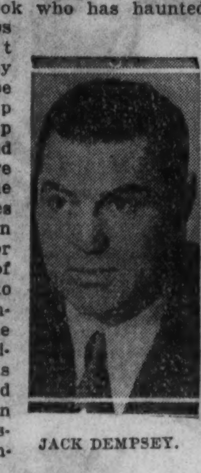
NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—It is possible that, if all business, including journalism, is to be strictly regulated by the United States government and public opinion, the literary spook who has haunted the press coops and the sport pages for many years will be forced to pick up his chains, wrap his shroud around him, and retire to the tomb. The various codes which have been formulated for various lines of work seem to have, among other purposes, the object of eliminating all sorts of fakery and misrepestation and of suppressing unfair competition.



JACK DEMPSEY.

Unless it be the vaudeville business, which was beset for years before it died by a class of theatrical June bugs, including successful murderesses straight from eight big weeks in the courtroom, prize fighters, swindlers, and a great variety of other merely notorious characters, the business of writing down one little word after another has suffered most of all from this sort of competition.

In vaudeville, following the initiative of the late Oscar Hammerstein, who brought to Broadway a young woman whose drawing powers derived from her involvement in an unusually smelly southern murder, the unfortunate actors, singers, acrobats, and trained seals found themselves presently compelled to divide their work regularly with hit-and-run performers of the same general type.

Newspapers Can Blame Themselves.

In the newspaper business it has been the same, except that in journalism, more often than not, some regular journeyman on the staff performed the work which imparted a false appearance of merit to the interloper. These frauds included all the heavyweight champions in succession, many of the other champions, cheap preachers, defendants in murder cases, famous hoodlums and, of course, a great number of baseball and football players and coaches, jockeys, tennis and golf celebrities, and even a number of managers of fighters.

There is no doubt that the newspapers themselves were responsible for the fouling of their own trade with such counterfeit. Come world series time, one paper or syndicate would buy up the signature of one famous illiterate and assign a staff man to interview him, if necessary, for some thoughts to be written under his name. To meet this competition which, to the discredit of the average intelligence, had a recognized circulation value, the rival paper or syndicate would pick up another hairy ape and go to press with a pretense equally absurd, if not more so. In recent years these momentary and vicarious journalists have included even the wife of one world series player and the five year old son of another.

The spook, or forgers, were well enough pleased, for they were workmen and the business of writing under anybody's name was just a job to them. During one of Jack Dempsey's appearances in court he testified that he did not always trouble to read the pieces which were supposed to have been written by him, and the journalist who had done his forging for him for several years announced, with pride, that there had been one period in his career when he was writing pieces under the names of nineteen widely associated public characters.

Ghost Gets Gypped at Payoff Window.

Usually the famous or notorious person in question receives much more money for the use of his or her name than the ghost receives for writing the copy. Babe Ruth and Dempsey, two of the most prolific and prosperous absentee authors for years, have made much more income from this effortless journalism than a first class newspaper reporter covering the lead local story or the big Washington story would have the effrontery to expect.

I was Babe Ruth's ghost ten years ago, writing not only his pieces but standing a trick on a rewrite battery as well, for less than half the money which he was paid for the use of his name and fame. He afterward ran his earnings from the newspapers up to a much higher figure, and it is my assumption that if this sort of practice were to be discontinued entirely the amount of money which is annually expended on such journalistic tripe would be spread around among the members of the newspaper craft, and would contribute no little toward the realization of President Roosevelt's plan.

It's Worse When They Write Their Own.

However, the fraudulent or ghosted material is not the only copy which is subject to complaint as unfair competition. There are some athletes, notably tennis stars, who insist upon writing their own stuff. It is uniformly pretty bad work, or just mediocre at the very best, and if the same copy were turned in by a regular staff man it would attract no attention as superior journalism. But, the amateur tennis player is usually a very shrewd and greedy trader. The pay, which is rated in proportion to the player's celebrity, is much higher than a newspaper writer would receive for turning out precisely the same copy.

The entire Roosevelt family, with no exceptions that I can think of except Sistie and Buzzie, has been writing diligently in competition with the professional writers ever since the election returns came in, and you may be interested to know that Uncle Louie Howe, the presidential secretary, who has overlooked no bets himself, made some very good terms for the writing Roosevelts.

I now see that even Mr. Farley, the postmaster general, has authored some literature on the air mail service for a magazine. In five months he becomes an expert.

Nearly all of the early list of contenders hail from Chicago, but there are several from cities outside the metropolitan district.

Dick Wunschel of Davenport, Ia., is one of the youngsters who will make the trip to Chicago in search of a gold medal emblematic of swimming supremacy. Dick is entered in class A, for boys 11 and 12 years of age. He will compete for the Davenport natatorium.

La Salle Boys Enter.

Among the first team entries received is that of six boys from La Salle, Ill. All will compete in class C, for boys 15 and 16 years of age. The La Salle boys are Joe Kendzierski, Emil Allen, Joe Lijewski, Stanley Iwaszek, Leonard Liss, and Edward Kowanski.

There are ten races, five for boys and five for girls. Gold medals will be the awards for the winners, while silver and bronze medals will be the prizes for second and third places in all events. In addition, two team trophies are offered, one for girls and the other for boys. Points will be counted in all races as follows: Five points for first place, three points for second, and one point for third place.

All Amateurs Eligible.

Any amateur swimmer is eligible, except that those who hold championships must compete in the next higher age division. The age classifications, which apply to both boys and girls, follow:

Class C—15 and 16 years of age.
Class D—17 and 18 years of age.

Safeguard Contestants.

Lifeguards from Lincoln park and American Red Cross life saving examiners will safeguard contestants at the 100 yard course as they have in other years. All contestants will receive their numbers at the Lincoln Park Boat club on the morning of the races. The hours for reporting and other details of the championships will be announced later.

For many of the competitors the 100 yard races are in the nature of a swimming test. This is particularly true of the younger boys and girls. All swimmers who report for the races will receive a souvenir button which is proof that they have entered competition and have been able to finish the 100 yards.

The deadline for entries, Aug. 22, is the important fact to be remembered. Clip out the entry blank which appears daily in THE TRIBUNE and mail it to Wilfrid Smith, sports department, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago, Ill.

MISS ROBINSON WINS WESTERN GOLFING CROWN

Defeats Virginia Van Wie in Final, 6 and 5.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The jinx which has plagued Virginia Van Wie, Chicago's national champion, throughout her career in the tournaments of the Women's Western Golf association, overtook her once more at the Oak Park Country club yesterday just when it seemed she finally had conquered it. The Beverly star lost the 36 hole final match for the 31st annual championship of the association, 6 and 5, to Lucille Robinson, the 22 year old state champion of Iowa, from Des Moines. Miss Robinson is no stranger to Western finals, having been runner-up to Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City last year.

The aforesaid jinx of the Western for Miss Van Wie becomes quite apparent after considering her record in it. She has played in the Western every year since 1926, with the exception of last year, and the best she has been able to do was to reach the semi-finals at Exmoor in 1931. She coasted through the current tournament with considerable ease, contributing a couple of man sized medal rounds, and when she entered the final Friday with a 6 and 5 victory over young Elizabeth Abbott of Los Angeles it appeared she had beaten the jinx.

Easy Going for Lucille.

Instead, she played her poorest golf of the entire week, a capricious breeze which harried the course in the morning doing her game no especial service. The national champion was up on her opponent, only twice during the entire day, at the second hole and at the ninth. Miss Robinson was 2 up at the 18 hole intermission, 3 up at the end of 27 holes, and then took three of the next four holes to end the match.

The new champion has won the title in her home state four times, and was medalist in this year's Trans-Mississippi tournament, going to the quarter-finals before being eliminated by the ultimate champion. She recently completed her junior year at Drake university.

The cards for the afternoon round follow:

Miss Robinson, out	534	5	454
Miss Van Wie, out	545	553	*54
Miss Robinson, in	445	3
Miss Van Wie, in	555	4

*Picked up.

Winner Goes 3 Up.

They halved the first hole of the afternoon round in par 5s, but Miss Robinson went 3 up at the next hole, where Miss Van Wie's drive was trapped and her second was over the green. Lucille was 4 up after the third, which she birdied by reaching the green in 2. She conceded the fourth to Miss Van Wie after dubbing her drive and sending another shot into the creek before the green. They halved the fifth, and the Iowa girl was only 2 up after the sixth, where she was short with her tee shot, and couldn't find the green with her next two.

She went 3 up again at the seventh, where Virginia picked up after sending her drive into the woods and finding a trap. They shared the eighth and ninth in pars. Lucille was 4 up again after the 10th, where she knocked down a birdie by dropping her approach six inches from the pin. Miss Van Wie's third shot was eight feet past the pin. Her second to the 11th was wide, and she missed a four foot putt, going 5 down. They halved the 12th in 5s. Miss Robinson won the 13th and the match with a par 3 after Miss Van Wie was short with her drive, over with her second, and failed to sink a short putt.

Lucille Squares It.

They halved the first hole of the morning round in par fives, but Miss Van Wie went one up at the second, where Miss Robinson's tee shot sailed in to the rough. They divided the third with birdies, Miss Robinson sinking a six footer for hers while the champion dropped one from eight feet. They halved the fourth in fives, but the Iowa girl squared the match at the next hole with a six foot putt for another birdie, after Miss Van Wie's third shot was trapped.

They halved the next three holes, including the eighth, which both three putted, Lucille missing a short attempt. Her second shot to the ninth was trapped and she reached the turn 1 down, as Virginia earned her par four to win the hole.

Champion Starts to Slip.

Both reached the 10th green in two for mutual birdies, and the champion then began to slip. She lost the 11th, where her second was over the green, and she was short coming back. They halved the 12th, where both were in trouble. Miss Robinson won the 13th and 14th to be 2 up, Miss Van Wie finding the traps and rough at both.

Both took sixes on the 15th, and Miss Robinson increased her margin to three holes at the 16th, which Virginia three putted. The champion regained a hole at the 18th, where her opponent trapped her drive and needed three putts to get down. The cards for the morning round follow:

Par—Out	535	553	554—40
Par—In	544	345	535—38—78
Miss Van Wie—Out	534	553	564—40

Goggin Plays Sarazen Today for Pro Golf Championship

a birdie by sinking a ten foot putt. Sarazen took a four. They halved the 11th and Sarazen won the 12th when Farrell's drive found the rough and his explosion shot from a trap trickled eight feet past the cup. Johnny got it back on the 13th when Sarazen's pitch rolled off the green.

Sarazen got into a jam on the 14th, two of his shots finding the traps and another the rough. He became so disguested with his performance he conceded the hole. Farrell's birdie four at this point cut the lead to 2 up. Sarazen went three up on the 15th when Farrell's second shot found the sand pit. Sarazen scored a par four for this hole and Farrell a five. Farrell got a birdie on the 130 foot 16th and won the hole, his tee shot stopping ten inches from the cup.

Sarazen overdrove the green with his approach on the 18th and lost the hole when Farrell got down in three for a birdie.

Farrell Goes Haywire.

Sarazen won the 19th hole, the first on the afternoon round, and became 2 up when Farrell's approach fell short. They halved the 20th in fours. Sarazen won the 21st when Farrell's first two shots sailed into the rough.

Sarazen increased his advantage to 4 up on the 23d, when Farrell's first shot found the rough and his second rolled into a sand trap. Farrell sank his fifth, but also knocked in Sarazen's ball, giving the latter a four. Sarazen captured the 24th, running down a four footer for a four.

Farrell won the 25th, his first of the afternoon round, when Sarazen recovered poorly. Although Sarazen's first putt lipped the cup, he won the 26th hole with a three and again became 5 up.

Farrell got back a hole on the 28th by sinking a 30 foot putt for a birdie three. He lost it back on the next hole by missing two putts. A deuce gave Farrell the 30th and the 31st when to Sarazen when Farrell, who cracked completely, missed a one foot putt and took a five.

Goggin, Hines Even.

Goggin began the morning round by winning the first hole, taking a birdie three after reaching the green with his second shot, while Hines was taking a conventional four. Hines squared the match on the 325 yard second with a birdie three and went 1 up on the third when Goggin had trouble with his drive. They halved the fourth, but Goggin made it all even on the fifth with another birdie three.

Goggin took the lead again on the short seventh, where he was down in four, while Hines was taking a five.

Hines squared the match on the 14th when Goggin suffered from putter trouble. The 15th, 16th, 17th, and 18th were halved, although Hines had a chance to go to lunch 1 up on the last green. He missed a two foot putt following a fine approach effort.

A drive down the middle, a pitch and a putt gave Hines a birdie three on the 20th hole to put him 1 up, after he and Goggin had halved the first hole of the afternoon round. Hines then faltered on the 21st, taking a six and squaring the match. Goggin went 1 up on the 22nd with a par three and 2 up on the 23d with a birdie four, while Hines, who appeared to be tiring, was experiencing trouble with his irons.

He recovered long enough to win the 24th when Goggin's second shot overran the green and he needed a five. Both were down in three on the short 165 yard 26th and halved the 27th with fives, leaving Goggin 2 up as they reached the turn. Hines made a spectacular bid for a birdie on the 27th, missing a 40 foot putt by inches.

Putter Beats Hines.

Both got fours on the 28th and Hines won the 29th with a four while Goggin, who was in the rough on either side of the green and in a trap with his third shot, was taking a six. Hines squared the match with a deuce on the 30th hole, then lost the 31st when he missed an easy putt. He came back with a par four to win the 33d. The 34th was halved, despite the fact that Hines failed by inches to sink his tee shot. Goggin went one up on the 35th with a birdie three, Hines again losing his touch with the putter.

ARIEL CAPTURES LIPTON TROPHY; GOSSOON II. IS 2D

Aquila Retains Nutting Cup in Eagle Class.

Ariel, R boat owned and sailed by Ned Sheridan, won the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy yesterday by taking the final race of the series over the 12 mile quadrangular course of the Chicago Yacht club at Belmont harbor. George Getz Jr.'s Aquila successfully defended the Sir John Nutting cup in the eagle class in a series sailed simultaneously with the Lipton races.

It was the third victory for both Ariel and Aquila, the former having won the Lipton trophy in 1923 and 1930, while Aquila captured the Nutting cup in 1930 and last year.

Ariel's unusually good time of 1:57:26 was partly ascribed to unusually good sailing weather. The Ariel piled up 16 points in the series. Gossoon II., owned by M. E. Vail and Sterling Morton, the favorite, slipped over the finish line in 1:59:19—a little better than one minute behind the winner. Her total number of points was 14.

Gypsy Finishes Third.

Gypsy, owned by Fred Wacker, finished third in 1:58:32 to total 12 points for the series. Others in the order they finished, are Varya, owned by Samuel Dorsey, 2:25, 10 points; Alert IV., owned by Dr. Theodore Morris, 2:01:41, 6 points, and Nancy, owned by Bert Kimball and Ed Ralfton, 2:02:24, 5 points.

Aquila, owned by George Getz Jr., won the final race in the eagle class, for a total of 9 points and first place in the series of three races. Aquila's time yesterday was 2:10:04.

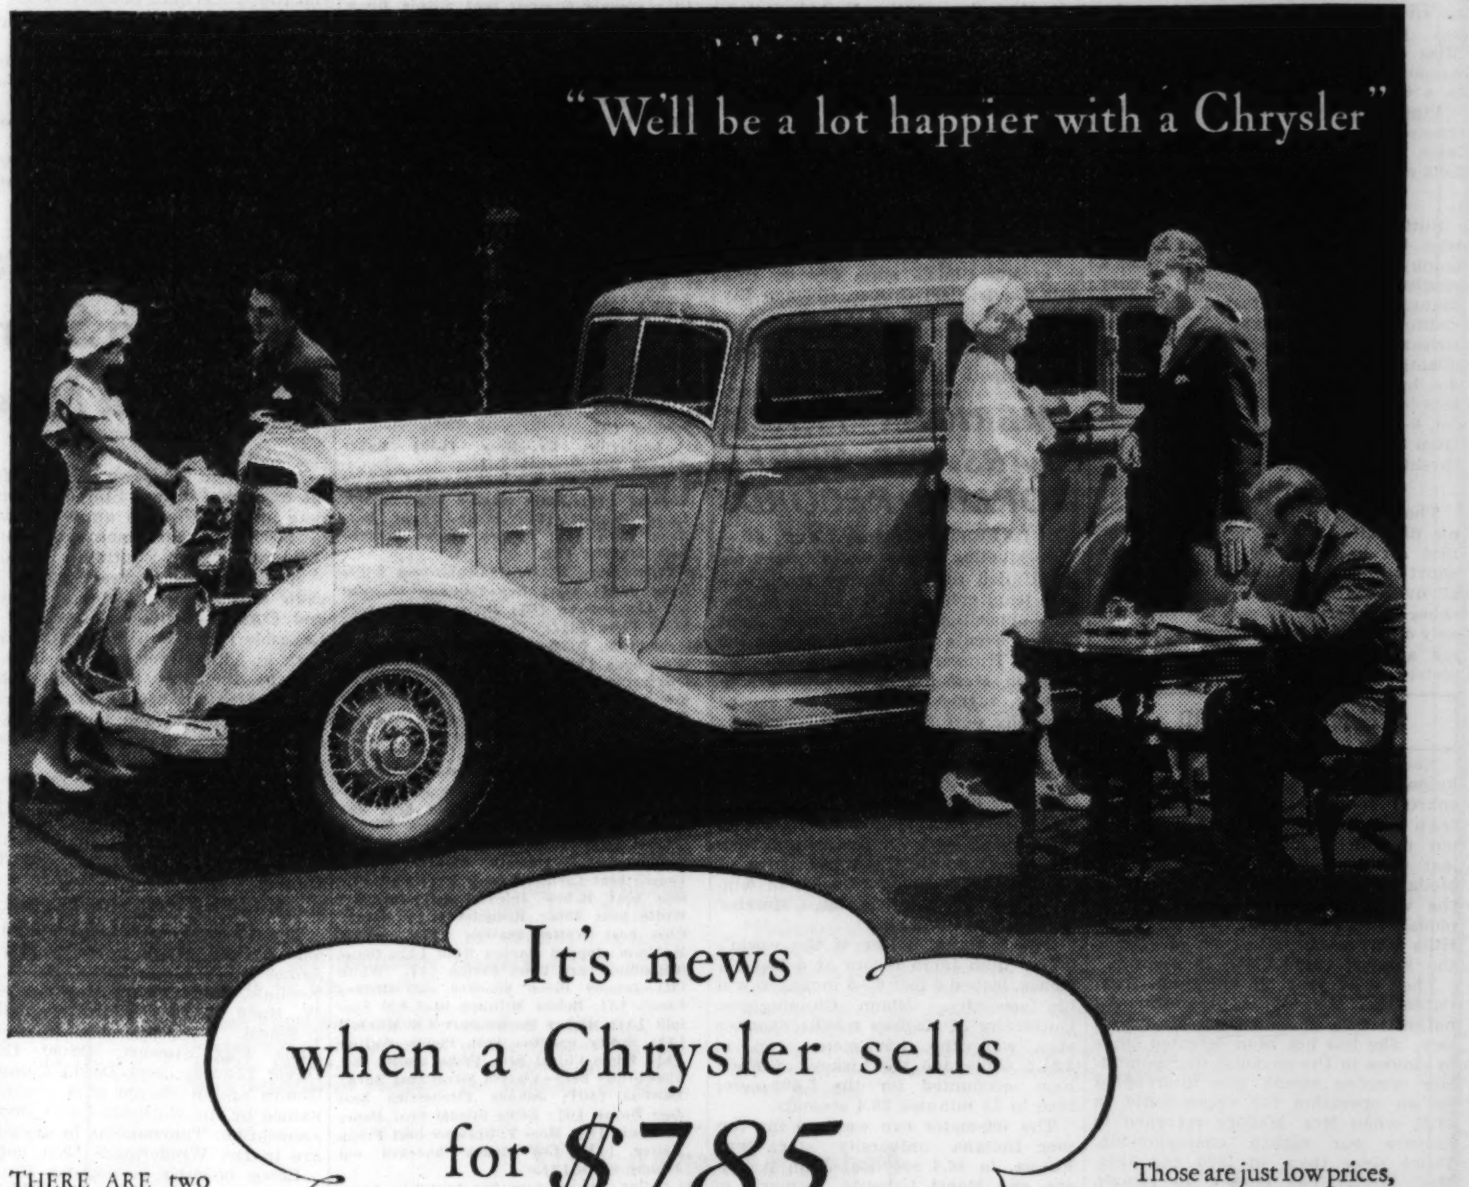
Orn Follows Aquila Home.

Orn, owned by Dr. G. E. Davis, finished the series with 4 points by taking second in yesterday's race in 2:11:. Altair, owned by Dr. A. R. Metz, did not finish in yesterday's race, but totaled 4 points for the series.

REIS RETAINS SPEEDBOAT TITLE IN EL LAGARTO

Redbank, N. J., Aug. 12.—[U.P.]—George Reis of Lake George, N. Y., today successfully defended the national sweepstakes trophy against a small field of speedboats on the Shrewsbury river in his El Lagarto.

El Lagarto won the first two 15 mile heats and then coasted to second place in the final event to beat out Bus-Skee, driven by Walter Buskee of Dover, N. J., 1161 points to 1122.



"We'll be a lot happier with a Chrysler"

It's news when a Chrysler sells for $785

THERE ARE two ways to appreciate the downright astonishing value of a Chrysler at today's low prices:

One is to see the 1933 Chryslers and drive them. The other is to talk to people that have bought them.

You'll find yourself saying, "Why these Chryslers are entirely different than other cars . . . entirely different and smoother in action . . . different and better in braking . . . safer, surer in the way they handle . . . bigger, more powerful and luxurious than I ever thought would be possible at these prices."

You'll hear owners saying, "Thirty thousand miles without a valve-grind" . . . "I can drive all day and get out as fresh as a daisy" . . . "With all these new Chrysler engineering features the car practically services itself" . . . "I've owned five Chryslers and this is the greatest Chrysler of all."

The Chrysler Six sedan at $785 . . . the luxurious Royal Eight at $925 . . . the magnificent Imperial for $1295 . . .

Those are just low prices, until you see these new Chryslers, . . . until you study them, drive them. Then those prices become values . . . the biggest motor car values you ever saw.

BUDGE DEFEATS MAKO IN FINALS OF JUNIOR TENNIS

Oakland Boy Is National Champion.

Culver, Ind., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Donald Budge, red headed youngster from Oakland, Cal., is the new national junior tennis champion. He won the title here today by defeating Gene Mako, Los Angeles, in a five set match, 6-4, 6-2, 1-6, 0-6, 8-6.

Another Oakland lad—Robert Harmon—won the national boys' championship by defeating Robert Riggs of Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2.

Mako Gets Revenge.

Mako got a bit of revenge later in the day when he teamed with Ben Dey, also of Los Angeles, to win the doubles championship from Budge and William Seward, Beverly Hills, Cal. The scores were 6-1, 6-2, 6-0.

Budge, in his surprise singles victory, played all kinds of tennis. For two sets he was brilliant, then for two more he was a tired, bewildered youngster, with little strength or skill left in his racquet arm and with feet dragging heavily until he revived in the final set.

Another for California.

Budge will play in the Wisconsin state tournament next week. Last week he won the western junior singles championship.

Harmon and Riggs made it an all-California sweep of the four titles at stake by winning the national boys' doubles from Arthur Jorgensen and Charles Shostrom of Chicago.

SUTTER MEETS WOOD

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Clearing the courts for the final tomorrow, when Clifford Sutter of New Orleans and Sidney B. Wood of New York will meet for the men's singles title three championships were decided today in the eastern grass courts tennis tournament at the Westchester Country club.

The invading English team figured in two of the titles as Dorothy Round, Britain's foremost player, defeated her fellow countrywoman, Mary Heeley, in the third straight all English final of the women's singles and young Freda James paired with the veteran Elizabeth Ryan, who recently returned from England to capture the women's doubles. The other championship went to the national men's doubles titleholders, Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill.

Easy for Dorothy.

As expected, Miss Round, who won a set from Mrs. Helen Wills Moody at Wimbledon, disposed of Miss Heeley in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4. Later the two, paired, could do little against Miss James and Miss Ryan, as the Anglo-American combination romped to a 6-4, 6-1 victory.

Vines and Gledhill, tuning their strokes for the national championship later in the month, defeated George Lott and Gregory Mangin, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Sutter Whips Mangin.

Sutter, the defending titleholder, who is seeking a third leg on the trophy, and Wood entered the men's singles finals with decisions over Mangin and Lester Stoefen, the lanky Californian, respectively. The New Orleans player, former intercollegiate champion, won in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, but Wood was forced to go three sets before he disposed of Stoefen, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3. Both matches were curtailed from the usual five sets because of the threatening weather.

Miss Heeley Doffs Shoes.

The slippery courts made good tennis difficult. Miss Heeley played the first set in her stocking feet, in an effort to keep her footing, but skidded all over the turf. She donned spiked shoes for the second set, but this was only a momentary aid, for after assuming a two game lead, she was completely outclassed.

MAY TIE RECORD

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The acknowledged queen of the tennis courts, Helen Wills Moody, recovered from a back ailment that kept her out of the Wightman cup matches last week, will equal the record of Molla Bjurstedt Mallory if she wins the women's national singles championship for the eighth time at Forest Hills next week. However, she faces the keenest competition in years.

Then a 17 year old sensation from California, Miss Wills first won the national title in 1923 from Mrs. Mallory. She has not been defeated since in singles in the national tournament. Her winning streak was interrupted by an operation for appendicitis in 1926, when Mrs. Mallory returned to capture her eighth championship. Twice since then, in 1930 and 1932, Mrs. Moody has chosen to remain out of the competition.

Mrs. Moody plays Dr. Esther Bartosh, another Californian, in the second match on the west side courts Monday, following the opening grandstand contest between Betty Nuthall, English star, and Jane Sharp of Los Angeles. Miss Nuthall won the American title in 1930.

Mary Heeley, English No. 1 player, will play Norma Taubele of New York. Helen Jacobs, the defending champion, will meet Eunice Dean of San Antonio, Tex., and Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, last year's runner up, will oppose Virginia Cross of Providence, R. I.

OLIVET COLLEGE BASKET STAR IS REGAINING SIGHT

Olivet, Mich., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Charley Lowe, Olivet college basketball star, who suffered a severe injury to his eye last winter, hopes to be able to play again next season. Lowe injured the eye during a practice game and for weeks it was doubtful if the sight could be saved. After consulting several specialists, however, Lowe was taken to Chicago, where the eye was operated on. Since then he has been slowly regaining his sight. This summer he's acting as counselor at a children's camp in the northern part of the state.

WATCH FOR BALL PLAYER.

A $50 watch will be presented to the most popular ball player of the Ban Johnson league of Kansas City, Mo. The fans will vote to decide the winning youngster.

CHAMPION IN ACTION

Among casters who will compete in international tournament at Washington park Thursday to Saturday is Otto H. Peters of Buffalo, N. Y., who is national champion in the salmon fly and distance fly events.

Casters Meet Thursday for World's Title

The most skillful bait and fly casters in the United States will compete against the leading casters of Europe for A Century of Progress awards in the international tournament which will be held under the auspices of the National Association of Scientific Angling clubs. The tourney will take place at the Illinois Casting Club pool in Washington park, 58th street, near Cottage Grove avenue, Thursday to Sunday.

Thirty-six clubs in the United States will be represented in the meet. Among the contestants are Charles Edwards, who holds the world's record of 98 points in the ⅜ ounce accuracy bait event, established in the national tournament in Chicago two years ago; Frank R. Steel of the Lincoln Park Casting club, who is the national dry fly titleholder, and Otto Peters, Buffalo Anglers club, Buffalo, N. Y., who holds the salmon fly and light tackle distance fly crowns.

Davis, Brewer Enter.

Two other national champions who are members of the Lincoln Park club have entered. They are Edward Davis, national ½ ounce accuracy bait, and Wally Brewer, national indoor fishermen's accuracy bait. Charles Zeisler, former all around accuracy bait champion of the United States, also will represent the Lincoln Park club.

The Chicago Fly Casting club will send its leading member, Bob Clarkson, to the meet. Clarkson holds the world's record of 99 in the fishermen's accuracy bait event which he made at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1930. He also won the Illinois state all around championship for two consecutive years.

Bruns Seeks Title.

Chester Bruns, Lincoln park, co-holder of the Illinois state dry fly title with Davis; Carl Grover, Chicago Fly club, national indoor fly champion, and F. N. White of the Illinois Casting club are other Chicagoans who will compete in the tournament.

AMERICAN TRACK STARS TIE THREE WORLD'S RECORDS

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Equaling three world's records, the United States touring track and field team continued its sweep of foreign opposition today, winning eight of nine events in competition with the leading Hungarian stars.

Ralph Metcalfe, of Marquette university, turned in two of the record equalling performances with victories in the two dashes. Johnny Morriss, hurdling ace of Louisiana state, accounted for the other in winning the 110-meter high hurdles.

Metcalfe first raced to victory in 10.3 seconds over 100 meters and then came back to tie the world mark of 20.7, made by Roland Locke, in winning the 200-meter sprint. Morriss' time was 14.4 seconds.

George Spitz, holder of the world's indoor high jump record at 6 feet 8¾ inches, leaped 6 feet 6 3-5 inches to win his specialty. Glenn Cunningham, University of Kansas middle distance star, won the 1,500-meter run in 3:51.6 while Joe McCluskey, of Fordham, accounted for the 5,000-meter race in 15 minutes 35.4 seconds.

The 400-meter run went to the former Indiana university star, Ivan Fuqua, in 46.6 seconds. John Anderson and Henri Laborde, formerly of Stanford, finished one, two in the discus, the former winning with a toss of 48.51 meters [159 feet, 2 inches].

Anderson also was third in the shotput, the only event the invaders failed to win. The American tossed the 16-pound ball 14.09 meters [46 ft. 2 13-16 in.], as compared to the winning distance of 14.51 meters [47 ft. 7¾ in.], by Josef Darany.

LEADING AUTO DRIVERS RACE AT EVANSTON

Between races a motorcycle polo game will be played in the infield.

Water Snakes Ready to Fight for Fish Meal

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishermen in the upper Mississippi valley, including northern Illinois, may be surprised but they need not be alarmed if several water snakes come around for a meal while fish are being cleaned on the bank of a stream. The water snakes feed largely on fish, and judging by the recent experience of State Senator Earl B. Searcy, the serpents will come right up to a fellow cleaning fish in order to get a free meal. The water snakes are bold when actuated by hunger.

Senator Searcy recently had such an experience with Mackinaw river water snakes when he was fishing that stream near Congerville, Ill., in company with Senators Simon E. Lantz and Roy C. Woods of Chicago and several other anglers. The party waded the Mackinaw, using hellgramites for bait, and late in the afternoon they had a nice string of fish. At no time during the day when they were wading did they see water snakes, nor had any one in the party thought about them.

Along Comes Mr. Snake.

When it came time to clean the catch Woods sat down in water less than a foot in depth and made ready to wield a cleaning knife on the fish. Searcy brought up a block of wood on which the fish could be laid, and the two anglers started in to work.

Senator Searcy describes the appearance of the water snakes as follows:

"Woods had finished cleaning the second or third fish when suddenly I was amazed to see a three foot water snake nibbling inquiringly at the toe of his protruding boot. I had not seen it approach nor had Roy. I stepped toward the snake, which darted back several feet and then began to swim toward us again.

Dignified Senators Flee.

"By then"—and here is where senatorial dignity went 40 directions in one full swoop—"Woods had scrambled back on to dry land, and simultaneously several snakes appeared in the immediate neighborhood, all apparently bent upon devouring fish heads, entrails and other bits from the cleaned bass.

"With Roy on shore was the writer. We held a council of war. While Roy continued to clean the fish I mounted guard to keep the water snakes away. They were bold to a marked degree, and seemed to be afraid of nothing, although hunger, and not hostility, appeared to be their actuating motive. I am, perhaps, a rookie, but had never seen these water snakes perform as they did that afternoon.

Don't Invite 'Em.

"It occurred to me that if fellow fishermen have a special aversion or antipathies toward water snakes, this incident will reveal how NOT to invite their presence, for I can assure you that they were persistent."

We have heard of only one other incident of the kind this season. A fishermen was cleaning small fish over the side of a boat and a water snake came up within a few inches of his hands in order to seize a part of a fish. The snake involved is the common water snake of the middle west, a nonpoisonous, fish eating species.

Lawn Bowlers Ready to Start National Meet

More than 200 lawn bowlers from all over the United States will compete in the sixteenth annual national lawn bowling tournament which opens tomorrow and continues through Wednesday on the greens of the Chicago Lawn Bowling club, 53d street and Cottage Grove avenue, and the Lakeside Lawn Bowling club, Jackson park at 58th street and the lake. It will be the first time the national tournament has been held in Chicago.

The three Chicago clubs have entered nearly 100 players. Skips or captains of teams entered by the Chicago Lawn Bowling club include Albert Paterson, Stewart Tulloch, Robert Savage, William Chalmers, Tom Rodger, William Kidd, M. McArthur, L. McArthur, Sam Haney, and R. P. Dunlop.

Lakeside, West Side Leaders.

The Lakeside club's team captains are Robert Webb, Arnold Morgan, James Tolson, John Shean, Hugh MacKechnie, Don Cowan, Ray Grove, L. W. Budd, C. E. Gaylord, and Hiram J. Smith. West Side club captains include Alex Stewart, David Deans, David Lindsay, and David Campbell. Games are in charge of a committee named by the National Lawn Bowling association. Tournament headquarters are in the Windermere East hotel.

Lawn bowling is popular in England, Scotland, Canada, New Zealand, and Australia and is gaining popularity in this country. The game differs greatly from alley bowling. A white china ball about the size of a billiard ball is the only target. The bowls used are of hard wood and are not round, but flatened at the poles, having a shorter radius of curvature on one side. This causes the bowl to curve toward the shorter side as it loses momentum.

How Game Is Played.

The leading player throws or rolls the white ball, called the jack, on the green. The ball must be at least 75 feet distant from the player and may be 114 feet distant or within six feet of the end of the green, which is 120 feet long. A player places one foot on a mat and, taking one step forward as he delivers the bowl, endeavors to roll it to or near the jack. Members of each team play the bowls alternately and endeavor to knock opposing player's bowls aside when near the jack. Each player uses two bowls.

Teams competing in the national tournament include several from California, Buffalo, New York City, Cincinnati, and Hartford, Conn. A banquet for visiting players will be held at the Windermere East hotel tomorrow night.

FOOTBALL OPENS WITH EAST-WEST CONTEST AUG. 24

Hanley and Jones Move Up Season a Month.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Dick Hanley and Howard Jones, football coaches at Northwestern and Southern California respectively, have yanked the football season ahead by one month. These men, who hold secure positions in the first ten of their profession, propose to stage a semi-professional game at Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 24 for [1] football's contribution to A Century of Progress, [2] advanced study in football theory as practiced on the Pacific coast and in the central states, and [3] for $1.10 a seat.

This east-west game is an opportunity for crowds at the Fair to see the college stars of last year and the immediately preceding years in action, but it will not be the only football at Soldiers' field. The western conference, through its metropolitan members, Northwestern and Chicago, has arranged a program which starts on Sept. 30 with the Northwestern-Iowa game. Stanford will play Northwestern there two weeks later. Professional football, which publicizes the college star, also hopes to take advantage of the World's Fair crowds this fall.

Jones vs. Warner System.

The Pacific coast squad of 22, nine of whom are from the University of Southern California, which Jones has coached to national championships for the last two seasons, will use the Jones' system of gridiron attack. The Warner system, with alterations by Hanley, will be used by the eastern players, who represent 15 universities in the south, central, and far eastern states.

All-star games frequently are defensive contests. Any good player knows what to do on defense and can coöperate with his mates without a day of practice. An attack needs time in which to become coherent. Coaches Jones and Hanley believe they have sufficient time to organize their teams. The players report tomorrow at Northwestern for the beginning of the coaching school. They will be used in instruction and will condition themselves while they learn their formations.

Coach Hanley is especially proud of his back field. He may start a back field consisting of Harry Newman, Michigan, quarter back; Pug Rentner, Northwestern, and Don Zimmerman, Tulane, half backs, and Roy Horstman, Purdue, full back.

For reserves he will have Jack Manders, Minnesota, full back; Gil Berry, Illinois, quarter back; Jim Purvis, half back from Purdue; Mickey McGuire, the Irish-Hawaiian half back from Wisconsin, and Gene Ronzani, full back, from Marquette.

Plenty of Beef at Tackle.

The eastern eleven has six tackles whose average weight is 210 pounds. They include Joe Kurth, Notre Dame; Milt Summerfelt, captain of the Army team last fall; Jack Riley, Northwestern; Marshall Wells, Minnesota; Ben Boswell, Texas Christian, and George Musso, Milliken. Musso weighs 257 pounds.

Hanley will pick ends from Wes Fesler, Ohio; Frank Baker and Dick Fencl, Northwestern, and Brad Robinson, Minnesota. For guards he has Jim Harris, Notre Dame; Clarence Munn, Minnesota, and John Kekich, Indiana. The centers are Lawrence Ely, Nebraska, and Orin Crow, Haskell.

Star Western Backs.

The western team will have a brilliant array of backs headed by Gaius Shaver and Morley Drury, Southern California. Other ball carriers are Hank Schaldach, California; Bill Beasley, St. Mary's; Frank Christensen, Utah; Max Krause, Gonzaga, and George Sander, Washington State.

Linemen include Tay Brown and Ernie Smith, Southern California's pair of star tackles; Paul Schwegler of Washington; Ray Sparling and Garrett Arbelbide, Southern California, and Dave Nesbit, Washington, ends; Johnny Baker, Howard Tipton, Southern California; Pete Heiser, Stanford; Bill O'Brien, Washington, and Sam Gill, California, guards, and Stan Williamson, Southern California, center.

The coaches believe in the game and are backing it by reputation and underwriting the expenses. It remains to be seen how many will attend, but no better test of football minus the trimmings of collegiate contests, ever has been offered in Chicago.

PICK PEKINGESE BEST DOG OF DAY AT COUNTY FAIR

Chinky Chu of Rivercrest, a Pekingese, was judged the best dog of the day at the Cook county fair yesterday. The two day dog show winds up tonight when the grand champion will be chosen.

Chinky is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. Schaeffer of Menominee Falls, Wis., and won grand prize at the Chicago kennel show last November as well as first honors at the 1932 Wisconsin state fair. More than 300 dogs from all parts of the country and some from Germany are being shown. The Cook County Kennel club has charge of the event.

Other outstanding winners yesterday included Cahirmone Pitje, breed winner in the griffon class, owned by Mrs. Walter R. Breed of Cleveland, O., and Sunny Rhyle, a Pomeranian puppy belonging to Mrs. Frank Haack of Milwaukee, named the best of his breed. Jorrocks of Greatheart, belonging to Mrs. Myrtle Woodend of Hillside, Ill., was the best of the Scottish terriers.

BABE DIDRIKSON LEAVES COAST FOR HOME IN TEXAS

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Mildred [Babe] Didrikson, track and field star who is devoting her time to perfecting her golf game, left late today for her home in Dallas, Tex. She said she intended to be gone for a month.

Miss Didrikson said she had no intention of entering the national women's golf tournament next month at Chicago.

"I intend to get somewhere in this game of golf," Miss Didrikson said, "but I realize I'm not ready yet, and it may be another year before I am fit for a national tournament."

TRIBUNE CAR ON TOUR TO STILL FALSE RUMORS

True Traffic Conditions Here Being Told.

BY HAL FOUST.

With TRIBUNE roadster on tour, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Highways to the southwest and west of Chicago show an increase of nine per cent in automobile travel to A Century of Progress since June, notwithstanding the circulation of false reports about parking and traffic conditions in Chicago during the Fair. The TRIBUNE roadster is on a tour to promote this motor travel by combating the adverse reports.

The increase in highway traffic to new all time records indicates private automobiles will bring approximately $50,000,000 to Chicago during the five months of the Exposition, an estimate based on the best available information on average expenditures on visitors during the first nine weeks of the Fair.

Out of State Cars.

On U. S. 66, a main highway from the southwest, an actual count of cars passed in driving between Joliet and Springfield, Ill., showed fifty-four per cent of the automibles bore licenses of states other than Illinois. A similar survey on June 20, three weeks after the Fair opened, showed 47.6 per cent of the traffic was foreign cars.

The number of automobiles with licenses of states other than Illinois on this representative highway this week was six times as great as was noted in the state highway department's survey of August, 1931. The total volume of traffic, Illinois and foreign, is twenty-six per cent higher that in 1931, when motor travel was almost as heavy as in the boom years.

The influx of automobiles is like a flow of gold into the city and the World's Fair administration is encouraged by the increase but, according to Maj. E. S. J. Irvine, the administration's director of transportation, the $50,000,000 income for Chicago will not be realized unless an active fight is made against the gossip of adverse motoring conditions in Chicago.

Rumors Being Reputed.

It was for this reason that THE TRIBUNE roadster was designated as A Century of Progress official car and dispatched for a tour of the country with the automible editor and with George Barton, engineer for the Chicago Motor Club and a member of the World's Fair traffic committee. Newspapers and automobile clubs are being furnished with actual facts, refuting rumors that foreign cars are barred from Chicago during the Fair; that a special tax is charged to enter the city or that traffic and parking conditions are such that private cars can not be operated in the city.

How much harm these false reports are causing is merely surmise. How effective are efforts to correct the reports is another surmise. It is known, however, from mail received by A Century of Progress and by the Chicago Motor club, that the gossip has reached every state in the union, probably finding more creditable listeners in places more remote from the city where there are fewer with first hand information about Chicago.

Distant Cars Fewer.

This week's traffic count on U. S. 66 showed gains for Missouri and Kansas cars traveling north of Springfield, Ill., as compared with their totals on June 20. Losses were noted for Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, and California, which are also served by U. S. 66. The figures for these states in an eight hour count in June are: Missouri, 107; Kansas, 55; Texas, 107; Oklahoma, 65; Colorado, 39, and California, 46. Comparable figures for this week's traffic are: Missouri 226; Kansas, 94; Texas, 99; Oklahoma, 57; Colorado, 30, and California, 31.

The flow of traffic in eight hours on U. S. 66 last week meant $52,500 gross income to Chicago. The flow is continuing day after day, and this road is but one of fourteen busy arterial highways leading into Chicago. There were 733 foreign cars in all likelihood headed to or from A Century of Progress. Of the 629 Illinois, twenty per cent is a fair estimate of the portion representing A Century of Progress traffic.

Average Three to a Car.

The average number of pasengers in these tourist automobiles is high, slightly over three. Their average stop in Chicago is three days, shorter for the automobiles from nearby and longer for those from more distant places, according to a survey made by the Fair administration. A Chicago Motor club questionnaire disclosed that the average daily expenditure per tourist doing the Fair is $6.77.

Arithmetical calculations, based on these studies, result in a conclusion that, unless the volume of automobile traffic is curbed by the false reports of conditions in Chicago, the city will enjoy an income of $50,000,000 from the motorist visitors, an average of $10,000,000 for each month of the Fair.

VOICE OF THE TRAFFIC

WORLD'S FAIR TRAFFIC.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—That was a worth while article in today's TRIBUNE in which Gov. White of Ohio speaks of the impression so many people have regarding out-state motor cars not being permitted within a certain mileage of the World's Fair grounds.

I was in Kansas City, Mo., six weeks ago and heard people make the statement as a fact and just yesterday in Kalamazoo, Mich., heard a man in a restaurant tell another that Hammond was practically as close as they would allow a car other than those bearing an Illinois license.

If, as the article referred to states, much of this is caused by the railroads and bus lines in their effort to increase their own business, what is the matter with the automobile and gasoline industries? They use a lot of space in every worth while publication. Why not use some of it to exploit the truth about this situation? They are the ones directly interested and would be the ones to profit if we want to look at it from the dollar and cents angle.

If only one does this of course it may be looked upon as merely a reason to sell their products, but when they all make the same statement it is taken in an entirely different way and accepted as something all dealers are attempting to convey for the common good.

W. NEUSCHE.

IMPOLITE VISITORS.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Never before, and I have been all over the United States and Canada during conventions and fairs, have I ever seen the disrespect shown the people of Chicago by a great majority of the visitors to our city.

Just because our officers overlook many broken traffic regulations, ones that we would be arrested in their town for, they think that they can abuse us, just because they think they are doing us a great favor by spending their two dollars in our city.

Please, Mr. VISITOR, remember that we the people of Chicago are not taxed one cent for that Fair, it is managed by some of our biggest business men and made it possible for you to see something besides corn fields and the four same walls, and what you do in the Fair is up to them, but when you commence to run the streets, many of us would be willing to give back your two dollars and not receive the abuse you are handing out.

DANGEROUS INTERSECTIONS.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Buick sales in the last ten day period, according to W. F. Hufstader, sales manager, amounted to almost exactly 130 per cent of those in the corresponding period last year.

"For the whole month of July," said Mr. Hufstader, "total sales this year show a 91 per cent increase over July, 1932, a figure that shows how remarkably the sales curve has risen, in a month when a drop-off is almost always experienced. Outlook for the August operation is that it will be on a scale materially in excess of last year's program for that month."

Sales of Essex Terraplanes and Hudson cars for the month of July exceeded June sales by approximately 10 per cent, according to Chester G. Abbott, general sales manager. Mr. Abbott points out that July was the best month in retail sales for this company since July of 1931.

"Sales of Essex Terraplane and Hudson cars show no signs of letting down as the summer season proceeds," said Mr. Abbott. "For the week ending July 29 our sales were practically double those of the same week a year ago. This is in spite of the fact that we had at that time just announced the Terraplane and had experienced a considerable increase of volume as a result. The last week was the 20th seven day period which has marked the climb in volume.

Sales by De Soto dealers for the week ending July 22 were 177.2 per cent greater than the same week last year, it was announced by L. G. Peed, general sales manager.

Combined sales of De Soto-Plymouth cars for this period totaled 2,852 units, or 14.6 per cent increase over the previous week. De Soto alone showed a 24 per cent increase over the previous week, it was stated. This was within four cars of beating the year's all-time high for the company.

With details worked out by the committee in charge, everything is virtually in readiness for the grand opening of the first big open air automobile show ever held in Chicago.

Sponsored by the Chicago Automobile Trade association, the event is to be held at the Congress street plaza of Grant park, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday [Aug. 17, 18, 19].

Hours set for the spectacular car exhibit are 10 a. m. to midnight. Music is to be provided each afternoon and evening. Special ingenious night lighting effects will be a feature of the show, and the decorative scheme will be entirely in keeping with the outdoor setting in which the 1933 model cars will be placed.

Lafayette Markle, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, announces that drawings for positions will place all exhibitors and makes of cars on an equal basis, with the space numbers placed in a hat and locations being determined by the number drawn.

W. A. Blees, general sales manager of the Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales company, announces the establishment of six new zones and the appointment of six zone managers, as follows: Charlotte, N. C., L. A. Folger; Cleveland, O., C. P. Brady; Indianapolis, O. F. Wampler; Oklahoma City, W. J. Bryan; Lincoln, Neb., C. W. Mellon, and Denver, R. W. Losey. The Oklahoma City zone was established Aug. 1 and the five others will date from Aug. 15. These additions bring the total zone strength of B-O-P to 28 zones, with six branches in addition.

The 1933 Pontiac during July registered an increase of 7,651 retail sales over deliveries in the same month of 1932, according to R. K. White, sales manager. Pontiac sales for the first seven months of 1933 exceed the same period of 1932 by 21,828 units, according to Mr. White.

"Heavy retail demand during July of this year brought a progressive sales increase in each of the 10 day periods of the month," he said. "The second period exceeded the first 10 days by 623 units and the third period exceeded the first by 1,561 cars."

ALL GRAINS SAG TO MINIMUMS UNDER PRICE PEG

Wheat Down 2½ to 3½ Cents; Corn Lower.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

All deliveries of grains and provisions dropped to the "pegged" prices on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday and remained there the greater part of the day. At the close all grains were at these minimum prices established by the exchange on July 31.

Announcement that the "peg" would be removed when trading ceases next Tuesday, made after a special meeting of the directors of the exchange late Friday, started a small selling movement which disclosed very limited support. A little business was done in corn and oats at a fraction above the minimum levels at which sales could be consummated under the exchange regulations.

Wheat Closes at Bottom.

Wheat prices dropped around 2½ to 3½ cents from Friday's finish before they struck the "pegged" figures and closed at the bottom with September offered for sale at 92⅛ cents. Sellers also had the December delivery on tap at 95¾ cents and May at 99⅞ cents.

Corn was off 2⅜ to 2⅝ cents, with September quoted at 49⅝ cents at the close, December offered at 54⅝ cents and May at 60⅛ cents.

Oats dropped ⅝ to 1⅜ cents with September at 36¾ cents and December at 40¼ cents.

Rye showed a little more strength than wheat, although closing 2¼ to 3⅞ cents lower. September was 68 cents and December, 73⅜ cents at the close.

September barley was 53 cents and December, 57¼ cents.

Trading in cash grain came almost to a halt owing to inability to hedge purchases by sales of futures. Cash wheat prices were quoted as much as 10 cents lower, with corn off 3 to 6 cents and oats 3 to 5 cents as compared with Friday's sales.

Hedge Wheat at Winnipeg.

Many American speculators who were believed to be long wheat were credited with having hedged their holdings through sales of futures in the Winnipeg market. This class of selling resulted in a break of around 7 cents in the Canadian market, with the October delivery selling down to around 71 cents in Canadian funds, or 12¼ cents under the high point on Thursday.

Announcement that the United States carryover of wheat on July 1 was 386,000,000 bushels did not give holders of the grain much encouragement, as the Canadian carryover as of July 31, including supplies afloat and in bond in the United States, was placed at 219,000,000 bushels, compared with 137,733,000 bushels last year.

There were intimations that millers were commencing to show more interest in cash wheat, anticipating they would be able to buy at somewhat lower figures.

Directors Discuss Problems.

A special meeting of the directors of the exchange was held before the close yesterday, but no statement was given out as to what transpired. It was understood, however, that Frank J. Theis of the agricultural adjustment administration was present and discussed the grain exchange code and the elevator storage law. There had, it was claimed, been some misunderstanding as to the provisions against issuance of warehouse receipts against grain not actually in storage in an elevator.

Underneath the calm which prevailed in the pits yesterday and gave brokers time to discuss the situation which has developed lately there were increased rumblings of a storm which may break out into open revolt at a meeting of the heads of some of the leading commission houses scheduled to be held tomorrow at 3 p. m.

Efforts to start a movement to have officials and directors of the exchange resign were made by some brokers yesterday, but they quickly died out as the result of lack of support from leaders in the trade.

Principal Stock Markets Observe Saturday Closing

The New York and Chicago stock exchanges, as well as the principal security and commodity markets in the east, were closed yesterday in conformity with present rulings closing the markets on Saturdays through Sept. 2. The Chicago Board of Trade held its regular short session yesterday, as also did most of the commodity markets outside of New York. The Chicago Mercantile exchange was closed. Normal trading will be resumed tomorrow in all markets.

Federal Probe of Grain Pit Is Thought Near

The business relations between officials of the Chicago Board of Trade and E. A. [Doc] Crawford, the gambling Florida physician, will get a public airing as a result of the controversy over the code submitted by the grain exchanges to the federal farm administration. This was the belief expressed by grain men yesterday as the trade continued to seethe with gossip about the probable results of such disclosures.

Dissatisfaction exists among members of the exchange itself over the way in which the business conduct committee of the board acted during the market fiasco resulting from the downfall of Crawford.

Handle Crawford's Trades.

Several officials of the board of trade are said to have had a personal business interest in the manner in which the Crawford affair was handled. At least one member of the business conduct committee is said to have handled part of Crawford's brokerage business.

It was this that led to charges in the trade that the action taken by the board in pegging grain prices was done as much to save the skin of members themselves as to prevent wild market fluctuations.

The matter is being carefully investigated by the farm administration officials and it was believed to be this consideration that led George N. Peek, farm administrator, to flatly refuse to accept the code as written and submitted by the grain exchanges.

Investigate Connections.

Not only are the business relations of the business conduct member who acted as Crawford's broker under investigation, also the connections of other officials of the board.

The summary action of the board of trade directors in voting Friday to remove the "pegs" on grain prices is also said to have caused bitterness between the exchange and the farm administration. The action was taken by the exchange directors in the absence of Peter B. Carey, president of the exchange, and Robert P. Boylan, vice president and director of the exchange. Both men are in the east and are understood to have been meeting with government officials in Washington.

May Force Restoring Peg.

It was considered probable yesterday that the government might take steps to force the board of trade to rescind its action in removing the pegs. The precipitate decline in corn prices in the face of sensationally bullish crop reports was pointed out to show the necessity of continuing the "peg" prices for the time being.

It is believed that the government will demand the continuation of the "pegs" at least until the code is settled. The public hearings on the code promise to blow the lid off the reasons for the actions taken by the business conduct group during the Crawford episode. Administrator Peek has publicly declared in favor of public representation on the business conduct committee.

U. S. AMENDS EMBARGO ON GOLD ORE EXPORTS; CERTAIN KINDS FREED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Gold export prohibitions have been amended by the treasury department to permit the shipment of the metal in the form of unretorted amalgam, cyanide precipitates, concentrates, and unsmelted ore. The ruling, which has been forwarded to customs collectors, was based on an opinion handed down recently by Attorney General Cummings.

The export of gold "bullion" was prohibited under President Roosevelt's gold embargo edict some months ago. The new treasury regulation was said simply to define what forms of gold may be shipped out of the country. The justice department said the regulations would be of slight benefit to domestic gold producers, as the conditions were only slightly changed from those set down by the President's embargo order.

American producers have been seeking to sell their gold in foreign markets at the world price, which is around $30 an ounce, compared with the fixed American mint price of $20.67 per ounce. These producers argued that if permission were given to domestic miners to export newly mined metal at the world price rather than the fixed mint price, it would remove an injustice to tax payers as well as to small gold producers.

They also contended that the removal of the export restrictions on newly mined gold would prove a great stimulus to the American mining industry by permitting it to secure the world market price. This would, they claimed, greatly increase the earnings of unemployed men now panning gold under the grub stake plan.

Insull Books Written Down 100% in Value

The personal property that Samuel Insull left behind when he went to Greece has all been taken over by his creditors, it was learned yesterday. The value of this property for sale purposes has been placed at approximately $300,000, a large part of it represented by the expensive furnishings of Hawthorne farm, Insull's former home near Libertyville.

A representative of the creditors said yesterday that some of this property might be sold in the near future, but that the bulk of it would be held with the hope of selling it with Hawthorne farm.

"The most valuable articles are those chosen and bought abroad by Mrs. Insull. She had excellent taste. The furnishings of Hawthorne farm cost many times the $300,000 valuation placed upon them. Most of them, however, would be worth little except in a home like Hawthorne farm. The house was literally full of antiques.

"One remarkable thing we discovered was the small amount of money Mr. Insull had invested in books and paintings. There are a few standard works, but no expensive or rare volumes. We have valued the Insull books at zero. There were only seven oil paintings, the most expensive being valued at only $4,000 and the seven at an aggregate of only $16,000. Total value of a collection of water colors is placed at $1,760.

"Mr. Insull coöperated with us freely and turned over his personal property without protest, through his son, to whom he had given power of attorney.

"The silverware which is being shipped to the Insulls now was Mrs. Insull's own property. It was once valued at $19,200, later at $9,620. Right now it is worth no more than its value as metal."

Cupid, also, gets a break in the "new deal." Loop banks have long had a rule that male employés who are considering matrimony should just go on considering it until they are earning at least $1,500 per year. A number of employés who expect to come out of the new arrangement with a little more in the pay envelope are reported to be all set for a "sooner" rush to the county building.

The controller of one of the big loop banks says he's made some surprising discoveries since putting into effect the terms of the banks' code. "When we put on a 40 hour week employés who had been working 43 hours or more per week," he says, "we found to our surprise that 40 hours was all they needed to do the same work they had required more hours to do before.

In 1929, according to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, 42 per cent of all motor vehicles in the United States were on farms. In 1932, owing to the severe cut in farm purchasing power, farmers' expenditures for motor vehicles were only 15 per cent of what they were in 1929.

DOLLAR CLIMBS SLIGHTLY HIGHER IN GOLD VALUE

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The American dollar continued to creep forward today in quiet foreign exchange dealings. Its gold value rose from 73.71 cents yesterday to 73.85 cents at the close today.

The British pound sterling was off ¾ of a cent at a cable rate of $4.48¼, French francs eased .01 of a cent at 5.30½ cents, Belgian belgas slipped .15 of a cent to 54.65 cents, and Belgian belgas, German marks, the Scandinavians, and far eastern currencies were moderately lower.

STOCKS HANG UP GAINS DESPITE LATE SETBACK

'Averages' Show All Groups Higher.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 12.—Speculation on the New York Stock exchange has leaned to the bull side this week in spite of the sharp setbacks suffered by wheat and cotton, and a varied assortment of minor worries that have arisen to befog the outlook.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S "average" on fifty representative stocks closed last night at 87.06, against 83.08 at the end of the preceding week, and an analysis of the price movements for the five trading sessions reveals that all groups shared substantially in the improvement. Mining, liquor, railway equipment, sugar, and a number of specialty issues credited with aggressive pool backing made the best showing.

The market staged a rather promising rally on Tuesday and followed it up on Wednesday in a manner calculated to create the impression that it had broken out of its two weeks' trading range with a "push" that was destined to carry some distance.

Rally Fails to Hold.

On Thursday, however, the highly important United States Steel corporation's disappointing backlog figures came along, and the list was overtaken by a run of profit taking which bore it down sharply.

The tendency was toward a further decline on Friday, with the list turning extremely dull and indicating a lack of interest in face of the growing uncertainties. On the average about half of the week's early advance was maintained.

With the trading community looking forward to the much-discussed autumn pickup in business with increasing hope—whether from the stimulus to be supplied by the NRA program or from the momentum already gained by trade itself—the week's buying round was inspired mainly by a revival of the rather time-worn gossip

Normal Summer Pause Lets Business Get Second Wind

BY HOWARD WOOD.

PROF. G. F. WARREN.
[Acme Photo.]

Markets have been marking time for more than a week while traders await the results of the NRA program and a definite move by the administration in the direction of inflation. The week closed without producing anything tangible along either of these lines.

Inflation still is a will-o'-the-wisp. Threats [or, if you are a debtor, promises] of inflation have driven the value of the dollar in international exchange down nearly 30 per cent, but the fact of inflation still fails to materialize. There is less currency in circulation than at any time in six months and it is backed by more gold.

Nevertheless, inflation talk again gave the markets stimulation early in the week when the administration's monetary experts, Profs. Warren of Cornell and Rodgers of Yale and Mr. Warburg went to confer with the President at the "summer White House" at Hyde Park.

Nothing in the way of a public announcement came out of this conference, but it was so widely advertised beforehand that the markets advanced because of it.

Later in the week inflation talk died down and other influences took hold of the markets. The monthly report of U. S. Steel corporation, showing a drop in unfilled tonnage much greater than had been anticipated, had a bearish effect on the stock market.

Commodity markets generally lost ground during the week, not unusual during "dog days." Trading in commodities, as in stocks, was in much smaller volume than a month ago, as a large part of the financial community took to the hills or the water on their vacations.

Sugar prices strengthened during the week, chiefly on news of the strike and unrest in Cuba. Silver gained a little. Other commodities all headed downward.

Wheat and corn both lost about 6 cents per bushel. The weakness in grains occurred Friday and yesterday. It started with the usual moderate drop after the publication of a bullish crop report, but the decline became sharper when the trade discovered that the minimum price level for all grains was to be removed after Aug. 15.

This week-end weakness in grain prices was believed to be due almost entirely to the technical condition of the market. The government crop figures showing substantial crop deterioration in all grains and feedstuffs except wheat since the July report were believed to be bullish enough to warrant prices at least as high as they were early in the week.

Since Aug. 1 various business indices have indicated a slightly greater than seasonal drop in the volume of business activity. Carloadings in the week ended Aug. 5, the latest period for which data is available, declined a little more than in the corresponding weeks of preceding years. Electric output last week, although continuing in good volume, was not quite up to the level of the preceding week. Steel production declined a point or so.

These figures indicate that industry was pausing for its second wind. The setback was not severe enough to be interpreted as the end of the long period of industrial revival. The chief reason for the hiatus was believed to be that many companies, anticipating the blanket code, had been producing goods in excess of demand in hopes of being able to make a good profit on these goods after Aug. 1 when the code went into effect.

Bank credit, the weekly reserve figures disclosed, still shows no signs of expansion. Bankers, however, are confident that demand for funds will increase materially within the next three months when the autumn upturn in business, which they fully expect, occurs.

Bankers are closely watching the market for government bonds. It is there, they believe, that the first signs of actual currency inflation will occur.

More Gold Under Earmark Sent to France, Germany

Further gold withdrawals for shipment to France under earmark account were reported by the New York Federal Reserve bank yesterday. The export amounted to $6,248,400. A shipment of $97,500 to Germany was also announced, likewise against earmark.

RAIL LOADINGS HOLD FAR OVER RATE LAST YEAR

Week's Freight Total 613,112 Cars.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Loadings of revenue freight for week ended Aug. 5 totaled 613,112 cars, the car service division of the American Railway association announced today.

This was a decrease of 25,284 cars below the preceding week this year, which is in accordance with the normal seasonal trend, but an increase of 116,486 cars above the corresponding week in 1932. It was, however, a reduction of 121,618 cars below the corresponding week in 1931.

All commodities showed reductions under the preceding week, except ore and merchandise less than carload freight. All commodities showed increases over the corresponding week last year, except grain and grain products.

Loadings by Classes.

Miscellaneous freight loading for the week of Aug. 5 totaled 216,990 cars, a decrease of 11,602 cars below the preceding week, but an increase of 40,651 cars above the corresponding week in 1932. It was, however, a decrease of 63,369 cars under the same week in 1931.

Loading of merchandise less than carload lot freight totaled 172,923 cars, an increase of 516 cars above the preceding week, and 5,946 cars above the corresponding week last year, but 41,532 cars under the same week two years ago.

Grain and grain products loading for the week totaled 29,529 cars, a decrease of 3,836 car below the preceding week, 7,703 cars below the corresponding week last year, and 16,891 cars below the same week in 1931.

In the western districts alone, grain and grain products loading for the week ended Aug. 5 totaled 19,046 cars, a decrease of 4,784 cars below the same week last year.

Forest products loading totaled

To All Policyholders of the Illinois Life Insurance Company

"The provisions of the contract furnish to the policyholders the most favorable solution which seems possible: a management with a reputation for economy and careful investment, an opportunity for conservation and improvement of the Illinois Life assets and consequently a prospect for substantial reduction, in time, of the policy liens, which the impairment of the Illinois Life assets now requires." July 22, 1933. James H. Wilkerson, Judge, U. S. District Court.

The interests of all Illinois Life Policyholders can best be conserved by continuing in force their policies with the Central Life Assurance Society (Mutual), which recently reinsured the business of the Illinois Life Insurance Company.

Federal Judge Wilkerson entered a decree authorizing the Receiver, General Abel Davis, to execute a contract with the Central Life Assurance Society (Mutual) of Des Moines, Iowa, to reinsure the Illinois Life Insurance Company policyholders. This action was recommended on July 15, 1933, by an Advisory Board of three members appointed by the Judge to consider with the Receiver some twenty reinsurance proposals. On the same date the Receiver filed his report with a similar recommendation.

The Advisory Board, consisting of Thomas L. Marshall, Sam T. Swansen, and William H. Thompson, all men of extensive experience in life insurance matters, stated in its report to the court:

"Your Board has decided to and does recommend the acceptance of the proposal of the Central Life Assurance Society (Mutual) of Des Moines, Iowa. We have investigated carefully the standing, capability and integrity of its officers, the character of its business and assets and find them to be of a high grade. Its business is economically and capably administered and it has a high standing in its own State and elsewhere where it does business."

The Hon. Ernest Palmer, Director of Insurance, State of Illinois, says:

"In the opinion of this Department the contract which has received the approval of the United States District Court secures to the policyholders of the Illinois Life Insurance Company all benefits possible under the circumstances. The excellent reputation and standing of the reinsuring company and the safeguards to your rights contained in the contract, we believe warrant assurance that your interests will be fully protected.

"Believing that the policyholders of the Illinois Life are entitled to know how this Department regards the transaction, we are permitting the reinsuring company to send a letter to all policyholders, with the suggestion that in our opinion they may safely maintain their policies in force by the prompt payment of premiums to the Central Life Assurance Society (Mutual) in order to secure the maximum benefit under such policies."

BRITISH MARKET IS BUOYED UP BY FOREIGN LOANS

Treasury May Refund Part of Floating Debt.

BY SIDNEY CAVE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The feature of the stock market this week has been the return to popular favor of gilt edged securities, especially British funds. This is due partly to the immediate success of the Canadian and Austrian loans, the latter especially providing fresh stimulus for funds in general.

The opening of dealings on the last day of the week's session in the new Austrian scrip exceeded the most sanguine estimates by spurting to a 2 point premium. The loan was greatly oversubscribed, the big applicants being allotted an average of 7½ per cent of the amount applied for.

Expect British Refunding.

The ease with which a big issue of this class on the London market was oversubscribed, combined with the steady advance of quotations of British government securities, suggests that the time is approaching when conditions are favorable for the next step in British treasury financing. The market understands that government authorities are awaiting the best opportunity to fund a substantial portion of the floating debt and preparations are already made to take advantage of the opportunity when market conditions are ripe.

Market opinion is that no British treasury funding operations can be expected until the close of the holiday season, but the likelihood is not overlooked that in view of obviously favorable market conditions, certain dominion issues, especially conversion loans at Australia and South Africa, may be expedited.

Municipal Loans Discouraged.

The possibility of an imminent series of issues by British municipalities is less likely, for the borrowing intentions in this direction have been curbed by the government's statement of policy discouraging the idea of loans for purposes of public works.

Recent developments have brought a revival of activity in Lombard street. Holiday demands for currency have been substantial, the Canadian and Austrian loan operations resulted in a considerable shifting of credit, while treasury bill securities have been somewhat unevenly spread. The result has brought a better demand for loans, brokers having to pay ½ per cent for fresh day to day money—a rate not charged for some time. The credit supply is still very abundant.

Am. Telephone to Decide Dividend on Wednesday

New York, Aug. 12.—Major interest in next week's scheduled dividends meeting attaches to that of American Telephone and Telegraph company, due on Wednesday. Opinion in most Wall street quarters is that the regular quarterly payment of $2.25 will be ordered. Other important meetings on the calendar includes Chesapeake and Ohio Railway on Tuesday and International Harvester on Thursday.

Union Pacific May Order 5,000 Tons of Steel Rails

The Union Pacific railroad announces that it may enter the market soon for the purchase of 5,000 tons of steel rails.

EASTMAN OPENS CHECK ON FREIGHT NEEDS OF NATION

100,000 Questionnaires Are Sent to Shippers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Shippers and receivers of freight throughout the country were asked today by Joseph B. Eastman, transportation coördinator, to lend a hand in bringing about an improved rail freight service by making known to him their particular needs and objections, if any, to existing facilities.

Through the distribution of questionnaires to 100,000 shippers and receivers of freight, the coördinator's organization began a nation-wide survey of the freight transportation service. Its purpose is to help the coördinator and the railroads to arrive at conclusions that will make them better able to compete for available traffic. It will be followed by others to be distributed among other classes of carriers.

Seeks Greater Efficiency.

"The objective in this inquiry," said Mr. Eastman, "is to help the carriers improve their methods of handling and charging for freight service, with a view to greater economy and more efficient and attractive service. It is hoped to centralize and coördinate efforts in this direction which the carriers are making individually.

"The coördinator hopes that shippers and receivers of freight generally will make known their needs as of great help to him. Shippers and receivers of merchandise who fail to receive a copy of the questionnaire are urged to fill out a reprint or to obtain a copy from Washington.

The questionnaire contained a series of inquiries with potential answers against which the shippers and receivers were asked to check. If the recipient used truck transportation extensively in 1932 he was asked whether it was because of faster service, cheaper total cost, cheaper packing, more flexible or convenient service, personal friendship, or interest, or a number of other reasons that might influence the use of trucks rather than railroads.

Check Kinds of Shipping.

The questionnaire asks each individual what business he is in and whether he is mostly a shipper or receiver of freight. Each was asked the tonnage of less than car load freight shipped or received in 1932 by railroad, by forwarders or freight consolidaters, or by express, and the length of the haul in each case.

Finally it was asked whether recipients considered it advisable for railroads to perform pickup and delivery service, pickup only, delivery only, or neither.

It was made clear by Mr. Eastman that "neither your firm's name nor your own will be divulged to any person except sworn government employés," and your business secrets will be treated in the strictest confidence."

U. S. ANNOUNCES NEW RULES FOR PROCESSING TAX

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The department of agriculture today announced that wheat starch, bran, shorts, and middlings, products of wheat, will be exempt from the processing tax of 30 cents a bushel which went into effect on July 9.

It provided that gluten, a by-product of wheat starch, should be taxed.

The department reduced the conversion factor for canned macaroni and spaghetti from 62.5 to 31.2.

This means the tax on 100 pounds of canned macaroni or spaghetti shall be 31.2 per cent of the 30 cents per bushel tax on wheat.

STOCKS GAIN IN WEEK DESPITE LATE SETBACK

Averages Show All Groups Make Progress.

that inflation is just around the corner.

Still Look for Inflation.

President Roosevelt summoned some of his advisers who specialize on currency matters to Hyde Park early in the week, and the watch-tower boys could see nothing to the development but preparations to press the button and start old paper money mills running on a 24 hour shift.

No financial developments were forthcoming to justify this cock-sure view of the matter, the federal reserve banks continuing to expand their purchase of government bonds in the usual small amount with the actual total of bank credit undergoing little change. But the conviction that inflation is inevitable seems to be so widely held that the only question in the minds of many is just when it is to get under way. On the foreign exchange markets, the dollar remained nearly motionless throughout the week.

Several Groups Advance.

Pools were conspicuously busy in behalf of a number of their favorites during the week, Chrysler and Montgomery Ward being among the outstanding subjects of their activity.

The rail equipment shares were brought into favor after a long period of somnolence by reports of impending orders for locomotives and other equipments by some of the leading roads of the country.

Repeal issues got a fresh whiff from the Arizona election and the gold mining shares made the most of the fresh interest in inflation.

Trade reviews indicated that the course of business activity on the whole continues encouraging, and talk of a turn after Labor day is beginning to find a definite place in the market letter comment of the day.

HOGS CONTINUE DROP ON FEAR OF PROCESSING PLAN

Spread on Weight Basis Grows Wider.

Swine yesterday sank into the lowest price channels for recent weeks under the burden of a group of bearish factors. Warmer weather, narrowing outlet for heavy product, and above all, the plans to levy a tax on the majority of the butcher classes of hogs which make up the greatest share of the tonnage of pork on the market, combined to drive the bulk of hogs exceeding 235 pounds to lower levels. The general average price for the day figured $4.00, the lowest since May 6, and $1.20 under the high day of the year.

No selected lightweights were offered, with the best on the market at $4.50. Prices for the day ruled weak to 15 cents lower. Lightweights closed 10 to 25 cents higher than a week ago, while butchers showed losses of 15 to 30 cents for the week.

Prices Spread Widens.

This two-day trend was in evidence all week, heavy grades daily reaching new low levels for recent weeks, while a mere handful of top light sold at the highest prices in three weeks toward the end of the week. The trade blamed weakness in heavy hogs entirely on the emergency corn-hog plans. While "higher ups" in packing towns expressed no surprise at the ready acceptance of the plans by the agriculture adjustment administration late in the week, most members of the trade had not expected the plans to go through without a good deal of revising. Many had called it too "fantastic" for serious consideration.

As a result of the decline in big weights, the week's general average price was lowered to $4.15, the lowest since week ending May 13, despite the higher tops. Receipts were lightest since middle of April, but this was partly offset by an influx of weighty hogs, liquidated by farmers in hopes of escaping a later market handicapped by the taxation of product.

Hogs Average Heavier.

The average for the week was 4 pounds heavier than the preceding week and showed a gain of 10 pounds compared with six weeks ago.

A skyrocketing lamb market incited by abbreviated receipts and increased eastern buying, was the center of attraction in midweek. Prices began a retreat toward the end of the week, but the average for the six day period at $7.70 stood second highest since June, 1931, and $2.50 above the corresponding week in 1932. Two years ago the week's average was $6.95.

As lamb carcasses are quoted about steady with a year ago, practically all of the advance in the lamb market is attributed to the rise in wool and other byproducts over 1932 price levels.

As cattle are paying better returns the liquidation that was in evidence last month has let up to some extent. The run for the week was second smallest since the week ending July 8. According to farmers coming on the market many of the steers selling at $6.00 to $7.25 show a margin of $1.25 to $1.75 over the cost of the feeders.

LOUISIANA RICE FIRM RESTORES PRE-WAR PRICES

Abbeville, La., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The Louisiana State Rice Milling company, operating throughout Louisiana and Arkansas, has gone beyond government requirements and wired its rough rice buyers to pay $2.75 to $3 a barrel.

This establishes a price to farmers on the pre-war basis prevailing from 1909 to 1914, the objective set by the government in its recovery program. Frank A. Godchaux, president of the company, thinks these prices can be maintained with the small carryover and the small production in prospect from the new crop.

JEWEL TEA CO. SALES $712,435 FOR FOUR WEEKS

The Jewel Tea company yesterday reported sales of $712,435 for the four weeks ended July 15, as compared with $771,576 in the comparable weeks last year, a decrease of 7.66 per cent. Sales were $5,513,295 in the first 28 weeks of 1933 as compared with $6,064,486 in the same period last year, a decline of 12.39 per cent.

Sales of Jewel Food Stores, Inc., a subsidiary, were $303,397 for the four week period and $2,091,846 for the 28 week period.

What Price "Preferred?"

How "preferred" is preferred stock? Various corporate "reorganization" plans that have been announced during the last year or so have provided an interesting study of the rights and privileges of the preferred stockholder.

When he buys preferred stock the purchaser is led to believe that if misfortune comes to the company he will at least have his claims satisfied before anything can be paid out to the common stockholders.

The agreement under which the preferred stock is issued usually specifies that dividends must be paid in full on the preferred before anything can be paid on the common and that if the company should be liquidated the holder of preferred must be paid back his full investment with dividends to date before the common stockholder gets a share.

Experience has shown, however, that many such companies don't liquidate. They "reorganize." And in the shuffle the preferred stockholders make concessions and the common stockholders, the management group, retain at least some equity and the management powers.

Sometimes there is no other way out. In many cases the management through no fault of its own has been unable to keep the corporation above water in a period of intense business depression. In other cases there seems to be a deliberate intention to squeeze the preferred stockholders out of all they can be made to give just to increase the equity for the management group's common stock.

There usually isn't a great deal that the preferred stockholders can do about it. They are scattered and disorganized. They haven't the capacity for actual management or the will to take it over. And somebody has to run the business. It can't be placed on the market and sold like a repossessed automobile. Therefore, it is "reorganized."

Although the preferred stockholder doesn't get back his hundred cents on the dollar, he gets a lot of good experience. He learns that preferred stock is preferred only as long as the company is solvent. He may be more cautious the next time.

High grade preferred stock in a sound company still has its attractions and the investor may be justified in accepting limited dividends in return for the added degree of safety. Speculative preferred stock is just a fifth grade bond or debenture. The investor takes just as much risk as he would in buying a good common stock—probably more—and foregoes the possibility of greater income.

FOUR MEN
Who Desire a Permanent Connection—Not a Mere Stop-over

Here is a job for sincere men who are tired of the experiments and mirages of the old depression era—men who want to get their feet firmly under them on a worthwhile proposition which will enable them to take fullest benefit, not only of present bettered conditions, but of the brighter period that lies ahead.

Interest every minute. No disheartening dry spells. One business that returns a good living for every honest day's effort.

But—just because it is a money maker—we want NO men who have a tendency to ease up when they have reached a goal.

Startling Facts That Put Real Drama Into Selling.

And we will prove every claim by actually going into the field with you and showing what our men are doing every day. We expect, in return, conscientious effort, a full day's work and loyalty that will carry you into the higher positions which this national organization offers.

What we have is a necessity covered by exclusive patents. The men we choose have an opportunity to make from $38 to $75 a wk. at start.

DEAN [IN HIS FIFTH YEAR] MADE $163 LAST WEEK. ROGERS [HERE TWO WEEKS] MADE $103 IN HIS SECOND WEEK ASIDE FROM BONUSES.

Applicants must be of good appearance and have the best of references. No investment of any sort is asked or required—except the investment of your time in a real future, if you are selected.

Interview will be granted Monday only between 9 and 12 noon. Room 613 Mather Tower, 75 E. Wacker-dr.

OUT IN THE WEST SUBURBS—

There are a few real opportunities. Sometimes it takes harsh experience to bring a man into a new line, but if he makes more than he ever made in other lines he can be thankful. I am sure that Mr. P. is thankful for making as much his first week in this business, without any previous experience, as he made in a month in his old line, at which he worked for years! Another new man, C. S., also without any previous experience, made but $21.00 his first week in a western Chicago suburb, but he started right out his second week to go well past that figure.

If you are really looking for permanency, that is profitable all year 'round, and have stamina and courage, then you should be able to prepare to step into this work and master it within a reasonable time. You will be placed advantageously to yourself in a western suburb, but I am not after men from any part of Chicago who are inspired to move into those suburbs. I want men with families already living there. To qualify you must come from one of these towns adjoining or near Chicago's west border.

My name is Wilbor, and I shall be glad to talk things over with you Monday, Aug. 14, from 9 to 12 a. m. See me in Room 26 at 212 S. Marion-st., Oak Park.

COTTON PRICES DECLINE AFTER EARLY STRENGTH

Buying of cotton early, particularly in New York, was believed to be for government account. It gave the market a stronger tone and a little upturn for a time but as soon as the buying subsided a selling movement set in and prices declined and closed around the lowest of the day, with net losses in Chicago of 9 to 20 points and 9 to 15 points in other markets. Spots lost 10 points in New York to basis of 9.20c, with New Orleans off 10 points to 9.15c, with Houston 9.10c, and Galveston, 9.05c. Liverpool was 16 to 17 points lower.

8 PAGES OF COMICS

WE'LL FIX THESE KIDS, MEN- THEY'VE MEDDLED IN OUR PLANS FOR THE LAST TIME-
AND IT WON'T TAKE US LONG TO GET THE PIECES OF THAT MAP FROM THEM EITHER-
CAPTURED! IN THE HANDS OF ROUGH-RIDING DESPERADOES- THE TWO BOYS TOOK A CHANCE ONCE TOO OFTEN, RED RIGGLES BACK-TRACKED AND TRAPPED THEM IN THE NARROW CANYON, AS THEY PUZZLED OVER THE STRANGE SIGN OF THE DAGGER AND HEART- WITH THE TELL-TALE PIECES OF THE TREASURE MAP STILL IN THEIR POCKETS, THE BOYS CAN'T EXPECT NO MERCY THIS TIME - THE BANDITS HUSTLE THEM INTO A DESERTED MOUNTAIN SHACK-
NOW YOU LITTLE PROWLERS- SPIES! GET IN THERE AND TAKE YOUR MEDICINE!
YOU BRAT! YOU'RE THE ONE WHO TOOK THAT HAT AND STOLE THE PIECES OF THE TREASURE MAP OUT OF IT- WHAT DID YOU DO WITH THEM?
HAND 'EM OVER! WHERE ARE THEY?
SO!
GREAT SCOTT! THAT SIGN AGAIN!
BEWARE!
HE SLAMS THE DOOR SHUT AND SHOUTS A WARNING IN A DEEP VOICE-
THEY'RE RIGHT ON OUR TRACK- THE BLACK BAND AGAIN!
THAT SIGN WASN'T THERE FIVE MINUTES AGO WHEN WE CAME IN-OUT THE WINDOW- NOW'S OUR CHANCE WHILE THEY'RE SCARED STIFF-RIGHT IN MY ARMS, BOYS- THAT'S ONE TRICK YOU TRIED - BUT IT WON'T WORK-
FORGET THE BLACK BAND, MEN- I'VE GOT THEM RIGHT HERE IN MY HANDS- I JUST SAW THIS LITTLE SNEAK MAKE THAT SIGN ON THE DOOR, MYSELF-
SO THESE SIGNS THAT WE'VE BEEN SEEING ARE ALL YOUR WORK, EH? WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT SIGN- WHAT DO YOU KNOW OF THE BLACK BAND? WELL- WE'LL GET THAT OUT OF YOU NOW-
WITH HAND UPRAISED RED RIGGLES SUDDENLY STOPS AS A STREAK OF STEEL FLASHES THROUGH THE WINDOW AND WHIPS PAST HIS HEAD-THE DAGGER AND HEART!

Little Orphan Annie
WOW- WHAT A BREAK FOR US, WHEN WE MET MR. CHARLES C. CHIZZLER-
DID WE WOW 'EM AT THE THEATRE, WITH OUR ACT!!! WHY, THEY CHEERED AND CLAPPED FOR TWENTY MINUTES-
YES, IT WAS WONDERFUL-
IT WAS MR CHIZZLER WHO GOT US OUR CHANCE FOR A TRYOUT- HE'S SURE A SWELL FELLOW-
YES, INDEED- WHY, AFTER SUCH A FINE RECEPTION, MAYBE WE CAN GET A FEW DOLLARS FOR ANOTHER PERFORMANCE-
C.C. SAYS HE DOESN'T WANT A CENT- HE ONLY WANTS TO HELP US- BUT, GEE WHIZ- IF WE MAKE SOME MONEY, HE'LL HAVE TO TAKE SOMETHIN'-
TO BE SURE- WE MUST INSIST ON SHARING SOME OF OUR GOOD FORTUNE WITH HIM- AH, THAT IS HIS STEP NOW-
AH- DIDN'T I TELL YOU YOUR ACT WOULD BE A SENSATION? HA! HA! HOW DOES IT FEEL TO BE FAMOUS?
AW, WE'RE NOT FAMOUS YET- AND NO MATTER HOW MUCH WE MAKE, WE'LL OWE ALL OUR SUCCESS TO YOU
TUT-TUT! DON'T MENTION IT- WHY, MY ONLY WISH IS TO AID YOU- NOW THE MANAGER OF THAT THEATRE WILL BE COMING TO SEE YOU- JUST LET ME HANDLE HIM FOR YOU- PLEASE-
HE'S SHARP- I KNOW HIS TRICKS- I DON'T WANT TO SEE YOU TWO TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF-SURE- YOU TALK TO HIM- THAT'S AWFUL NICE O' YOU-
YOURE VERY KIND TO US- I HOPE WE CAN DO SOMETHING FOR YOU IN RETURN-
HE'LL GET HIS CHANCE TO DO SOMETHING FOR ME, ALL RIGHT- AH- AS I SUSPECTED- HERE COMES THAT THEATRE MANAGER NOW- HE MUSTN'T GET A CHANCE TO TALK TO THEM-
SH-H- I WOULDN'T GO IN THERE, NOW- THEY'RE CRAZY ON THEIR PRICE- THINK THEY'RE BROADWAY STARS- TAKE MY ADVICE AND LET THEM WAIT A WHILE- I'LL GET THEM TO LISTEN TO REASON-
BUT THEY WERE A SENSATION- I AM READY TO PAY ANYTHING-
YES- YES- I KNOW- BUT LET ME HANDLE THEM- I'LL GET THEIR ACT FOR YOU- JUST LEAVE THEM TO ME-
I WOULD GIVE A VERY GOOD PERCENTAGE- HOW MUCH DO THEY WANT?
AT THE MOMENT, THEY WANT THOUSANDS- BUT I AM SURE, BY TOMORROW, WE CAN GET TOGETHER- JUST LET ME HANDLE THEM-
WELL, HE'S STALLED OFF FOR A WHILE- NOW TO GET THEM TO SIGN A CONTRACT, MAKING ME THEIR BUSINESS MANAGER- OH, BOY- THIS IS THE BEST THING THATS COME MY WAY, FOR YEARS-

ROBERT AND PEGGY
W. G. WHITFORD
1833-1933
IN A CENTURY OF PROGRESS
1833-1933

FAREWELL TO CHICAGO: "IRON HORSES" OF PAST AND PRESENT

ROBERT AND PEGGY wave goodby to Chicago and the World's Fair as the all-steel modern train pulls slowly away from the station and the city where the children have spent a glorious twelve weeks of sightseeing. They will be glad to get home again, of course, but they are sorry the time has come for them to leave. But even as Chicago's famous skyline fades from view they are having another thrilling experience. They are aboard one of the finest overland passenger trains, which is, in itself, a luxurious example of the progress of transportation in the last 100 years.

In the Travel and Transport building at A Century of Progress Robert and Peggy had seen earlier types of locomotives, pictured at the sides of the page. They had seen some of the pioneer "iron horses" in actual operation in a pageant called "Wings of a Century." So, when the time came for them to get aboard the crack train which was to whirl them homeward, the children had a far greater appreciation of the progress of transportation during the last century.

"I think we have learned more about the wonders of the world in the last twelve weeks than we ever could learn in school," said Robert.

"Yes, and it was such lovely fun, too," Peggy agreed.

HOW DO YOU DO, MRS. TRUEHEART- IS TESS HOME?
DICK! WHY-WHY TESS WENT TO SEE YOU AN HOUR AGO- ARE YOU ALL RIGHT?
ALL RIGHT? WHY OF COURSE I'M ALL RIGHT! WHAT DO YOU MEAN?
WHY-SHE WAS TOLD YOU WERE BADLY INJURED AND POSSIBLY DYING-ON A BOAT IN THE BAY-AND SHE WENT TO YOU.
ABOUT AN HOUR AGO, A FISHERMAN, IN AN OILED-SKIN COAT AND FISHING HAT CALLED-ALL EXCITED AND SAID HE'D BEEN SENT TO GET HER... HE SAID YOU'D MET WITH A SERIOUS ACCIDENT AND WERE CALLING FOR HER.
AND TESS WENT WITH HIM?
YES-OF COURSE! SHE HAD NO REASON TO DOUBT HIM... AND BESIDES, IT INVOLVED YOU
WHEN PAT PATTON REPORTED TO TRACY A FEW WEEKS AGO THAT HE PERSONALLY SHOT "STOOGE" VILLER AND SAW HIS BODY SINK IN THE WATERS OF THE BAY OF HALIFAX, HE NEVER REALIZED THAT HIS BULLET WENT WILD-AND THE SINKING WAS MERELY A TRICK DIVE! "STOOGE" VILLER IS STILL VERY MUCH ALIVE.
IS IT MUCH FARTHER?
THAT'S THE BOAT WHERE HE IS, RIGHT OVER THERE, MISS.

"I'M 'SPOILED' NOW FOR ANY CAR BUT Plymouth"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH OFFICER HARVEY HAYES, STATE HIGHWAY POLICE STATION No. 2, WILMINGTON, DELAWARE

"Speed? Pick-up? One of the boys clocked me. She's good for 60 in second—85 in high!"

"Most cars eat oil at that speed—but not this one. When I check—my gauge reads 'full'."

"How do the boys like it? Say, there are eleven of us here at the station . . . and six of us have Plymouths of our own! The way we use them, we get plenty of chance to judge cars on this job!"

"I Couldn't Stand My Old Car after Driving a Plymouth on Duty"

THEY'VE had three Plymouths at Station No. 2. Hard-riding Harvey Hayes drives one of them—when he isn't on a motorcycle.

And pushing his own "old crate" home (to use his words) didn't thrill him any after he had been riding behind Floating Power from noon till midnight.

He did some figuring—and now he has his own Plymouth. So have five others of the eleven men at his station.

As Officer Hayes put it, they're all "spoiled" for anything else now—after learning first hand how Plymouth flashes away on pick-up, slips in and out of traffic, and brakes to smooth, quick, even stops in the tight spots.

Unless you're a state policeman, you may never get to put Plymouth's accelerator "down to the floor-boards." It has far more speed than you'll ever use in ordinary driving.

But you can sample Floating Power engine mountings—hydraulic brakes—rigid-X double-drop frame. You can see how smooth Plymouth is—how easily it handles—how quickly it responds to your foot on the accelerator. Just "look at all three" low-priced cars . . . ride in them and compare them.

Start looking now—prove Plymouth out on the road, and see for yourself what each low-priced car offers you for your money. There's a liberal education in car values in that way of buying. That's why so many people follow it.

The art of CIVILIZED
SHAVING
in one swift easy lesson

STOP that rough stuff in the bathroom every morning. • • It's only natural to use the latest red, white and blue language in describing the razor (and the blade) that could possibly give a man such a slow, pully, painful shave. • • But you know how much good that does. And you know who is to blame for your using that so-and-so razor, don't you. The man in the mirror. After all, it's his own fault for not shaving with a New Enders Speed Razor. • • Speed doesn't fully describe it. The New Enders is fast because it's so simple in design, so smooth and business-like in action. It's the way to have a face that's civilized, and a disposition that's serene. A brand-new approach to shaving. A re-invention of the safety razor.

THE NEW ENDERS HAS WHAT OTHER RAZORS HAVEN'T

All there in one piece. Nothing to take apart, clamp or screw together.

Square handle. Made of colored bakelite, and curved to fit the grasp of the hand.

Light weight. One ounce, perfectly balanced. No scraping or false strokes to find the right shaving angle. Glides smoothly through the whiskers—with handle held lightly out from the face.

Blade clicks into place. Thumb flicks it out again when you've finished.

Rinses clean instantly. No corners, joints or crevices to clog up.

And the blades are KEEN. Rigid, tempered steel, ground and honed lengthwise to the grain. Cutlery-blade thickness to hold the edge with repeated use. No stropping necessary.

GIVE UP YOUR SAVAGE METHODS OF SHAVING

Come clean from behind those pinwhiskers. Do it quick and easy. Wear a shining smile that's smooth from ear to ear. Start shaving the easy way. Get your New Enders today.

A perfume with tomorrow's swift, exotic allure . . . . .

THE world today is very mad, and very, very enchanting. It is a world which, looking to the future, turns its back on all the old, unhappy things. It is tomorrow's world. To a woman there is nothing quite so expressive of her mood, its color and rhythm, its tempo, its accent, as the subtle, drifting scent of the perfume she uses. And Yardley has made her a new one, called, with deceptive simplicity, "Fragrance." As clearly as in a crystal, "Fragrance" mirrors all the strange and glowing beauty, all the swift, exotic allure of this fabulous world we live in. For "Fragrance" is tomorrow's perfume, even as the world that is building now is more tomorrow's than today's. There is also a face powder, "Fragrance," and a dusting powder. The perfume is priced at $1.10, $2.20, $4.00, and $8.25; the face powder at $1.10, and the dusting powder (a large box, with lamb's wool puff) at $1.65. At leading stores in Chicago and elsewhere. Yardley & Co., Ltd., British Empire Bldg., 620 Fifth Avenue, New York; in London, at 33, Old Bond Street; and Paris, Toronto, Sydney.

PARIS DESIGNS CLOTHES FOR CAMPUS

Time to Can Peaches for Next Winter

Price Permits Storing Away Delicious Jams, Chutneys, Preserves.

By MARY MEADE.

PEACHES are blushing furiously this month. Partly this is due to the Illinois sun, which, it seems, has a way of turning out rosy, luscious complexions, but mainly it's because of the peach family's shame for their fewness. For owing to an inconsiderate frost last spring many baby peaches caught a chill and didn't live to grow up!

But, though there's no bumper crop to gloat over, there are still plenty of bushels at not too uppish prices which are right now flirting with us to spirit them into pies and puddings, ice box desserts and sauces—even soups and long cold drinks. And because, willy-nilly, peach loving families don't let us forget that winter's around only a few more corners, tantalizing thoughts of peach chutney, butter, jam, and pickles are poking up siren heads and luring us to the kitchen.

With Pineapple.

So, starting with canning thoughts. First, what will it be that's different? We have recipes for peach pickles, conserves, jam, and preserves if you would like them. But today let it be something "quite other"—for instance:

PEACH AND PINEAPPLE CONSERVE.

2 cups diced peaches.
1 cup cooked diced or grated pineapple.
Juice and grated rind of 1 orange.
Juice and grated rind of 1 lemon.
2 2-3 cups of sugar.

Combine all the ingredients and cook over a slow heat until thick and clear. Stir frequently to prevent scorching. Turn into sterile hot glasses and seal immediately with paraffin.

A chutney, the dictionary tells us, is an Indian relish made from fruits, spices, vinegar, and sugar. It's a born flatterer and complement for hot or cold meat dishes. On top of that, it's not at all hard to make.

PEACH CHUTNEY.

4 quarts peeled, stoned peaches.
5 cups vinegar.
3 small cloves garlic, chopped.
½ cup of chopped onion.
1 ounce hot red peppers, cut up.
¼ pound white mustard seed.
¾ cup seedless raisins.
3 tablespoons scraped ginger root.
½ cup sugar.

Add 2 cups of the vinegar to the peeled, stoned peaches and simmer till soft. Add the garlic, onion, red pepper, mustard seed, raisins, ginger root, sugar, and the rest of the vinegar. Boil gently for 15 minutes. Then pour into hot sterile jars and seal at once.

Spicy Baked Fruit.

Canned baked peaches combine the best of spicy baked flavors with the grand good point of being able to be canned and saved for winter. Here's how:

CANNED BAKED PEACHES.

Select ripe yet firm peaches. Dip them in boiling water to loosen the skins, and slip them off immediately. Cut in halves and stone. Arrange the peach halves in shallow baking dishes, filling each cavity with 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon melted butter, a few drops of lemon juice and a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the peaches are tender—about 40 minutes. Place them at once in hot sterile jars and pour in the sirup from the pans. Fill to overflowing with boiling sirup made by cooking 1 part of sugar and 2 parts of water. Seal and cool before storing.

Surprise Centers.

But to my mind the best yet is a spiced peach with a surprise in the heart of it.

PEACH MANGOS.

Select large, firm peaches. Dip them in boiling water and slip off the skins. Cut them in half and stone. Now fill the cavities with a mixture of half and half crushed pineapple and cut white cherries. Fasten the halves together with two toothpicks, then carefully lower the filled peaches into clean jars and fill the jars to the top with the following sirup:

4 cups sugar.
2 cups vinegar.
1 tablespoon broken stick cinnamon.
1 teaspoon allspice.
1½ teaspoon whole cloves.

Boil these ingredients together for 7 minutes, then pour over the peach mangos, filling the jars. Adjust the covers and boil in a hot water bath for 25 minutes.

Delectable Cool Dessert for Warm Days.

And of course if we see a chance for running in a chilly frozen dessert to cool off the folks these wilting days, depend on us to do it. And name me a more opportune moment than that of fresh peach season. This recipe was designed for a mechanical refrigerator, but the same mixture may be turned into an ice freezer and come out just as delectably tantalizing:

FRESH PEACH ICE CREAM.

1 cup powdered sugar.
¼ teaspoon salt.
1 cup chilled, evaporated milk.
1 teaspoon gelatin.
¼ cup cold water.
2 cups fresh peach pulp.
1 cup whipping cream.
¼ teaspoon almond extract.

Soak the gelatin in the cold water for five minutes. Add the sugar, salt, evaporated milk, and peach pulp and mix thoroughly. Fold in the stiffly whipped cream and the almond extract. Pour into a refrigerator tray and freeze.

CREOLE PEACH COMPOTE.

3 large ripe peaches [or 6 canned halves].
⅝ cup whipping cream.
Shaved unsweetened chocolate.

Peel and pit the peaches. Place each half peach in its own sherbet glass, cut side up, and top with whipped, slightly sweetened cream. Shave generously over the tops the unsweetened chocolate and serve cold.

SKETCHED IN PARIS BY A TRIBUNE STAFF ARTIST.

Styles Served Straight from the Shoulders

By BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—(Special.)—Flittings of the big grownup world of society give the best Paris style emporiums a peaceable moment to shoot out some styles for the young idea, soon to be en route back to school and college. They are serving the young dress and ensemble straight from the shoulders for higher education purposes. The shoulders themselves, however, are far from straight. They go shooting out in thirty-six directions and ways.

It's hard to say what they may do. Some puff out like Carnera's biceps, others recline horizontally out beyond the arms in the manner of a boxer after the count of ten, and others rise in wings like a painter's conception of little angels. These shenanigans, however, begin and end along the shoulders. The rest of the dress or the wrap is trained to the straight and narrow.

No Excess Flare.

There is a program of economy of material, and a skirt gets two narrow gores only in many of the smartest dresses designed for the great surging classes of schoolgirls.

Coats and jackets aren't bothered by pinch fitted seams nor by extravagant swagger flares, either. They careen down from their fancy shoulders to the hem in straight lines, lines with an easy swing to them but no excesses. Dresses with jackets get the royal red carpet of welcome in the Paris couture. Sleeveless jackets, skirts, and blouses join hands and make the kind of ensemble that the schoolgirl can wear as is in mild September and under a coat when the football fever attacks her world.

Sagless Cloth.

The materials for youthful fall clothes are the result of high powered propaganda demanding cloth that doesn't sag in all the wrong places, pull at the hems, nor hang on to undesirable curves left by a sitting body. Paris has a whole flock of woolens that are smoother and as firm as a wise parent, with just enough give and not a bit too much.

Schiaparelli's new patterned jersey, thick like tricot, is one, and there are mossy napped wools that are on a firm base, wool canvases, and ribbed wools with the ribs running every which way to confound and rout wrinkles. A whole family of closely woven wools with hairy surfaces are smart, young, and wearable.

Autumn Colors Used.

Colors for youth this fall are replicas of what you find walking in the autumn woods. Red browns and dark browns and bronzy greens predominate, with highlights of orange, bright red, and purplish blues. A dark red, almost black, is one that looks promising for real winter weather. Dark blue is going on triumphant through the autumn after a bumper summer season. Darkest smoky gray of the September horizon is a big feature color, but only to be taken by the young when

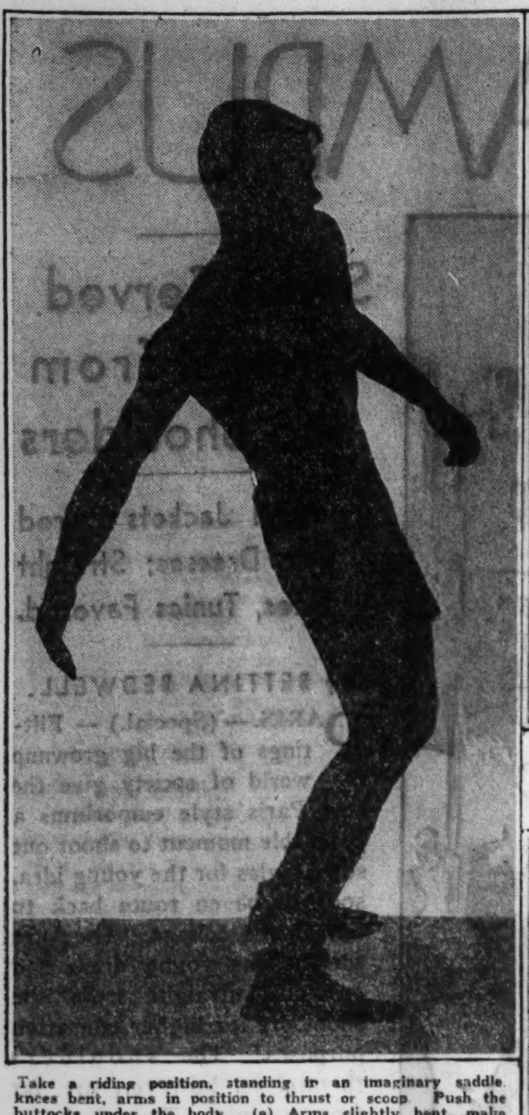
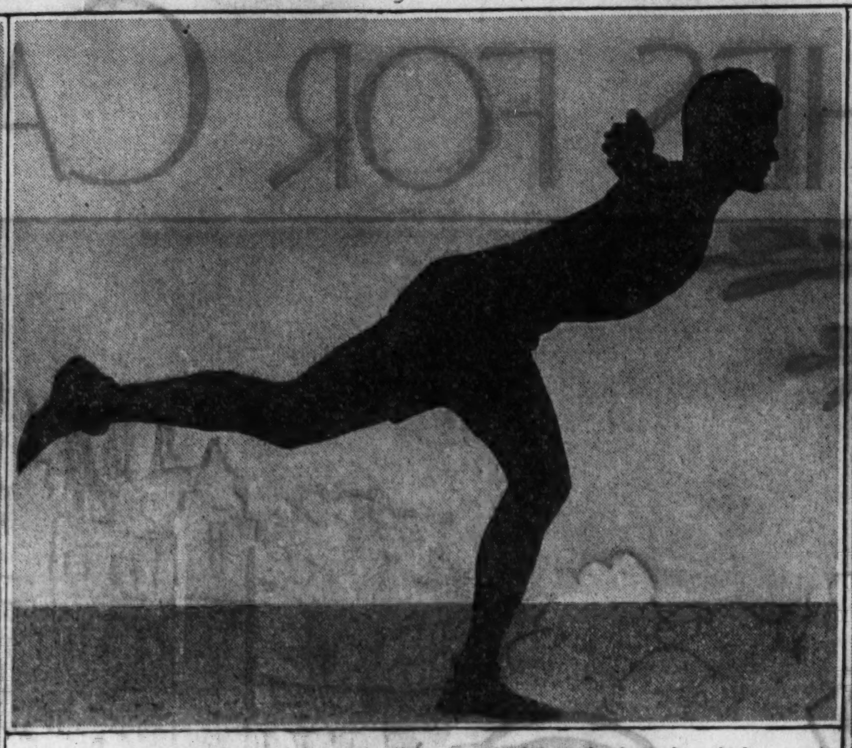
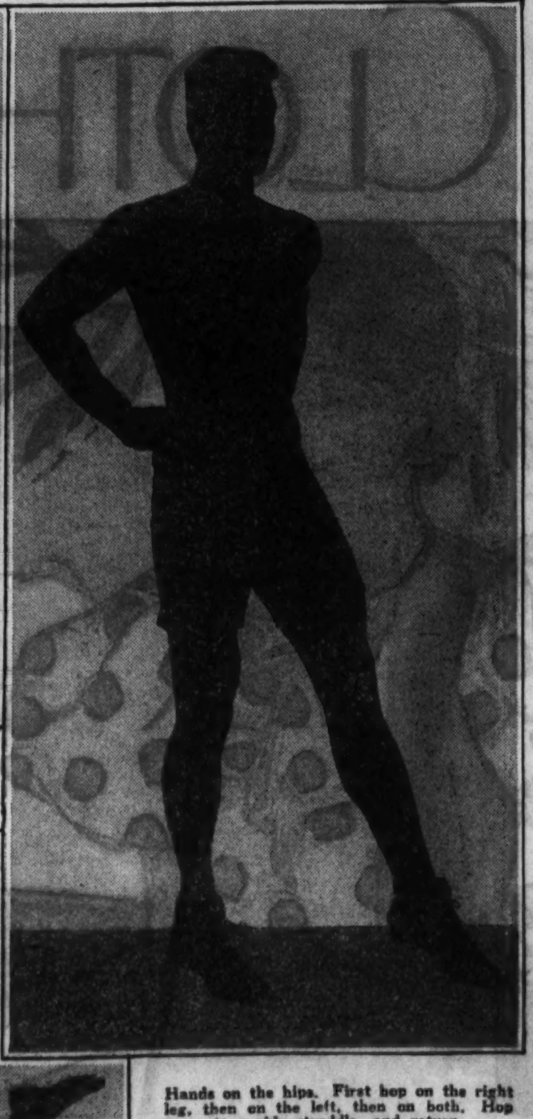
Five Exercises Practiced for Six Weeks Will Result in the Slim, Graceful Hips Demanded by the New Autumn Dress Silhouettes



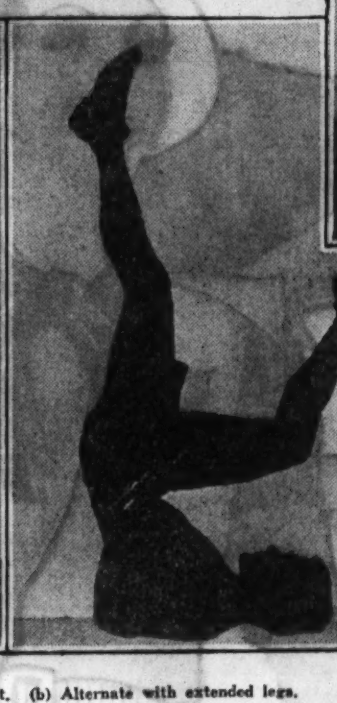
Take a riding position, standing in an imaginary saddle knees bent, arms in position to thrust or scoop. Push the buttocks under the body. (a) Arms slightly bent, make rearward circles with each arm alternately, rocking the body and forcing the lower back under the body.



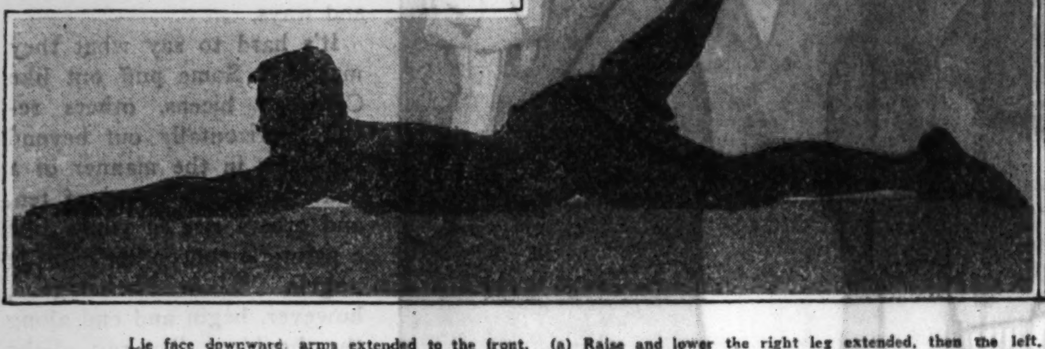
Take the position of attention. Raise the right leg extended to the front, knee high, arms to the front. Retate the right leg to the rear and move the arms to the sides horizontally, palms up. Recover, and repeat with the other leg.



Hands on the hips. First hop on the right leg, then on the left, then on both. Hop to a side straddle, and return.



Left: Lie on the back, arms by the sides, palms down. Raise the legs overhead and to the rear, raising the hips off the floor. Support the hips on the hands, elbows resting on the floor. Do the bicycle exercise.



Lie face downward, arms extended to the front. (a) Raise and lower the right leg extended, then the left. (b) Alternate with extended legs.

Lacquer Ware Made of Silk, Not Thin Wood

FROM the Fukien Children's home in China has come one of the most interesting of the many exhibits in the Chinese pavilion at Chicago's A Century of Progress. The special craft of the home is fine lacquer ware, one of China's most famous products, together with jade and porcelain, but of the three the one least understood in this country.

Casual observers of the lovely bits of lacquer would believe them to be of light thin wood; in reality the finest examples of lacquer, such as those at the pavilion, are of silk—even the colorful cups and saucers and plates and bowls. More amazing still, all are heat and water proof.

In the lacquer collection are ten fairly large figures of great personages in China's history, beautifully colored and modeled. Smaller objects the lover of Chinese things would fancy are statuettes, screens with delicate tracery, bowls, wine cups, a variety of boxes and a number of exquisitely shaped and colored vases or flower bowls. All of these are substantial looking, but unbelievably light in weight, since most are hollow.

In making statuettes a clay model is first executed; while this is wet it is carefully covered with a layer of fine, but strong, silk. Then begins a painstaking process of applying layer after layer of fine lacquer. When thoroughly dried the model is given a long immersion in water to dissolve the clay, which washes out, leaving only the hollow statuette—nothing more than a thin, but sturdy, shell of lacquered silk.

The delicate cups and saucers come in all colors. The wine cups are often used for cigarets at table and the little bowls and boxes serve a number of decorative and practical purposes.

Attractive Iris Border Demands Moist, Rich Soil

WHEN planning this fall for next year's flower garden include a few Siberian irises for the borders. The dwarf bobwhite, white and yellow, makes an excellent and unusual border or edging. A moderately moist soil, rich and free from lime, is desired by these attractive and less known irises.

Prune Climbing Roses When Blooming Ends

AFTER the climbing roses have ceased to bloom they should be pruned by removing a few of the old shoots and training the younger ones. Tea roses and their hybrids should be dusted with dry lime sulphur and some good plant food be worked into the ground about their roots.

Soap Bubble Outfits Please the Youngsters

EVERY harassed mother should hie herself down to a loop department store, there to invest a half dollar in almost a whole summer's amusement for her children. This is a soap bubble outfit, lots of tiny, bright colored cakes of soap, and two trusty clay pipes. A sick child would adore it, even though he might moisten the bed covers a bit more than his mother might wish.

You'll Find It's Lots of Fun to Remodel Your Own Figure

"West Point Exercises," an illustrated booklet outlining the complete series of exercises as presented in these columns through the courtesy of the United States Military academy, may be obtained by sending five cents in coin or stamps to Antoinette Donnelly, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

THE bathing suit silhouette exposure is no doubt responsible. At any rate, there's a perfect deluge of requests for thigh and lower back reducing exercises. Never have so many come in before in one season.

Perhaps women are beginning to realize that these parts of the anatomy can be whittled down. It may be the clothes, too. This year's call is for removal of thigh bulges and a flattening down of the protruding rear. Incidentally, the autumn things are going to be still more of a trial to those with the too-heavy thigh and protruding lower backs. Advance reports indicate a revival of the form-fitting skirt—and form-fitting, I mean—with all ruffles or other external aids heretofore given us limited to the bottom of the skirt.

So, knowing from their own voluntary testimony what these exercises presented today already have done for women, I repeat them. I can testify to one perfectly miraculous silhouette reshaping done under my close observation by exercise No. 1 alone. But the exercise was done twice daily for six weeks—and with the vim and vigor and minute attention to instructions outlined. The whole body took on a new and lovely line.

Do these exercises five minutes a day at first—then do them twice a day. Then gradually work up to ten minutes morning and night. I'll guarantee the wanted silhouette change if you stick to them for six weeks.

Black and White Outstanding Color Scheme for Fall

THE oldest color scheme is the newest color scheme for this fall. It's that old tried and true pair, black and white. The tricky shades will be in the running, of course, but the advance fashion dope is that black and white will lead the field. The next best fall shade is a tone called eel gray, a dusky, swishy color that is almost brown.

A LOVELY NEGLIGEE, BUT NOT TO BE DONNED IN A HURRY

A new fall negligee of shimmering pale green chiffon velvet closes down the sleeves and front with scores of small, velvet covered buttons. Its softly fitted and draped lines end in a short train.

Modern Baby Is Greeted with Little Fanfare

Parents Follow Own Tastes and Local Custom About Announcements.

Miss Bartlett will be glad to answer etiquette queries. If a personal reply is desired please send a stamped, self addressed envelope.

By Helen Bartlett.

IN this country the entrance of a child into the world is not heralded by cannon salutes, royal ceremony, or official announcements. There is, actually, no strict etiquette about the notification of a birth in the family, nor even about christenings.

Parents do what their own tastes and local custom dictate. In some localities there may be paid announcements in a newspaper column devoted to that type of news. In others the local society columns carry the announcements if the prominence of the parents warrants it. In a large city the birth announcement in a society column is accorded only to persons prominent in "society."

The Custom of Sending Cards.

Aside from these more or less stereotyped and public methods there is the custom of sending cards to friends. With the usual inconsistency of "etiquette" there are no rules about this. In some fashionable communities sending cards is condemned as being provincial. In others it is considered the thing to do.

But in any case "trick" announcements are not considered terribly smart. A small white engraved card attached to the joint visiting card of the parents with a ribbon and bearing merely the name of the new child and the date of its birth is the most popular with conservative people.

People who might be described as Bohemian or people who like to do unusual things can and do send out announcements of all kinds, mostly of the amusing type. These when they are clever and well done can be beyond criticism, but it must be admitted that some of such attempts are rather depressing, to say the least.

Christenings Observed in Different Fashions.

Much the same amount of leeway so far as convention is concerned is given to parents when it comes to christenings. In some localities a christening is the occasion for festivities that range from a quiet tea to a bang-up party. In others it is considered by the persons concerned to be a private occasion, and is witnessed only by relations and the friends who serve as sponsors.

Religious belief influences the christening etiquette considerably. In one church it is becoming the fashion not to baptize children until they are about six years old, or even older—in which case they choose their own sponsors. In another church the child is baptized as soon after its birth—usually the week after it leaves the hospital. The parents choose the God-parents—friends or relations who will appreciate both the compliment and the responsibilities.

Sheer Woolen Equal to First Cool Fall Days

Modishly Styled Frocks Can Be Made at Home with Minimum of Cost.

By Clotilde.

THE bodice buttoned from waist to neck in pattern No. 3258 is decidedly modish. Epaulets give shoulder width, and the tied collar affords opportunity for contrast. The circular skirt is in two pieces. It is pressed into an inverted plait at the center front and is attached to the waist under a removable belt.

This dress is easy to make if you follow directions and don't forget to transfer all marks to the material. This applies to any pattern you may be copying.

When the cool days come you will enjoy having a dress of this type ready to put on, and one of the thin woolens in tomato red, with matching bone buttons, red leather belt, and white piqué collar and cuffs, would be smart. Of course, if you want it for immediate wear, one of the silk crêpes would be lovely.

Makes Up Attractively in Tub Silks, Cottons.

Isn't the dress made by pattern No. 2732 ideal for tub silks or sheer cottons? The sleeves extending to the neckline and with the fullness at the shoulders tucked to fit smoothly there, the smart bow at the neck, and the skirt, with its slender seaming, are all up to the minute details.

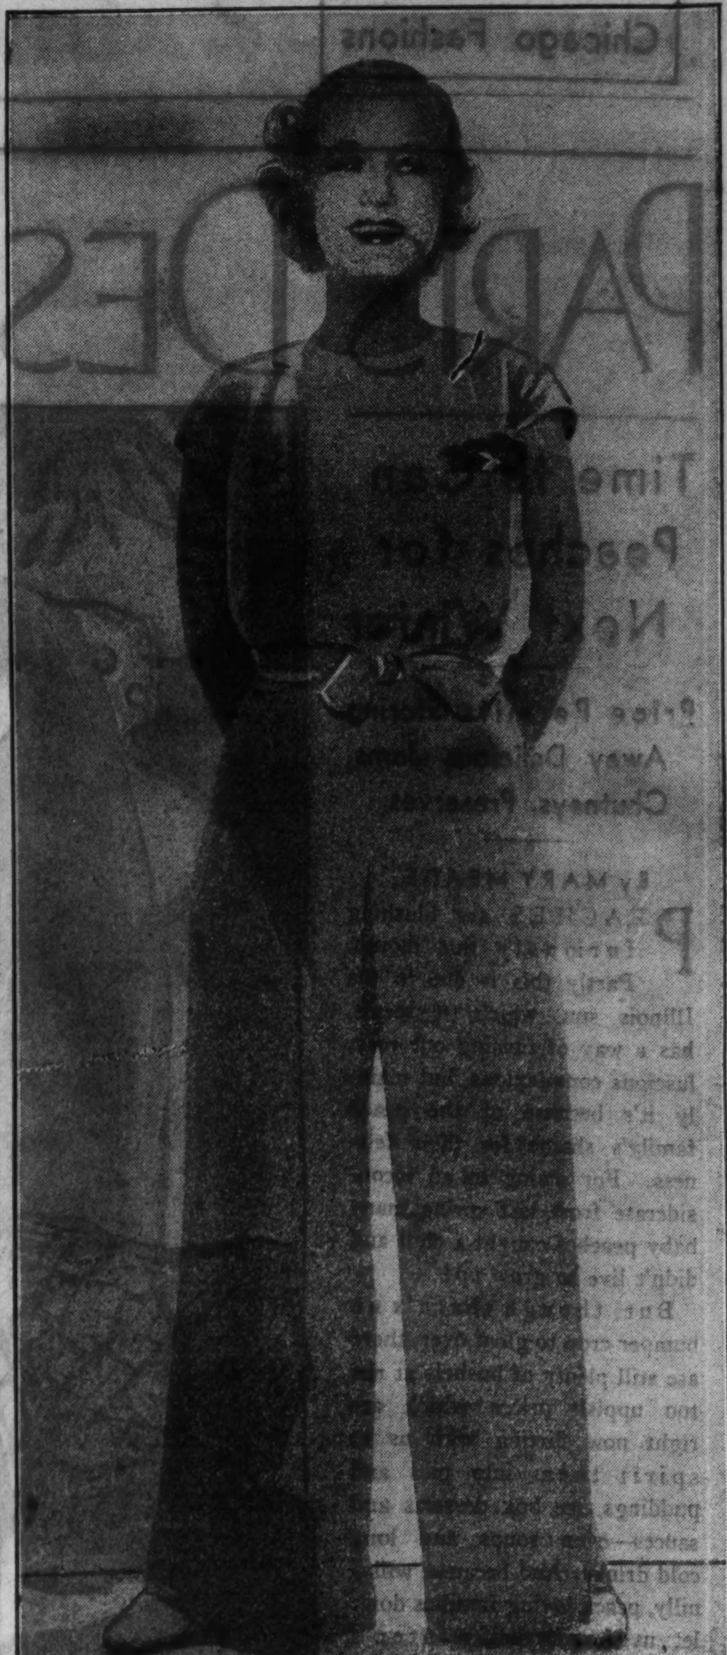
Mark the tuck lines clearly and fold and stitch carefully. Bring the threads through to the wrong side, fasten, and then press flat before doing anything else. Directions that are included in the pattern show just how to put the dress together. After seams are basted together try on and, when fitted to your satisfaction, stitch, remove bastings, and finish with fine overcasting. Always press every part as you go; never wait to do all this until the dress is finished.

The original model was in yellow linen; the tie was yellow organdy with brown dots and the belt brown leather. Dotted swiss and tub silks are other suitable materials.

In Brown Cotton with Gingham Trimming.

Nothing is smarter for general wear than cotton frocks, and if you make one using pattern No. 2700 you'll have a chic dress. The straight line skirt, with plaits at the center front that give ample room at the hemline, is attached to the waist under a removable belt. The front closing, the chic neckline, and the adorable sleeves are all smart details. The dress will be especially pretty made of a brown cotton, with large brown buttons and brown and yellow gingham for trimming. There are many other color schemes that are equally lovely.

In making the skirt plaits you will find the work easy if you lay the material out on a table and, after folding a plait, baste it down from the top toward the bottom. The laying of the plaits, the basting, and the pressing should always be done working from the top toward the bottom. Before basting run your hand under each plait to see if it is as smooth there as on the outside. It must be if the plaits are to set right.



ALLURING SIMPLICITY FOR LEISURE HOURS

Pale yellow silk crepe is used for these simple lined pajamas, smartly free from all exaggeration of cut or trimming. The belt buckle is hammered silver and the handkerchief is dark brown chiffon.

New Fur Coats Feature Ascot Collars and Silhouettes

Paris Serves Campus Styles from Shoulders

Color contrast is seen in the youthful style parade here. Three-quarter apron tunics in one color over skirt and sleeves of another offer a good make-over idea to anxious mothers who are getting ready the school wardrobe. Contrasting sleeves and collars on plain dark frocks are good, and Patou's plain dresses with patterned jackets are also important. Plaid woolens and silks, either making entire frocks or doing duty on part of the dress or ensemble, are coming into favor with the high style group here.

A Plaid Silk Dress from Worth.

Worth has some charming plaid silk dresses that are ideal in line and effect for the college girl. The most popular of these is shown at the extreme left in the sketch. The colorings are brown, blue, and golden yellow. The dress is absolutely straight in line, being a narrow tunic from the shoulders to just below the knees, where Worth adds a plaited ruffle that gives a flare around the hem. The plaits are knife plaits from a center front box plait that is run up the dress front to the neck and stitched flat. Dark blue bone buttons close the frock.

The sleeves are balloon puffed and give an immense but softened shoulder width. They're tucked into cuffs at the elbows. The neckline is highlighted by a band and bow of dark blue velvet ribbon, and there are long gloves of dark blue with plaited ruffles of blue velvet.

Second from the left is a Jean Patou ensemble for the young girl, the jacket and skirt of which are made of a hairy surfaced fine flannel in rich brown. The sleeveless jacket is quite straight in line and has a flat collar of the material, all shirred. At the bottom of the jacket in the back, as you can see in the upper left hand corner, Patou, just in the interest of frivolity, puts a shirred band with puffed ruffles at the sides. The skirt is a narrow two gored garment with a kick plait at the center front seam, and it is shirred at the top instead of having a belt. The sheer white crêpe blouse is splashed with big red dots. It has a bow at the V-shaped neckline and the sleeves are split down the outside and shirred in tight to the arms at the bottom.

College Ensemble in Blue and Beige.

The three girls pictured at the right show off a new Augustabernard ensemble for the college girl. The dress on the standing figure in the foreground is made of beige woolen, and it has short sleeves and a tied neck scarf of bright blue material. The dress is rigorously straight lined except for the pieces that are set horizontally along the tops of the shoulders. It closes diagonally down the blouse and has a tucked suede belt. The skirt is in one piece and has a standing tuck around the hips.

The jacket that is the first wrap to this ensemble is shown in the background. It is made of bright blue jersey and its big revers rise way above the shoulder line in front, like wings. The raglan sleeves have a bias band sewed down the outside from the neckline. Augustabernard's new cross button holds this straight short jacket closed.

The coat to go over this outfit, shown on the seated figure, is three-quarter length and perfectly straight, with big revers and no collar. It has a tuck down the center back and winglike pieces set into the armholes.

● Upper left: A sports or street coat in two shades of gray kidskin. A clever clothes hound can twist and turn and tie the Ascot collar into any number of knots, slides, or get-togethers. ● Upper right: A three piece ensemble of muskrat and beige wool. No costume could better withstand the wintry blasts that sweep over a grandstand than this unusual outfit of coat, waistcoat, and skirt, carefully matched as to color and pelt. ● Lower left: A mink coat with the newest silhouette. The lustrous dark markings match one another in continuous perpendicular lines from shoulder seam to hem. ● Lower right: A black caracul coat with a luxurious collar of silver fox. Notice the new rather square outline of the collar.

Rich Pelts Fashioned with Expert Care on Modern Lines

By Rhea Seeger.

ASCOT tie collars . . huge, wide, swanky affairs that are pulled over each other and then flattened out so that the entire chest is covered . . . are certainly causing all or most of the excitement in the newest fur coat collections for the coming winter. Outsize Ascots, larger and wider than anything you ever dreamed about, are made with a lavish amount of pelts, cut and designed by knowing furriers who can twist and manipulate fur just enough better than any one else to achieve the spectacular difference featured in the 1933 fur models.

Next to the Ascot collars in interest are the new silhouettes. . . Most of the new coats are made in swagger style, simple as to silhouette with a distinctively flared back that assures a certain loose and enviable slimness that the old fur coats inevitably lacked.

Sports furs are extraordinarily good looking and they have been worked into stunning new coats of sleek and handsome broadtail or the superlative elegance of ginger brown mink.

A sports or street coat, illustrated upper left, is of smooth supple kidskin in two contrasting shades of gray. . . . The darker gray is almost black, the lighter being a shimmering silver. The sleeves are most unusual, with clever contrast achieved by dark kidskin sewed to the silver . . . the fullness is well controlled so that the sleeves are distinctive without being erratic.

The three piece costume sketched at the upper right is made of imported silver sheened muskrat and wool. The loose swagger coat is simply fashioned with plain unpuffed sleeves and a swanky flared back section. This coat can be worn with high colored simple wool dresses, especially with Kelly green, a warm shade of beet red or shades of old gold and mustard. The skirt is of soft beige colored wool, with hip buttons on each side. The vest waistcoat effect is achieved by combining beige colored wool with the silver-beige muskrat fur.

At the lower left . . . the newest mink coat, made with a slender silhouette. The stunning wide and swanky collar is fashioned with superlative skill. The sleeves are straight, rather loose and infinitely easy to wear. Mink coats continue to be the peak of luxury and warmth.

The sketch at the lower right shows a gleaming black caracul coat, 1933 model, topped with a luxurious collar of silver fox. . . The collar is wide and frames the face. The slenderly fitted silhouette and the adroitly draped sleeves combine with the flattering collar to achieve this classically beautiful coat . . . the most superlatively distinctive fur coat of the newest collection.

The wise shopper buys unhesitatingly in August . . . and this August because furs and all the best materials are rocketing skyward in price each day. It isn't silly to shop for furs when the temperature teeters in the high nineties. A perspicacious person shops and buys now while the unusually low prices prevail, prices that probably never will be equaled again.

Wallpaper Is Used to Cover Newest Screens

Here Are Directions for Making a Charming Decorative Room.

THE Victorian drape is the fashion note in new screens, although in a big store you see every design and pattern under the sun. This is as it should be, for every room needs its own complement.

More people are interested in how to make a wall papered screen than in what patterns are available, so here are some directions:

You can buy unfinished screens in the kitchen departments of the stores. Or if you are unable to buy precisely the desired sort of frame, ask for a clothes horse. Most of these horses come in wider panels than the regulation screen frames, although these, too, are available in a variety of shapes and sizes.

Buy prepared wall paper paste powder for best results. Spread on the paste with a broad brush. Begin at the top and press down with a clean dry brush, as professional paperhangers do, and trim away the surplus paper at the edges after the paper is smooth. The edges can then be finished with narrow bands of wall paper border, or metal, or colored passepartout.

Thumb Tacks Are Usable.

If you are not clever with paste, tacks can be used. Thumb tacks are usable. Or you can provide yourself with tiny headless tacks, the very short ones, and use them in profusion. See that the paper is cut a full inch longer at each end than the frame, thus enabling you to draw it securely about the rounds. This is important.

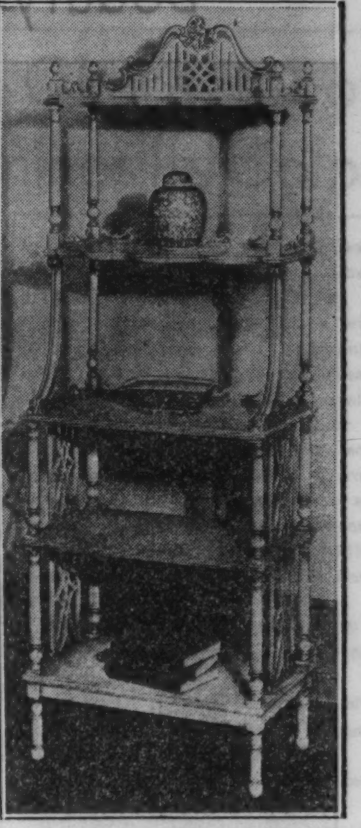
If you are inclined to make the screen, frame and all, yourself, any lumber yard will cut the plank of wood for you to your measurements. You may make your frame in either of two ways. The first and more simple is to have the frame flat. Ask the lumber man to cut pieces ready for dovetailing. That is, to cut the ends of each piece slantwise so that they fit perfectly and form perfectly tight corners. Your frame put together, you tack your material evenly right to the flat sides, using fancy headed tacks and making the tacking, if you like, a part of the decoration.

The other way of making the frame is to proceed as above, but instead of tacking the material on the flat of the frame you have an extra or inner frame made, and the material is tacked to the main frame and the inner frame fitted over, or rather, into it. It may be, in fact it should be, that the inner frame and the outer fit so securely that the covering material is held fast and no tacks are required.

It is rather a fad now to have the frame a part of the decorative scheme. That is, to allow the decoration of the paneling to run over on to the frame. This is particularly effective where the panels are broad, strangely enough.

Scenic Papers Are Interesting.

Probably the screens made out of scenic wall papers are most interesting. You can make a dignified addition for the living room with a water scene paper. The screens should always be coated with shellac for the sake of utility. If a clear white shellac is used, the color will not be changed. A darker varnish is put on when you wish to antique the wall paper. There are papers of imitation leather which may be studded with brass tacks after being fastened, then varnished and waxed with ordinary floor wax with great success.



Graduated Shelves

THIS interesting what-not or bookcase is old ivory and offers a decorative touch to the living room. Notice the lattice sides on the two lowest shelves. It was a popular item in the recent summer furniture show in Grand Rapids.

Death Reveals Louise Hale's Help to Needy

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Not many in Hollywood are so charitably inclined as was Louise Closser Hale, who died recently. Miss Hale gave away almost half of the money she earned.

A number of years ago she told a friend that if she ever made a great deal of money she intended to give at least one-third of it to needy persons. But she gave more than that.

When her chauffeur smashed up his own little car Miss Hale had it repaired. When she learned not long ago that her hairdressers' mother was ill she sent two special nurses to care for her. Dozens of such incidents came to light after her death. They never were spoken of while she was alive because she preferred they not be.

A few weeks ago she went to a kennel to buy a dog. She found the one she wanted, a beautiful airedale. And then she saw a mangy mixed breed. Instead of buying the expensive animal she took the inexpensive mongrel "because no one else will ever buy it." She spent $50 having it cured. The day after she brought the apparently grateful dog home he ran away.

Smelling Salts, in Modern Guise, Accepted Again

AS Victorian as bead portières and flowers under glass, smelling salts are back in the feminine scheme of things. They're just as pungent, just as reminiscent of fainting spells and vapors, but they come in glorious modern bottles. Minute flasks are tucked into one's pocketbook; huge, beribboned bottles dress the modern dressing table. It's history repeating itself.

Rich Blue Fox Trims Azure Blue Satin Outfit

AZURE BLUE SATIN, trimmed with luxurious bands of blue fox, is twice as breath taking as it sounds. A new midsummer satin evening gown of this flattering shade of blue is made with a long slender knee length coat. . . . The short wide sleeves are banded with the blue taupe colored fox, while the dress is serenely classic as to silhoutte and clever draping. The same idea is available in shell pink satin with a browner shade of blue fox.

There are 24,780 cosmetologists employed to furnish the facials, permanent waves, and other beauty parlor services required by women in California.

Mrs. Jacob Hornung, aged 82, who is directing the production of a brewery in Philadelphia, Pa., is said to be the only woman president of a brewery in the United States.

Because of the shortage of workmen at docks in Finland women frequently act as stevedores in loading lumber.

Peasant Woodcraft Colorful and Gay

BOWLS, plates, cups, etc., needn't always be made of china or pottery. There is a most lively and artistic display of the handiwork of the Poles on view in a Chicago department store, all the objects being made of wood and painted in colorful peasant designs.

Fat, jolly little bowls in brilliant greens, yellows, and scarlets, rectangular boxes for cigarets (nice bridge prizes), smaller ones for collar buttons or rings—all sorts of delightful foreign flavored knicknacks are to be found there at extremely reasonable prices.

Attributes Her Long Life to Daily Glass of Beer

MRS. CHRISTINA DANZ of North Arlington, N. J., who recently observed the 100th year of her birth, attributes her long life to a daily glass of beer.

NEW TRAYS ARE CLEVER HELPS TO THE HOSTESS

IT'S more fun to be waited on, of course, but it isn't half bad fun to wait on others with the able and colorful assistance of some of the new trays.

For beer parties that are just plain beer parties with no pretense of feminine elegance, there is a corking tray of wood, light in weight, wide, and about a foot and a half long. The central section looks just like a freshly scrubbed breadboard in unstained wood. At each end are glass compartments, removable, for bread sticks and pretzels. The beer can foam all over itself with no harm done.

The glass trays are having a new popularity, probably because they're labor savers—easily cleaned and impervious to liquor stains. The latest of these are actually shallow square wire baskets, with the glass set in to form the tray proper.

Dress Up the Dining Room with Plants

DO YOU keep something fresh and growing and green in your dining room? It is so simple now, with the vogue for ivy stands of various kinds. You can get them to suit practically any window height, or to stand against a wall, or fit snugly into a corner.

It is fun doing things for a dining room, too. As the seasons come and go there are many seasonable decorations for all kinds of holiday occasions, as well as for anniversaries, birthdays and parties.

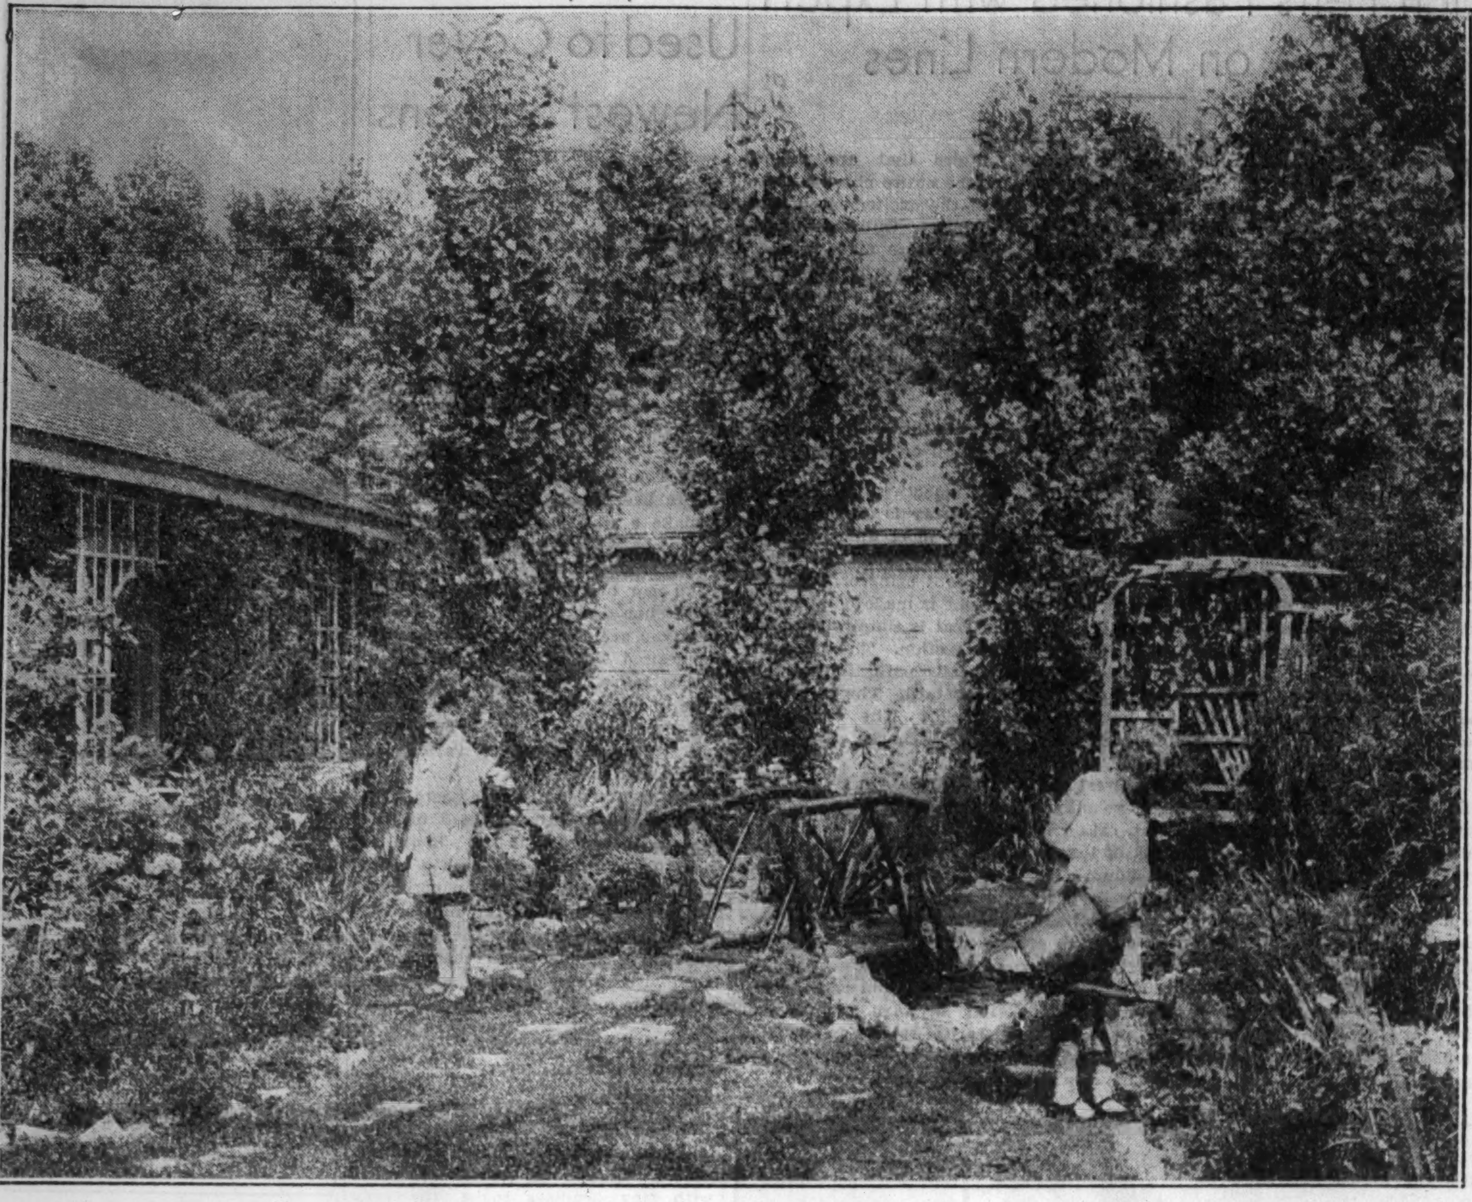
Rustic Bridge, Trellises, and an Arbor Seat Add Beauty to the Flowers, Foliage of a Garden



Taking care that in her small yard the central area is kept free of flower beds or bric-a-brac, Mrs. R. B. Roberts, 930 Hayes avenue, Oak Park, has created an inviting garden with stepping stones, a rustic bridge, and an arbored lawn seat from which to enjoy the scene.

"Planting the Shaded Area," the third in a new series of booklets by Paul Potter, is especially recommended to the city gardener or lawn owner. Price 5 cents; by mail, 7 cents. Address Paul Potter, Chicago Tribune, or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn. "Plants for the Rock Garden" and "Principles of Lawn Care," also by Mr. Potter, are available at the same price.

By Paul Potter.

"BY THEIR gardens ye shall know good gardeners" might be the criterion for those who enjoy exchanging visits with other gardeners. Yet the truly good gardener is disclosed by the manner in which he fits out his garden with furniture and conveniences for properly carrying on his gardening activities.

The simple garden may be able to sacrifice trellises, arbors, pergolas, lawn seats, and chairs, sun gazers or the ornaments which add effects to a rock garden. It is done by masses of foliage and bloom, however, and leaves little that intrigues one to pause and enjoy the garden as one should an attractive outdoor living room.

During the summer and fall months as the garden progresses from one stage of bloom to the next and the hobbyist develops more nearly the kind of garden he has been dreaming of, the needs in the way of outdoor furniture and embellishments are made known. If time permits some of them may be constructed before the season ends, but more often the job is left for the shop or basement this winter.

Garden Equipment Easy to Procure.

Most of the standard types of garden equipment are now carried in wide range by lumber yards or department stores for those who wish to buy. And, as a rule, they are being closed out at attractive prices at this time of year.

Most city home owners try to make their yards practical as well as pleasurable, and this can be done without undue sacrifice to the flowers. Every family with children should have at least the sand pile with its canopy, and too few fathers find time to provide a small playhouse in an area of the yard where the youngsters may have free reign.

A part of this space may be set aside for the children's own garden to teach them appreciation of nature, and by laboring over their own gardens they learn to leave the rest of the garden alone. Even a small wading pool can be made a practical as well as ornamental addition to the yard.

Wise Gardener Avoids Clutter of Bric-a-Brac.

If one may lay down fundamentals in such an original type of art as gardening, these should include a warning against too much furniture and bric-à-brac; against placing too much statuary or other ornamental effects in the center of the yard area, and to urge that arbors, trellises, and lattices fit into the landscape by insuring an abundance of plant growth about or upon them.

The good gardener's equipment ought also to include satisfactory markers for the varieties and species of plants. While several good ones are on the market, many are purchasing small vials at the drug store, into which a slip of paper or adhesive tape is pasted, name or number showing through the glass, and invert them over a piece of heavy wire or slender reed.

Checked Jersey Outfit.

A new Schiaparelli costume is made of blue and white checked jersey. It is made with a slender coat, three-quarters length, and an even more slender skirt, and is worn with a light blue linen blouse.

THIS WEEK IN THE GARDEN

Monday, Aug. 14.

It is not too late to make a final planting of celery, cabbage, cauliflower, and kale for winter needs. On account of the hot days water should be given at the time of planting, or wait until just before a rain to save much labor. This is an excellent time to make a strawberry bed. Potted plants may be used, if desired, and these may be obtained from any large nursery. Set the plants so that the crowns are even with the surface of the soil. Buy varieties adapted to your locality.

Be sure the soil is in good tilth and fertile. The matted row system is usually practiced by the amateur; set the plants about 18 inches in the rows, with rows three feet apart.

Tuesday, Aug. 15.

Cracks in tomato fruits are caused by growing during excessively hot seasons. Mulching is beneficial and if the plants are tied up to keep the fruit off the ground the fruit will ripen more uniformly. Do not let your garden interests become dormant. The true enthusiast is always busy and finds the garden a continual source of pleasure.

Asters may be dug from the garden and placed in pots if a special interior decoration is desired. Give a good watering and dig in the later afternoon, pot and set in the shade until the leaves stand up.

Wednesday, Aug. 16.

Hollyhocks may be sown now. Sow thickly and thin out the seedlings rather than transplant. Try groups of solid colors; the double sorts are among the most beautiful outdoor flowers. Transplant hardy phlox immediately after flowering. They become quickly established and will furnish good bloom the following season. There is no trouble keeping phlox true to name if it is transplanted from time to time and the clumps are isolated. Poorly colored bloom is usually the result of seedage, as seedings do not come true. Oriental poppies are best transplanted while dormant. The roots may be cut into 2 to 3 inch lengths and planted in an abandoned cold frame; each piece will grow.

Thursday, Aug. 17.

Plant Madonna lilies and autumn crocus now. The latter will flower as a novelty in a dish of shallow water, without soil. After flowering the bulbs may be planted outdoors, but for outdoor blooming and growing plant directly in their permanent quarters. Bone meal dug or hoed under around the base of dahlias is beneficial. Watering with liquid plant foods is also good for them.

If root aphids attack the dahlias mulch the ground around the plants with tobacco stems or dust. Aphids do not like tobacco in any form. The size and value of gladiolus corms depend on good growth and maturity. When cutting leave 2 or 3 leaves on the plants, otherwise the corms are not as large.

Friday, Aug. 18.

Black spot on the roses is recognized by the black spots on the leaves, by the leaves yellowing, if they fall early. These spots are caused by a fungus which attacks roses only. It lives over the winter in dead leaves, either in the ground or in those remaining above ground. To reduce the likelihood of black spot becoming serious it is wise to collect and destroy all leaves that fall to the ground. Bordeaux mixture is also an effective remedy and should be applied by spraying once in two weeks.

Watering roses at night is not good practice and especially on the advant of autumn because the nights become cool, with the subsequent lower temperatures, a condition that is conductive to the introduction of this ailment. If a tree becomes badly barked take a sharp knife, cut back all mutilated parts to the living cambium layer and paint the entire wound surface with coal tar or thick paint. It is remarkable how such wounds heal over, eventually covering the entire surface with new growth or cambium. Enormous wounds may not heal, but by exercising care and with the proper treatment no further developments will result.

Saturday, Aug. 19.

August is the best time to transplant evergreens, but the soil must be kept well watered but not saturated. New roots develop faster on fall planted stock than at any other time. The soil must be good. Fine soil should be worked about the roots, and when the hole is half full give a good watering to settle the soil around the plant. After the water has passed away fill in with soil and water again. After the final watering the surface of the soil should be mulched to prevent drying out.

It is an excellent practice to syringe the tops occasionally and if the sun is very strong on the plants to provide some shade. Burlapped and balled plants should be used. A grayish or brownish appearance of evergreens in late summer is indicative of red spider. Several effective spray materials are available for the control of this insidious pest, sulphur being the best.

Don't Punish Child for His "Bad Words"

You Will Only Make Them Exciting; Teach Correct Substitutes for Slang.

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

WHEN it comes time for Sunday's article I have a debate with myself. Is this idea or that idea important enough for a thousand words? While debating today I looked over my correspondence.

It's odd that so often I find a little flock of letters in one week's mail all on one subject—and that then it won't crop up again for a long time.

"Bad words" seems to have been a special trouble this week—quite enough so to merit a Sunday talk.

"How can I stop my little boy [it's seldom a little girl] using bad words? I don't know where he has heard them. No one talks that way at home. He can't hear them among his little friends who are like himself," is one form the letters take.

In other letters the trouble appears in this guise:

"My little boy is bringing home the most dreadful words. He plays with boys who are two or three years older than he and he is learning what I can only call 'dirty' words. Fortunately he talks freely at home so I know what is happening." That particular expression isn't very pleasant but it conveys a very definite thing to many people.

Roughly, these are the two kinds of trouble that worry parents when their children get to the bad word state. For it is a passing thing under average conditions—usually of short duration. When a boy or girl clings to these expressions it is a different matter.

Babies Judge Words by Sound; Don't Know Meaning.

First, let's go into it in a general way.

If your little girl of five or little boy of four came in one day and said, "O, it was simply thrilling, mother!" you'd chuckle and tell father in the evening. But if they came in with a new bad word, or if when they smashed their fingers or broke a doll they repeated something that they had heard their father or an uncle burst out with in an unguarded moment—or perhaps the ice man or the grocery boys—you'd be horrified. You might be shocked and perhaps you'd scold or even make your child feel ashamed.

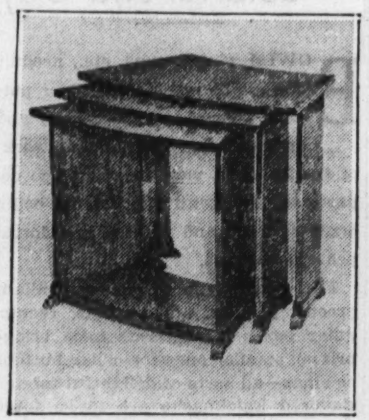
Yet both words would be used as a sort of experiment—because they had an interesting or a nice explosive sound, or perhaps just because they were new. To the small child there would be no reason why he couldn't use "damn" as well as "simply thrilling." The first word—or others we don't want him to use—has not the meaning to him that it has to us. Ever since he first learned to talk he has added to his vocabulary by hearing new words and imitating them. That some are desirable and some undesirable he cannot know until he is told or shown. To his ears they do not sound in the least as they do to ours.

Guard Against Sex Words by Teaching Facts of Life.

Different people mean different things by "bad words." But we might say that there are two kinds of bad words. Those that we could class as a mild kind of swearing and those that we would probably best describe as having a sex connotation. Sometimes the latter are vulgar and sometimes actually obscene.

The mild "swear words" which a child sometimes uses because they make him feel grownup and because they have a forceful sound, he is apt to get over using rather quickly. As a rule, the less attention that is paid to them the better. Parents exaggerate the importance of this sort of "bad words."

In a general way the same sort of thing is true of the other kind of bad words, though they are actually offensive to us. I suppose every mother cringes the first time she hears one of those words on her child's lips. It's not only that we don't want the children to say them but we don't want them to even hear them. We would spare them if we could. But you never can tell where they will hear them. A mother I know sent her little girl to a large private school thinking that besides getting a better education she would wholly escape this sort of thing. To her dismay the child of an acquaintance living in a rather famous person's household introduced her daughter to one of these detested words on the latter's first day at school.

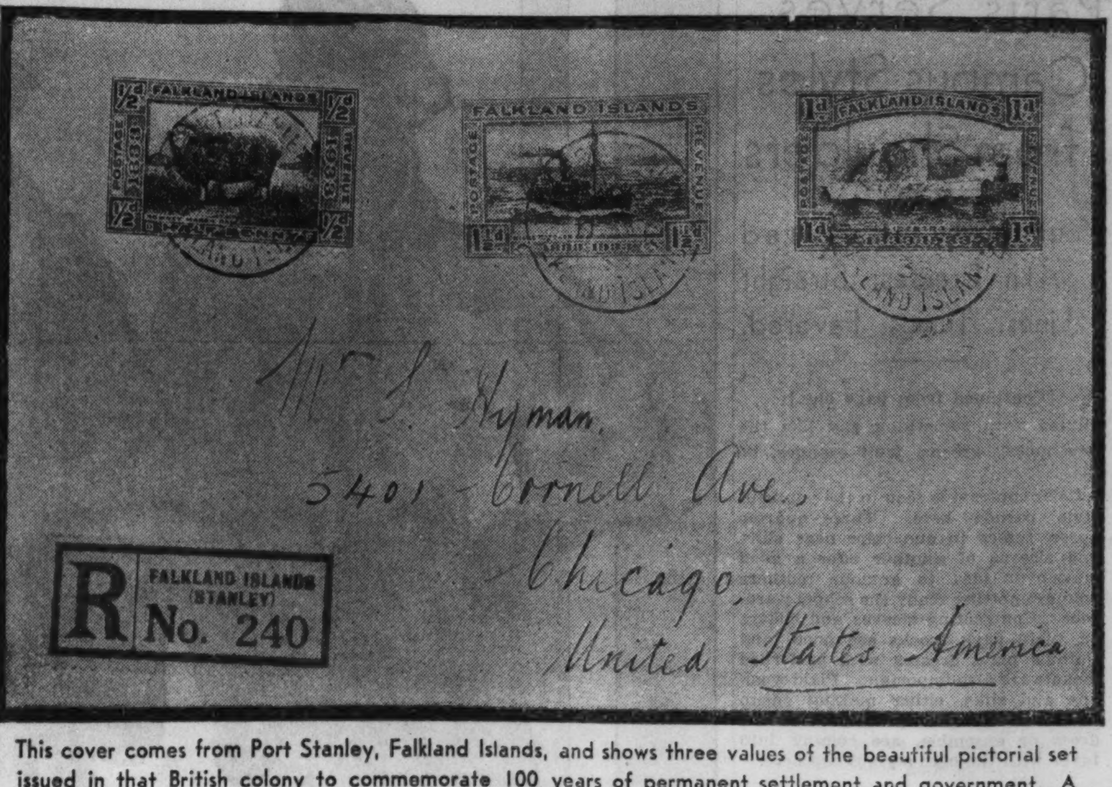


Nest of Tables

INTERESTING, aren't they, these modern tables for a modern room? They fit snugly together and offer an unusual feature: their tops, instead of being rectangular, are curving in semi-circular fashion. Seen at the summer furniture show in Grand Rapids, they will soon be on the floors of Chicago stores.

THE STAMP COLLECTOR

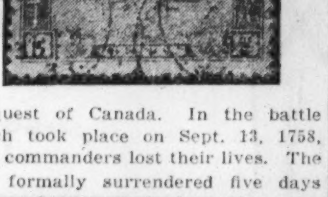
By Richard McP. Cabeen



This cover comes from Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, and shows three values of the beautiful pictorial set issued in that British colony to commemorate 100 years of permanent settlement and government. A brief history of the colony with a description of the Centenary set of stamps will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

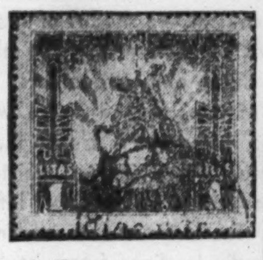
Mr. Cabeen will be glad to answer questions concerning stamps. A stamped self-addressed envelope should be inclosed in case a personal reply is desired.

THIS Canadian stamp of 1930 shows a view of the old citadel at Quebec. It was here that Maj. Gen. Wolfe, after months of maneuvering, met the French under Montcalm on the "plains of Abraham" and decided the English conquest of Canada. In the battle which took place on Sept. 13, 1758, both commanders lost their lives. The city formally surrendered five days later and as a result the entire province was ceded to England by the treaty of 1763.



Vytautas of Lithuania.

Vytautas or Witowt is one of the most renowned characters of Lithuanian history. After the Polish-Lithuanian union in 1384, when Jagiello, who had been grand duke of Lithuania, became king of Poland, Vytautas became the leader of the rebellious factions of his people. From this time until 1410 he was alternately allied with and against the Teutonic order which he finally assisted in crushing at Grunewald in the latter year. Vytautas died in 1430 and the stamp shown is one of a series commemorating his death. It represents him as a mounted knight.



Kosciusko Stamp.

The postmaster general has announced that a special 5 cent stamp will be issued to commemorate the day when Kosciusko was offered the privilege of becoming a citizen of the United States. Thaddeus Kosciusko volunteered as a private in the American army in 1776 and left the army at the end of the war a brigadier general with a grant of land and the privilege of American citizenship. He was a native of Poland of Lithuanian descent, and was one of the most popular officers of the American army.

Three Headed Deity.

Upon the occasion of an exhibition at Posen the Polish government issued a single special stamp with a value of 25 groszy. This bears an image of the chief deity of the ancient "Polab" division of the Slav race, a deity with three heads, known as Triglav or Svetovit. This subject was perhaps selected to celebrate the Slavic culture of the district which, although under Prussian and German rule from 1772 until after the great war almost totally resisted strenuous attempts to Germanize it.

Douglas in Illinois cities between Aug. 21 and Oct. 15, 1858. Send covers in groups of seven, leaving one cover unsealed and unstuffed to receive the historical information supplied by the sponsors. A FRIEND IN NEED

Sally Always Has Homes for Discarded Baby Cribs, Clothes and Carriages; Supply Never Meets Demand.

By Sally Joy Brown.

ONE of the largest files in this department is devoted to babies. Requests for baby clothing, carriages, cribs, etc., come in an unending stream. Just as soon as Mrs. X's infant is supplied with clothing and removed from our list, Mrs. Y or Mrs. K's baby makes its appearance in the world, minus all the items necessary to an infant's health and well-being.

While our readers have always been most generous, particularly in the matter of caring for infants' needs, our supply never seems to meet the demand. Relief organizations can and do provide for the confinement of mothers, and supply food and medicine for their children—but parents must look to other sources for more than absolute necessities. I have known of numerous cases of babies sleeping in beds with three and four older children, or in boxes or drawers.

So, I beg of you, don't hesitate to call on me if you have any baby clothing or furniture to dispose of. We know of worthy cases in all parts of the city and suburbs.

Here's a fine offer for some invalid!

"Dear Miss Brown: I have a brace for a weak leg that I should be glad to give to some one who can make use of it. It is in good condition and measures about 28 inches long and about 22 inches around the top.

A. B. S."

If you are in need of such a brace, please write to Mrs. S. in care of this department.

Miss M. M. has several Braille magazines to dispose of. If you know of any one interested in securing these, please write [do not telephone], to Miss M. in care of this department.

Home Modernizing Hints for Husbands, Sons or the Handy Man

Low Costs Make This the Time to Do Repairs

Few Simple Improvements in House, Garage, Yard Are a Good Investment.

In a new booklet, "Refinishing Furniture," Louise Bargelt gives concrete instructions for refinishing old pieces and successfully painting the unfinished furniture which may be purchased at low cost. The price of the booklet is 5 cents; by mail, 7 cents. Address Louise Bargelt, Chicago Tribune, or call at The Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

By Louise Bargelt.

BY mid-August, with many weeks of mild weather ahead, home minded owners who look around their out of door spaces find many things they want to do.

Costs are still low.

Perhaps the detached garage, which still houses the majority of our family motors, needs some renovation to make it weather tight for winter.

Doorways and steps and walks and driveways may call for modernizing, strengthening, and dressing up, not only to improve the appearance of the house grounds but also to make them easier to keep clean and open when the winter snow descends.

Or, again, there may be a back yard corner which failed to come in for its share of attention in the early spring and summer. Until late fall there are many hours of many days when the younger family members in particular play in the open and when garden and lily pools remain a never ending source of pleasure and beauty.

Modernizing the Old Garage.

There is no doubt that the average detached garage does not receive any overamount of attention. We keep our family car in fairly good shape to save ourselves the worry of poorly functioning machinery, but the building that shelters it can get pretty well down at the heel before we are moved to do much of anything about it.

A new concrete floor, lights that work, a new exterior to harmonize with the house, insulation to add to its warmth, new doors and door equipment and hardware, all are improvements that add to the general garage efficiency and good looks.

Speaking of doors, big strides have been made in the field of garage doors. There are types for all kinds of garages, well proportioned, with good hardware and with windows placed for proper lighting.

Many Good Improvements Available.

Easier and smoother performance is afforded by these doors. There are those which can be elevated to any desired height or raised overhead completely to give entire clearance. Overhead doors, triple-fold doors, upward-acting doors, swing-up doors — they are all of them sturdily manufactured for the purpose of quiet opening and closing and the elimination of sagging or any tendency to fit loosely. They are also space saving.

For modernizing work there is also equipment which may be quickly and inexpensively installed on already existing doors to make them lift up overhead and out of the way of the car entrance. But whatever type of door one contemplates to fit the present purse and family budget—swing out, or sliding, or overhead, and so on—good doors with good hardware mean a lot to a car owner in cold, windy, or otherwise inclement weather.

New front steps, when they are needed, save the face of many an ageing house. If they are decidedly the worse for wear and have passed the stage where a coat of paint can freshen them up it is a fairly simple matter to remedy their condition—replace them perhaps with new steps of concrete, a rejuvenating piece of work illustrated in today's layout.

Dressing Up Walks and Driveways.

There are many designs and patterns for simple, inexpensive driveways and walks. No reason why these outdoor avenues of approach to house and garage should not be as hospitable in appearance as the entrance hall or the living room within.

The day has passed when there need be any drabness in concrete walks and driveways. They need not possess the usual gray or white tone of concrete, but may be varied through a wide range of colors and intensities. The technique of combining mineral pigments with the other ingredients of concrete is well standardized. Certain precautions must be observed, and if a home owner is doing the work himself he should make sure that he has the necessary technical information before proceeding with the task.

Driveways may be of parallel strips of concrete, with curbing on the outside edges; they may be of slabs of plain or colored concrete left plain or marked off to resemble flagging; or they may be in combinations of plain borders and colored fields or colored borders and plain fields.

Garden Pool Source of Pleasure.

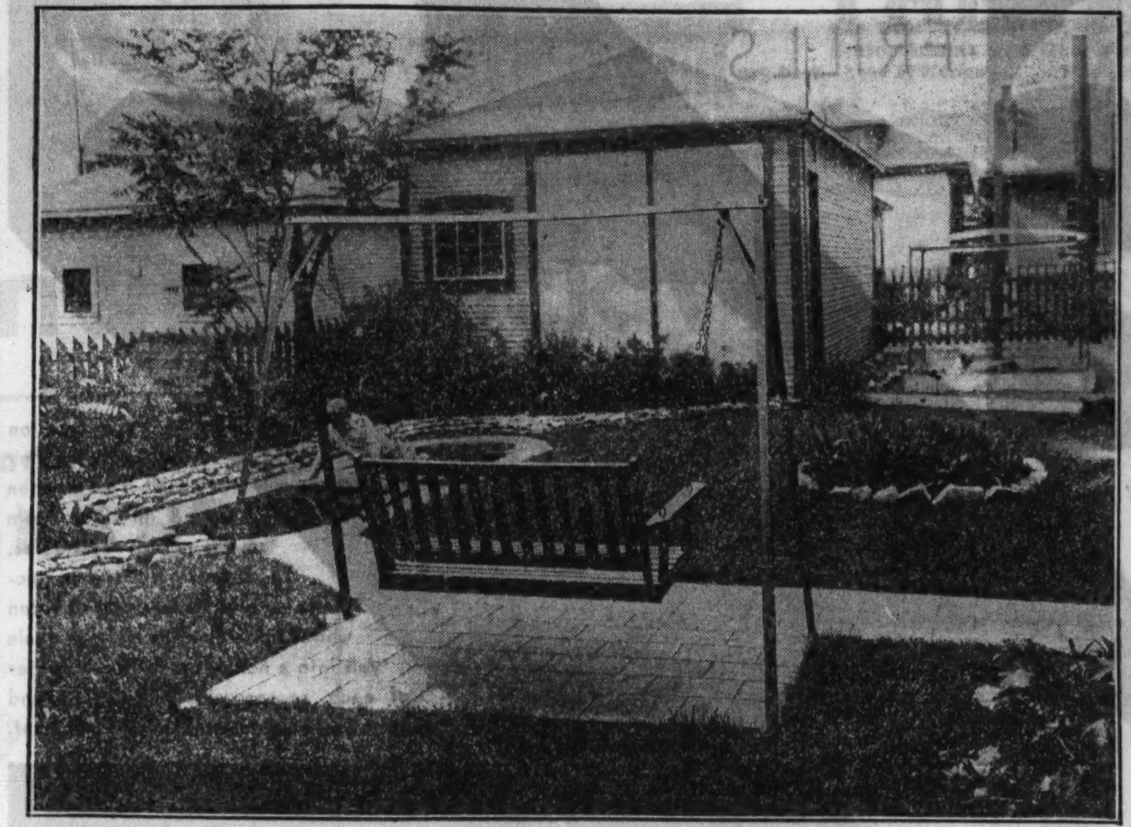
Garden pools of concrete cost little and are easy to make; they can be of any size or shape; and, elaborate or simple, they are things of beauty and charm.

A garden pool can include a fountain; it can be made a supplement to a rock garden or it may be merely the simplest sort of wading pool for the children. By building a saucer shaped structure of concrete, reënforced with metal mesh, one has the basic requirements for a simple pool. For this purpose the proportions in the mixture should be as follows: One part Portland cement, two parts clean, sharp sand, three parts of clean gravel, all thoroughly mixed and with not more than five gallons of water per sack of cement.

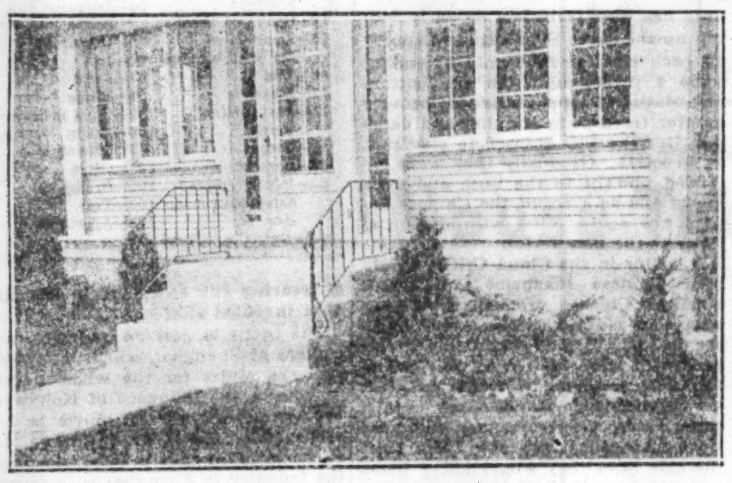
And around the pool, perhaps, a garden path "wide enough for two," as all paths should be. There is nothing lovelier than real flagstones for a garden walk. Brick is also much used. And, again, one can employ "flagstones made from concrete," concrete cast in easy to make wooden forms, forms which may be very irregular in shape, five or six sided and three or four inches deep. They seldom measure more than a foot and a half in diameter and usually a foot.

The surface finish of these flagstones is usually rough, with no attempt made to trowel it down. In laying them an inch or two of turf is often left between neighboring stones, and a total width of three feet will be found sufficient to meet the "wide enough for two" rule.

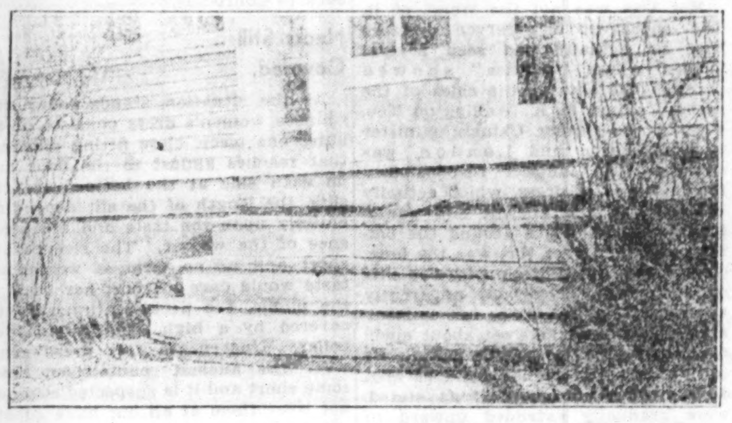
Walks and driveways are a hospitable all weather means of reaching a house. There are many inexpensive designs and patterns for concrete approaches to the home and they may be rough surfaced, the concrete flagstones laid with an inch or two of turf between.



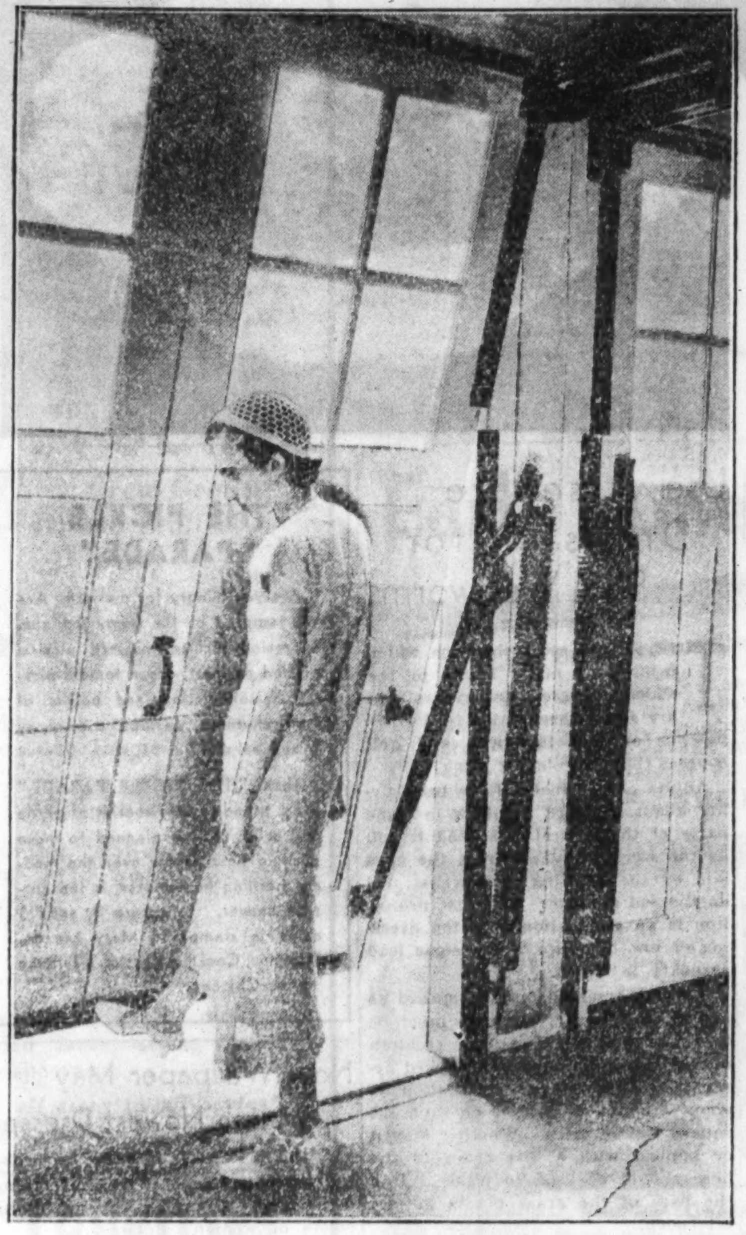
An outdoor living room in the back yard of a Chicago home. There is a sandbox for the children next the garage, a concrete walk and foundation for the lawn swing, and a garden pool. Work can all be done by a handy man around town or the handy man of the house. The cost of such work is low.



Here we see the old, down-at-the-heel steps replaced by new ones of concrete; inviting steps which extend a proper welcome.



Many a home has steps in need of repair, steps which need a new deal and some dressing up by way of winter preparation.



Modern garage doors are of many kinds, but the new ones have one asset in common—they are easy to operate and economical of space. There is no better way to get a garage ready for a stormy winter than to install garage door equipment which is weather tight and eliminates all snow, wind, ice, sleet, and freezing worries.

Exposure and Character of Room Determines Its Color

Reds Add Warmth to North Exposures; Greens Make South Rooms Restful.

By WillElla de Campi.

CLEAR understanding and careful use of color are of utmost importance in the decoration of any room, be it large or small, luxuriously expensive or modestly simple.

We offer today two well balanced color plans for rooms of different types and exposures. The first of these, illustrated, is a bedroom with northern exposure, done in French provincial style.

Walls—Papered with reproduction of toile design patterned in cream color against a soft old rose ground, except in bed recess where they are painted deep cream.

Woodwork — Painted cream color with a fine line of black which gives a smartening effect.

Window treatment—Venetian blinds painted cream color with old rose tapes. No glass curtains. Long draperies of raspberry red linen finished with French blue edging. Tiebacks and valances [made over buckram frames cut in typical scroll motif] match the draperies.

Furniture—Provincial Directoire bed with head and footboard of equal height placed lengthwards against the wall in recess. Small table beside bed. Writing table and rush bottom chair at right angles to one window. Comfortable bergere upholstered in rose and cream all-over figured fabric. Poudreuse with accompanying bench upholstered in quilted yellow percale with soft multi-colored flowers. Chest of drawers with hanging mirror.

Accessories—Blue toile lamps with pale yellow shades on poudreuse. Pewter lamp with blue and cream shade, water jug and tray enameled blue on bedside table. Bed cover of blue rep, piped and edged with soft rose. Set of French prints in narrow blue and gold frames, shown to advantage against plain wall in recess. Pair of French pottery vases filled with flowers on chest of drawers. Pewter sidelights.

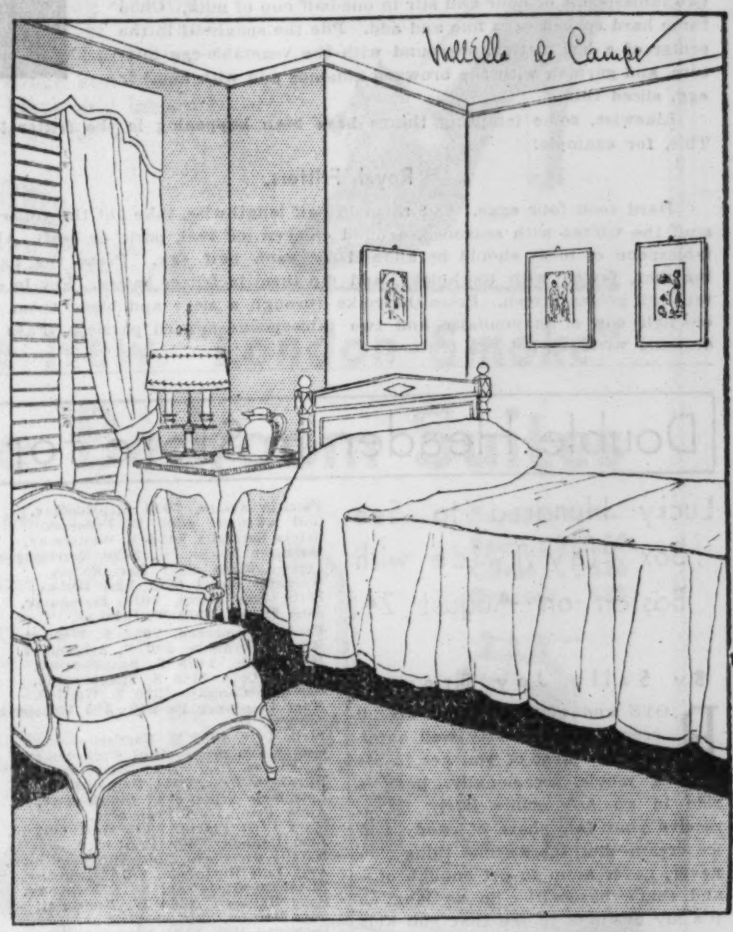
Floor—Stained black and waxed. Large plum colored rug.

Window treatment — Glass curtains of oyster white rayon voile. Long draperies and looped valances of hand-blocked linen.

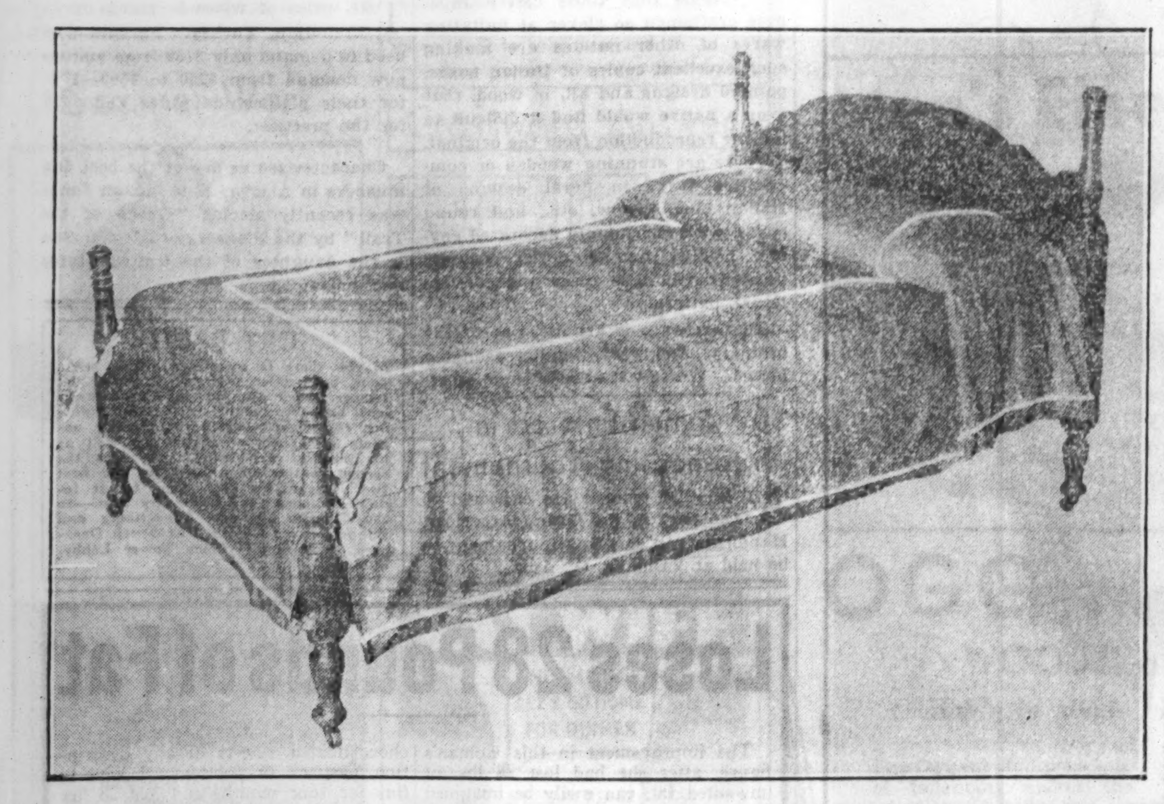
Furniture—Sofa upholstered in old gold wool damask. Walnut commodes at each end and coffee table in front. Fine old walnut secretary supplemented by armchair with seat of green leather. One armchair matching sofa, another done in green and gold striped material. Console table flanked by pair of walnut side chairs with seats in white waterproofed fabric. Convenient small tables.

Accessories — Emerald green lamps with old gold shades on commodes. Lacquer red cigaret box and ash trays on coffee table. Modern floral painting in rich tones over sofa. Plum colored glass bowl filled with flowers on console. Mirror in gilded frame above console. Red tôle desk set on secretary. Oyster white vase filled with flowers, and crackled white smoking set on table beside one arm chair. Plum colored pottery lamp.

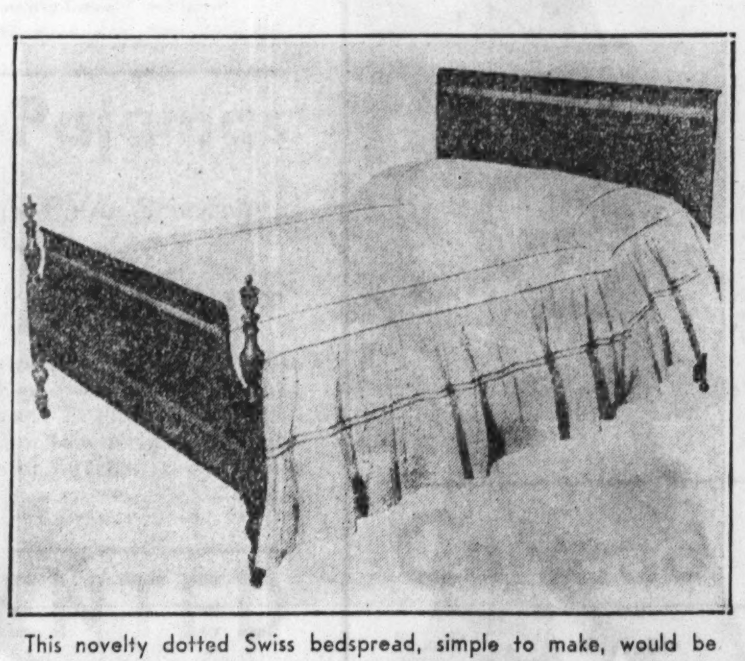


A comfortable bergere upholstered in rose and cream invites daytime relaxation in this bedroom. The Venetian blinds are painted cream color. The draperies are of plain raspberry red linen.

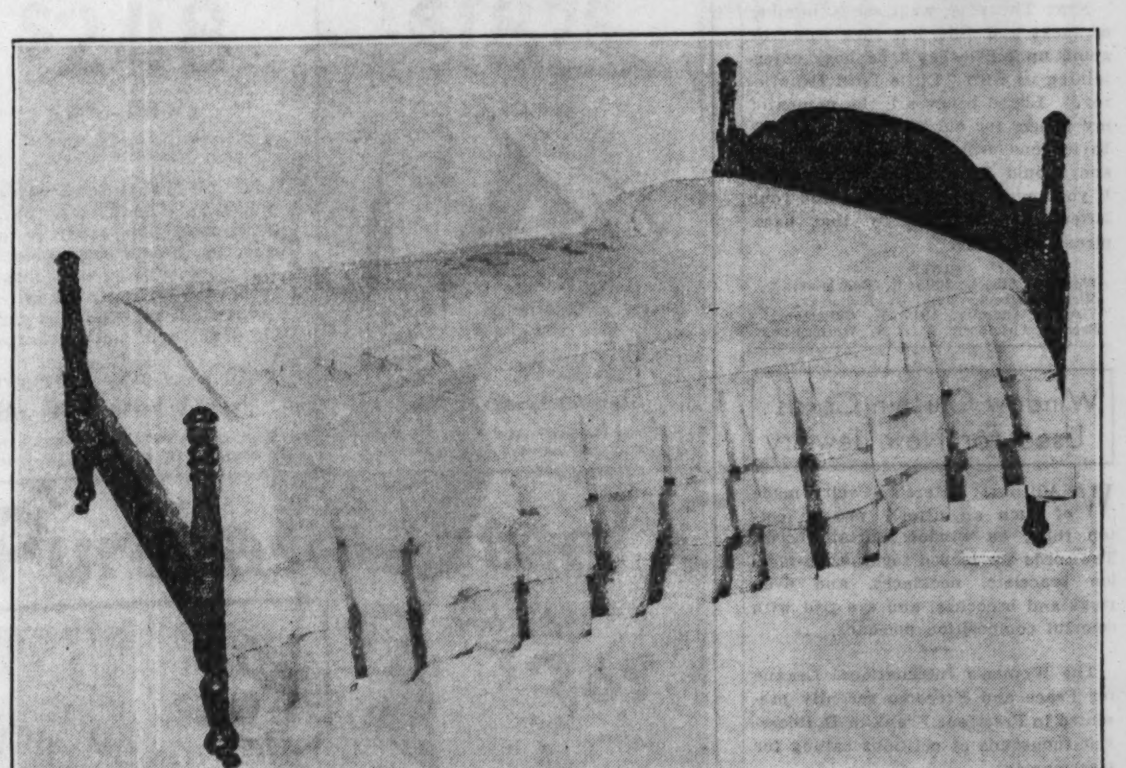
COTTON DRESS GOODS TAKE ON A NEW IMPORTANCE AS DECORATIVE FABRICS



Deep blue sail cloth is used to make a good looking bedspread for a man's room. Heavy white cotton cord trimming adds to its character. This material comes by the yard and is sold at a Chicago store.



This novelty dotted Swiss bedspread, simple to make, would be charming in a colonial room. It's given as an illustration of what can be done with the new washable cotton fabrics this summer.



Intriguingly feminine is this bedspread, a suggestion for the use of blue and white pique-voile which may be bought by the yard at the department stores. Appliqued tailored bows adorn the center of the spread and there are three tiers of ruffles on the sides. Indeed, pretty for a four poster.

Fashion Smartest of New Bedspreads.

By Edith Weigle.

JUST as ginghams, linens, piqué and various novelty weaves have stepped into the fashion picture this summer, dress goods have entered the bedroom. It's smart to have a bedspread that's fresh, dainty and washable. White piqué-voile, novelty dotted swiss, sail cloth, pure white cotton serge, and sprigged dimity are some of the materials now being used by the clever and economical home decorator. They are available in the dress goods section of most department stores and with a little ingenuity and the aid of contrasting trimmings they may be quickly converted into the prettiest summer bedspreads imaginable.

Airy, crisp curtains for the windows may be made of this same material, thus giving the room a unified atmosphere. Attractive bureau scarfs, too, are no trouble at all to make.

It's both simple and inexpensive, for instance, to assemble a tailored bedspread of soft green piqué, piped in white [the home dressmaker can stitch one up in no time], curtains of the same sort, or for contrast, of white piqué with a bias band edging of the green and a bureau scarf and night stand square of the green piqué trimmed in white.

Now that organdy's washable, still keeping its original stiffness, it would be lovely to bring it into a young girl's room. Fluffy ruffled draperies of peach colored organdy, caught back with a peach and blue ruffle, harmonize with a bedspread of peach organdy with one wide ruffle along the sides and a bureau scarf of peach with four narrow bands, one of blue, one of yellow, one of deep peach, and one of green as trimming. Such a scarf can be bought ready made in a Chicago store. Or you can sew it up yourself.

Ideal for a man's or boy's room is a stunning blue sail cloth, available by the yard at a Chicago store. It's shown made up into a bedspread, in one of the pictures today. All the sturdiness of a heavier fabric without any of the disadvantages is found in this spread with its heavy white cotton cord trimming. Tailored lacings at the lower corners are practical as well as decorative. Wouldn't this be attractive in an early English oak room?

Radiant with feminine chic is another bedspread which is made of white piqué-voile trimmed with appliqued tailored bows of a contrasting color. The three tiers of ruffles lend charm to the flounce, and the blue bias piping makes an effective diagonal trimming. This type is especially appropriate for an 18th century bedroom. None of these spreads can be bought ready made; they are given as suggestions for the use of the new cottons.

The texture of these new washables is a whole story in itself. There are the rough, nubby fabrics that have all the feeling of an early American or French provincial interior. In pattern they may be any one of the quaint florals or plaids which are reminiscent of the old homespuns or ginghams. These are ideal for the summer cottage.

Some finishes are so fine and smooth that the most formal room becomes more intriguing through their use—even to classic 19th century rooms. Smart stripes and diagonals as well as crisply crinkled textures can be used most effectively.

The wide latitude of the styles of the 18th century English room offers the opportunity to use either a smooth fabric or the rough textures, giving to this type of decoration a formal or informal quality, as desired.

We haven't mentioned the ginghams or chintzes, but they are simply luscious this summer, coming in colors that make them look like strawberry ice cream, a bowl or red raspberries, and peaches and cream. Good old checkered ginghams in blue and white or red and white are grand for the house at the shore, or in the woods. Be sure to put ruffles on 'em, though.

THE LOWLY EGG WITH FRILLS

Ham and eggs have stepped out together ever since some happy gourmet first discovered how mutually flattering they were. The treat above brings us cool, thin slices of ham flanking nippy, stuffed eggs, their centers piled giddily with creamy yolk.

WHETHER the occasion be a family get together or a festive affair with the crowd dropping in, eggs seem to have an amazingly satisfying way of turning up at the right moment.

One of their best points is their sales talk, which affirms that they are plentiful, economical, and easy to prepare. It assures us that they coöperate well with other foods, can be prepared in 1,000 different ways (count 'em), are bubbling with vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin, and wage war against colds by supplying vitamin A. Here are a couple of recipes:

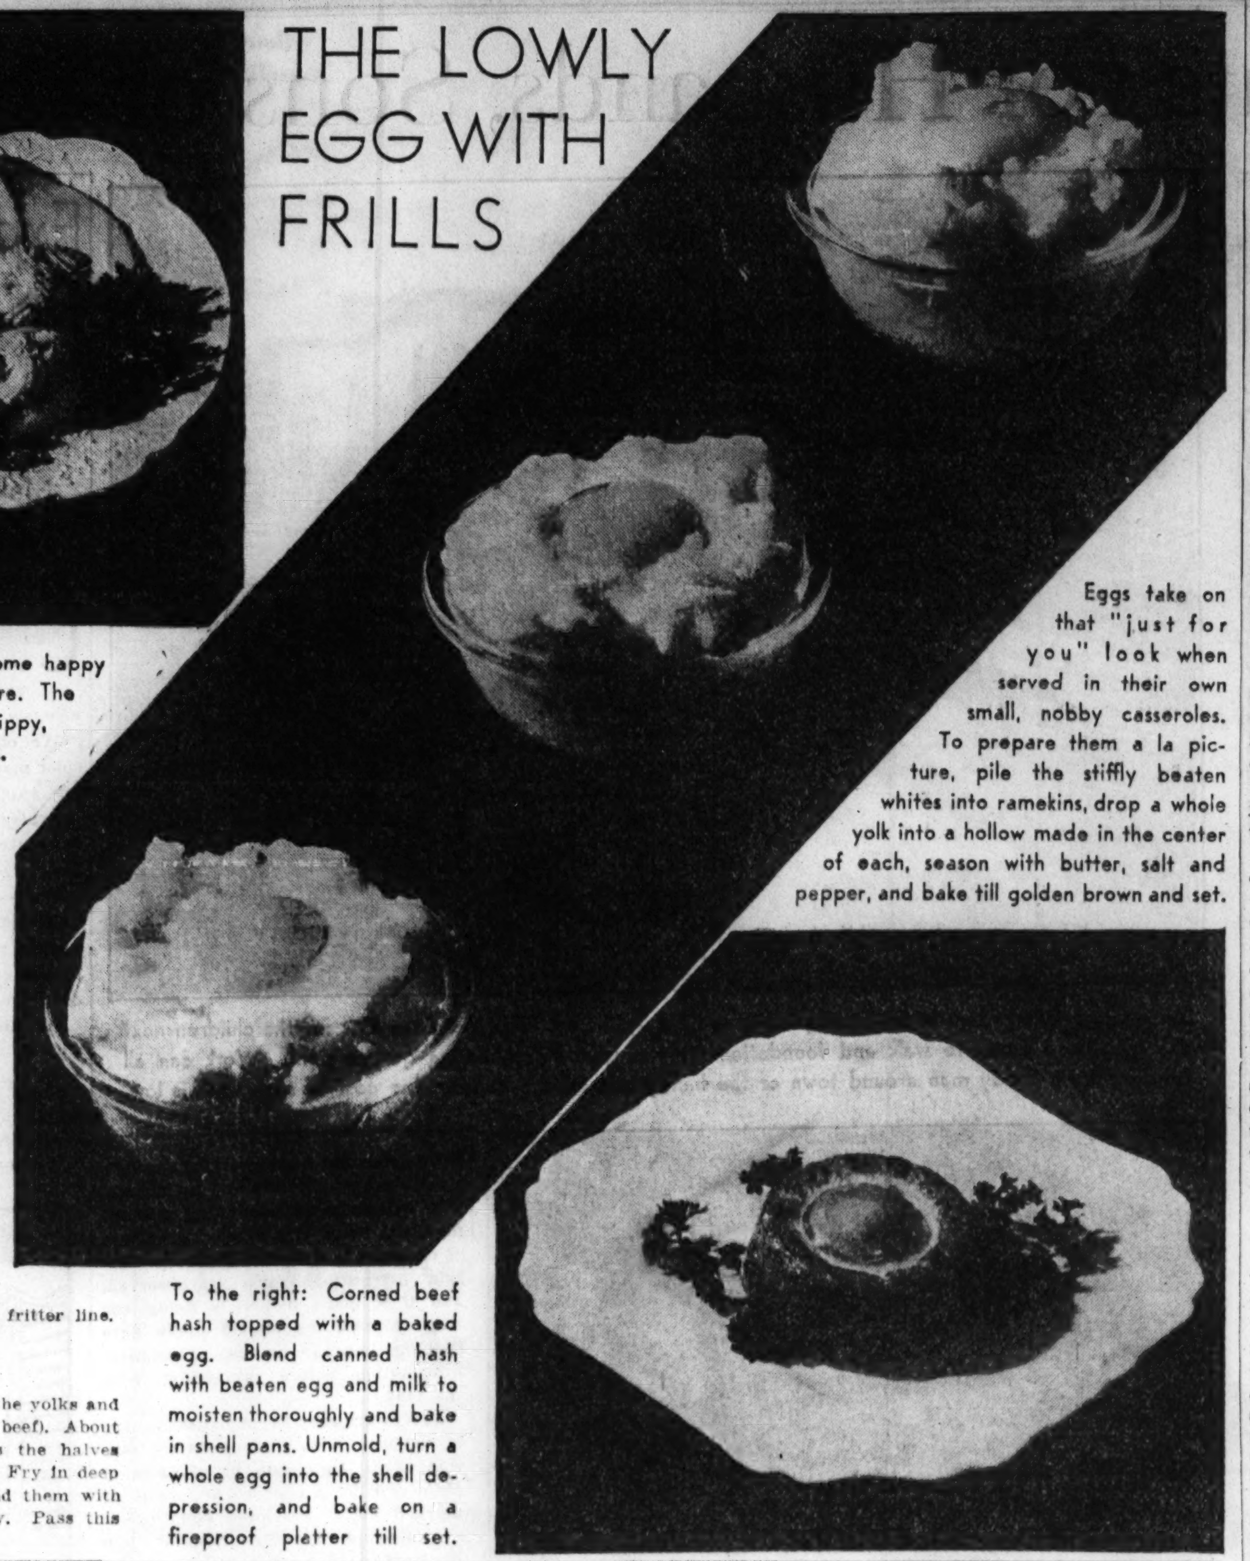
Eggs Tetrazzini.

Simply cook one-half package of spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Meanwhile, brown one-quarter cup of almonds in butter, and then, removing the almonds, brown in the same pan one-half cup each of diced celery and mushrooms, one tablespoon of minced onion and two tablespoons of chopped green pepper. Thicken this mixture with two tablespoons of flour and stir in one-half cup of milk. Chop three hard cooked eggs fine and add. Pile the spaghetti in the center of a hot platter, surround with the vegetable-egg mixture, and garnish with the browned almonds and with another egg, sliced thin.

Likewise, some tempting things have been happening in the fritter line. This, for example:

Royal Fritters.

Hard cook four eggs. Cut them in half lengthwise, take out the yolks and stuff the whites with seasoned, ground chicken (or veal, pork, or beef). About tablespoon of meat should be allowed for each half egg. Press the halves together, fasten with toothpicks, and dip them in fritter batter. Fry in deep fat until golden brown. Press the yolks through a sieve and blend them with one-half cup of mayonnaise and two tablespoons minced parsley. Pass this dressing with the hot egg fritters.



Eggs take on that "just for you" look when served in their own small, nobby casseroles. To prepare them a la picture, pile the stiffly beaten whites into ramekins, drop a whole yolk into a hollow made in the center of each, season with butter, salt and pepper, and bake till golden brown and set.

To the right: Corned beef hash topped with a baked egg. Blend canned hash with beaten egg and milk to moisten thoroughly and bake in shell pans. Unmold, turn a whole egg into the shell depression, and bake on a fireproof platter till set.

Double Header in Store for Sally's Guests

Lucky Hundred to See Sox Play Twice with Boston on August 24.

By Sally Joy Brown.

BOYS and girls of today are, it seems to me, pretty well entertained. Most of you get to see a movie occasionally, have a ride in an automobile fairly often, receive your fair share of candy and ice cream—but there's one thing you never, never seem to get enough of—and that's baseball! So as long as it's my business to see that you kids enjoy yourselves this summer—I decided another baseball party would probably please you more than anything else.

And if you don't have enough of your favorite game this time, I'll eat my hat—and as it's the only one I have and I don't care for straw, I do hope you'll be satisfied!

August 24 is the day, and Mr. J. Louis Comiskey has invited us to come again to Comiskey park to see the Sox play Boston. Here's the big news—it'll be a DOUBLE HEADER! So, my brave lads and lassies, if you have ideas about being included in this party, don't tarry—but let me know just how much you'd enjoy this really eventful occasion, and include your name, address, and age in your letter. And remember, Wednesday's the deadline!

"Jack and Jill,
Went up the hill,
To fetch a pail of water—."

Next Thursday we'll see a number of Jacks and Jills, but they won't be going up hills—they'll be busy entertaining us with "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Listed below are the names of my guests for our party on Aug. 17. Invitations will be mailed promptly and should be received by Tuesday. If your name is printed here, and your letter doesn't arrive by that date, please notify me.

Window Curtain Cords Used for New Jewelry

WHAT next? Here's jewelry made of such an utterly prosaic cotton thing as window curtain cords. The cords are looped together to fashion bracelets, necklaces, and even rings and brooches, and are tied with colorful composition doo-dads.

Use Arsenate Dressing for Sod Webworms

THE striped sod webworms which injured so many lawns in the Chicago region two years ago are again threatening to destroy patches of turf in lawns and golf courses this fall.

Adults of the insect have been flying about in large numbers in some parts of the central west and it will be the worms hatched from the eggs laid by the aviating adults that will do the sod damage. The best protection is an application of a top dressing of fine dirt into which some lead arsenate is mixed.

The dry arsenate may be spread as a dust or a spray, but care must be exercised that dogs, cats, or children do not rub into the newly applied arsenate. The rate of application is about 1 pound of powder on each 100 square feet of lawn. Whether dusted or applied with a dirt covering the hose should be used to wash it into the base of the grass plants in late afternoon.

"THE PICKLE PARADE"

Are you hungry for pickles? Are you tempted by the tangy thoughts of melon pickles, mustard pickles, pickled peppers, green tomato pickles, carrot pickles—and bottles of fruit chutneys, catsups and nippy mixed relishes?

Then "THE PICKLE PARADE," Mary Meade's new booklet of pickle and relish recipes planned to make pickling possible for even the modern hustling homemaker, is the correct answer. To secure it, send 3 cents in stamps to Mary Meade, Tribune Cooking Editor, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

China Battles Over Modern Women's Dress

Slit Skirts Are Causing Controversy Between Two Schools of Dress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI. — Despite famines, floods, wars, and devastating disease epidemics, the Chinese have found time to stir up a widespread controversy over an old, old subject—the style of dresses which the Chinese women are wearing this year.

A dozen years ago Chinese women of the better class seldom were to be seen on the public streets, and if they were seen they always were dressed in silken pantaloons, then the national costume of Chinese women, the pantaloons being topped by a close fitting jacket with long sleeves and extremely high collar.

Then as a direct result of the influx of American Movies the Chinese women suddenly adopted skirts, extremely short ones, and there was the dickens to pay. Mayors of cities and even provincial governors issued solemn edicts against the short skirts, one general in Peiping ordering the women to wear long trousers down to their ankles in addition to the short skirts. As a result of public and official disapproval the skirts were gradually lengthened until they practically touched the floor.

Unmentionables Seen.

But the victory of the conservatives was not long lasting. Suddenly something happened to the long, close fitting one piece dresses which the Chinese modistes fashioned so as to button up the sides. Slits began to appear on each side, at first only extending some 6 inches up from the bottom and designed apparently to provide greater freedom in walking and dancing. But the slits refused to stay put, so to speak. Gradually they were extended upward to the knee and even above and as a result the Chinese papers are again filled with denunciations of the new styles.

A writer in the China Critic, widely read Chinese magazine, questioned whether Chinese women could any longer be classed as the "most modest on earth." Any who doubted this statement were invited to visit one of the popular dancing places and see for themselves. He declared that if these young Chinese women could see themselves as others saw them from the side lines they would hurry home and put on a "slip," and in addition sew up some twelve or fourteen inches of the slits on each side of the gown.

But this was not the worst of it. The conservative observer declared that he actually had seen several women whose "panties" showed through the slits at the sides of the dresses. Mme. V. K. Wellington Koo, wife of the former Chinese minister to Washington and London, was charged with indirect responsibility for this type of dress, which actually consisted of the ancient silk pantaloons, with gold lace around the bottom, and then over this was the long, close fitting outer dress, with the slits on each side. Everybody apparently approved this invention, but immediately the dressmakers set about modifications by shortening the pantaloons until only a few inches could be seen through the slits, which, as stated, were gradually extended upward to the knee and sometimes somewhat above. Otherwise what was the use of wearing silk stockings in the land that invented silk?

The battle is now on and naturally centers at Shanghai, which metropolis sets the styles for the whole nation. Of course, the influence of Hollywood broadcast through the movie is held responsible, but others charge the Russian dressmakers who dominate the industry in Shanghai with responsibility. But the Chinese women with their new independence refuse to be bluffed and tell their critics to "go back to Confucius."

Necks Still Covered.

As the situation stands today the Chinese women's dress consists of an outer one piece, close fitting garment that reaches almost to the floor and on each side at the bottom are the slits, the length of the slit depending entirely upon the taste and independence of the wearer. The sleeves are short and as no Chinese woman of taste would dare to show her neck to the public, the neck continues to be covered by a high, closely buttoned collar. Underneath this dress some wear the ancient pantaloons long, some short and it is suspected some do not wear them at all but have substituted the American and European women's lingerie, or whatever it is labelled in the fashion ads.

One of the critics of the new dresses asked why the modern Chinese maidens appeared so conservative about their collars, "while so blissfully frank about what appeared below the hips . . . is it just another paradox in this world of flux and change?"

Trays, Boxes Are Reminders of Italy

DID you know that Florentine boxes that aren't Florentine are now to be had very cheaply? It seems that those clever Japanese craftsmen so clever at imitating wares of other nations are making such excellent copies of Italian boxes, painted designs and all, in wood, that even a native would find it difficult to tell the reproduction from the original.

There are stunning wooden or composition trays in floral designs of Italian blue, yellow, etc., and round boxes, with charmingly decorated covers, holding half a dozen coasters painted with little roses and conventional patterns.

All this ware is artistic, out of the ordinary, and very, very reasonably priced. We saw it at a Chicago store

Loses 28 Pounds of Fat

The improvement in this woman's figure, after she had lost 28 lbs. of unwanted fat, can easily be imagined from the comparative measurements which she gives below. Not also the effects of the treatment she used. Her method is evidently a good one to follow.

"I am 24 years of age; height 5 ft. 5½ in.; and a short time ago my weight was 28 lbs. above normal. I was listless and without energy. Now, after taking Kruschen Salts regularly, I have lost 28 lbs. in weight and have much more vitality. Also I have a very good complexion, and I do not have face blemishes of any kind. Surely this must be due to my having pure blood, and I attribute the fact to my taking Kruschen Salts.

"I made the above reduction in four months, during which time I must admit that I did not touch chocolates or sweets of any description, pastries, or potatoes. I kept to this for four months and lost 28 lbs. I honestly think it would not have been possible without the aid of Kruschen Salts, because, as my weight is now normal for my height and age, I am able to keep it without dieting, just by continuing with the Kruschen Salts alone.—I give my measurements below:—((Miss) M. S."

Before		After
Weight	168 lbs.	Weight	140 lbs.
Bust	42 ins.	Bust	34 ins.
Waist	31 ins.	Waist	26 ins.
Hips	40 ins.	Hips	36 ins.

If one inexpensive jar (lasts 4 weeks) doesn't joyfully satisfy, money back from any drug store. Make sure you get Kruschen—prescribed by many physicians and recognized the world over as the SAFE way to reduce and at the same time gain in health and physical charm.

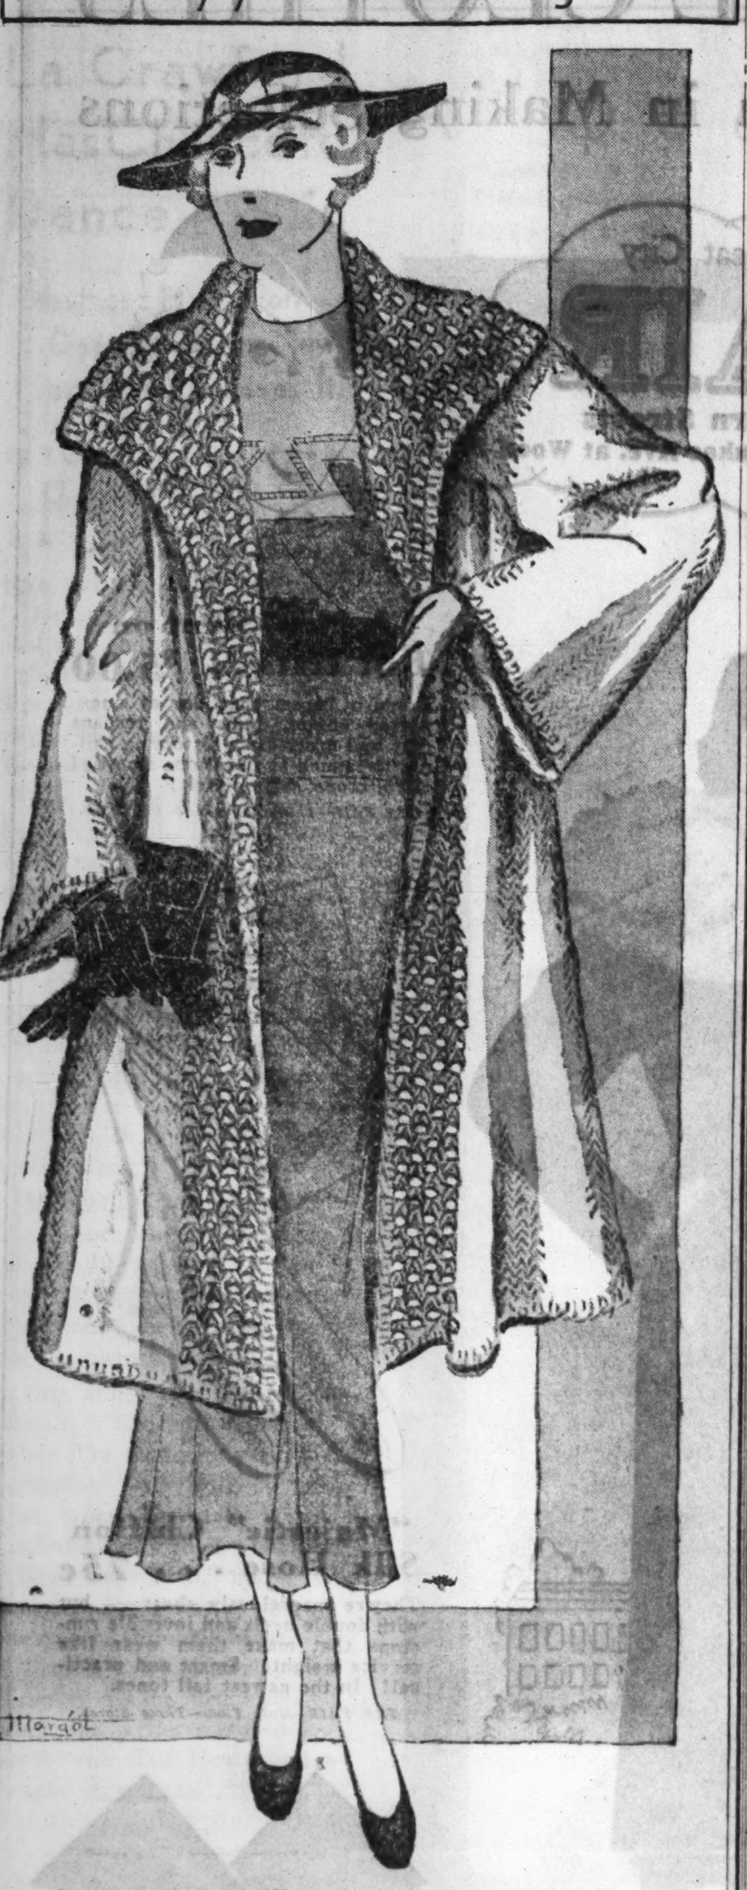
Fall Utility Coat Is Knit of Gayly Colored Rug Wool



By Jean MacDonald.

THE easiest and most practical knitting job we can think of at the moment is the stunning fall utility coat made of three pounds of attractively colored rug wool on fourteen inch number ten aluminum or wooden knitting needles.

With the price of yarns advancing and the fall season approaching, it is a wise move to start it now. This rug wool coat is warm and comfortable for traveling and ideal for cool evenings at the Fair.

Raglan coats are usually knee length, but the one illustrated today may be knitted longer or shorter depending upon height and taste. The body stitch in the coat is the tried and true stocking web, with the Moss stitch affording a perfect trimming on the collar and fronts, the sleeves full or narrow, as desired.

Rug wool can be purchased in various grades and a wide color range from bright daring tones of orange, red and greens, to the most conservative and equally becoming shades of gray, brown or blue.

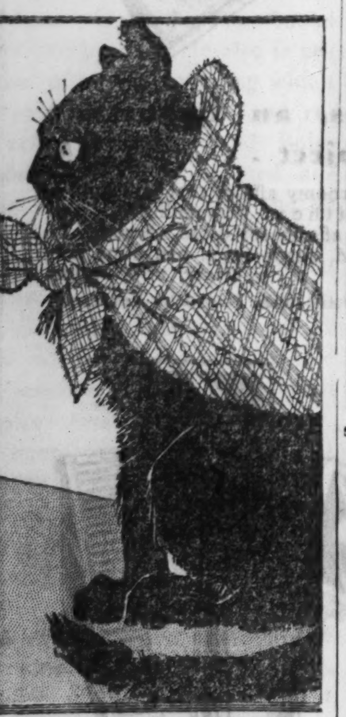
Summer Work



By Eleanor Jewett.

I started with my knitting
And meant to make a cap,
But suddenly I found it was Much bigger than my lap!

The stitches stretched remarkably,
The thing grew wide and long;
It might do for a blanket—
For a cap it was all wrong.

And even for a blanket it
Was odd, the edges tight—
But for a shawl for kitty
It was just exactly right!

La Crawford Has Chance to Dance Again

Resumes Her Former Occupation in Newest Film, 'n Loves It.

By ROSALIND SHAFFER.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—[Special.]—Joan Crawford is back with her old love, dancing in her new film, "Dancing Lady." For those of you who didn't know it, Joan first won fame as a dancer on Broadway, back in the old days when she was Lucille Lesueur.

Her present film is giving her a big thrill. The last three weeks have been spent rehearsing dance numbers with Fred Astaire, and in the process Joan has lost ten pounds.

"I'm dog tired, but I love it," she says. It is pretty intensified work that's being done on the dance numbers, waiting for Clark Gable to get well, which may take three weeks more.

Meanwhile, Joan and Franchot Tone, also in the picture, sun bathe together to keep their shades of sunburn even; they want to be the same shade for the picture.

One thing that's novel in films is a film burlesquing another film made by the same company. Joan will do just that when she and Winnie Lightner do their number, "Hold Your Man," taking off Jean Harlow's theme song in the film of the same name.

Joan is not bad at slapstick comedy, as she demonstrated while the writer watched her work with Ted Healy and a couple of stooges. The scene was reminiscent of Gracie Allen in "International House," where the man is trying to put Gracie out of the door and she keeps struggling and saying, "But I don't want to dance; I just don't feel like dancing."

- Fred Astaire is making quite a hit by his modesty at the studio. No amateur ever had as little brass as Astaire. When a professional backslapper came up to him and began giving him the old oil, Fred backed away timidly and said: "I'm not so much; I'm just one of the gang, fella."

He was a bit dubious about getting back on the set after he had left it, much to Joan's amusement. "What'll I do if they change the policeman while I'm gone?" he asked in real concern.

- Richard Boleslavsky, director at M-G-M, is also well known as an author. "The Way of a Lancer" and "Lances Down" are two books written by him. He also is author of a book on acting which Franchot Tone reads and rereads. Some one told Boleslavsky what a devoted admirer of his Tone was and he said: "That book was written from another book written over a hundred years ago on the fundamentals of acting. It is written about people like Franchot Tone, actors who take their work seriously. There are few enough of them."

Tone was delighted when he was told this and took it as a great compliment.

- Benita Hume is engaged to marry Jack Dunfee, who, unless all signs fail, must be a jealous lover. Dunfee is in London, yet when Benita left town for a couple of days to hide away for a rest at Palm Springs, leaving her address with no one, she received a cable from Dunfee addressed correctly.

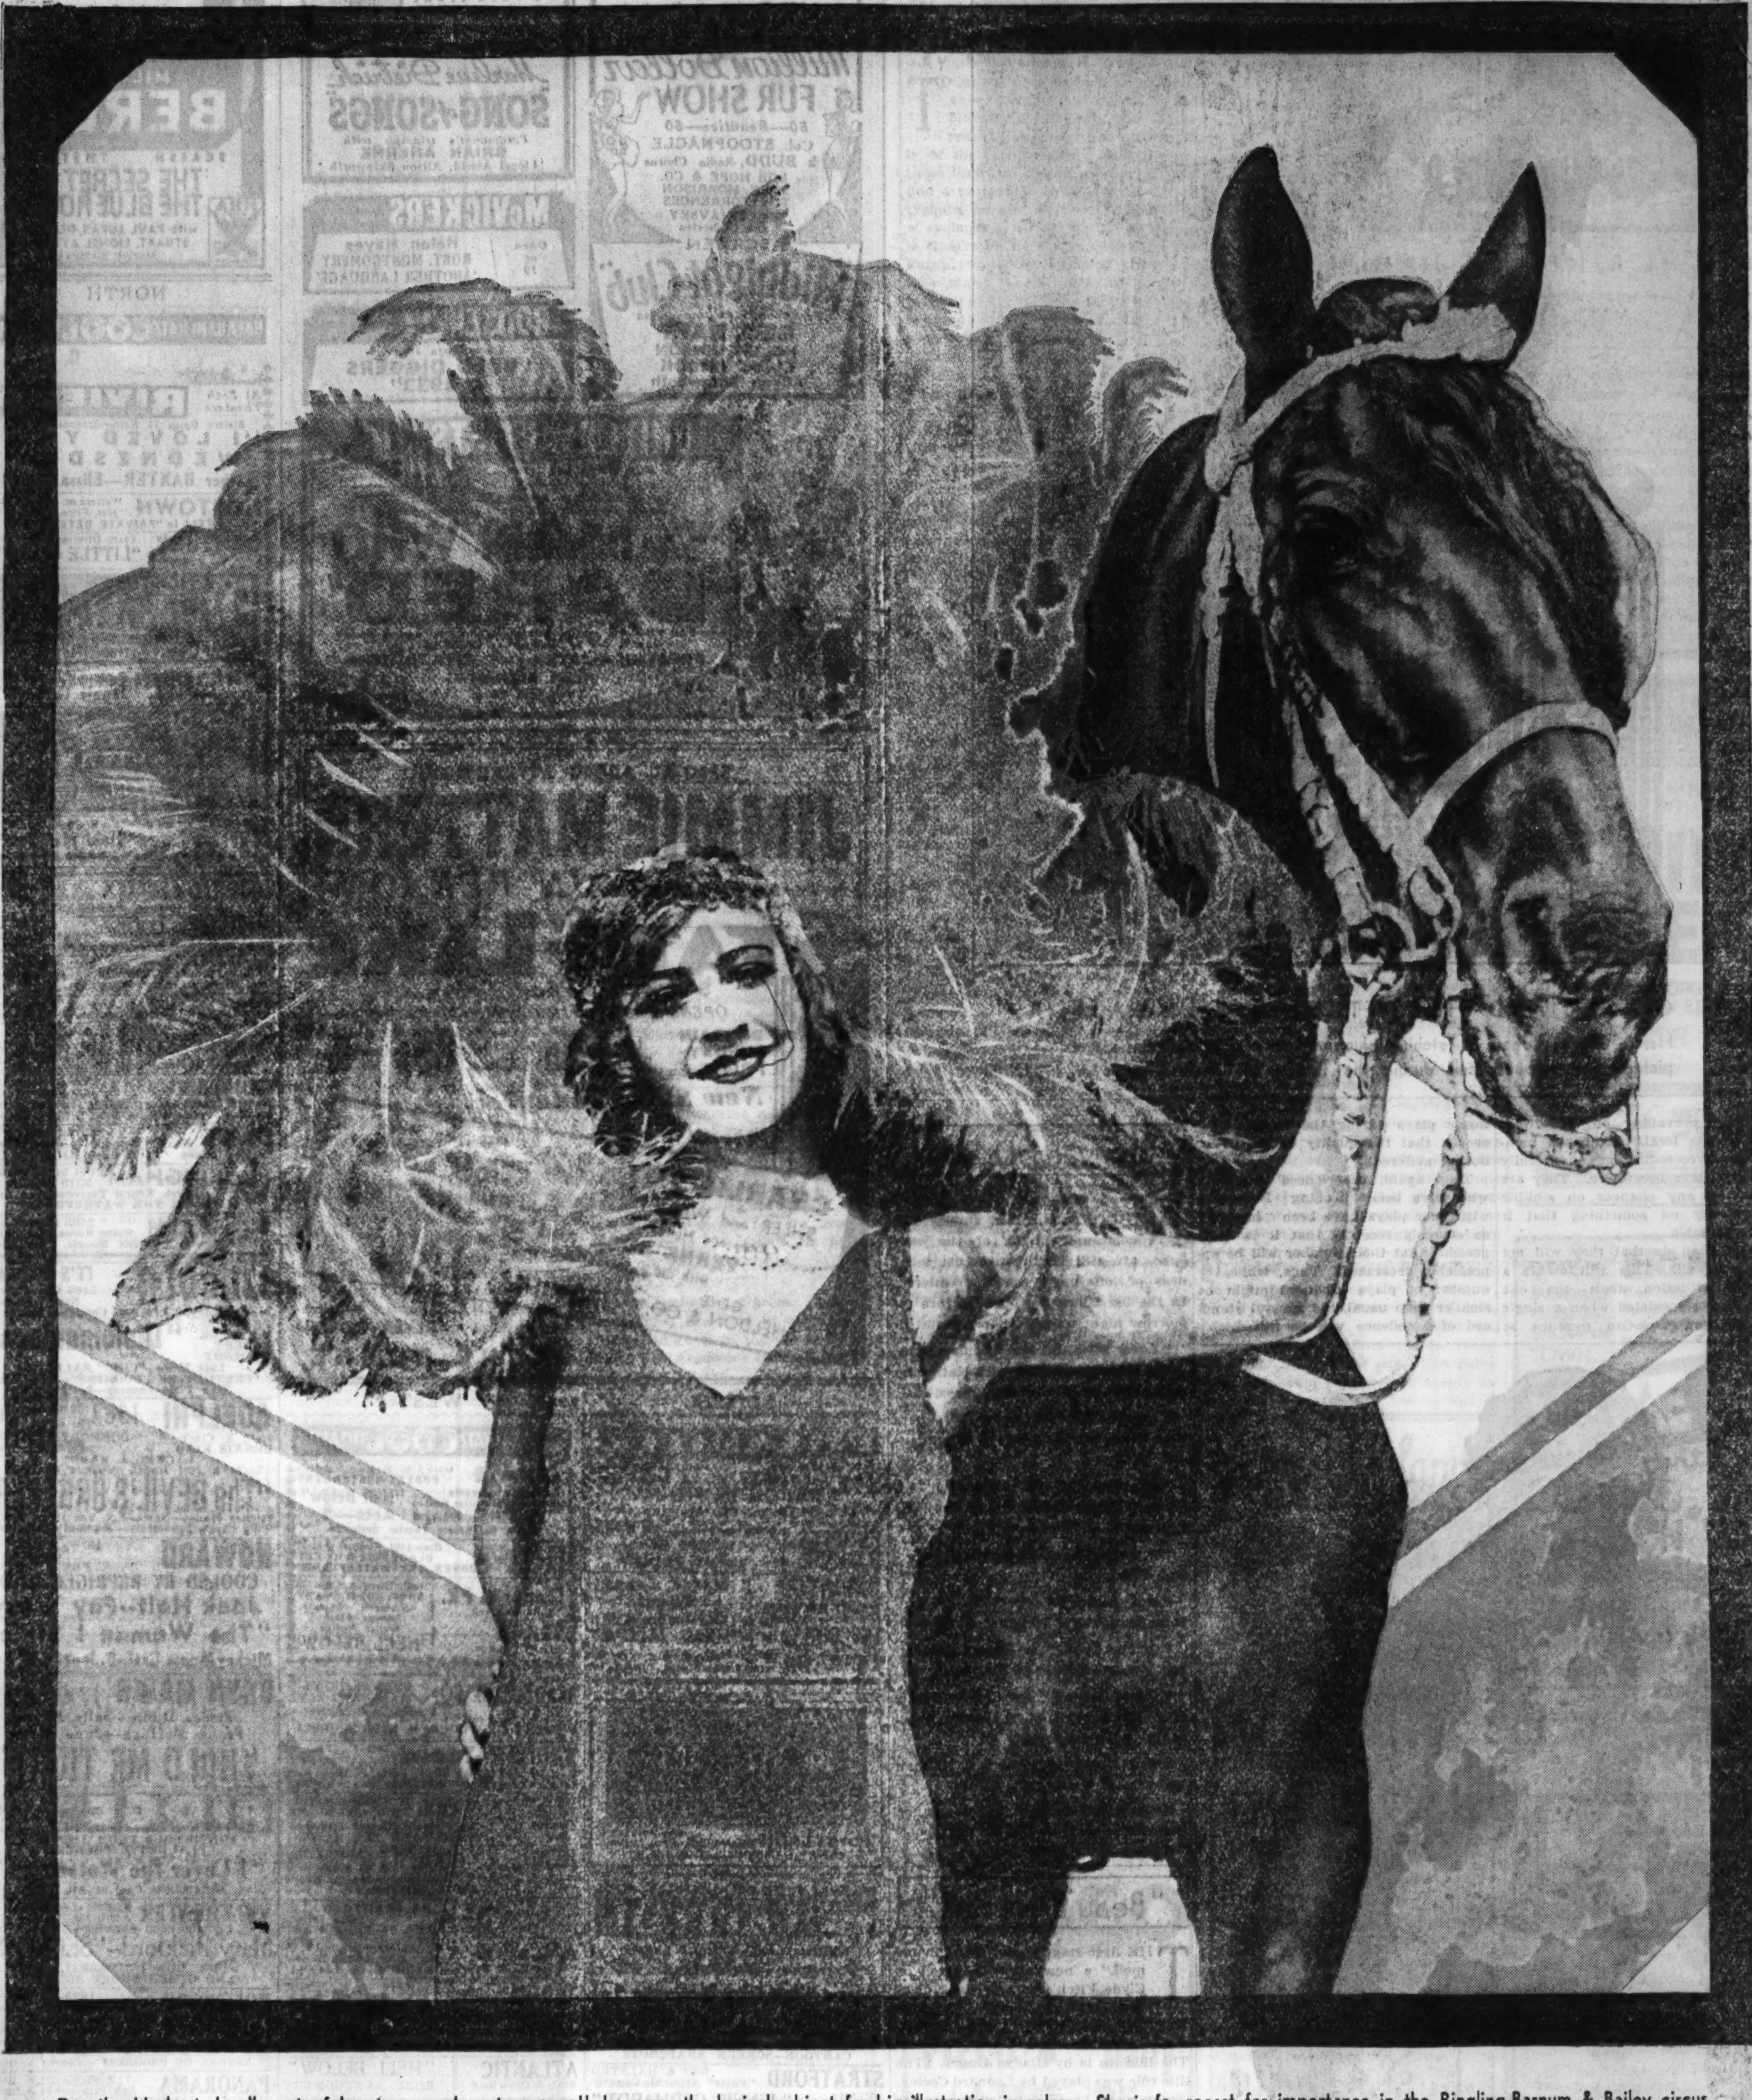
As soon as she finishes "The Worst Woman in Paris" for Jesse Lasky, she intends flying to New York and sailing to London to be married.

A Queen of the Circus in Colors



Dorothy Herbert, hardly out of her teens and a star as well, becomes the logical subject for big illustration in colors. She is fo recast for importance in the Ringling-Barnum & Bailey circus.

CRITIC FINDS DRAMA AT A CENTURY OF PROGRESS

• • • • By BURNS MANTLE

ALL World's Fairs are alike in one way. You find the biggest crowds at the peep shows. Where there are hundreds wandering dutifully and a little dully through the Hall of Science, the Federal building and Horticultural hall there are always thousands packed into the Midway. God must have loved the giggling hosts. He peopled a world with them.

All Fairs are alike in this, too: The best exhibits are the free exhibits, though nine out of ten visitors flock to the pay shows. If it costs a quarter it must be good. If it costs a dime it must at least be better than it would be if it were free. Silly reasoning at a great Fair, but common as weather cussing.

Two Made of Good Old Materials.

The little side dramas in the exhibitors' contests are interesting. The home planning exhibit is fascinating to any one who has ever built a house or who ever hopes to build a house. Eleven house building or house assembling concerns have erected fairly modest bungalows to prove the sanity of their dreams and the economy of their type of home investment. Several of them are sheet-steel houses, insulated against heat and cold. Some are of a newly invented masonry. One or two are of glass.

But two stand out defiantly against this modern thrust. One is of common brick, erected by the brick manufacturers. The other is an all-lumber cottage built by the national lumber interests, with lumber paneled ceilings and walls.

What's all this modern claptrap to do with a real home? You can hear them shouting that. Lumber and brick, stones and mortar. They were good enough for your fathers and they should be good enough for you. You can almost see them thumbing their noses at the insulated steel group. Who wants to live in a refrigerator in summer or a boiler room in winter?

The way you will live in the future will probably be very much as you are living today so far as house room is concerned. But your grandchildren may have taken to the new order of house. I would not be surprised to see settlements of insulated steel bungalows spring up in future developments. No basements, which are a waste of room, now that we can be rid of coal furnaces. The modern furnace is a heat machine in a room next to the garage.

House of Tomorrow Constructed of Glass.

No attics to accumulate dust and trunks, kodak albums, and broken chairs, library lamps, and discarded golf clubs. Where the attic would have been a roof deck is set out with steamer chairs and children's swings, solariums on which grandma can sit and knit, if you can get her up there. Flower beds in the south and east corners and beach umbrellas wherever you want them.

The "House of Tomorrow," according to the Century Homes company, which built one for the Fair, will be a shade less private than Irvin Cobb's goldfish bowl. Possibly two shades. It is a circular glass house built around a hollow steel mast through which all the telephone wires, plumbing pipes, electric wires, gas pipes, and the like are run. The windows are sealed. All in a row on the first floor, also next the garage, are heating, cooling, and air conditioning machines. The air is filtered, washed, heated, or cooled to suit and then shot through the house and out into a dirty world, with a fresh supply every ten minutes.

Freaky House of the Future.

It is a bit of a freak, this house of the future. As ugly as sin, exteriorly. A sort of half-section lighthouse, with a deck promenade and garden off the living room on the second floor. The first floor is taken up largely by the garage and a small hangar for the family airplane, a recreation room with bar attached, and the aforementioned machinery rooms to keep the air conditioned and circulating. But perhaps the grandchildren will get used to it.

The Fair is ever so easy on throats. Most of the lecturing is

By MAE TINEE.

GOOD MORNING!

Well, fans dear, when you read this I'll be tucked away in pine trees, with a mountain stream for a pillow and a cliff at my feet. And neither radios nor newspapers shall rouse me from my dream for days and days . . . !

"The Secret of the Blue Room" starts out foolishlike, and has a far fetched ending. Moreover, it carelessly neglects to enlighten you on a number of points you'd dearly like to have made clear. But betwixt and between and despite, it sports some suspenseful sequences that cause the picture to hold your interest and, ever and anon, send delightful chills down your spine.

Plot Keeps You Guessing.

We won't, of course, go into the plot. You may be assured it will keep you guessing. We'll just touch lightly on locale and general layout, and gossip a bit about the players.

The action occurs in a luxurious country home where live Robert von Hellsdorf, his daughter (?) Irene, and their faithful retainers. Here, as the story opens, a dinner in honor of Irene's birthday is drawing to a close. At table are the damsel, her father (?), and three swains who aspire to the fair one's hand.

The conversation turns or is, I believe (she darkly hinted), deliberately TURNED to the subject of the Blue Room—same being a guest chamber which has not been opened for twenty years—for reasons the pix shall point out. And then, though danger appears to betide, the youngest of the suitors declares—for some more reasons the film shall reveal—that he will SLEEP THAT NIGHT in the Blue Room . . . !

Cast Is Well Chosen.

His decision and his action start the horror ball a-rolling. At this juncture deponent ceaseth to depone.

"The Blue Room" has the assets of a capable and well chosen cast, and a most decorative heroine. Direction is as clever as scenario permitted, though I DO think Mr. Neumann might have wormed in a bit more info' re—well, never mind . . . !

Photography and staging are excellent. Dialogue's nothing to get excited over. Suspense is admirably maintained. But—and I'm sure you will agree with me—the real secret of the Blue Room remains—the Blue Room's secret.

Bits aBOUTem.

EDWARD EVERETT HORTON has an odd hobby. He saves trees. Whenever he hears the street department is about to do a job of widening, cutting a new alley or such, he negotiates for the trees that will be displaced and has them moved to his ranch near Van Nuys. So far, they do say, he has collected 300 fine specimens. . . . "Her Regiment of Lovers" will be MARLENE DIETRICH'S next movie. She will play Catherine the Great of Russia and be directed by Josef Von Sternberg.

Producer Finds Hope in View of Stage Future

Lack of New Plays Does Not Discourage B'way's Leading Impresario.

By Sam H. Harris.

[Producer of "Dinner at Eight," "Of Thee I Sing," etc.]

ORDINARILY, at about this time every year, the dramatic columns of the newspapers are filled with extravagantly long lists sent in by the various producing offices giving forth in detail the number of plays planned for production during the forthcoming season. The fact that the lists published lately have been noticeably small has been taken to be an indication that the season directly ahead will be a decidedly inauspicious one.

I think it is a mistake in judgment to base predictions on the probable success or failure of a theatrical season on the nature of pre-season forecasts. It has been my experience that these aforementioned lists are useless as a barometer because of the element of uncertainty which is the essence of the show business.

A comparison of the actual productions in a given theatrical season with the list of forecasts which preceded it will always show wide discrepancies. Many plays announced for fall production have a way of never materializing. Then, again, we are only too familiar with the preponderance of plays which, with their resounding titles and distinguished casts look so well on paper, but which, when presented, turn sour over night.

Stage Successes Come by Surprise.

On the other hand, it will be noticed that each season can be depended upon to provide its share of plays that come in unheralded, written, very often, by some unknown writer and produced by some new group or manager, which become over night sensations. Often has it happened that this type of play has sustained and saved an expiring season.

It is not the quantity of productions which makes a season a success or failure. Rather, it is the proportion of good plays to bad ones which is the deciding factor. There was no noticeable lack of plays last season, yet the season was undistinguished by reason of its small proportion of outstanding dramas and musical shows. The few that received the approbation of the critics and theatergoing public were supported wholeheartedly and ran for months despite the depression.

It is up to the managers and writers to provide theatrical fare with some degree of excellence before they exclaim, "The theater is dead!"

Theater Ripe for Economic Recovery.

It is my belief that the coming season will see a higher standard of play production prevailing on Broadway. Many of the local, established managers are proceeding more carefully than they have heretofore. They are not taking any chances on sinking their money on something that is merely passable.

Rather than do that they will not produce at all. This will create a healthier situation than the one which formerly existed when a single producer undertook to produce so many plays during the course of a season that the quality of the entire output suffered.

Then again, experienced producers who have been flooding Broadway with poor plays have been "burned" so severely recently that it is quite possible that their number will be appreciably decreased. Thus, while the number of plays produced might be smaller than usual, the general standard of excellence will be raised.

"Fidelity Insured," by Constance Bridges, with Lily Cahill; at Locust Valley, L. I. [Tuesday].

"Beau Brummell"

THE first staging of "Beau Brummell," a new operetta based on Clyde Fitch's comedy, took place last week in St. Louis. The score was composed by Harry Tierney, composer of "Rio Rita" and "Irene." The libretto is by Gladys Unger. The title rôle was played by Leonard Ceeley, remembered by Chicago audiences for his performances in "Nina Rosa" and "Marching By." Others in the cast were Allan Jones, Berna Deane, Nancy McCord, Jack Sheehan, George Hassell, Hope Emerson, Nick Long Jr., and others.

IF YOU WOULD LOVE RUTHIE YOU MUST LOVE HER PUPS

Ruthie (Chatterton) has two pups. She loves them mighty well. And when you praise her little pups, why, Ruthie thinks you're swell. (This is supposed to be poetry.)

MODERN CABARET PERFORMERS WITH CLASSIC GREEK PROFILES

Here are the profiles of Marcelle and Ted Williams, "adagio" entertainers in the floor show at the Casino, popular dance and refreshment concession of A Century of Progress. They illustrate the fact that acrobatic dancers can be as handsome as the movie idols.

Barrymore in Barrie Comedy on Palace Bill

THE commanding name of Ethel Barrymore leads the announcements of the new vaudeville programs at the cinema-and-variety theaters. The distinguished actress began a week's stay at the Palace theater last Friday in a revival of Barrie's one-act comedy, "The Twelve Pound Look." She is assisted by Harry Plimmer, Georgia Drew Mendum, and Edward McHugh. This is her first Chicago appearance in a "picture palace." She gives four performances a day.

Other contributors to the bill at the Palace are Milton Berle, comedian and master of ceremonies, held over for a fourth week; Vivian Janis, a blonde singing girl of the cabaret programs and radio; Vivian Faye, a ballet dancer; John and Mary Mason, comic roller skaters; Arran and Broderick, in songs and dances, and the Ushers, an octet of male dancers.

Sally Rand, the much discussed fan dancer, continues at the Chicago theater for another week. Other items of entertainment on the current stage program are a fur show, with fifty models in the fall and winter styles; Col. Stoopnagle and Bud, radio comedians; Bob Hope, comedian; Alex Morrison, golf expert; John and Edna Torrence, dancers, and the Fred Evans ballet.

Jimmy Mattern, the around-the-world aviator, leads the new vaudeville program at the State-Lake theater beginning today. Other members on the bill are:

Edith Griffith, radio and cabaret singer; the Four Blondes, singers and comediennes; Jay Seiler and Frances Wills, in dances; the St. Clair Sisters and O'Day, cyclists; Gene Sheldon, banjoist; Verne Buck's revue, with Stanley Morner and the State-Lake ballet girls, and Charles Foy, son of the old comedian, Eddie Foy.

B'way Openings

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Two playbills will be added to the meager list of summer shows along Broadway next week. One of them represents a Gilbert and Sullivan revival. Here are the announcements:

"The Yeomen of the Guard."—Opens Monday at the Majestic theater. Ruth Altman, Frank Moulan, William Danforth, and Roy Cropper are in the cast of this Gilbert and Sullivan revival.

"The Chalk Circle."—Opens Tuesday at the Playmillers theater. Here is a Chinese fantasy by Klabund, the English version being by I. S. Richter. It has been produced in Germany and in London, the last occasion having been in 1929, when Anna May Wong took part. Herbert Standing and Claire Grenville are in the present cast.

Spanish Dances Latest Vogue in Cabaret Shows

THE Summer Garden room of the Drake hotel has gone Spanish, and its pair of ballroom dancing stars, Addison Fowler and Florence Tamara, are illustrating the folk dances of the Iberian peninsula with much gusto. This team spent several years in Spain, and studied the tango, castanet work, bull fighting, and other Castilian customs diligently.

The room is decorated with bull fight posters, and the dancers have opened up a few trunks full of Spanish regalia. The first number is a rhythmic interpretation of a bull fight called "La Corrida." Then comes "La Farruca," a Spanish gypsy fandango of high antiquity. A castanet number to the music of "Aires Andalusia" and a tango to "Paso Dobles" round out the program.

Fowler says that castanet dancing is the most difficult form of the art. He has a large collection of these hardwood clappers, including a pair formerly used by Otero, a Spanish ballerina who had a great vogue in Paris. He can talk for hours about castanet lore, explaining among other things that there is sex, or at any rate gender, in these percussion instruments. The male pair of castanets makes a firm thumping sound; the female chatters excitedly.

The floor show in the Casino, at the Fair, now contains a fine quartet of adagio dancers called the Marcelle Williams company. Ben Bernie, who does the talking, runs a "gala" or show folks celebrity night on Thursdays and a "collegiate" night on Fridays. The music for the afternoon programs in the Casino is provided by Paul Ash's orchestra.

Five genuine gigolos [gentleman amateurs] are now in action in the Hawaiian room of the Congress hotel. They are Argentine lads of good family, here for the Fair, and ready, at the request of their old pal, Señor Molina, the bandmaster, to step a tango with any ambitious lady.

Veloz and Yolanda, the popular ballroom dancers in the Empire room of the Palmer house, have more than sixty "routines," or dances, in their repertory. At their second appearance of the night, somewhere between 11 and 12 o'clock, they give a "request" program. The customers check off their choice of numbers on a printed card, and the two titles that rank highest in the voting are given as encores.

The numbers submitted to the plebiscite are: "Cobra Tango," "Waltz Poem," "Estralita," "España Cani," "Danzonette," "Maxixe," "World's Fair Fox Trot," and "Tea for Two."

Husk O'Hare, presiding broadcaster at the Canton Tea Garden, is trying to put the Ascot tie back into masculine fashion. Three tailors have called him the best groomed member of the master of ceremonies union.

Belle Baker seems to be established as star of the floor show at Chez Paree for the duration of the Fair. Antonio and Renee de Marco, graceful ballroom dancers of exotic type, are new favorites in this night club.

Jack Jaige's band is playing and Frances Call, radio contralto, is singing at the L'Aiglon restaurant. . . . The Aragon and Trianon ballrooms registered 24,933 out of town dancers during June and July.

The College Inn reports new all time attendance records have been established twice during the last six weeks of Buddy Rogers' administration as band leader and master of ceremonies.

New in Chicago

"PEGGY, BE CAREFUL," a comedy with Peggy Worth as its star, will have a premiere in the Blackstone theater tonight. This play is said to have had a long run in London, with Miss Worth in the leading rôle—a slangy American typist. She is a new star to Chicago audiences.

Others in the cast are Edgar Mason, John Ehrle, Reese Taylor, Philip Lord, Beverly Younger, Lilyan Dashell, and Hazel Haslam.

Panoramas Tell Stories of Two Wars on Midway

Gettysburg Battle and Pantheon de La Guerre Notable Exhibitions.

Look here, upon this picture, and on this,
The counterfeit presentment of two brothers.

By Charles Collins.

TO quote Shakespeare with reference to sights and scenes on the Midway of A Century of Progress is risky, for it savors strongly of the incongruous. Nevertheless, these lines are to the point when you find a panorama of the battle of Gettysburg on one side of the road and a cyclorama called the Panthéon de la Guerre on the other. They are the Fair's temples of war and peace and they stand in the midst of a merry bedlam of trivial amusements, silently revealing and illustrating their awesome lessons in history.

These prodigious paintings, covering acres of canvas, may be called frozen drama and they stir the imagination profoundly. They represent a form of exhibitions for diversion and instruction that had its greatest vogue about fifty years ago. It has become almost obsolete because of the public's fancy for the jiggling, insignificant literalism of motion pictures, except for occasional revivals at great international expositions such as ours.

However, no motion picture, with or without voice, can communicate the effect of a well executed panorama designed on an epic scale. The film gives you merely the record of the camera's eye; the painting perches you upon Mount Olympus and gives you a sense of omniscience.

Grandstand Seat at Battle of Gettysburg.

A visit to the Gettysburg show is a surprising experience. Out of the glare and blare and jostling of the Midway you step into a new world, strange, dim, and terrible. You stand upon an observatory tower gazing out over a great circle, many square miles in area, of ridge and plain and woodland—a landscape in southern Pennsylvania so real of appearance, so adroit of perspective that the Fair immediately drops out of your consciousness. You have transmigrated in time and space and are a ghostly onlooker while the armies of Meade and Lee make history.

And we are here as on a darkling plain
Swept by confused alarms of struggle and flight
Where ignorant armies clash by night.

That's from Matthew Arnold and completely apropos.

Your exact position, with reference to the battle, is on Cemetery hill within the Federal lines among the ruins of battery B, recently destroyed by Confederate shells. The time is the early afternoon of the third day of the battle [July 3, 1863] and Pickett's charge—a Napoleonic assault along a two mile front by massed infantry—is at its high tide. Immediately in front of you the impetuous Virginians are breaking through the Federal line, and a Federal brigade is storming forward in a ferocious counter-attack. You are seeing the turning point of the civil war—and one of the most spectacular events in military history.

Lecturers explain all this in an admirable manner.

Valhalla of Great War Heroes.

The panorama of the battle of Gettysburg was painted by Paul Philippoteaux, a French artist who specialized in such matters, in 1880. He has high rating as an historical painter; his research for the Gettysburg work was exhaustive and he regarded it as the crowning achievement of his career. The canvas, 400 feet in circumference, 70 feet high, and 20,000 feet in area, is as fresh in color as when it was first exhibited in Chicago in the 1880s.

The Panthéon de la Guerre is a departure from old school panorama technique. It is not concerned with battle scenes and dramatic action but with the personalities of the great war, among the nations allied against the German and Austro-Hungarian empires. Its subject might be called an apotheosis—an allegorical celebration of victory and a grouping of military and political leaders by the hundreds in a vast hall of fame.

You begin the inspection at a mighty edifice, shrine and reviewing stadium combined, where the military power of France is marshaling its forces in a flamboyant ceremonial of La Gloire and La Victoire. Then your gaze swings around the circle of a great wall where, under monuments of triumph and cenotaphs to the hosts of the dead, the famous personages of France's allies are assembled for inspection. England, Belgium, Italy, Japan, the United States, Serbia, Russia, Rumania — here are their representatives in uniform, civil garb, or court regalia sharing in the prodigious ceremony. It is a Miltonic conception in terms of a historical pageant.

Masterpiece of Panorama Painting.

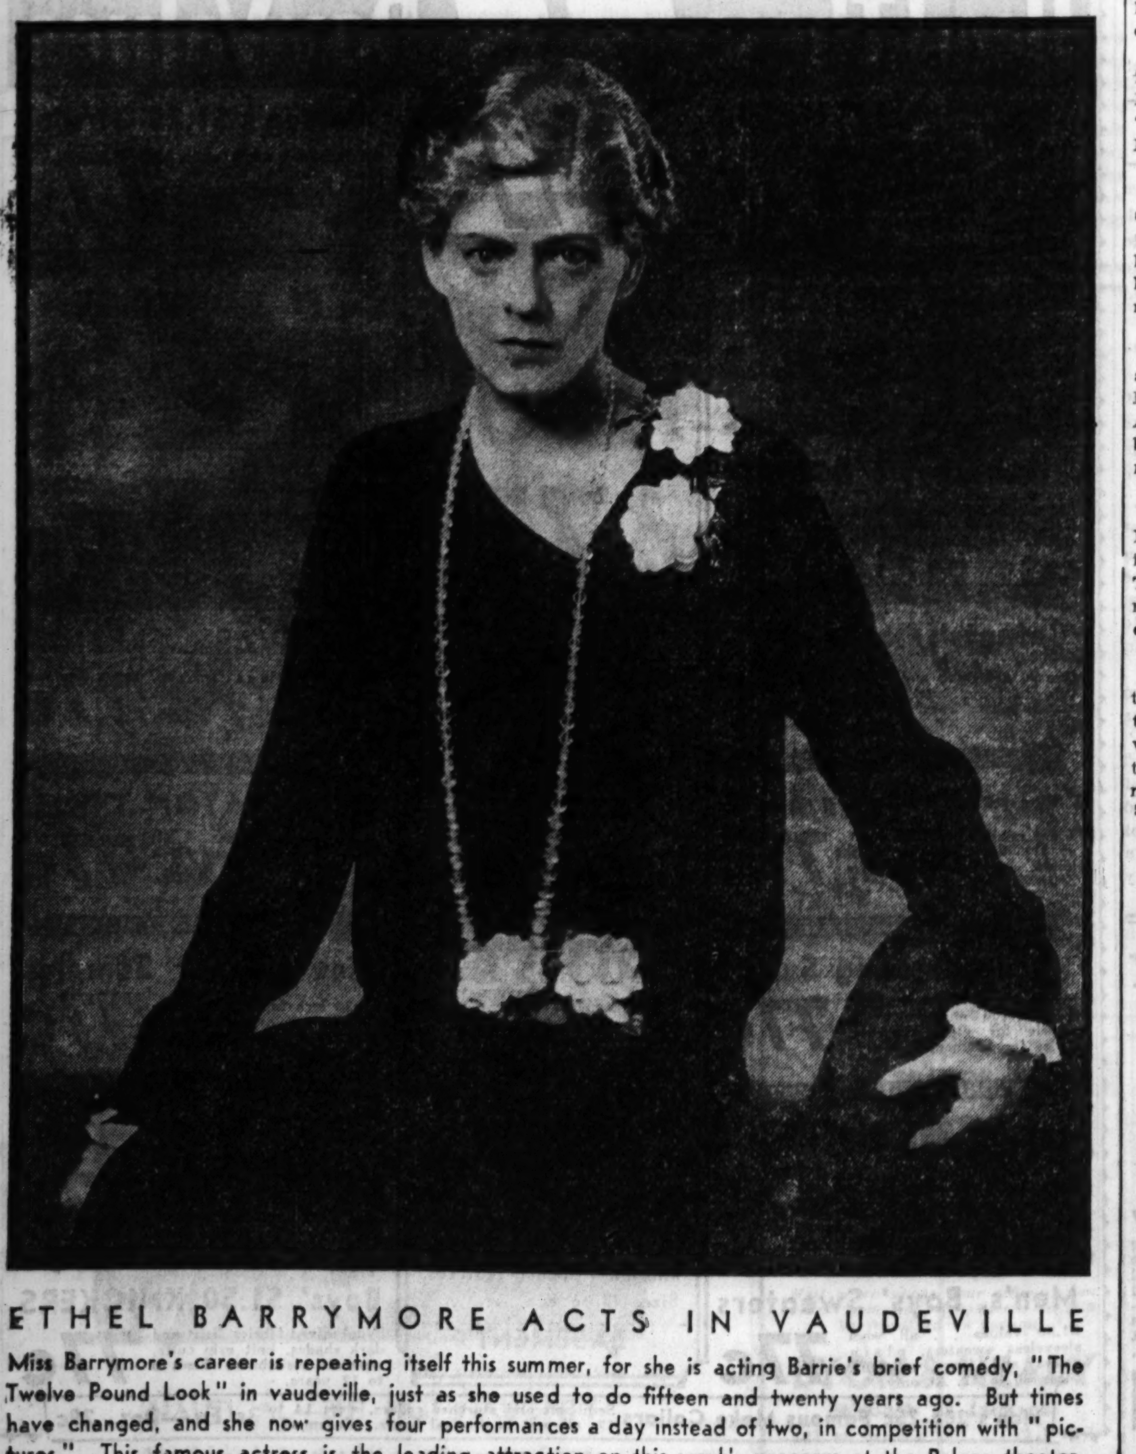
This panorama was painted by a dozen French artists, who spent more than four years at their task. It was begun, curiously enough, after the first battle of the Marne when no one could foresee the outcome of the struggle and it was completed shortly after the armistice. The design must have been altered in detail many times during those four years of tidal changes in European destiny.

All of the important figures, hundreds in number, are excellent full length portraits, immediately recognizable. Each is life size. The painting represents the work of highly accomplished artists and the canvas as a whole, in general design and detail, is a masterpiece of panorama art.

The lecturers supply excellent commentaries to the exhibit and pick out the leading characters in this imaginary dress parade for identification by means of a spotlight pointer. They will tell you among other things that when rolled for shipment from Paris, where it has been on exhibition for years, the Panthéon de la Guerre made a bundle weighing twelve tons. The huge cylinder could not be stowed away in the hold of a liner but had to be carried overseas on deck.

WINNIE LIGHTNER IN A BATTY MOMENT

Everybody has a batty moment now and then. Here's Winnie Lightner living through one in "She Had to Say Yes." It is coming to a loop theater soon.



ETHEL BARRYMORE ACTS IN VAUDEVILLE

Miss Barrymore's career is repeating itself this summer, for she is acting Barrie's brief comedy, "The Twelve Pound Look" in vaudeville, just as she used to do fifteen and twenty years ago. But times have changed, and she now gives four performances a day instead of two, in competition with "pictures." This famous actress is the leading attraction on this week's program at the Palace theater.

done by phonograph records that repeat themselves automatically. It is much easier to walk out on them than it is to turn the back on a human exhorter. They talk much better, too.

This, I think, could be called the first of the robot Fairs. A robot in the Hall of Science exposes his innards that you may see the course your food takes from entrance to exit. A robot in the Live Stock and Meat Industries building is making the same sort of fight for meat meals that the brick and lumber house builders are making for old fashioned houses, with a lot of skinny, vitamin stocked vegetarians standing around smiling superiorly at him.

Three hundred feet up either the Amos or Andy sky ride tower you get off the elevator and, when your turn comes, enter either the upper or lower half of a large steel capsule set with windows. They seal you in and start you off, bumping slightly, for a ride across the lagoon to the tower on the other side. It costs you 40 cents a head to get this sky view of the Fair, and another forty to go to the top of each tower. These are about as high as the Woolworth building, being 625 feet up, and the view, particularly at night, is gorgeous. A clear day in the towers gives you an idea of the vastness of the spreading city below you. The greatest city in America it will be one day. I can do without another ride in the capsule and not feel that I have missed much.

County Fair Atmosphere About State Exhibits.

The federal government, being approached in the middle of a depression and being in the throes of a political change, has not, I feel, done all that it might have done for the Fair or with the Federal hall exhibit, and there is a certain county fair atmosphere about the state exhibits, each having its booth and each its display of home grown foodstuffs. And yet there is so much to make thoughtless citizens government conscious in the federal display that I would say nothing to discourage a visit to Federal hall.

What the government does in building up protective walls to guarantee the security, the comfort, and, so far as politics makes possible, the happiness of its assorted children is rather impressively shown. You come through with a feeling of stimulated patriotic pride, but a feeling, too, that there is even more to tell and show than has been told or shown.

The Electrical building helps to explain why there are so many electrical engineers being graduated from the colleges every year. Every gadget is surrounded by troupes of young men pushing buttons and watching lights appear; pushing buttons and discovering how much it would cost to cable to Singapore if they knew any one in Singapore to cable to; pushing buttons to watch miniature airplanes fight air currents in miniature wind tunnels.

The Bell company, generously advertising its long distance telephones, has a gallery of clients waiting for a free talk all day long. I stopped in, thinking to call the New York office and ask if any one knew I was on a vacation, but I would have had to wait two or three hours for my turn. It didn't seem worth it.

Plenty of Fun for Boys Who Like Ships.

Boys who like ships have a good time. Byrd's City of New York, which carried him to the south pole and back, is there, and a submarine, the S-49, sister to the S-51 that went to the bottom of the ocean and stayed there for a long time, can be inspected by any who would like to join the navy and see the ocean.

Religious folk who would revel further in the achievements of both their own religion and the other fellow's can spend a spiritually stimulating hour or a day in the Hall of Religions. Herein all beliefs are represented in either picture or story. "Righteousness exalteth a nation," reads the legend, and for a moment or two you think perhaps it does. Or might, if given a chance. The Chalice of Antioch is on view here, impressively protected.

GLORIA STUART REGISTERING TERROR OR SOMETHING

"Why the frightened expression, my pretty maid?" "If you saw what I see you'd know!" she said. Gloria Stuart in a scene from "The Secret of the Blue Room"—mystery thriller now being shown on the Palace theater screen.

MAKES HER DEBUT AS STAR AT THE BLACKSTONE

Peggy Worth, an actress who is new to Chicago audiences, will appear in the Blackstone theater tonight as star of a light comedy called "Peggy, Be Careful." She became identified with this play by a run of many months in London, and although of American birth she is better known in England.

Voice of the Movie Fan

Rebels Against "The Rebel."

My Dear Mae Tinée: I usually read your column each morning and later compare it with my own opinion of the movie. It seems that there have been no exceptionally good pictures current of late, and when I read in your column a favorable comment on "The Rebel" I decided to see it. If I recall correctly you commented: "It has everything a good movie should have."

The only thing I can say for the picture is that the photography—the scenery—was, as you said, beautiful. But of all the senseless themes! If the producer was desirous of portraying the efforts of the people to get justice, etc., why didn't he emphasize it and bring it out clearly? Or was it supposed to be a love story? Did the producer ever hear of sequence, of psychology, of good actors? Perhaps in 1904 or thereabout it would have been considered a great picture. In this day of great productions it is a disgrace to have this picture on the screen.

In fact, this picture irritated me so that I was wont to ask of my escort: "How much do you think Mae Tinée and the other critics were paid to comment so nicely about the picture?" Yours truly, [Miss] L. Miransky.

Editor's Note: Why, Miss Miransky!

Wanted: Musical Pictures.

Dear Miss Tinée: I hope the producers will soon realize that we are not fed up on musical pictures, but are anxiously waiting for more of them. What we get fed up on is the way producers have of imitating and trying to capitalize on each other's successes. Once in a while something new and different comes bursting forth, and it is very refreshing.

I should love to see Ramon Novarro do "The Student Prince" again. He was fine in the silent version. Just think what he could do with its beautiful music!

And if only we could hear more of John Boles' fine singing. There is a commanding personality, combined with good looks and a grand voice.

And here are laurels for that great actor, Leslie Howard. He's delightful in any rôle—head waiter, English nobleman, pseudo bachelor, heart broken father. Here's hoping we see him starred soon. Sincerely,

A Tribune Movie Fan.

Editor's Note: Come again, please!

HISTORIETTE

JOEL McCREA is a Los Angeles boy, born Nov. 5, 1905. He is a college graduate and crashed the stage gate in a Sam Woods production. He did so well that Mr. Woods engaged him several times thereafter and recommended him to the RKO people as a "find."

His first starring rôle was "The Jazz Age" with Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Marceline Day. He later appeared with Evelyn Brent in "The Silver Horde," "Kept Husbands," with Dorothy Mackaill, "The Lost Squadron," with Richard Dix. You will also remember him in "The Five o'Clock Girl," with Marion Davies; with Greta Garbo in "The Single Standard," and as a juvenile lead in "Dynamite."

His most recent pictures are "Bird of Paradise," "The Most Dangerous Game," "Rockabye," "Sport Parade," "Our Betters," and "Bed of Roses." Mr. McCrea is unmarried, is 6 feet 2, has brown hair and blue eyes, and weighs 185 pounds. He spends most of his leisure at a beach club in Santa Monica. His recreations preferably are riding horseback and tennis.

Bavarian Alps for K. Cornell; Juliet in Fall

KATHARINE CORNELL has gone to Europe to spend her holiday in the Bavarian Alps. She will return to New York in October to begin rehearsals of her repertory program, "Romeo and Juliet," "Candida," and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

According to present plans she probably will act Juliet for the first time in her home city, Buffalo, N. Y., late in November, after which she will tour in the northwest for the first time. Out of her respect for the aims and achievements of Eva Le Gallienne, who also is to include "Romeo and Juliet" in her repertory on the road this fall, Miss Cornell has arranged her own route so that there will be no clash in dates.

Miss Le Gallienne is announced to open her season on the Atlantic coast in October, while Miss Cornell, beginning late in November in Buffalo, will go directly to the midwest and Pacific coast. The few cities where both actresses appear are so booked that there will be an interval of from one to three months between the two Juliets.

Stage Secrets

AN important part of the "business" of almost every play is the aside conversations that take place in low tones between two or more persons while other performers up front are carrying on the dialogue. Audiences often wonder if their conversation bears any relation to the story of the play. As a matter of fact, most conversations are "ad libbed,"—extemporized.

There is none of this "ad libbing" in "Dinner At Eight" at the Grand Opera house. Critics have commented upon the vivacity of the final scene in which the guests gather in the drawing room before going into the dinning room. There is a fusillade of conversation at times. The guests are broken up into little groups and there are moments when all of them are talking at once.

Investigation proves that every single speech spoken in this scene was written by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, the authors. Not one word of "ad libbing" is permitted. At least twenty-five speeches are never heard by the audience, except as part of a general hubbub.

CHINESE ACTOR AT FAIR IN BUDDHIST MEDITATION

Honorable Wu is the name of this actor, who leads the program of entertainment in the Chinese theater at the World's Fair. He is of mandarin rank and American education. Mr. Wu, who has spent several years in vaudeville in this country, speaks English perfectly and is a suave master of ceremonies.

Music Given Publicity in Many Fields

By Edward Moore.

BY one of those coincidences that sometimes happen, just at the time that the board of education of this city has found it necessary to perform a major surgical operation on its budget, a vast number of reports, monographs, editorials, what not, are being published elsewhere showing that music has become a vital necessity as never before.

Most of them argue, or else point out by their figures that it is becoming the more necessary with the increase of leisure time. The point has even been taken up for observation, if not for action, by the authorities in Washington. Congress a short time ago authorized the United States office of education to conduct what was named the National Survey of Secondary Education, and its monograph on "Instruction in Music and Art" has just been published by the government printing office. The first part, treating of music, was written by Anna E. Pierce of the University of Iowa.

Before 1900 Music Was Regarded "as a Fad."

Before 1900, she says, music was regarded as a fad. Since then it has come to be recognized as a basic subject in the curriculum. In the country at large over 26 per cent of high school pupils take one or more forms of music study, a greater percentage than those studying drawing and art, home economics, Latin, French, German, Spanish, geometry, physics, chemistry, shorthand, or typewriting.

More than 35,000 public school orchestras have been organized. The National High School orchestra has nearly 400 players from all states, selected by competition. A similar organization, the National High School chorus, numbers 452. There is the National Music camp at Interlochen, Mich., and the Eastern Music camp at Oakland, Me.

Dr. William John Cooper, former federal commissioner of education, was director of the survey. In transmitting the report to the secretary of the interior he prefaced it thus:

"Music, it will be observed, is now largely satisfying a demand created by increase of leisure hours. The working hours of mankind have been reduced and will in the future be cut down still more. Music is one of the subjects which in Europe is a very common leisure time occupation. It is significant that of the 393 members of the National High School orchestra in 1930 only 38 per cent indicated that they intended to become professional performers; only 10 per cent indicated that they planned to teach music."

A statement along the same lines was issued last month during the program of the National Education association in this city. Representatives of over 5,000,000 members of various national organizations were present, and a statement or "platform" of faith was adopted. Here are some excerpts from it:

"Our schools are facing serious problems. The cultural subjects, especially, are being attacked. There is urgent need for a declaration of faith that the arts are not optional luxuries for the few, but are essential for the complete living of the many.

Music Called Best Investment Today.

"Music and the allied arts give cheer and comfort and richness to life. They bring beauty to our materialistic civilization. Beauty contributes to the morale and stability of a nation. Social unrest gains its readiest recruits among men who have not found beauty and joy in their work and in their environment. . . .

"Education today must concern itself with physical and mental health and with emotional, social, and spiritual responses as well as with reasoning powers. . . . We have no right to unload upon the youth of today the burden of our adversity. . . . Avocations as well as vocations must be provided for the sake of the present times and for the days of larger leisure which lie ahead."

And the Musical Courier publishes an editorial in its current issue under the title of "Music and the New Leisure." A bit of it reads thus: "'The best music still remains on the gold standard, and it can be bought today at a better price (in relation to value) than objects of art, clothes, or automobiles. Music is the best investment in the modern, troubled world."

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

- The Marx brothers have gone English and have tea at four every afternoon on the set of "Duck Soup." E. E. Magine that if you can.

- Victor Joy has been given two cowboys, Mike the horse, several other horses, a ranch, and four weeks to go out and make himself into a cowboy. Joy can ride, but he has to learn those cowboy tricks. At present he's snugly encased in adhesive tape. He says he's learning, all right, but he can't seem to get the skin to grow back.

- Can you imagine this impossible interview? Seems the great Garbo was striding up a narrow hallway at the studio the other day, absorbed in whatever it is that she thinks about, and ran head-on into Ted Healy's two stooges. Hard to tell who was more flabbergasted by the encounter.

- Ruth Etting was the ugly duckling, if we can believe the stories she tells on herself. She says her parents complained of the noise she made singing around the old homestead in David City, Neb., claimed her voice was squeaky.

- Jack Gilbert, if one can believe the attending physician, was the most difficult father case that ever was. While Virginia Bruce's baby daughter was being born Jack walked up and down at least 19 miles and needed as much attention as his wife.

- Jean Harlow is just back from short vacation at Balboa, nearby seaside resort where she has been boating and fishing.

- "Gather Lip Rouge While You May" is the big hit number in Lilian Harvey's new film, "My Weakness." It is sung by Lew Ayres, L Harvey, and Charles Butterworth.

Scribe Finds Joy at Summer White House

Work Pleasantly Interspersed with Swims in Pool, Moving Pictures.

By Genevieve Forbes Herrick.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 12.— [Special.]—Covering the "summer White House" has its dark moments, when typewriters click nervously to make deadlines, when Gen. Hugh Johnson flies in at midnight with an important message, when the Cuban crisis must be analyzed. But it certainly has its purple patches, too. These purple patches include swims in the pool over at the cottage, movies at the "big house," and a general country club atmosphere that often pervades the fat acres of Krum Elbow, ancestral estate of President Roosevelt.

Here's a little study in initials. Over at the "big house" the stables are well equipped and each horse has a personal water bucket. Each bucket is adorned with the name of the horse to whom it belongs.

Mysterious S. D. R.

Above the name are the initials S. D. R., a bit puzzling until we realized that they stood for the name of the estate's owner — Sara Delano Roosevelt, mother of the President.

Over at the cottage, some two miles away, all the guest towels bear the initials E. M. N. That was more baffling. It took a lot of detective work to discover that they stood for Eleanor, Marian, and Nancy. These three women, Eleanor Roosevelt, Marian Dickerman, and Nancy Cook, are equal owners of the cottage; share its expense and its hospitality.

Friendly Frieda.

Not so far away dwells Frieda. Frieda is the gal at the Vincent Astor estate who wakens the tardy guest of a morning and the guest never oversleeps a second time. For Frieda is a friendly orang-outang. Just let her appear at your bedside one morning and you'll sign the pledge.

Not so far away is a nudist camp. The woman who runs it came over to the newspaper headquarters, issued a cordial invitation to all the reporters to come on over. They were all set for the trip when she laid down her ultimatum: "If you come you must be one of us."

In other words, no story unless you get it in the nude. Up to date no reporter has gone to the camp.

Mrs. Roosevelt Confesses.

Over at a girls' camp on Bear mountain Mrs. Roosevelt recently revealed a hitherto hidden paragraph of her childhood days. She was congratulating the modern youngsters on their modern clothes—such simple garments, and so few. And she recalled the sartorial sadness of her youth when, as a tiny girl, she wore "a lot of clothes," including plenty of petticoats and high-buttoned shoes.

She confessed that she had been made to wear starched linen "drawers." The modern children giggled patronizingly as they kicked around in their bloomers. But they roared out loud when she recalled the summer day she had climbed to the moss-covered roof of the icehouse, had slid down its green slope. The experience was so enchanting she had done it again and again. When, late in the afternoon, she went into the house, she had worn out—well, I guess you'd have to call it the seat of her pants.

A Subdeb Rests Up from Rigors of an Active Summer Vacation

In the subdeb crowd there is no more popular member than attractive Miss Carlotta Lagorio, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Lagorio. Of a sporting frame of mind, Miss Lagorio follows polo and racing with intense interest during the summer season. Now she is enjoying a short holiday with her mother at Lake Delavan. She will return to town in time for another year at the Girls' Latin school.

Writer Visits Campo Santo, City of Dead

Arriving in Genoa, She Goes to See Famous Italian Cemetery.

By Cousin Eve.

FLORENCE, Italy.—(Special.)—The ship docked at Genoa la Superba on a dazzling Sunday afternoon. Marchese and marchesas expecting to meet us were not there, but week-ending, doubtless, happily on this enchanted coast. So one was free to descend to our hotel and make a dash for the cemetery or Campo Santo.

Any one who thinks this a dull program has never seen the cemetery, nor, indeed, our hotel. There tall, gorgeous young men in sartorial perfection of gray morning dress with creased trousers received us joyfully.

Genoa Has a History.

This hotel on a round piazza faces a superb high statue of Columbus, backed by magnolias in full flower and royal palms. Behind these tower other levels of the city, its palaces of marble, all in a magnificent half amphitheater facing the sea. Genoa has a history 2,500 years long. Enriched by the crusades, ruined by the Carthaginians, once a republic, conquered but freed by Rome, she is Italy's foremost commercial town. Salt air, strong and rugged people, narrow, crooked streets bounded by piles of granite. Waving palms, vistas of great courtyards, everywhere closed—the Dorias, Durazzos, Pallavicinis are away for the summer.

Andrea Doria of the middle ages made Genoa what she is today. He built houses, public buildings, sent for the greatest architects, sculptors, painters, textile weavers of Europe. Michelangelo was brought; Van Dyke, Rubens.

Acres of Palaces.

You can walk through acres of palaces in wonderful repair. Some people, Richard Wagner, for instance, thought it the most individual town in Europe. Many writers have torn their hair over Genoa, including Nietzsche, who called it "a city born from the supreme effort of man's imagination."

The portier at the hotel was greatly outraged when he saw us off for the Campo Santo in a street car. He was all set to send a powerful taxi, or failing that, a fine rubber neck wagon. But, having exchanged some downcast dollars for lire, I was firm for street cars.

It was hot after noon and we rumbled and rattled over and under hills and through tunnels, changing cars and following our somber fellow passengers in their sable garments. Outside the cemetery gates were many flower stalls where they bought dahlias and daisies.

A Huge City of the Dead.

We pressed on with the animated crowds, lively as Viareggio, the Italian Coney Island. Set in a curved basin of green hills, the Campo Santo is really an enormous city of the dead, within high walls. Like Genoa, it rises tier on tier in a series of splendid marble arcades, and these were what we had come to see.

Here are the tombs. Done in stone, they show the ossified grief of a century or so, each tomb a life sized Rogers group, each the story of a family tragedy. Here is a widow wailing, her bustle, earrings, handkerchief and bracelets true to form.

Next a bedroom scene. Fa-

SAUCE for the GOOSE - - - -

By D—— D——

WHERE is there a better place for studying that most interesting of subjects—man—than at the bar? This one is told on Chicago's own Sidney Smith Gorham:

His repeated efforts, some time ago, to collect a judgment against a somewhat slippery debtor were without avail, the claim of the wife of the debtor, to the property attached, in each case proving successful.

Not a little disgusted at the "unsatisfied" return of the third writ, Mr. Gorham remarked with warm feeling: "Yes, and I suppose if he should get religion he would hold that, too, in his wife's name."

● A young Lake Forest heir, we understand, has been forever cured of his habit of starting a meal as soon as he is seated at the table . . . before "grace" is said. Yes, there are a few households where the dignified and venerable custom is still followed.

This summer, vacationing in the north woods with his mother and father, an old time deacon was invited for dinner with the family. Noticing that the young heir had started before the blessing on the meal had been fully invoked, the deacon at length gave utterance to this petition, "For what we are about to receive and for what William has already received we give our thanks, O Lord."

● Strange coincidence. When popular Polly Bullard came to Chicago from New York last week to marry John Holden, a local admirer stopped on his way through the county building one afternoon to phone the residence at which she was to stay to check on her arrival. Imagine his surprise (and disappointment) when he turned around out of the telephone booth to discover her entering the marriage license bureau with her fiancé. Little did he know the object of her Chicago visit.

● "If you can't spell Florida, try North Carolina," was the subtle telegram received by a popular young woman last week from a devoted swain. She had failed to produce the expected mail at his Florida address, so he was suggesting better performance in the Carolina state. Best of all, it worked!

● The visit of Gen. Charles G. Dawes and two members of the state's highest tribunal to A Century of Progress the other evening was interrupted every few steps by signature hunters, most of them women. Between the Streets of Paris and the Days of '49 the general and the two jurists signed their "John Hancocks" at least two dozen times. And this reminds us of the precaution of John Pierpont Morgan. Every time Mr. Morgan produces his autograph he carefully protects it with horizontal and perpendicular lines . . . . to avoid, of course, an unexpected promissory note.

FORMER CHICAGOAN AND SON ENJOY VACATION IN LAKE FOREST

Popular summer visitors in Lake Forest are Mrs. William S. Covington and her young son, William Jr., of Seattle. Mrs. Covington, the former Elizabeth Morse, is having a holiday with her family, the Charles H. Morses. This picture was made in the gardens of the Morse home which borders the lake in Lake Forest.

Prominent Americans at Tennis Matches in Paris

By May Birkhead.

PARIS.—[Special.]—For several years the challenge round matches in the Davis cup tennis series have brought a big crowd of notables to the Roland Garros stadium in Auteuil, not far from the celebrated steeplechase race course on the edge of the Bois de Boulogne. This year many well known Americans, as well as leading figures in Parisian and cosmopolitan society, braved the torrid weather of recent days and threatening rain to see whether the British team would wrest the famous trophy from France.

One of the Americans who attended the play each day was Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, sister of William H. Crocker of California, long time resident in New York, who now spends most of the year at her home in the Square du Bois de Boulogne. She was particularly keen, after the British team won, to see the Davis cup, which had been on display throughout the contests.

Mme. Jacques Balsan an Interested Spectator.

Another deeply interested spectator each day was Mme. Jacques Balsan, the former Consuelo Vanderbilt, now the wife of the well known textile manufacturer, who is also an art collector. Ambassador Straus showed himself a keen tennis amateur and he and Mrs. Straus watched the games on Friday and Saturday. On Sunday they were missed at Auteuil, having gone to the Château du Mesnil St. Denis to be the guests there of Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Gade.

A few days previously Mr. and Mrs. Straus, who are still in mourning, attended an informal luncheon given by James Hazen Hyde at his Versailles residence, which was once the favorite retreat of Mme. de Pompadour.

The extremely hot weather, which began just before the middle of July and which rose to high temperatures as the Davis cup series came on, caused a widespread diaspora to seashore and mountains. But the handsome stadium held a big and distinguished gallery during all three days of the challenge round.

Joseph Widener Seen in Box with His Son.

Joseph Widener invariably occupied a box and was accompanied by his son and daughter-in-law, the P. A. B. Wideners. Rutgers Jewett, who had taken lunch one day with M. and Mme. André Maurois, sat with Mrs. Charles B. Alexander. Mrs. Benjamin Rogers, who was there each day, had as her guests John W. Garrett, the former American ambassador to Rome, and Mrs. Garrett.

Also noticed was Mlle. Gabrielle Chanel, the dressmaker, wearing a sports suit of coral red and a white hat.

Otto Kahn had a box with his daughter, Mrs. John Marriott, who came over from London for the Davis cup play. Also having a box for the series were Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Cartier of New York with their son-in-law and daughter, M. and Mme. Pierre Claudel, who have since left for Aix-les-Bains to spend some weeks with M. Claudel's parents, Ambassador Paul Claudel, representative of France in Washington for a number of years, and Mme. Claudel.

Mrs. Eleanor Hall Winterbotham, who has given up her interesting and historic little house in the Rue Raynouard, has just left with her sister, Gertrude Hall, for Baden-Baden, where they will take the cure at Dr. Dengler's sanatorium, returning to Paris in September.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. — [Special.] —The annual costume ball of the New Ocean House, Swampscott, which will be held this evening, promises to be one of the outstanding events of the season. Interest is at an unsual height as to just what the costumes of the guests will represent, whether they are to be dressed in a funny, or an artistic, or in a beautiful or an original costume. The grand parade in the lobby and ballroom is eagerly anticipated.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Clay Bartlett of Tree Tops, Beverly, gave a small dinner recently in honor of Miss Abby Beveridge.

The deep sun tan backs of simple linen sports dresses are cut in the same revealing manner in cord silks. For more formal wear they are covered with colorful knitted and linen short jackets of contrasting color.

M. P.'S DAUGHTER MARRIES

Do You Want to Reduce?

THE FAIR Invites You to Come In and Learn About the Famous Shadowfoam Way to Reduce

[The Shadowfoam treatment contains the minerals found in the world's renowned Vichy (France) and Kissingen (Germany) reducing waters.]

SHADOWFOAM is the safe and normal way to reduce your overweight without taking dangerous drugs or violent cathartics. It is nature's own remedy and supplies certain elements that regulate oxidation, thus burning excess fat and building health and vital force while reducing you.

Well Known Doctor Tells How to Reduce

The late Dr. Wm. Cathell, in an address before the Medical Society in Baltimore, stated: "Vichy and Kissingen not only reduce over-fatness, but also tend to permanently correct fat-making activity. The person gradually becomes thinner, looks healthier, feels younger and more active, at the same time the skin becomes an elastic and active tissue, leaving neither flabbiness nor wrinkles."

A representative of Shadowfoam Co., Battle Creek, Mich., will be in our Drug Department on the Main Floor (State St. Store) to consult with and give free advice regarding excess weight.

Scribe Visits Campo Santo, City of Dead

Arriving in Genoa, She Goes to See Famous Italian Cemetery.

ther of the family under a neat coverlid, wife and six children lost in tears, in bedside agony. Another, a tall, buxom young lady, Fanny, wife of Marchese X. She stands up proud and grand, an opera singer.

On we go and up to other arcades, handsomer and more elaborate, the tombs. The figures become more symbolic. A long flight of marble steps leads to a fine church, dominating the scene. From it we look down on a vast central acreage of simple graves, each cross living with beaded wreaths and sheaves of natural flowers.

On a higher level, many memorial chapels, imposing, grand. One being finished is white stone and modernistic. On it the heads of the apostles in black marble symbols: Luke is a bull, St. John an eagle, St. Mark a lion, and St. Matthew very like a pretty girl, but probably an angel.

Tiny Vine Covered House Where Columbus Lived.

The tram took us to Piazza Ferrari. A few steps away is the tiny house, covered with ivy, where Christopher Columbus was born and lived. So many great men are born in little houses! I duly sent up thanks to Columbus for having discovered America, for otherwise I might have been French, Dutch, or what not.

Coming to the worn gate, Porta Soprana, one read the end of a long inscription, gray and worn with time: "I am defended by men, surrounded by marvelous walls. The south and the west, the north and the east know how many vicissitudes of war I, Genoa, have overcome." But poor, proud Genoa, victorious in war, is a victim like many another European port of the peace of Versailles. Her port is very quiet.

Inducements to Visit Fascist Exposition.

Good news about railroad tickets came to Genoa. Travelers to Rome have 70 per cent off. On arriving at Rome and buying a ticket to the Fascist exposition for two dollars, or twenty-five lire, you get a return ticket to the place you came from. This had promoted a tremendous amount of travel, and trains are seething with passengers.

The train tore along the coast toward Florence. On the right, cerulean blue sea, villas bowered in tropical green. Lovely old towns—Carrara, where the marble comes from, and Spezia, famous naval station, Santa Margherita.

We barge on to the plains of Tuscany, fertile, lovely. Peasants are rushing round in the hot day preparing the ground for new crops, hustling in the hay.

Venerable, Yellow Town of the Leaning Tower.

A venerable, yellow town, medieval, hot, with several square walls. We slow down. On the left I see a distant carved ivory tower, much out of the perpendicular, a time stained dome. It is Pisa. Fortunately, one has often seen Pisa and the ancient Palazzo Lanfranchi, where Lord Byron lived. Otherwise one might have leaped from the train.

Florence, drowsing in the late afternoon sun, spreads in a narrow valley on both sides of the Arno. The Duomo and Giotto's bell tower loom over its flat roofs. What a history of art and culture, of beautiful living between these high hills of Fiesole and San Miniato, haunts of Americans with villas, far away!

Florence seems rather empty—shutters tight on the palazzi, no taxis moving, no carroze. We go to a hotel that is the resort of Americans, English, and queens. With rooms on a garden, and nightingales in the magonia trees, one's spirits rise. The Italian servants smile exotically.

One rushes to the telephone only to be sad; one after the other of the American villas are closed, their owners gone home. The downcast dollar! Some people have died. Some have married. Thus, Count "Nando" Rucellai, brother-in-law of Terese Higginson, who married recently Mlle. Niccolini, niece of Princess Strozzi.

One's Favorite Shops Have Gone Broke.

Count and Countess Giangiulio Rucellai were in the country with their babies, having gone out early in April with the George Higginsons, who were here from Lenox. I passed their old place [sacked once by an irate populace] while doing a little mild shopping in Via Vigna Nuova.

And the shops! One's favorites have mostly gone broke. Poor dears, the dressmakers have big affiches on their door, and the lingeres have vanished.

I pass Doney's, the festive tea place on the Tournabuoni. Freshly painted, alluring as ever, windows full of wondrous cakes, the selfsame ices and iced drinks waiting. But inside nobody visible but the cat. Outside, the famous dwarf, squat and square, seated on the curb ready to open the motor door. The motors that don't come.

Marchese Alessandro Imperiali came to dine. It was nice to catch him in town between visits in the country. Always charming and amiable, he was the one blithe and happy spot upon the map, having gone into business.

Palazzo Gerini, Splendid Old Landmark.

His headquarters was another splendid old landmark, Palazzo Gerini, its front and sides being decorated in huge coronets of bronze overhanging the street to attest the nobility of its owner, Marchese Gerini. He also still retains a small apartment in the house for his own use. Imperiali led me through frescoed rooms, more and more gorgeous and grand, brocaded furniture in slip covers, the whole place filled with secretaries and copartners—to the ballroom. Here a huge, high, white room with marble floor, great crystal chandelier, and furniture of cherry brocade had been a center for Florentine society for centuries, but was now in business, full of clerks.

Marquis Imperiali is a half Russian, Neapolitan by birth, and one of the great beaux of Florence. Tall and dark, he is splendid looking and has a sense of humor. I asked him for news of Fernanda Villa Rosa, who was in Chicago last winter staying with the Hayden Harrises, and her husband, the duca, who live in Florence. The duke luckily had a job offered him in Paris and had hopped to it with the entire family. For Italian dukes must work these days, it seems.

Former Chicagoan Owns Villa of Great Beauty.

The most charming time I had in Florence was at the Acton villa, La Pietra, upon the high hill called Via Bolognese. Never having been there before, as Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Acton are seldom here in the summer, I was doubly happy to find them in residence and see the famous villa, considered the most lovely in all Italy.

Mrs. Acton was Hortense Mitchell of Chicago, a much younger half-sister of the late John J. Mitchell and of Mrs. Charles Adams and Mrs. Chauncey J. Blair. Guy Mitchell is her own brother. An exquisitely pretty woman, she has also the gift of faultless taste, dresses like a dream, very simply, but such simplicity!

Via Bolognese's high walls hide many villas, and five that are on the Acton estate. One that is embowered in pink and red oleanders is leased by the Greek royal family.

From the great iron and stone entrance gates of La Pietra lies a straight road bordered by tall pointed cypresses, concealing the gardens and orchards that lie on either side. At the end rises this great, yellow, time stained house of the early fifteenth century. Built in 1425 by Cardinal Coppini, it has a sublimity of architecture indescribably grand. Widely spaced windows and curving wings that flow back, their low roofs bordered with old statues, and hung with drooping vines.

The entrance hall, great and round, with a stair encircling it like a wreath, is entirely a hydrangea show. Huge wine jars, higher than my head, held these marvelous trees, deep blue and vivid pink, and small plants here and there, even running over in their profusion to the great living room.

Five Hundred Years of Gazing at Fiesole.

It would take hours to describe this lovely room. At the back of the house and facing a wide terrace the exquisite gardens and pergolas, its enormous windows had been gazing off on the distant heights of Fiesole for 500 years. Here was imperishable beauty. The house, gloriously frescoed, was in good repair when bought by the Actons years ago. And what they have added to it is all in the picture. A small salone, very lovely, a walnut paneled bookroom of the cardinal, with windows high and grilled against enemies and sieges.

A library elegantly furnished with remarkable old pieces. And perhaps the dining room is rarest of all. A square room at the front, the ceiling is vaulted at the edge and the four corners in a quaint old style, the despair of modern architects. The chests, the chairs, consoles, tables, and all furniture of this room are of the plainest, authentic, to be had of this remote period.

In the garden the Actons have done their most remarkable magic. For what they bought from the cardinal's heirs were rough pieces and stubble. What Arthur Acton, who is a renowned landscape gardener, has achieved is a divine result. Very ancient wisterias in full flower droop from historic pergolas, everywhere framing the garden and its perfumed allies of old, old boxwood, tall pointed cypresses. Down from the higher levels by lovely paths let in patterns of smooth, bright stones, we come on green meadows bounded by box and peopled by stone statues of Venetian belles and gallants of long ago. They seem to pirouette and prance in their stone furbelows in this heavenly place whose only visible flower is banks of purple lavender.

A deeply shaded path leads to the old garden of the cardinal's time. Here on the wall great yellow urns of pink geranium and, most Florentine of all growths, dozens of lemon trees in full fruit; orange trees, too, and apricots and figs.

Mrs. Richard T. Crane a Guest of the Actons.

I really hated to leave so much loveliness to go back to my hotel. Mrs. Richard T. Crane has arrived ere this to pay a short visit to the Actons. Mrs. John F. Bass and Miss Helen Gilbert preceded me by a few days on their round-the-world giro and I read their names in the visitor's book ahead of mine.

Returning through Florence, I drove past the pink and green striped front of the cathedral, and the baptistry whose sculptured doors of bronze by Ghiberti "are worthy to be doors to paradise," or so said Michel Angelo. Then we went through Piazza della Signoria, where in the soft air the Neptune fountain was splashing a gay refrain. On this very spot Savonarola, the monk, was burned because he had protested at the misuse of public funds.

To the Grave of Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

Next morning, out to the Piazza Donatello, a charming oval surrounded by fine villas, with gardens. Here I had visited once, looking often on the old English cemetery ringed with pointed cypresses which fills the very center of the place. It was a charming day and I was minded to see a tomb in that small oval sanctuary that the world says is neglected, that of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Italians let me in at the barred gate, and I had no trouble finding it, as the place is so small. On the left of the walk, it was a marble sarcophagus borne up on stubby, short half columns. Mrs. Browning's lovely head made a medallion on the side. Under it was a plaque which read: Designed by Lord Leighton for Elizabeth Barrett Browning—1806-1861. Underneath, a row of small geraniums struggling to live. Very near were Anna, wife of Holman Hunt, and Anna Maria, countess of Strathmore and Kinghorn, "by her afflicted and bereaved husband."

According to our modern ideas, Mrs. Browning's tomb is not beautiful nor worthy of her in an esthetic sense. On the way out the Italian lodgekeepers were demonstrating many pots and pans and undue quantities of linen hanging on bushes and boxwood hedges. I was rather shocked and thought perhaps, after all, they still have more reverence for genius in England, where Robert Browning lies.

Tea on a Hill Above the City of Florence.

The nicest tea place in Florence is an outdoor resort called the Piazzoli di Michelangelo. On a high hill, on a sort of wide shelf, there is a casino, with tables set in and out, and many people always. I went there for ices with Marchese Imperiali and some of his friends. Back of us towered the trees of San Miniato hill and church. It was the hour of vespers and a cascade of bells came clanging down on our very heads, while deeper clangors rose up from the town below.

We were right over the Duomo and could see the Arno, now a green, clear stream where people frolic and small boats flash up and down—the Ponte Vecchio with its little red-roofed jewel shops. I loved the clangor of the bells. Then for my benefit the orchestra played "Tea for Two," which was really too bad.

Out in front was a magnificent bronze statue of the youth, David, by Michelangelo, standing with his sling ready to slay. Typical of the Italy of today where the watchword is "Youth," I stared at the broad shoulders and narrow flanks of the great bronze and wondered if, after all, youth is everything, while swallows screeched overhead, darting in and out among the high trees.

Men Golfers in Tournament at Pittsfield

Annual Dog Show of Lenox Kennel Club; Interstate Tennis Matches.

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—[Special.]—Kimball Salisbury of Chicago is an entrant in the fifteenth annual Pittsfield Country club invitation men's golf tournament, which started Friday and will end today. A tournament dinner was followed by the tournament ball. Mrs. Salisbury and her three sisters, Mrs. Alexander Simpson, Mrs. James D. Colt II., and Miss Cynthia E. Eaton, are to exhibit saddle horses in the annual horse show of the Pittsfield Riding and Polo club at Holmesdale this coming week.

The thirty-third annual dog show of the Lenox Kennel club was held today at the Dan R. Hanna farm and over 500 dogs were on exhibition. The recent death of Mollie Covington Hanna near Deal, N. J., means that this 800 acre estate on the west shore of Lake Mahkeenac, in one of the most picturesque sections of the Berkshires, will be sold. Mrs. Hanna, who was the fourth wife of the late Mr. Hanna of Cleveland, O., the son of Senator Mark A. Hanna, for a number of years had given the kennel club and the Lenox Horse Show association the use of the farm free of charge.

This estate represented an investment for Mr. Hanna of $500,000. He had 100 horses there at one time. Mr. Hanna bought the estate of Mrs. Samuel Hill of Seattle, whose father, the late James J. Hill, had acquired it.

G. A. Holloway Captain of Winning Team.

George A. Holloway of Glencoe, Ill., was captain of the winning Stockridge tennis team which won 4 to 2 an interstate match with Lakeville, Conn. His associates were Goode Davis, son of Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's ambassador at large; James Lawson Karrick of Washington, D. C., and James Spalding of New York. Larz A. Holloway of Glencoe has joined Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Holloway at Tamarack, Tyringham. Miss Frances Cookman of Englewood, N. J., and Alden Bentley of Lake Forest, were with them this week.

Mrs. Donald P. Welles and her son, Donald, of Lake Forest, are with Mrs. George Alfred Cluett at Green Meadow farm, Williamstown. Mrs. Welles is the former Elizabeth C. Scott. Mrs. Norman B. Tooker of Princeton, N. J., had a bridge party at Thorvale Farm in honor to Mrs. Welles and Mrs. Cluett.

Coolidges Plan Motor Trip to Pittsfield.

Albert Sprague Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge are to motor to Pittsfield from Greensboro, Vt., soon and will be guests of Willem Willeke at Mountain House for a week. Next Sunday, Aug. 20, Mr. Coolidge is to play the viola in the program of chamber music to be given by the South Mountain String quartet, of which Mr. Willeke is the director. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Metz of Chicago and Fernbrook, Lenox, were among the guests at a tea given by Mr. Willeke at Mountain House. Dr. and Mrs. Metz are having as guests on Wednesday, for a month, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Ossendorff of Chicago and Prof. William Lindsay of the department of music at the University of Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Sturgis of Chicago were the guests this week of Miss Kate S. Buckingham at Bald Head, Lenox.

Mrs. David Shields Cook of Chicago has departed for Paris after a month's sojourn with Mr. and Mrs. James Ransom Walker at Fair Acres, Stockridge. Their son, Wirt D. Walker of Chicago, has returned home after a visit at Stockridge.

Chicagoans on Coast Join in Annual Regatta

SANTA BARBARA, Cal.—[Special.]—Dropping their mantillas and sombreros of old Spanish days' fiesta week, members of the Chicago colony here and in Santa Barbara last week donned their yachting caps and hats and went down to the sea in boats as the annual Southern California Yachting association championship regatta opened, attracting sleek craft from all sections of the coast.

Two well known Chicagoans participated actively in the sailing events, young William Dickinson Jr. putting his sailing skill against a host of others in the star boat class at the helm of his H. M. S. Pinafore, and Elmer Awl skippering the trim 81 foot cutter, Patolita, owned by Charles Deere Wiman of Moline, Ill., and John J. Mitchell of Chicago.

More Mitchells and McCormicks Trek Westward.

The week also was marked by the arrival of reinforcements of both the Mitchell and McCormick clans, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell having returned from a year's trip abroad and Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCormick, with their two sons, arriving for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Alister H. McCormick. The Edward McCormicks, whose home is in England, are guests at El Parasio, the Alister McCormick Montecito estate.

Following the return of the Clarence Mitchells to their Montecito estate, Labergie, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kellogg, who have been residing there this summer, have taken the Bartlett home on Middle road for the remainder of the season. Mrs. Kellogg is Mr. Mitchell's sister.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell and her two young children also have arrived and are at the Biltmore, where they will be joined later by Mr. Mitchell.

Mrs. Dorothy Patterson is back at the Biltmore for the remainder of the season, having returned from the trip to Nevada, which changed her name from Mrs. Noble Brandon Judah.

Chicagoans here have mingled with a host of film folk during the week, many of Hollywood's celebrities having rushed up for a frolic. They included the Harold Lloyds, Mary Pickford, Talullah Bankhead, Paul Lukas, who flew up with Tito Falconi, the Italian ace; Donald Ogden Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Roach, who flew up for a turn at polo, and lovable Marie Dressler, who is on the verge of qualifying as a resident Barbareno.

Another group of screen notables attended a costume party given by the Eli Robinsons at their home on Green Lane, including Constance and Norma Talmadge, Mrs. Adolphe Menjou, Marion Davies' sister, Rose; Lois Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rubin, Dorothy Burgess, William Collier Jr., the Roaches, and Lloyd Pantages. Newly wed Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Hearst Jr. also were among the guests, as was Robert Chatfield Taylor, who is visiting his father, Robert Chatfield Taylor of the Chicago colony.

Rosnell-Kittredge Marriage Event of Week.

Another outstanding event of the week was the marriage of Mildred Rosnell, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Stout of Chicago, in San Francisco to Kittredge Batchelder. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Batchelder of Santa Barbara. They will make their home in Atherton, Cal.

Montecito Country club has been the scene of several dinner parties given by Chicagoans, including Mrs. Lorenzo D. Johnson and Mrs. John Mitchell.

Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson has joined a class being conducted by Atanas Katchamakoff, sculptor whose patroness has been Mrs. William G. McAdoo.

Mrs. Charles Deere Wiman has returned from Moline, and will be joined soon by her husband.

Mrs. M. E. Baldwin and her sons, Lester and Willis, have returned to their Montecito home after visiting Mrs. Baldwin's sister, Mrs. Wilson Lampert, in Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lufkin of Cleveland, have arrived at the Miramar for the remainder of the season.

Miss Ann Knapp of Rye, N. Y., who has been visiting her grandfather, George Owen Knapp of Montecito, has returned to her home in the east with her friend, Miss Polly Knowles, also of New York.

WHEN CHICAGO WAS YOUNG

Mid-Victorian Days in the Mid-Continent

Don't forget that twenty-nine of the letters from this column have been published in book form under the title, "Dear Julia."
This little book makes an ideal gift for those who know and love Chicago.

By Herma Clark.

Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend, Julia Boyd of New York.

Chicago, Oct. 5, 1882.

DEAR JULIA: Albert M. Day, one of our neighbors living on Chicago avenue, has been here this evening discussing political matters with Will. Both Mr. Day and Will were on the Union League club's committee for the reception to James G. Blaine when he was in Chicago about two weeks ago, and they had some club business in that connection to finish. I always enjoy hearing men talk politics and as they seemed willing to have me about, I lent an ear to their discussion of the controversy between Carl Schurz and Mr. Blaine about civil service.

The New York Evening Post, of which Mr. Schurz is one of the editors, had an editorial in its columns criticizing Mr. Blaine (this was while Mr. Blaine was in Chicago) and claiming he upheld the doctrine of political spoils. Will says Mr. Schurz didn't write that editorial, but at the time Mr. Blaine thought he had done so, and he gave an interview to the Chicago papers, saying some pretty sharp things of Carl Schurz. So the conversation this evening turned on the great German-American.

I am not a politician, but I always stand by Carl Schurz, for I can't forget his devotion to the Union during the civil war. I think he has always been on the side of right and justice as he saw it. Will claims he is stubborn and won't yield a point when he might do so to win a friend. He says politicians must expect to do a little trading. Will is a loyal Republican and can't bear criticism of a Republican. But I say one must stand for principle, even in one's own party, else there would be no progress.

Carl Schurz's career has been an interesting one, hasn't it? He is a man of courage, as was evidenced when he dared to take part in the German revolution of 1848, and when that was unsuccessful and he was obliged to flee from the country he returned in order to help his old friend Kinkel to escape. I am glad England and America gave him a haven and that in our country his political genius had a chance to show itself. Even Will and Mr. Day, who are staunch Blaine men, expressed admiration of Carl Schurz's physical courage . . . and Mr. Day spoke of his not being willing to remain in Spain in 1861, where Lincoln had sent him as minister.

He insisted on resigning that comfortable berth to come home and lead a military division. His military training in Germany made him useful in our army, of course. It seems strange we never speak of him as "General" Schurz—just Carl Schurz. The man himself—rather than his military career—seems to stand out. He was at Gettysburg, Chancellorsville, and Chattanooga, Will said this evening.

Mr. Day mentioned Mr. Schurz's being sent south to report on conditions there after the war, but said his suggestions were never acted on. How many mistakes were made then!

I am always bewildered when I hear about Carl Schurz's connection with this and that state. He seems to have lived in many places. He was in Philadelphia for a time when he first came to America; he lived in Watertown, Wis.; was senator from Missouri; helped edit the Detroit Post, and now is closely identified with New York City.

Will and Mr. Day think he is honest and able, but they are strong for Blaine, of course. I am an admirer of Mr. Blaine, too, and hope he will be elected President next term. The men say he made many new friends on his visit here. He never forgets any one he meets, I hear . . . a great asset for a statesman. His son Emmons, who was with him here, has his father's charm, Will says.

I must close now. Much love to you, dear Julia,

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

Footnotes.

Albert M. Day, who called at the Esmond home on Rush street, died last May.

Carl Schurz (1829-1906), German-American reformer and statesman, was a great force in political life for many years. He is called the father of civil service reform. In 1884 he was a leader in the campaign of the Mugwumps for the election of Grover Cleveland.

Eva Mignon Armistead, Chicago, sends the saying of a Cape Cod grandmother: "So close he'd skin a flea for its hide and tallow." (Probably pronounced 'taller'," says Mrs. Armistead).

Emmons Blaine, son of the statesman, whose charm Martha praises, married Miss Anita McCormick of Chicago.

Japan Plants 40,000 Acres of Pearl Oysters

TOKIO.—[U. P.]—The pearl plantings in Japan this year, in contrast to most crops, will be the largest in years. More than 40,000 acres of quiet waters have been planted with over 3,000,000 pearl oysters, and thousands of people are employed. The pearl crop being planted now will not be harvested for seven years.

Millions of seed pearls, or tiny bits of mother of pearl, are skillfully inserted into living oysters for the pearl crop. The oysters slowly proceed to cover these irritants with a secretion which transforms them into pearls. The oysters are placed in steel cages and suspended a few feet above the floor of the sea from great rafts. Twice a year they are brought to the surface, cleaned and treated, to prevent disease. Some 60 per cent of the oysters bear fruit, but only about 5 per cent are marketable.

The annual crop is valued at several million dollars.

Among the Japanese exhibits at A Century of Progress in Chicago is a reproduction of Mount Vernon made entirely of Mikimoto pearls, valued at $350,000. The model, which is one and one-half feet in length and six inches high, contains 5,184 pearls and more than 12,000 pieces of mother of pearl.

A feature of the model is the American flag formed entirely of 185 pearls, while the mansion's lawn is formed of 16,250 pearls.

Illustrated Lectures Explain Paintings at A Century of Progress Exhibition Now Current in the Art Institute

Three Daily Talks Given by Members of the Staff Cover a Wide Field.

By Eleanor Jewett.

ONE of the most important and unusual features of A Century of Progress Fine Arts exhibit in the Chicago Art institute is the activity connected with it, which three times a day keeps a crowded audience enthusiastically alert in Fullerton hall. Here are given lectures, illustrated by slides, on the famous paintings one finds in the galleries above. Dudley Crafts Watson is in charge of the programs and an efficient staff is at his elbow to assist with the talks.

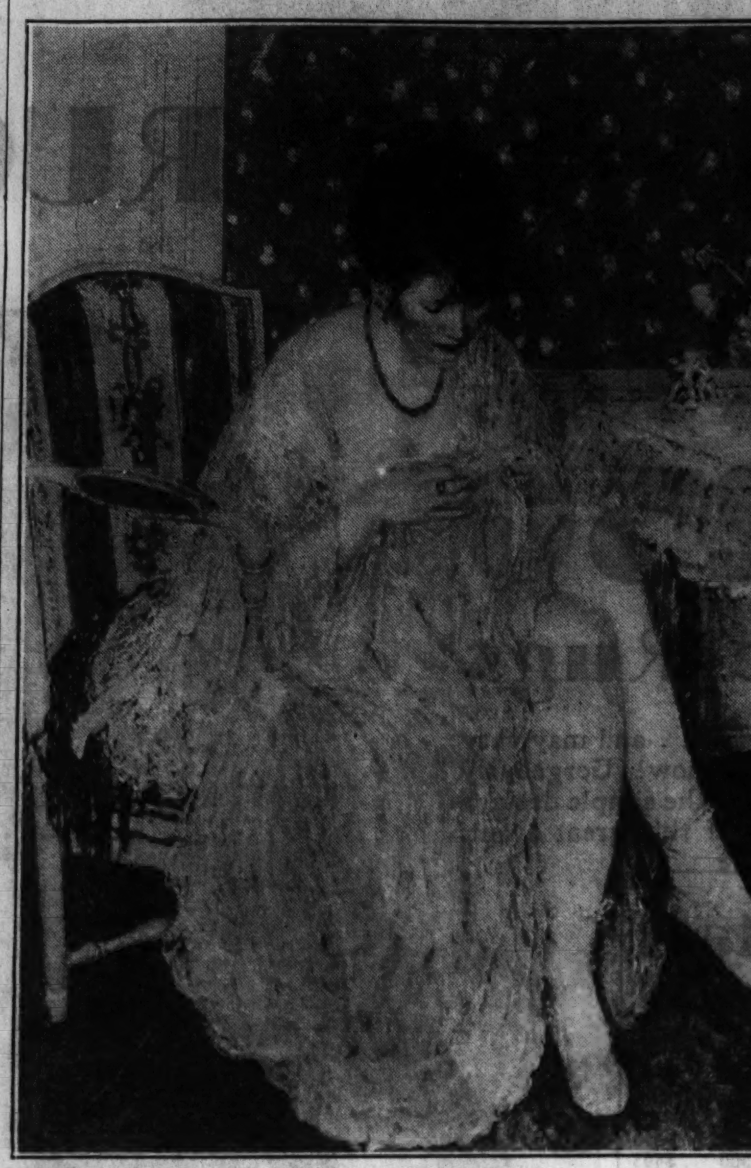
One unfailing point in common among the various throngs who listen is that they were amazed that they did not know about the lectures before. This is odd because mention has been made of them frequently through different mediums, including the press.

The talks are simple and to the point, and give one information that increases the delight one finds in the pictures. They are to be continued every day to Nov. 1. On week days the hours are 12:15 noon, 2 p. m., and 3:45 p. m. On Sundays an additional talk is given at 6 p. m. The lectures last three-quarters of an hour. Among those who are giving the talks are Dudley Crafts Watson, Daniel Catton Rich, Charles Fabens Kelley, George Buehr, Helen Parker, and Helen F. Mackenzie, all distinguished members of the Art institute staff.

Titles of the Lectures Are Stimulating.

Even the titles of the lectures are stimulating. Consider, for example, "How to Enjoy the Primitives," "The Quest for Beauty," "Great American Paintings in the Exhibition," "The Art of Matisse," "The Art of Rembrandt," "What Is Modern Art?" This last topic is sure to stir up discussion. Probably Daniel Catton Rich, who talks upon it, gives a far different interpretation than that expressed in a statement by Robert C. Vose of Boston in the foreword to his catalogue of an exhibition of work by leading Massachusetts artists. According to him, "modernism" was started by caricaturists or by unbalanced mentalities and has been promoted largely through commercialism, and if that element were removed the whole structure would collapse overnight.

There are, says Mr. Vose, some modernists who have undoubted skill but accompanied by such morbid minds that they gloat over the ugly, the deformed, the brutal, and the vulgar. Mr. Rich will give you an entirely different opinion upon one of the moot questions of the day. Meanwhile Mr. Watson is also busy with a number of Fair tours most interesting, taking one as far north and west as Lake Forest and Barrington and as far south as Lorado Taft's studio. For details and reservations address Preston R. Weir, the Art institute, Chicago.



"Torn Lingerie," by Frederick C. Frieseke, loaned by the City Art museum of St. Louis to A Century of Progress Fine Arts exhibition current in the second floor galleries of the Chicago Art institute. This beautiful canvas has proved one of the most popular of the contemporary American group.

Currier & Ives Prints at Historical Society.

On Aug. 1 the Chicago Historical society at its new building in Lincoln park, North avenue at Clark street, opened an exhibit of Currier & Ives prints of great interest. The exhibit includes the fifty "best" Currier & Ives prints and is made possible through the courtesy of Harry T. Peters of New York, who lent the prints from his magnificent collection of some 5,600 various subjects. The prints in the exhibit were selected as the best by a recognized jury of Currier & Ives collectors. They based their decisions on subject matter, quality of drawing and lithography, and the rarity of the print.

To many of us the name Currier & Ives is a run-together combination of names yielding a mental picture much in the style of the Siamese twins. In reality Nathaniel Currier and James Merritt Ives were two distinct personalities, each a celebrated American print maker. They formed their partnership in 1857, long before the days of photo engraving and picture newspapers. Everything was grist that came to their mill. Through the genius of their lithography they captured news events and situations, circumstances and conditions, which they pictorialized—dramatized, if you will—and distributed all over the country. They left us a whole panorama of American life in the middle of the 19th century.

Not So Popular When They First Appeared.

Many of the prints are trite in subject and poor in color. However, there are others, and many of them, which possess real artistic merit. These probably were done by the talented hands of such Currier & Ives staff members as Arthur F. Tait, Fanny Palmer, George H. Durrie, J. E. Buttersworth, and Louis Maurer.

When they were published, for the most part, the prints did not win contemporary appreciation. They were scattered by thousands all over the country. People bought them and liked them and hung them on their walls, only to tire of them and send them to the attic or the grate. It took a generation or so, a span of time to throw that past into relief, before the appeal and historic value of these pictures were realized.

Then collectors sprang up on every hand. They searched attics and remote towns. Some prints were recovered in foreign countries. Gradually legends and traditions and honor have gathered about the prints until today they are recognized as of distinct importance in the history of the development of the country. Where else may one look to find as graphic interpretations of the life that has vanished?

The current exhibit of the fifty "best" Currier & Ives prints was brought to Chicago through the efforts of Charles B. Pike, president of the Chicago Historical society, and Joseph T. Ryerson, a trustee of the society. Both men are keenly interested in collecting early American prints.

Two Interesting Exhibits at O'Brien Galleries.

Two interesting exhibitions are hung in the O'Brien galleries, 673 North Michigan avenue, during August. The one man show of paintings by Belmore Browne is packed with thrills and beauty. For nine travel years Belmore Browne has seen the larger wilderness areas from Bering sea to the headwaters of the Yukon. He has lived with the Indians, mushed with the prospectors, and followed big game.

In 1920 he built a studio home in Banff and that magnificent region of green lakes, pines, and mountains has been his happy hunting ground ever since. His subjects include waterfalls, big game, camps in the snow, deep mountain lakes, and sentinel pines pointing to the far peace of blue mountain skies. The summer in Banff, the winter in Santa Barbara, where he is the director of the art school, Mr. Browne has found a perfect rule of life.

One of his most important paintings hangs in the National gallery in Washington, "The Chief's Canoe," a gorgeous canvas depicting an Alaskan Indian chief on a lagoon ringed with majestic mountains. The present exhibit in the O'Brien gallery is a sequence of cool and stunning western canvases, strongly handled and convincingly beautiful.

Horses are the theme of the second O'Brien show. Many Chicago stables are represented through photographs of their best animals. Paul Brown's sketches in color of polo ponies, racing and hunting horses add distinction to the exhibit. Kathleen Wheeler shows procelain and plaster figures of horses, recent work and very fine. A new name, Peter Giba, is introduced by portraits of famous horses carved in wood. They are clever and excellently done.

SAILING HOME TO FRANCE

Like a Dresden doll is the piquant Mrs. Redmond S. Wright, the former Glee Louise Viles, who made a flying visit to Chicago last week to see her father, Lawrence M. Viles. This week-end Mrs. Wright is boarding a steamer for her return to her husband and baby at Cap d'Antibes in southern France.

Chicagoans Lured by Mountain Winds

BRETTON WOODS, N. H.—[Special.]—Many Chicagoans are touring the White mountains, paying visits there to friends or joining the hotel colonies for the month of August or longer periods. The weather has been superb, devoid of the grilling heat which swept recently over so many resorts, and outdoor life is in the ascendancy, with much mountain climbing, riding, golf, and tennis.

Mrs. Charles I. Pierce and Charles I. Pierce Jr. of Chicago are late arrivals at the Mount Washington, Bretton Woods, while on a tour of the east. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevan of Lake Forest have been among recent visitors; also O. C. Patterson and his young son of Chicago, who are all former patrons of the hotel.

Dr. and Mrs. Franz Alexander of Chicago, who are here for several weeks, are riding the forest trails, playing golf and tennis, and dancing in the evening at the Cave Grill supper dances.

Miss Evelyn Willing and Mrs. Robert D. McFadon of Chicago were joined at the Waumbek, Jefferson, by Mr. and Mrs. John Kendrick Bangs Jr. of Detroit. On Wednesday evening they all were guests of Mrs. McFadon, who entertained them and several others at the Barnstormers' play at Peckett's Playhouse in the hayloft on Sugar hill.

Mrs. John R. Winterbotham of Chicago attends all the weekly plays given at Peckett's by the Barnstormers, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Poole. Last Wednesday evening Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, here from Washington, was the house guest of Mrs. Poole.

Mrs. Charles I. Pierce and Charles I. Pierce Jr. of Chicago went from Bretton Woods to spend the day at Polly's Place, Colebrook, going from there to visit the Balsams, Dixville Notch. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Foster of the Opera club, Chicago, who are at their beautiful country place at Derby, Vt., motored to Polly's Place with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bloodgood of Garden City, Long Island, on Sunday and were luncheon guests at Polly's of Mrs. Middleton Manigault. Also at Polly's on that day was Lady Grenfell, wife of Sir Wilfred Grenfell of Labrador, who is to speak on Aug. 15 at the Chinook kennels, Wonalancet, upon their work at the Grenfell mission, Labrador.

Mrs. Chauncey Blair of Chicago is spending a month at the Waumbek hotel in Jefferson, where the Blair family has made summer headquarters for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Blair and Miss Anita Blair for years had a summer home there, the Wigwam.

Turk Excavations Reveal Grave of Hittite Royalty

AHLATBELI, Turkey—(AP)—The coffin and skeleton of a Hittite princess of the mysterious race that ruled Anatolia 5,000 years ago and the skeleton of a guard who was 7 feet 1 inch tall are the sensational finds of Turkish archaeologists digging at this town, south of Ankara.

Excavations were begun when the minister of education, motoring through this region, detected the ruins of an ancient city. He backtracked to Ankara and organized an archaeological expedition.

Two weeks of digging uncovered vestiges of a Hittite fortress, many bronze utensils and jewels of bronze and gold and the two burials. In the coffin of the princess were many jewels and gold ornaments.

Mustafa Kemal's young minister of education, Reshet Galip Bey, sharing Kemal's own passion for archaeology, has decided to divide all Anatolia into four archaeological zones, each of which will be entrusted to groups of Turkish excavators.

To house their finds $30,000 has been allotted in the ministry's budget this year for a museum at Ankara.

So rich is Anatolia in buried civilization that a former director of the Istanbul museum estimated that only one-ten thousand of its archaeological treasures has been brought to light.

French Honor Ibanez.

PARIS.—(AP)—A bust of the late Vicente Blasco Ibanez, Spanish author, is to be erected here by friends of the writer from a design made by Francis La Monaca, Italian sculptor. The model shows the novelist's head above a conception of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, which figured as the title of Ibanez's great war novel.

Please tell me about Rocky Mountain National park, in Colorado.
—F. D. H.

It is in the heart of the Rockies, being a portion of the Continental Divide, with peaks ranging from 11,000 to 14,255 feet in altitude. Even at the highest altitude, gorgeously colored wild flowers grow in sheltered gorges. One of the remarkable features of the park is the legibility of the record left by the glaciers during the ages when America was in the making. There are few places which offer so many kinds of diversion to so many types of people. The Estes Park Golf and Country club has an excellent 18 hole golf course and a tennis court. Several of the hotels have croquet and tennis courts. There are motoring, horseback riding, fishing, boating and hiking.

What are Zion and Bryce Canyon National parks noted for, and how long has Zion been a national park?
—D. S.

Zion has been a national park since Nov. 19, 1919. The two are famous for their gorgeous coloring and unusual erosional formations, in which perhaps they have no equal anywhere. The canyons themselves are stupendous in size, and their hues have an almost unbelievable brilliance.

The Atlantic lines to Europe as a general rule have college orchestras for tourist third cabin during the summer months.

For certain sailings there are a few inside rooms available at $29.50 and $34.50. At $39.50 and $44.50 commodious OUTSIDE rooms are provided. All prices include Meals and Berth.

No wonder this trip is attracting more people than the giant Cruise-Ship ISLE ROYALE can accommodate! Every returning passenger spreads the good news of six thrilling days on Northern inland seas; of marvelous meals; of super service; and of glorious fun from start to finish. All at the cost of an ordinary vacation!

Gay Ship-life
Deck games, Ping Pong and all sorts of social activities fill every moment and the cool, bracing lake breezes make you want to enjoy them all. Or, if it's rest and relaxation you need, stretch out in a steamer chair and doze the sunny hours away.

Dancing Every Evening
Dance in the swanky Club Royale, on the cool top deck, to the music of a snappy orchestra. A Social Hostess will see that you become acquainted with your fellow voyagers and enjoy every minute of the cruise.

Oceanic Smartness
Like an Ocean Cruise! Wonderful meals with morning Broth, afternoon Tea and midnight Sandwiches in addition. Everything planned for your comfort and enjoyment.

Visit Strange Ports
The cruise is broken daily by visits to strange and interesting ports. Mackinac, former Indian outpost and now the fashionable resort of the North. Next Sault Ste. Marie where your ship is lifted bodily 30 feet up to the level of Lake Superior. On to Marquette, mysterious, rugged Isle Royale, and then His Majesty's grain capital, Ft. William, Canada. A trip you will never forget!

Sailings Until Sept. 16th
Due to unprecedented demand, sailings of the Isle Royale have been extended until September 16th. This will give an opportunity for enjoying this trip to some of the many who have been turned away through lack of accommodations on earlier sailings. September in the North country is an ideal season.

Young Astor Reaches Age of His Majority

Son of Late John Jacob Becomes 21 Tomorrow; Comes Into Huge Fortune

By Nancy Randolph.

NEW YORK.—[Special.]—Strangely enough the notable lads of each generation seem to mature at one and the same time. Just at present there are several young men bearing famous names who are within hailing distance of their majorities, among them Angier Duke, the various Vanderbilt boys, and last but not least, John Jacob Astor, who tomorrow becomes 21 and master of a fortune.

Just how big a fortune it is that John inherits is not being told, but the remarkable thing is that his hero father, who went down on the Titanic, made provision in his will for John even before his birth, not knowing whether the child for whom he left a king's ransom in trust would be a boy or a girl. However, the posthumous child turned out to be a boy who carries his father's name, and now steps into his rôle as one of society's most notable millionaires.

Half Brother, Vincent, Acts as Executor.

Young Jack Astor is lucky in having his half brother, Vincent Astor, as one of the executors of the Astor estate. Once considered the ideal playboy, Vincent has long since proved himself an astute business man, and with the exception of the Goelet estate, no other private holdings of real estate in New York are as large as the Astor ones.

Tomorrow, then, is the big day and gossip has it that the fortune runs from five to fifty millions of dollars. Jack and his auntie, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, have returned to Chastellux after a stay at Bar Harbor. In celebration of Jack's majority there will be a little party at the Spencer home, attended by Vincent and Helen Astor, but not, apparently, by Jack's mother, Mrs. William K. Dick, who is not expected. The recent publicity in connection with her divorce was far from pleasing to the whole family and some little feeling yet lingers.

Mrs. Skirvan Adams Gives Dinner for Debs.

This season at Newport is a young folks' season, and last night's party at Beachmound, the estate of Mrs. Skirvan Adams, was hardly needed to prove the fact.

Nonetheless, Mrs. Adams' dinner dance in honor of Betty Morris and Ellen Tuck French was one of the high lights of the season thus far. All the notable youngsters, not alone of Newport but of Bar Harbor and Southampton, were invited up to amble about the scene. Betty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gouverneur Morris of Malbone and one of the most popular debs of the summer season.

MRS. FRANCIS EVERETT HUEBSCH. [Nelidoff & Gordoni Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Geist of Belleville, Ill., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Janet Alice, to Francis Everett Huebsch, son of Senator and Mrs. Arthur A. Huebsch of Congress Park, Ill.

Ellen French is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Livingston French of Cliff terrace and socially of vast importance. Her father is that amazing gentleman, Francis Ormond French, back in Newport after a career which has included so versatile an undertaking as driving a taxicab in the Bronx—of all places. But, seemingly, Mr. French has given up his researches in sociology and is growing old gracefully.

Young Girls Make Bows at Newport.

This being August, the debs are having their summer moment. Besides Betty and Ellen the Newport calendar makes room for the bows of Jeannette Pearce, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Reginald Pearce; Mary De Mumm, who will make her bow at a dinner on Friday, given by her aunt, Mrs. Scoville Treadwell, and Hildegarde Graham, daughter of Mrs. Augustine L. Humes, who will present Hildegarde later in the month.

Other debuts will also occur, though not at Newport. Up in Greenwich Sept. 14 will find Mr. and Mr. Wilbur L. Cummings presenting their daughter, Molly, at a fiesta which will include swimming in the Cummings' famous pool.

Saratoga in Annual Social Limelight.

But, of course, the paramount interest at present lies upstate, where society is bowing in honor of King Horse.

Every one is turning towards Saratoga and, as I predicted, it bids fair to be the most "notable month" in recent years. The roulette wheels are spinning. There is no lack of liquid refreshment and the track is lovelier than ever.

All the beau monde is out in force and furbelows. Among the noted folk in residence are Mr. and Mrs. William A. Prime, Mr. and Mrs. John Hay Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Seth W. Morton, Maribelle J. Rodiger of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Byers, Rene La Montague, Stephen Sanford, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mr. and Mrs. Michael M. Van Beuren, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gregory Rodiger, who were at Greenwich during the week.

Huge Engine for Scotland.

EDINBURGH.—(AP)—The biggest passenger locomotive in Britain, 74 feet, 4 inches long, has been completed as the first of three to haul fast trains between this city and Glasgow. The engine outmeasures that of the Royal Scot, now in Chicago, by 11 feet.

EARLY OAK PARK SOCIAL LIFE TO BE FAIR TOPIC

Old Timers to Meet on Sept. 27.

BY PHYLLIS HAMMOND.

Old and new residents of Oak Park will gather Sept. 27 when the community will have its "day" at A Century of Progress to exchange reminiscences and garner historical facts of the village.

Many of the tales expected to be circulated by villagers in celebrating their centennial perhaps will include stories of the old Berlin-Leonard hotel which flourished around 1900. It was here that the Borrowed Time club was formed. While the charter members, all over 70 years old, gathered in the basement of the hotel, the Women's Christian Temperance union entertained young men in the reading room maintained upstairs by that organization.

Saloons Inspiration.

The founding of this reading room, due largely to the efforts of Mrs. Charles M. Morton and Henry W. Austin, was inspired by the proximity of numerous saloons in the neighborhood, which were regarded as a bad influence on the young men. Hot chocolate, tea, and cakes were served every afternoon and the women in charge made every effort to create a homelike and comfortable atmosphere. The rule was, "Do what you like; this is your second home."

The Borrowed Time club had its beginnings in the harness shop of Father Robbins, known for his cheerful disposition, optimism, and kindliness. It was quite natural for many of his friends and acquaintances to drop in regularly at about the same time each day to chat of the world's affairs and spin yarns of days gone by.

The name of the organization is said to have been born of a remark which Robbins was accustomed to make frequently. "I do not owe any man a dollar, but I am greatly indebted to Father Time." George M. Ambrose gave the organization the name of the Borrowed Time club.

Recall Dummy Train.

Transportation systems of the old days will also be a topic of discussion. The first dummy railway train stopped at Oak Park, Ridgeland, and Austin avenues. Another mode of travel was the Chicago, Harlem and Batavia railway, which had a depot on Randolph street just 200 feet east of Wisconsin avenue, now Marion street. Frank Preston was the engineer of the little locomotive which pulled a solitary coach.

The dummy line was a makeshift which ran between West 40th street, now Crawford avenue, in Chicago, and the western limits of the village. The fare was 10 cents a trip to Oak Park from Crawford avenue. At Crawford avenue the line connected with the horse cars and later the cable cars on Madison street. In the winter of 1885 the dummy track was snowed under for six weeks and Oak Parkers stayed at home.

Three Each Morning.

About 30 years ago three of these dummy cars were available each morning for the transportation of business men. The early car was jokingly said to be for the "works," the second for the "clerks," and the third for the "shirks."

The high point of Oak Park day at the Fair will be the huge historical pageant to be staged by 2,000 in the court of the Hall of Science. Casting is now being carried on by Andrew Streng, Oak Park teacher of dramatic art, who will coach the cast and supervise the staging of the production.

All arrangements for the day are under the general supervision of Maj. Hugh M. Walter and assisting him are Edward J. Bullock, chairman of promotion and coördination; Walker Lewis, chairman of the finance committee; Joseph Coyner, ticket sales chairman; Ralph Jones, publicity chairman, and R. C. Coombs, contact man with A Century of Progress.

ROTINIANS MEET FRIDAY TO BOOST RECOVERY DRIVE

To promote the national recovery act on Chicago's west side, the Madison Rotinians, Inc., will hold a mass meeting at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the community recreation center, 4715 West Madison street, at which a number of prominent speakers will ask coöperation of west side consumers with the various industries now working under a code.

Among those who will address the gathering will be the Hon. F. L. Roberts, regional director of the recovery administration board; Albert M. Moore, past president of the Madison Rotinians, Inc., Ald. Roger Kiley, Ald. John S. Clark, Harry Joseph, president of the west park board; Judge Francis Allegretti, Judge E. J. Hasten, and Congressman, Thomas O'Brien. An invitation has been extended by Mayor Edward J. Kelly to attend.

Two Artists Guests at J. P. I. Concert Tuesday

Miss Bettye Gold, vocalist, and Peter Sher, pianist, will be guest artists Tuesday evening at a concert to be held on the roof garden of the Jewish People's institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard. Miss Gold, a soprano, will sing among other selections the aria from "The Magic Flute," by Mozart. Mr. Sher's numbers will include "Danse Macabre," by Saint-Saëns, and "Marche Slav," by Tschaikovsky.

OAK STREET FAVORITE OF WEST SIDE LAKE BATHERS

"Stop in Austin" Drive for Fair Visitors Proves Great Success

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

Operating on a basis different than that of most other communities, Austin's World's Fair program started three weeks ago, has progressed to the stage where its influence is being felt throughout the district. Homes in Austin are now said to be getting their share of A Century of Progress visitors, and arrivals at the hotels continue on the increase.

The "stop in Austin" campaign, sponsored by the Lions club, is decentralized in method. Headquarters are at the Washington Pine East hotel and the Lions headquarters at the Central Plaza hotel, but every hotel and every filling station in Austin, operating throughout the twenty-four hours of each day, are information headquarters.

Arrows Direct Visitors.

Signs inviting motorists to "follow the yellow arrow" direct visitors to these information headquarters, each of which is furnished a list of hotel rooms and rooms in private homes within a nearby radius.

It is the theory that the filling station or garage which directs visitors to nearby rooming quarters is most apt to receive patronage from those they have contacted in giving friendly aid. Austin offers a dozen hotels and 1,000 private rooms in homes as available to Fair visitors. The point is also stressed that Austin affords the facilities of a single fare to the exposition with transportation of some means every minute of the day.

The Lions club, under the leadership of Peter M. Verschuur, has distributed 50,000 circulars concerning Austin's advantages, for a distance of 300 miles from Chicago in every direction except to the east. Many of these circulars have been distributed by public spirited citizens on motor trips.

Financed by Businesses.

The circulars and road signs have been financed by the hotels, window cards have been financed by the merchants, and the garages have financed their own signs.

A recent survey by the club revealed that, conservatively, 250 cars bearing out of state licenses, pass east on Washington boulevard in an hour. The check was made between nine and ten o'clock in the morning and between three and four o'clock in the afternoon. California cars predominate in the number of out of town cars stopping in Austin.

The map contained in the Austin circulars shows that the exposition grounds may be reached from Austin by the surface lines, the Lake street and the Garfield Park elevated lines, and the Washington boulevard and Jackson boulevard buses. The circular adds that Austin, a community of 50,000, has available 1,000 hotel rooms and apartments, 1,000 private rooms and fifty garages.

AURORA TO OPEN DOORS TO 107 KIWANIS CLUBS

Aurora is making preparations to entertain the sixteenth annual convention of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district of Kiwanis International from Sept. 10 to 14. Of the 107 clubs in the district, 20 are located in the Chicago area.

Greetings to Kiwanians have been extended by Mayor C. M. Bjorseth and R. A. Walker, president of the Aurora Chamber of Commerce, in the form of a bulletin containing A Century of Progress design and setting forth the advantages of Aurora and the Fox river valley.

Facts given of Aurora include its population of 47,000, the date of its settlement in 1834, and fast and frequent transportation to Chicago. Eighty-five per cent of Aurora residents are said to be home owners. The city has fourteen hotels, four golf courses, four parks, and seven playgrounds.

Schools and colleges of the city include fourteen public grade schools, eleven parochial, two public high, two parochial high, one junior high, Jennings Seminary for Girls, and Aurora college.

While in Aurora Kiwanians are invited to visit nearby Mooseheart and Aurora Exposition park.

Alex R. Treulich of the Lake View Kiwanis club, is chairman of the On-to-Aurora committee.

Boys' Club Dance.

The B'nai Brith Boys' club of the Jewish People's institute will hold a dance Saturday evening at the institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard. Proceeds from the affair will go to finance Camp Chi.

FIRST PASTOR BACK AT CHURCH; REUNION TO MARK 75TH YEAR

The Rev. William Whelan, first pastor of the Holy Family church at 1076 West Roosevelt road, born and raised in the parish and educated in parish schools, will take up his duties Tuesday, when the Rev. Raymond Walsh, present pastor, will leave for Cincinnati, where he will serve at St. Francis Xavier college.

FATHER WHELAN.

In celebration of the diamond jubilee year of the parish, Dr. Whelan is sponsoring a reunion of old parishioners to be held Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings in the Sodality hall, 100 South May street. The Father Damen Players, formerly the Loyola University players, will present "The Queen's Husband" on these three nights, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Leading rôles will be taken by Miss Anna Knight and Michael Hedderman.

Proceeds of the performance will go to renovate the Sodality hall, which the Rev. Whelan plans to convert into a school for white children of the district. Colored children will attend the old St. Joseph school at 1425 West 13th street.

VILLA PARK LIONS PLAN PICNIC FOR ENTIRE VILLAGE

New President to Talk at Fete Aug. 23.

The Villa Park Lions' club quartet and the appearance of the new village president for a brief talk are among the features planned for the second annual picnic of the Villa Park Lions' club to be held Aug. 23 in the forest preserve two miles north of Addison, near the Brookfield Country club.

The quartet, made up of Sol Block, Roy Chidlow, Charles Tefft and Francis Smith, has recently signed up for radio work. The organization is now in its third year and was recently heard at the Villard theater.

Villa Park will elect a president on the day prior to the picnic date.

Dr. Gutzmer Is Chairman.

Dr. E. W. Gutzmer is picnic chairman and is being assisted by Sol Block in arranging what the club hopes to make the most interesting and enjoyable basket lunch picnic ever held in the community. Men, women and children of the village will be guests of the club at the outing which will start at eleven o'clock in the morning and continue into the evening hours. Efforts are being made to have the local business houses close for the afternoon.

Attorney George Featherstone is the club's new president.

Last year the picnic was held in the forest preserve at York and Roosevelt roads, but more space was desired for the outing this year. Dr. Gutzmer has announced that automobile transportation will be provided for those without cars of their own. Free coffee will be served and prizes will be offered for contests and games arranged for old and young. A slipper throwing contest for the women will again be featured.

Two Soft Ball Games.

There will be two soft ball games, one for men and one for boys, with the north side competing against the south side, the line of division being the Aurora and Elgin right of way. There will be card playing at tables under the trees.

Another big outing in the offing is the drum and bugle corps contest from Sept. 7 to 10, under the auspices of Villa Park Legionnaires, with former Commander Thorwald Jacobsen directing the event which is expected to attract some 40 drum and bugle corps and an attendance of 25,000 persons.

Civic Leaders of Maywood Meet to Back NRA; Pick Committee

Coöperating in the support of President Roosevelt's NRA drive, Maywood business men gathered Monday night at Liberty hall with E. H. Winkelman, president of the Maywood Chamber of Commerce, presiding, and Thomas McCormick, secretary of the Lawyers' Legislative league, as the principal speaker.

At the close of the meeting President Winkelman appointed a committee which, in turn, was empowered to appoint a general committee for conducting the local campaign. Members of the committee are Dr. Walter Lovejoy, chairman; James Holland, Con Spyrison, E. P. Rich, A. W. Powers, John Trumbull, and William Anderman.

Need More Employment.

"We realize," said Secretary McCormick, "that the NRA, as an emergency measure, has been necessary to lift the nation out of the depression. Its purpose is the promotion of the general welfare of the people and the employment of more people gainfully. The country that has the most people gainfully employed is the country that will prosper.

"If the business men of Maywood could find means to put 1,000 men to work, gainfully, the results would be felt within a week."

S. W. Bauer agreed to answer all questions regarding the NRA. "The purpose of this meeting," he explained, "is to do all in our power to uphold the President in his efforts to bring about increased employment."

26 at Conference.

Early in the month 26 Maywood business and professional men attended the Illinois conference on the NRA held at the University of Illinois. Those who made the trip with President Winkelman of the chamber were Postmaster H. D. Oakland, Mayor H. W. Tolsted, Dr. R. L. Raynolds, Dr. C. E. Wiley, Dr. J. H. White, Prof. E. F. Krauss, Joseph Holland, F. G. Guest, F. T. Weber, W. H. Babcock, L. W. Chulock, A. W. Holden, W. G. Heidemann, F. P. Elliott, P. P. Gaddy, L. Lande, C. Spyrison, F. H. Ruhnke, Frank Woodmansee, John Wheeler, R. D. Dietrich, W. F. Boeger, J. E. Dittus, and F. B. Davies.

MANY OF BEST KNOWN IN CITY AID CAMPAIGN

Sept. 15 Is Date Set by Leaders.

One hundred thousand dollars will be sought this fall by the Jewish People's institute, west side social and cultural center for Hebrews of Chicago. The institute board of directors has named Gustav Hochstadter chairman of the campaign.

Mr. Hochstadter has been a member of the board for sixteen years and is one of the laymen closest to the institution. During the erection of the new home as chairman of the building and grounds committee, he personally supervised the entire job of constructing and outfitting it.

Open Drive Sept. 15.

A city-wide appeal for funds in the nature of a membership drive will open about Sept. 15, according to Mr. Hochstadter. Only a small percentage of the people who should be contributing members, less than a thousand, have been found on the membership rolls at this time. Heavy losses and a drop of 60 per cent in the income of the Institute are responsible for the coming drive for funds.

Assisting Mr. Hochstadter in the campaign will be a representative of the Jewish Welfare board, national agency interested in Jewish community centers. The Institute Women's auxiliary, of which Mrs. Walter E. Heller is chairman, also will aid. Associate chairmen of the drive are Charles Aaron, James Davis, Mrs. Heller, Edward A. Jandorf, M. L. Ottenheimer, and Edward A. Weil.

Campaign Committee.

The campaign committee consists of the remaining members of the board of directors: Harry Alter, Dr. Leon Bloch, David Blum, Samuel G. Braudy, David Copland, Gen. Abel Davis, Alfred Decker, Barnett Faroll, Mrs. Jules E. Furth, Gustav Golding, Mrs. L. E. Halperin, Mrs. Aladar Hamburger, Dr. Henry A. Honoroff, Louis L. Kahn, Samuel N. Leopold, Benjamin F. Lindheimer, I. B. Lipson, Allan M. Loeb, Jacob M. Loeb, Joseph Michaels, Harry L. Oppenheimer, Samuel Phillipson.

Also: Samuel P. Platt, Theodore Regensteiner, Leonard M. Rieser, Mrs. M. L. Rothschild, Maurice R. Rosen, Toby Rubovits, Ludwig D. Schreiber, Henry C. Schwab, L. H. Selz, Charles Shaffner, Jesse Scheinman, Hubert S. Silberman, Dr. Robert Sonnenschein, Mrs. Julius Stone, Lionel H. Uhlmann, John Wineberg, and Dr. A. B. Yudelson.

Plans are still tentative and details remain to be worked out. According to Mr. Hochstadter, there will be organized a committee for each trade and profession. These committees will be in charge of the six associate chairmen who will have under them ceptains to supervise the actual field work and these in turn will be aided by lieutenants.

Budget Less Than Half.

In 1929 the gross budget of the institute was, roughly, $206,000. By 1932 expenditures had been reduced to $139,000 and during the current year they will amount to less than $100,000. According to Dr. Philip L. Seman, director of the institute, the reduction has been made possible largely through reduction in staff and salary cuts.

The income of the institute is divided into three classifications: First, internal revenue, consisting of fees from those who use the various facilities and pay for the services; second, income from investment of endowment funds, and third, income from generous individuals in the community who are desirous of seeing the activities sponsored by the institute carried on for the benefit of those who are not in a position to pay anything or only a portion of the full cost.

Total revenue of the institute dropped from $210,000 in 1929 to $194,500 in 1930, $142,800 in 1931, and $123,000 in 1932.

Internal Income Good.

In spite of the ravages of unemployment in the Lawndale district, wherein the institute is located, at 3500 Douglas boulevard, the income from those using the institute has held up relatively well, decreasing from $119,000 in 1929 only to $108,000 in 1930, from $53,800 in 1931 to $57,600 in 1932.

Income from investments has practically disappeared, according to Dr. Seman. It amounted to nearly $8,000 in 1929, but is expected to be around $500 for 1933. In 1929, membership and other contributions amounted to more than $81,000 while in 1933 only about $30,000 is expected.

The institute closed 1930 with a deficit of more than $6,000, 1931 with a deficit of $17,800, and 1932 with a $16,000 loss. To date $40,000 has been borrowed from banks.

Seek to Remove Poles from North Ave. Center

Agitation for the removal of the trolley poles in the center of North avenue from Crawford to Western avenues has been started by the North Avenue Business Men's association, according to William C. Bender, vice president. The poles are hazards to traffic. The association has called the matter to the attention of Ald. Matt Porten [34th] and Ald. Thomas P. Keane [31st], the latter promising the association his support in obtaining the removal of the poles.

HUNDREDS OF LITTLE DANCERS TO INTERPRET MELODY IN COLOR AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

"Play gypsies! Dance gypsies!" The song might have been written for the hundreds of little girls in Chicagoland who, with Soldiers' field as their spacious stage, will interpret gay melodies in terms of shimmering colors and rhythmic motion in their Gypsy dance pageant at the Music Festival next Saturday night. The picture of these young west siders, whose names have already appeared in The Tribune, was taken at a dress rehearsal last Wednesday morning at Guyon's Paradise ballroom. It will take only the final rehearsals this week to insure a performance that will be a happy revelation for friends and parents.

12 SISTERS AND BROTHERS ALL MORE THAN 50!

Six Live on West Side of City.

Mrs. Rose Thompson, 3553 Ogden avenue, has 11 brothers and sisters living, each of whom is more than 50 years old, and she wonders if the family record for longevity has an equal.

Six in Chicago and environs, while the other six live in Wisconsin. Mrs. Thompson says there is much visiting back and forth and that always, when the dozen get together, they have a good time.

List of Family.

Members of the family and their ages are: Mrs. Frederick Runge, 70, Mrs. Amelia Wilkin, 61, and Mrs. Lena Keenan, 53, of Elmhurst; Mrs. Mary Hoss, 63, of 2039 21st place; Mrs. Josephine Weichbrod, 57, of 4258 42d street; Mrs. Thompson, 55, Mrs. Catherine Cramer, 73, Montfort, Wis.; Mrs. Anna Schmalzer, 71, Lone Rock, Wis.; Michael Seifert, 72, Thomas Seifert, 68, and Peter Seifert, 59, of Muscoda, Wis., and Joseph Seifert, 50, of Milwaukee.

All were born on a farm near Muscoda and the parents came to Chicago in 1886. Several of the older children remained in Wisconsin and several of the boys returned there after growing to manhood in Chicago.

Father Dies in Fire.

Michael Seifert, the father, was for many years janitor at St. Paul's church, 22d place and Hoyne avenue. He was burned to death in the fall of 1892 when fire destroyed his home near 22d place and Hoyne avenue. He was 61 at the time. Mrs. Seifert, an invalid for 19 years, died at Elmhurst in 1920, when she had reached her 79th year.

Mrs. Schmalzer's golden wedding is to be celebrated in October and the family plans one of its reunions at that time. Mrs. Thompson says that if it is like reunions in the past, dancing, in which all twelve will participate, will be part of the entertainment.

Mrs. Thompson recently enjoyed a visit from her brother, Mike, who attended the World's Fair. Although a former Chicagoan, he returned home the evening of the day of his arrival in the city, insisting that the big town was too noisy.

Instructs Gypsy Dancers

West side girls who have been rehearsing at Guyon's Paradise ballroom for the gypsy dance pageant which will be a feature of the Chicagoland Music Festival next Saturday night at Soldiers' field have been instructed by Miss Mayblossom Macdonald of the Ideal Dancing studios. Miss Macdonald directed the west side group for the Grecian dance at last summer's festival.

William J. Janota, chairman of the national Republican organization of Berwyn, has announced that the group is now planning participation in the annual Republican rally to be held Monday, Sept. 4, Labor day, at Riverview park. Dancing, contests, and entertainment are scheduled on the program.

Ten Teams in Lombard's New Soft Ball League

Lombard has joined the communities interested in softball games, and there are now ten teams in the Lombard Softball league, which functions at twilight on the village green. The teams are those of the Sacred Heart and First Congregational churches, the Lions club, the Big Bear lodge, the Du Page building, Bowman Dairy, ice men, firemen, mailmen, and American Legionnaires. Thus far the church teams appear to have the better of their adversaries.

LITTLE THEATER OF OAK PARK OFF TO FLYING START

Start Rehearsals of the "Silver Cord."

EDW. B. WEISS.

With rehearsals under way for "The Silver Cord," the Little theater of Oak Park, organized eight months ago as a noncommercial civic undertaking, has started its 1933-'34 activities with a membership of 50 young folk from the villages of Oak Park and River Forest.

Recently appointed officers of the group are Miss Grace Gibson, secretary; Fred Dettmar, business manager; Miss Inez Mercer, treasurer; Warren Stevens, publicity, and Alfred Goodman, scenic artist. Edward B. Weiss, founder of the group, is its dramatic director.

Plan 4 This Year.

Plays planned for this season, following the production now being cast, are "A Woman's Way," and "To Meet the Prince." Two other plays, of wide audience appeal, are yet to be chosen.

While the casting of "The Silver Cord" is now under way, it is known that two of the leading rôles will be taken by Miss Orpha G. Pearsall, dramatic teacher at Trinity High school, and Arthur Ward, an Oak Parker with Broadway experience.

GEORGE DEVRON, DON CARLOS TO DRAKE AND W-G-N

Kemp to Remain Another Season at Blackhawk.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A couple of orchestras will provide music for patrons of the Drake hotel beginning Friday, Aug. 25. Supplanting Clyde McCoy, who goes on tour, will be George Devron's orchestra, and Don Carlos and his marimba band. Both musical units will broadcast over W-G-N regularly. Devron, who played at the Stevens hotel for two years, is a first rate violinist, having been soloist with the Hollywood Bowl Symphony orchestra several seasons. He also sings with his orchestra. Don Carlos and his Guatemalans played with Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita" for 75 weeks and have been featured at the Biltmore hotel, New York. These two organizations represent a notable addition to W-G-N's roster of orchestras.

GEORGE DEVRON.

Hal Kemp has a new contract and will be at the Blackhawk and over W-G-N for the fall and winter season. Kemp and his boys will leave the Blackhawk in about a month for a short road tour and for a visit with the Carolina home folks. They've been at the present spot almost a year now and have had phenomenal success. Jan Garber will go into the café while they are gone, Bernie Cummins and Ted Weems following in that order at the Trianon. Cummins will also take the Aragon assignment while Wayne King takes a real vacation for three weeks in September. King is to drop even his commercial broadcasts for this period. Phil Harris, who arrives in October, and Buddy Rogers will direct the orchestras at the Sherman this fall. Plans are afoot for putting Rogers into the Bal Tabarin week nights.

Arthur Wright, young W-G-N tenor, rejoined Leo Reisman's orchestra as vocalist yesterday at Lake George, N. Y. Probably will be heard over NBC. . . . Joe Sanders and his "gang of kids," as he calls his new orchestra, are on the air over WLW from Castle farms, Cincinnati. . . . Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, two of the better wits of radio, are getting a good hand at the Chicago theater. . . . Harriet Cruise's interpretations of "Harvest Moon" and "Ten Cents a Dance," given the past week at the State-Lake, differ from Ruth Etting's, but they are swell.

Congratulations to WBBM for signing Harry Steele, able newscaster.

Jan Garber denies story told by Husk O'Hare that the Jan is short for January. It's just plain Jan, says Garber. Husk was christened Anderson O'Hare.

Those personal views of radio celebrities in the studios and at play set forth in this column last week brought requests for more. Buddy Rogers, it seems, has a host of admirers, and for good reason. Buddy is a modest chap; he has none of the swagger that often characterizes a much exploited Hollywood notable. He seems just like an Olathe, Kas., boy who has made good but hasn't let it go to his head. He is one of the most gracious of radio people, signs 500 autographs an evening, many for persons so inconsiderate as to drop them before they get out of his presence, and he doesn't get ruffled.

Ed Wynn keeps up his joshing off the stage, especially when Graham McNamee and other radio folk are about. Recall seeing Ed one evening after he had been posing with several publicity seeking persons who had said to Ed on being photographed with him, "This will do you a lot of good." Maurice Seymour was taking pictures of Wynn with George M. Cohan, Amos of A. & A., and Graham McNamee. After each shot Ed would burst forth, "This will do you a lot of good." McNamee is a jovial person when he has time on his hands, but woe unto any one who disturbs him when he is busy.

Goodman Ace is not really a nervous man. He doesn't go for the spotlight, though he enjoys watching it at night clubs. He's still more like a Kansas City columnist than a radio actor. He grumbles because he enjoys it. He's extremely fond of Jack Benny, whose voice resembles Ace's, and of Fred Allen. Corresponds with both of them.

Gene Arnold's first name must be an abbreviation of Genial. He is one person who appears offstage just what he seems on the air. He has a melodious speaking voice just as pleasing in person as over the air.

Pat Barnes can impersonate unnumbered personalities over the air. Away from the mike he is just one—Pat Barnes, rollicking, jovial, expansive. Carl Moore is even funnier off the air than on. No matter what Carl says, if it's only "Howdydo," his Arkansaw drawl wins you. Carl is a southern mountaineer to the core. He is placid. Jacques Renard is no Parisian. Like Leo Reisman he has been a Bostonian all his life. He dislikes New York apartment house living and heads back to the bean city whenever he can. He is just as good natured as most fat men and has considerably more pep than a lot of them.

Jane Froman is a fresh, eager girl, who gets excited off the air and sometimes stutters, but not while singing. She's one of the best dressed women in radio. Irene Taylor is another of the fashion models of radio. Irene is confiding, frets sometimes before going on the air. A charming girl with countless friends. Irene admires the singing of Andrea Marsh, the sweet lass with Ted Weems.

Bernie Cummins, radio's fashion plate, is a quiet chap in public. Cummins and Marchmont Schwartz, the former football star, look alike. Mark Fisher looks so boyish that one would never suspect him of having a grown daughter. Mark, like Buddy Rogers, beams. Almost everybody likes that about him.

And that's that for today!

A Chicago policeman, recalling W-G-N's pioneering in developing the police radio alarm system, writes in, making a suggestion toward improving the system. He proposes a code of numbers to replace such announcements as "drunken woman lying in the street at ——" or "man beating his wife at ——." In the signal system proposed "robbery in progress" might be signal 26; "robbery already committed, victim waiting at certain address" might be signal 28, and so on. This sort of a system, employed in New York and other cities, is said to hinder the work of criminals who often use police calls to their own advantage and to discourage the gathering of crowds at the scene of crimes. Thus many persons might be spared embarrassment. What sounds like wife beating to the neighbors, who turn in the alarm, is often only Junior resisting going to bed. Chicago would be spared much unfavorable publicity if crime flashes were put in code so that they could not be picked up by listeners everywhere.

Misfortune and misunderstanding stalk the footsteps of Helen Trent this week in "The Romance of Helen Trent," heard at 2:30 p. m., daily, over W-G-N. Only her courage in the face of unexpected hardships brings her through to a successful culmination of her difficulties.

Grant Douglas, only man whom Helen Trent has really cared for since her divorce, unjustly accuses her of using him as a pawn to gain the affections of Stephen Clark. Helen has no time to straighten out this misunderstanding, for at that moment she is faced by an angry customer in the music store where she works, branding her a thief, claiming she stole a $100 bill.

When the money is found under the music in the department, things look very dark indeed for Helen. But she does her best to straighten out this mistake and try once more to win back the friendship of the man who had seemed to care most for her.

PAUL FOGARTY, APPLEBERRY TO RETURN TO AIR

Capt. Paul Fogarty will be back on the air with his "Keep Fit Club" program at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning after a two weeks' vacation. Capt. Paul's club has been operating under the direction of Announcer Ed Smith while the director was away. With the return of Fogarty Rube Appleberry, that great pitcher of the Panthers, and his pals, Tommy Malloy and Manager Mac McConnel, also will return to W-G-N. The "Rube Appleberry" sketch will be heard on its regular schedule at 9 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday nights and at 7:45 o'clock Friday night.

Stylists to Present Song Favorites at 6:30 Tonight

Three song favorites are included in the Stylists' program for 6:30 tonight over W-G-N. The Stylists, three boys, Ray, Pete, and Larry, and a girl, Patricia Ann Manners, sing modern tunes in a distinctive style. On their program tonight will be "Look for the Silver Lining," that old favorite song of the stage show "Sally"; "Moonstruck," from the latest hit of the movies, and "Isn't It Romantic."

Talk on Public Health.

Dr. Claude William Chamberlain will speak on "The Economics of Public Health" at 11:50 next Saturday on the Good Health and Training program over W-G-N.

FOOTBALL EXPERTS TO BE INTERVIEWED ON ALL-STAR GAME

Next week will be football week on the W-G-N sport review. Many of the stars who will be here to compete in the East vs. West all-star game at Soldiers' field will be the guests of John Harrington on several of his 6:30 p. m. sport charts.

Tuesday night Harrington will interview the quarter backs who will see a lot of action in the game on the 24th. They are Harry Newman, the All-American star from Michigan, who will likely captain Dick Hanley's squad, and Morley Drury of Southern California, one of the canniest quarters from the west coast. On Thursday night the two mentors, Howard Jones, western coach, and Dick Hanley of Northwestern, who is handling the east eleven, will speak.

The week will wind up on Saturday night with Don Zimmerman, the All-American end from Tulane, and Ernie Smith, the sensational tackle from Southern California, another All-American, as Harrington's guests.

SOCIAL ASPECTS OF RELIGION TO BE DISCUSSED

W-G-N's midday service will deal with "The Social Interpretation of Religion" during the coming week, when noted ministers will focus attention upon the ethical and spiritual bearing of governmental action in economic and industrial affairs. Speakers for the week are: Monday, Dr. Samuel C. Kincheloe of the Chicago Theological seminary; Tuesday, Dr. Johnston Myers, minister of Immanuel Baptist church; Wednesday, Father William A. Finnegan, dean of the Junior college, Loyola university; Thursday, Dr. F. W. Otterbein, pastor of the North Austin Lutheran church, and, Saturday, Dr. John L. Dickson, director of the midday service.

RAVEL'S 'BOLERO' TO BE FEATURED BY HANS KINDLER

Barlow to Take Symphony Baton in Week.

Ravel's famous "Bolero," one of the most consistently popular of recent symphonic works, will be featured by Hans Kindler, conducting his farewell broadcast with the Philadelphia Summer Concerts orchestra, from 7:30 to 9:30 tonight over W-G-N and Columbia. Following Kindler's régime at Philadelphia's Robin Hood Dell, Howard Barlow, CBS symphonic director, will take up the baton at the sylvan auditorium.

Tonight's "pop" concert opens with the imaginative Overture to Weber's "Oberon." Light melodic numbers from Gluck's operas follows: the Dance of the Blessed Spirits from "Orpheus" and the Musette from "Alceste." Boccherini's Minuet and the familiar "Peer Gynt" Suite No. 1 of Grieg complete the first half of the presentation.

During the concert intermission the Columbia Male chorus will be heard in a brief recital. The second half of the Dell concert brings Weber's "Invitation to the Dance," the Prelude to Act III. of Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," Sibelius' "Valse Triste," and the Preludium of Jarnfelt.

British Radio Journal Reports W-G-N Reception

World-Radio, official magazine of the British Broadcasting corporation, which controls all radio broadcasting in England, reports increasing interest in W-G-N radio programs and reception in the British isles. According to a letter received from an official of the British corporation, W-G-N is heard very well throughout England and the programs have brought comment from English listeners. In his letter the Englishman asked for complete details about the station, its transmitter, and general studio setup.

"JUST PLAIN BILL" TO MAKE W-G-N BOW TOMORROW

Serial to Be Presented 5 Times a Week.

Another popular serial act comes to W-G-N when "Just Plain Bill" makes its bow at one o'clock tomorrow. The sketch will be heard at the same hour from Monday to Friday each week. "Just Plain Bill" was a favorite radio program in the east last year where it built up a large listening audience in a few months.

In the opening episodes Bill is found in his little barber shop in Hartville plunged against his will into a fight that has made enemies of many of his old friends. More important to Bill than his quarrels is the fact that his daughter Nancy is returning home after many years. With Bill's fight with Jeb Shanks, the return of Nancy, whose absence from his home is still a mystery, and the appearance of David Ellis, a young chap who wants to marry Nancy, the opening episodes of "Just Plain Bill" seem filled with plenty to interest listeners.

Three new characters have entered the cast of "Painted Dreams," the story of the Moynihans, heard on W-G-N at 11:35 each week day. The first is Helen Martin, a radio actress and friend of Joyce's; Muriel La France, as Alice's mother, who is now showing an interest in her daughter for the first time in many years, and David Martin, brother of Helen, a lad fresh from military school, and girl shy. The cast of "Painted Dreams" is receiving many visitors at the studio these days from all over Chicagoland.

Two more talks on hay fever are scheduled for W-G-N this week. At 11:50 a. m. tomorrow Mrs. Charles Caldwell of the Chicago Woman's club will speak on "The History of Hay Fever," while on Thursday morning, at the same time, Dr. G. C. Durham, chief botanist of the Abbott laboratories, will tell about "The Pollens That Are Causing Hay Fever in the Country."

MANY PROTEGES OF AIRMAN ASH NOW ARE STARS

Rise from catellites to stars of first magnitude is typical of many of the protegés of Paul Ash, broadcasting from the Casino every afternoon over W-G.-N.

During his days as a cinema rajah Ash started many neophytes on the road to fame. There was Ruth Etting, who today needs no introduction. Also George Givot, who since making his stage debut with Ash, has played in vaudeville and in a number of stage successess and today in addition to making a name for himself in radio, has a seven year contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Ginger Rogers is another movie star developed under Ash. Helen Kane, the boop-a-doop girl, is one of Paul's finds.

Two of Paul's most popular discoveries were Peggy Bernier and Milton Watson. Milton has just completed an engagement in the New York production of "Strike Me Pink," and Peggy is no longer on the stage, but—a housewife—and Milton's at that. Ethel Merman, who is appearing with Olsen and Johnson in "Take a Chance," is another star that Ash brought out. Paul gave Ethel her chance at the Paradise theater in New York just a few years ago.

"Pinafore" to Be Broadcast from World Fair Theater

W-G-N will broadcast the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "Pinafore," as presented by A Century of Progress singers from the floating theater at the World's Fair from 8:15 to 9 next Thursday evening. Artists on this program will be Irene Pavloska, Edwin Kemp, Frederic Jencks and Margery Maxwell.

First Vacation in Three Years

Clara, Lu 'n' Em, radio gossipers, ready for their first vacation from the airways in three years. [Lawson Photo.]

Letters to Be Read

Clara, Lu 'n' Em, after a record of three years of unbroken broadcasting, are to take their first vacation for two weeks. They will leave the air following their broadcast of next Friday. They will return to the air Monday, Sept. 4. While the girls are vacationing, Jean Paul King, popular announcer of their program, will read a daily letter from the girls, in which they will tell of the trials and tribulations of camping. King's letter reading will be supplemented by string music under the direction of Walter Blaufuss.

CZECH EXHIBIT AT FAIR TO BE VISITED BY RYAN

A description of the Czechoslovakian exhibit at A Century of Progress will be broadcast at 6:45 o'clock tomorrow evening by Quin Ryan, "Your World's Fair Guide," over W-G-N. Quin will conduct a microphone tour of the galleries and restaurant, and will introduce Jaroslav Smetanka, the Czechoslovakian consul in Chicago.

On another evening this week, at the same time, the portable broadcasting apparatus will be carried to "Wings of the Century," the historical spectacle depicting the growth of transportation in America.

Visits will be made to Hollywood to introduce Agnes Ayres, Grant Withers, and Vernon Rickard of the movies and to show how talking pictures, even the cartoon comedies, are made, and also to the Federal building.

Irving Kaufman to Sing 2 Familiar Love Songs

In addition to presenting the latest gossip from Hollywood's film colony, Irving Kaufman features two familiar love songs, "Diane," and "You Were Meant for Me," with Abe Lyman's orchestra over the WABC-Columbia chain from 7:45 to 8 p. m. Wednesday.

DUMONT TO PAY TRIBUTE TUESDAY TO MASSENET

A program featuring the works of Jules Massenet, French composer, will be heard on the "Great Composers" series at 7 o'clock Tuesday night over W-G-N. The W-G-N orchestra, under the direction of Adolphe Dumont, will play on this program the "Festivals" and "Tarantelle" from Massenet's "Scenes Italienne," the Prelude to "Eva," "Elégie," "Fête Bohême," and "Open Thy Blue Eyes." The "Meditation" from "Thaïs" will be played as a violin solo.

In the "Bouquet of Melodies" program at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night selections from "The Student Prince," "Indian Love Call," "First Hungarian Rhapsody," and "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes" will be played.

The Sunday evening concert at 7 o'clock opens with the well known Overture to Verdi's "La Forza del Destino," and will include Handel's "Largo," Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance, No. 1," Bocherin's celebrated "Minuet," and the "Remembrance" waltz by Waldteufel.

FRED WARING TAKES ON ADDED PROGRAM ROLE

Fred Waring and his gang of singers, instrumentalists and comics that make up the Pennsylvanians will put on another variety show over W-G-N and Columbia on Wednesday from 9 to 9:30 p. m. In addition to directing his versatile ensemble, Fred has the added task of serving as straightman for Mandy Lou. Members of the "gang" who are scheduled to do specialties include Babs Ryan and her brothers, Poley McClintock, tenor; Tom Waring, the Lane sisters, and "skat" singer, Johnny Davis. David Ross will be heard in the dual rôle of announcer and poetry reader.

Neighborhood Theaters

Barbara Stanwyck portrays a lady of easy virtue in "Baby Face," now at the Marbro. She rises from the slums to become first the mistress and then the wife of the president of a New York bank. George Brent and Donald Cook have important male leads. Miss Stanwyck's beauty and ability to wear clothes somewhat offset the effects of the tawdry story which points no moral in particular.

Film Nutty as Title.

At the American and Crown, Robert Wheeler and Bert Woolsey are costarred in "Diplomaniacs," as nutty a film as the title might indicate. Marjorie White and Phyllis Barry are also featured players in the farce, which boasts several good songs and dancing choruses.

Unhappy Ending for Change.

If you're one of those who can stand an unhappy ending try "Hell Below," playing at the Senate today. Submarine warfare and frustrated love are lightened here and there in the film by Jimmy [Schnozzle] Durante's brand of humor. Walter Huston is cast as the commander of the submarine in question and Madge Evans as his daughter, who is wed to a hopelessly crippled officer and hopelessly loved by one of her father's man, Robert Montgomery.

Montgomery to Rescue.

Robert Montgomery also stars in "Made on Broadway," playing today at the Byrd and Crawford theaters. Sally Eilers plays the girl he rescues and makes known on Broadway, and Madge Evans, his ex-wife, to whom he runs with his troubles.

More War in Air.

"The Eagle and the Hawk" is on the screen of the West End today. Carole Lombard makes a brief bow in this picture where males predominate. In leading rôles are Fredric March, Cary Grant, and Jack Oakie. It's a story of airplane warfare in the British royal flying corps.

Radio Stars in Movie.

Stars of the screen and radio alike play in "International House" at the Broadway-Strand and Embassy today. It's a jumble of humorous situations and songs and dances. Leading the cast are Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Stuart Erwin, Sari Maritza, Bela Lugosi, George Burns, and Gracie Allen. Momentary entertainment is provided by Rudy Vallee, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Calloway and orchestra, and Baby Rose Marie.

CITY'S HISTORY LIVES AGAIN IN BAPTIST REVIEW

Book by Rev. Stackhouse Entertaining.

BY JOHN ASTLEY-COCK.

In "Chicago and the Baptists," published last week by the University of Chicago Press, the Rev. Perry J. Stackhouse, pastor of the First Baptist church, makes the past live again with vivid reality.

In less than 250 pages he has related the history of the Baptist church for the last hundred years. But more commendable than this brevity is the sprightliness of the narrative. To make the dry facts of a century ago alive today in a reader's imagination is a remarkable achievement. Yet this is what Dr. Stackhouse accomplishes.

Facts derived from the minutes of board meetings, incidents arising from the proceedings of association gatherings, are told in a few words, but in such a manner as to bring the whole background to the mind of the reader. Pen portraits of the leading pastors and laymen have been selected with a view to showing the salient characteristics of the individual as succinctly as possible.

Bibliography Short.

The bibliography at the end covers a scant three pages, but the author's acknowledgement preceding the main portion of the book shows that his sources have been chiefly letters, diaries and reminiscences of people closely connected with the Baptist church, and it is evident he has sifted this material with discrimination. Refreshingly pervading the entire history is a delightful irony. Dr. Stackhouse views the procession of life with a detached humor which is revealed by pithy comment on individual action or apt summary of mass movement.

The interest in "Chicago and the Baptists" is not alone confined to the members of that persuasion. Every Chicagoan will enjoy reading it for the descriptions it gives of past years and the references to the pioneers in the early life of this city.

The fortunes of the Baptists have been so closely bound up with the development of Chicago that the history of their church, particularly that of the First, is the history of Chicago in microcosm. As prosperity in the city rose, wavered and periodically fell in depression, so did that of the church.

Ten Decades Reviewed.

Then follow ten chapters, each devoted to a decade of the church's history. Questions of internal policy and theological differences are seldom of more than academic interest to the outsider. But these are all told by Dr. Stackhouse in so interesting a manner, with the human side so trenchantly presented, that interest never flags. The questions aroused by slavery, open communion, Pedobaptists, were at one time decisive forces in the church. The problems raised by the great fire, the civil war, the world war, the jeopardy of Puritan standards of morality, the Negro invasion of the south side residential district, were at other times decisive forces in determining the church's policy. Most of these today are closed issues and the book closes on a hopeful tone which is best summed up in the author's dedication to Stirling Perry Stackhouse Jr., born Dec. 8, 1932—"To an inquisitive mind the new century 1933-2033 offers alluring vistas. Whether it will be a century of progress depends largely upon the vision, sanity, and character of my grandson and his contemporaries the wide world over."

LAST CHANCE TO ENTER GARDEN CONTEST NEAR

Final opportunity for amateur flower gardeners of Chicagoland to enter THE TRIBUNE's fall Flower Garden Honor Roll competition is offered in the next three days. Entries are to be received postmarked not later than midnight, Wednesday, Aug. 15.

A trying summer has kept gardeners vying with heat and drought and the handicaps of extra visitors admiring gardens of friends and neighbors. Yet the entries promise two to three weeks of work for the judges, who will begin examining the gardens as soon as possible after all the entries have been received.

Scores of gardeners who have entered previous contests for selections of Honor Roll gardens but failed to attain recognition are reëntering this fall after making changes for betterment of their efforts. Additional background and screening, better selections of plants for height and color combinations, and gardening to obtain a succession of flowers from the last frost in spring to the first freeze in the fall are principal elements which offer opportunity for improvement.

Typical of the modesty encountered among the "better gardeners" of Chicagoland is that of Willis S. Hilpert, 455 Chestnut street, Winnetka, Ill. Following the selection of his garden in the spring contest as an Honor Roll garden, he received one of the gold certificates.

He sent his thanks in the following manner:

"While I have maintained a secret pride in my garden handiwork, which I enjoy immensely, it never occurred to me to enter one of your contests. But this year some of my local friends asked permission to place my name on your list for judging. I can assure you that it was a distinct and shocking surprise to see my name included with those who had made the Honor Roll, especially when there are so many more exquisite and elaborate gardens here on the north shore. I shall happily treasure the certificate."

The process of nominating a garden for judging is simple. Send in the name and address of the gardener and include the signatures of two friends or neighbors who testify that the work is that of an amateur and that no paid professional help was obtained in planning, planting, or maintaining the garden.

Judging includes the entire yard, with points for background, screening, edging, selection of plants, trees and shrubs, general care of the yard, and charm and originality. A handy entry ballot will be found in adjacent columns indicating all of the information necessary to enter the contest.

Every motorist in Chicago and suburbs should have a Tribune Chicagoland Map in his car at all times. No other map of the Chicago territory is so accurate, complete or informative.

Here is a map that shows every surfaced, improved, and unimproved road in the territory around the lower end of Lake Michigan—roads that lead out of Chicago in all directions for more than forty miles into the states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin—and the connecting roads between all of the hundreds of towns in the Chicago area.

It shows the parks, beaches, picnic grounds, lakes, streams, golf courses, forest preserves, sites of historical importance, and places of natural beauty in all parts of Chicagoland.

The 1933 Chicagoland Map represents an investment of thousands of dollars and years of painstaking care on the part of the Tribune to provide motorists with by far the best map of the Chicago territory available.

To keep the map up-to-date, the Tribune maintains a complete map-making department and an entire fleet of "checking cars" which actually travel all roads and check conditions, changes, and mileages. No other map receives such careful attention in the making.

Gala Night Planned

Three of Elgin's most popular young ladies have been appointed as hostesses to the wives and sweethearts of racing drivers when the public reception for participants in the 1933 Elgin road race is held on the eve of the classic contest. The Elgin races are to be held on Saturday, Aug. 26, over the Elgin 8-mile course and the pilots include leading automobile racers of America.

Elgin is preparing for a gala night on the eve of the races as well as a general holiday on the racing day. Receptions, street music, carnival carryings-on and plenty of flags and bunting will characterize the eve of the race. The American Legion post of Elgin is taking an active part in promotion of the races, and today will take charge of all advance ticket sales, with proceeds to go toward the relief of needy veterans and their families.

The city is being prepared to entertain a record crowd both on race day eve and on the day itself. Downtown streets will probably be cleared to accommodate the milling throngs which in former years have packed the downtown district. The two races will embrace 508 miles of contest, the 203 mile race starting at 10 a. m. and the 305 mile race starting at 2 p. m. Barney Oldfield, veteran racing star of other days, will act as starting official. Col. Eddie Rickenbacker is expected to be present in his official capacity for the American Automobile association's contest board.

PLAYWRIGHT

Mrs. Clara B. Pettee, director of the junior members of the West Suburban Theater guild of Lombard, is also the author of the play, "'D' Is for Dreams," which the children will present in the theater on Enchanted Island at the Fair on Aug. 27. Mrs. Pettee coached the little players in "Pirates of Pooh," presented Monday on the island.

900 AT PICNIC OF RIVERSIDE CHURCH GROUP

Nearly 900 corned beef and cabbage dinners were served at the annual picnic held by the Holy Name society of St. Mary's parish, Riverside, last Sunday. The outing took place at Camp Kasper, in the forest preserve.

In the softball games forester officers of the state courts were victors over the Riverside foresters by a score of 6 to 2. The Chicago group announced at the beginning they had come to teach "the farmers" how to play ball and, with an umpire acting as instructor extraordinary, it is reported they did so in a game that was full of laughs and sparkling with double plays.

The second game of the afternoon, between the married men and the single men of the parish, was won by the Benedicks, 11 to 6.

Winners in the various races were Bob Stoffel, for young boys; Lavern Gorgan, for young girls; John Rogers, for boys from nine to eleven; Vivian Savaglio, for girls from nine to eleven; Don Kuratko, for boys from twelve to sixteen; Florence Okon, for girls from twelve to sixteen; Miss Erna Budka, spoon race for women; Walter Moran, married men's race; Mrs. C. A. Murray, race for married women; Gertrude Cosgrove, cracker eating contest; F. J. Grove, fat men's race; Ed Ely and B. J. Dardos, three-legged race.

OLD QUARRY NOW POPULAR BEACH AT NAPERVILLE

17 Carloads of Sand Brought from Lake.

Among the inland bathing pools through which western suburbs compete with the lake shore in summer advantages is Centennial Park beach which Naperville opened a year ago and which attracted 4,000 recreation seekers on a Sunday recently.

What was a quarry in earlier days has been converted into a terraced watering place affording depths ranging from wading places to 25-foot diving spots. Seventeen carloads of sand from the shores of Lake Michigan were hauled to form the beach. Cement paths and benches surround the water set amid natural timber. The pool is equipped with piers, diving boards, and three merry-go-round rafts.

Edward Ulrich Is Manager.

Edward J. Ulrich is manager of the beach, and Richard F. Albrecht is policeman. Lifeguards, working in two shifts, are Rudolph Massier, John Speigler, Otto Kerth, Julian Heim, Edward Gerten, and Kenneth McCabe.

Every Thursday night the Naperville Municipal band gives a concert from the grandstand in the park.

Water is kept pure in the pool by a pumping system connected with a neighboring quarry fed by natural springs, with drainage into the Du Page river. Temperature of the pool remains between 70 and 75 degrees. Plans are under way for the building of a bath house this fall, a portion of the material to be of stone found in the vicinity.

Hidden by Foliage.

Patrons of the pool come from points as far away as Aurora and Joliet. Although Ogden avenue runs within thirty feet of the park, it is so hidden by foliage that motorists are apt to be unaware of its existence.

Evidence of the part the quarries once played in the life of the community is to be founn in the abandoned railroad tracks along one side of the pool. Also near the water's edge is an old stone building, now a mushroom plant, which once was a brewery.

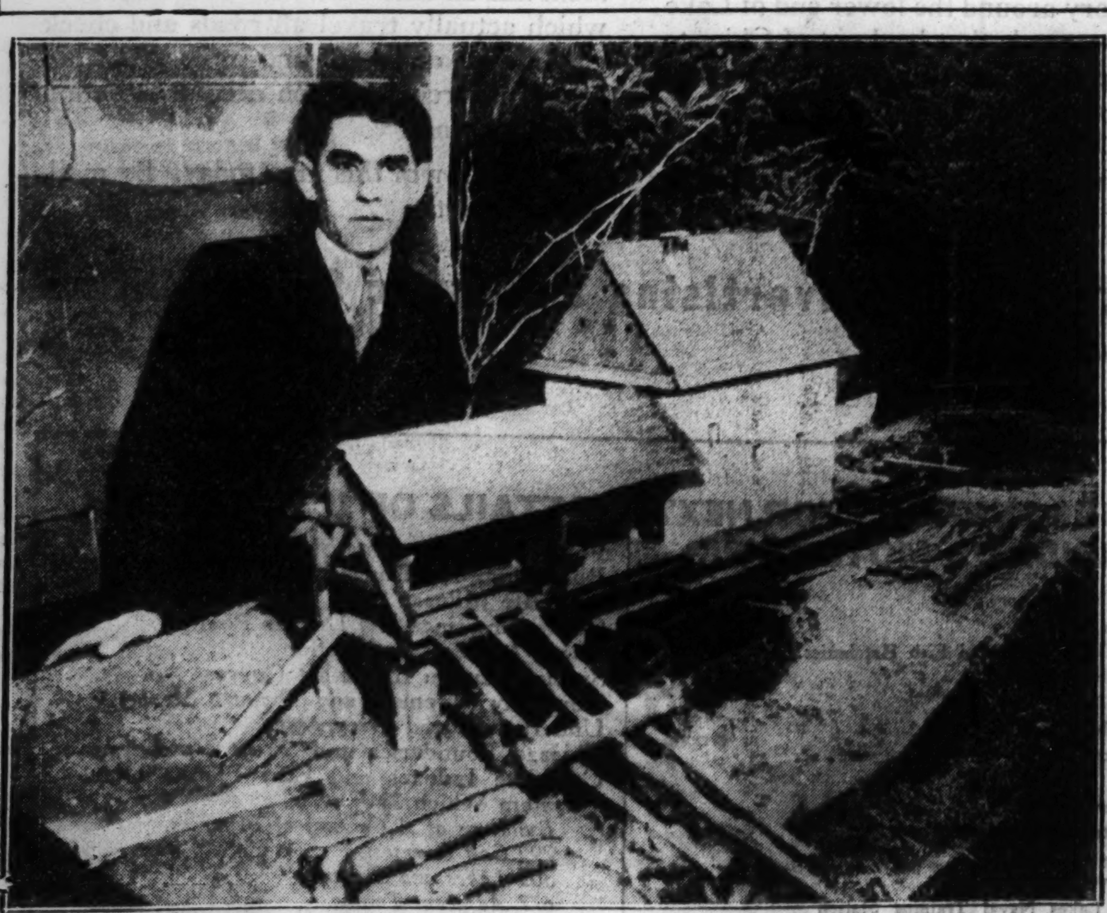
BUILDS OLD WORLD MILL IN MINIATURE



Otto Bouc, 1326 West 18th street, shown with a miniature model of an old Bohemian mill at Kuncice, Moravia, which he constructed.

An old Bohemian mill, as it stands at Kuncice, Moravia, has been reproduced in miniature by Otto Bouc, 1326 West 18th street. Mr. Bouc, 32 years old, visited Czechoslovakia a year ago and was attracted to the particular mill during his travels.

The original mill, which Mr. Bouc copied, was built in 1481. Mr. Bouc has neglected no detail in providing the surrounding hillsides and trees. The project is six feet by three and a half feet in dimensions. Clippings of grass and soil, brought by the maker from the Chicago suburbs, help provide a setting for the model.

The country mill, as designed by Mr. Bouc, includes a tiny bridge over a stream that runs into a pond beside a white barn and a white millhouse. Hundreds of tiny shingles were required for the roofs of the two buildings. Mr. Bouc worked on the model for five months. The little mill has been appreciated by many visitors.

RUSSELL KOTT NAMED HEAD OF BERWYN LIONS

Russell Kott is the new president of the Berwyn Lions club, now entering its third year. Mr. Kott, recently active as a member of the executive committee of the United Van Lines convention in Chicago, was formerly secretary of the club. Mr. Kott is in the moving and storage business.

Other new officers are Walter B. Simmons, first vice president; Frank Ford, second vice president; Clare Vynnalek, third vice president; Jerry Jacobsen, city clerk [familiarly known as "Jerry at the organ" due to his musical activities at a local motion picture theater], secretary; Leslie M. Maysey, city treasurer; James Hrach, chief of the fire department, tail twister, and Dr. B. J. Carter, lion tamer.

The directors are Arthur P. Herron, town supervisor; Mayor Frank Novotny, Ald. Carl Anderson and Albert Peterson.

The club, which is active in many civic projects, meets Monday nights at the Berwyn hotel.

Active in Berwyn's Century of Progress program, the club recently received a communication from the Cowboy band of Burkburnett, Tex., seeking a Berwyn engagement while visiting the World's Fair.

Berwyn is said to have entertained more guests from Texas this summer than from any other state, and is now enjoying visits from Texans who have been directed to Berwyn by earlier visitors.
